6—In Memoriam

JOHNSON—In loving memory of Sidney Johnson, who died April 16, 1944.
They say time heals all sorrows,
And helps us to forget.
But time so far has only proved
How much we miss you yet.
God gave us strength to fight it,
And courage to bear the blow,
But what it meant to loss you
No one will ever know.
—Sadly missed by Jean, Ken and his wife.

PEARSE—In loving memory of my son, Charles Pearse, who passed away April 16th, 1948.
No one knows the silent heartaches,
Only those who have loved can tell
The grief I bear in silence
For the one I loved so well.
—Always remembered by Mother.

WATSON—In loving memory of Carman (Chum) Watson, who passed away two years ago today.
Oft times our thoughts do wander
To the grave not far away,
Where we laid our darling brother
Just two years ago today.
—Sadly missed by brothers and sister.

Cabinet Men Investigate New Terrorism

NELSON, B.C. (CP)—The ashes of three new fires set by terrorists in Sons of Freedom settlements were still hot Wednesday when three members of the provincial cabinet arrived here for a surprise conference on Doukhobors.

The conference was prompted by renewal of violence in the Doukhobor area of British Columbia's southern interior. Since March 31, terrorists have burned 18 homes, a sawmill and a community hall and bombed railway tracks at three separate points.

On Easter Sunday a prayer meeting was broken up by fanatics who revived a common Sons of Freedom symbol of protest—parading in the nude.

The on-the-spot conference was attended by the cabinet sub-committee on Doukhobors—Attorney-General Robert Bonner, Lands Minister Robert Sommers and Provincial Secretary Wesley Black.

5-HOUR SESSION

The cabinet members went into a five-hour closed meeting after flying here in an RCMP plane. Also on hand were police officials, the executive council of the Nelson Chamber of Commerce and members of the consultative committee on Doukhobors.

The executive council told the attorney-general there was need for immediate government action and made proposals on possible means of ending more than 50 years of violence blamed on the Sons of Freedom. These proposals were not made public.

Mr. Bonner said the cabinet will be considering general measures in respect to the problem and that further discussions will follow. He did not elaborate.

The attorney-general said it appeared significant that persons suspected of being involved in the new terrorism "appear to be among those opposed to leaving Canada."

Authorities on Doukhobors have long recommended that the more than 2,000 Sons of Freedom in the province be relocated in another country. Costa Rica and Panama have been mentioned recently as countries which appear willing to accept them.

One of those to advocate relocation is spiritual leader Stefan Sorokin, whose leadership is being questioned by the more fanatic members of the "Freedomites."

U.S. Taxpayers Given Picture Of Defence Cost

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower calculated today that if taxpayers' money could be diverted from war to peace, 30 modern brick schools or two hospitals could be built for what it costs to make one heavy bomber.

He offered this and other comparisons in his speech today urging world disarmament and use of the money saved to combat world want.

The largest heavy bomber being produced for the United States, the B-36, costs about $3,500,000 each. The newest heavy bomber, the B-52, costs from $5,000,000 to $8,000,000 (as production increases, unit costs go down).

TRANSLATES COSTS

Translating war costs into peace items, the President said:

"The cost of one modern heavy bomber is this:

"A modern brick school in more than 30 cities.

"Two electric power plants, each serving a town of 60,000 population.

"Two fine, fully equipped hospitals.

"Some 50 miles of concrete highway.

"We pay for a single fighter plane with 500,000 bushels of wheat.

"We pay for a single destroyer with new homes that could have housed more than 8,000 people."

Senate Revives Margarine Issue

OTTAWA (CP) — The Senate banking and commerce committee stirred up the margarine issue again today by voting to recommend the butter substitute be exempted from the 10-per-cent federal sales tax.

The committee voted 10 to 4 to have margarine included in a long list of other tax-exempt foods, including butter, contained in the government's exise tax bill implementing budget tax changes.

The committee's move, which must be ratified by the senate and Commons before becoming effective, raised the constitutional issue of whether the upper House has power to cut a tax. The Senate has not recommended a tax reduction within memory of veteran members and officials, and sor senators raised the point before the committee.

However, J. F. MacNeill, Senate law clerk, said a Senate committee in 1916 had held the upper chamber competent to do this and the opinion had never been challenged.

Plan New Meeting To Discuss Strike

STRATFORD (CP) — Another meeting aimed at settling the strike of 61 workers at the Swift Canadian Company plant here will be held either Friday or Monday, a union spokesman said today.

Mrs. Mary Powers, president of the union local, said today that W. D. Sinclair, plant manager, proposed Wednesday that a meeting be held.

The employees, members of the United Packinghouse Workers of America (CIO-CCL), went on strike last month for higher wages. Company and union officials have negotiated a number of times in recent weeks without success.

Trustees Seek Legal Advice On Extra Mill

LINDSAY (ENS)—The Victoria High School Board will seek legal counsel as to its next step in obtaining from the town of Lindsay the extra mill promised for maintenance in 1950. The mill was paid by the town in that year and 1951, and discontinued by council this year.

The dispute over the mill has gone on since early this year when council decided to cease payment of the extra sum which was originally offered by town representatives on the board in order to bring rural townships and municipalities into its jurisdiction. Offers, debates and compromises have featured the two-way fight through the last three months. The town council has decided not to pay and filed the board's last request for a levy which includes the mill.

UP TO COUNCIL

According to board chairman H. H. McFadden, the next move is up to the council to submit the matter for arbitration, but no move has been made by that body. The board will now attempt to establish a basis for making the next move itself.

Edmund Parkin, of the architectural firm in charge of the additions to both Fenelon Falls High School and the Lindsay Collegiate Institute, appeared with two associates before the board to report on the progress of building at the two schools.

He stated that both should be finished by August 1, and that in the Lindsay school classes should be able to move into some of the new rooms to write final examinations this year. The plan is for the contractors to remodel the old wing of the school, in use at present, following completion of the new classroom wing and gymnasium.

A few minor details are to be cleared up in both cases, he said, but the $1,140,000 job should be finished on schedule for the opening of school next year.

The ultra-modern Lindsay school will next year house approximately the same number of pupils as at present. But the year following, Little Britain Continuation School and Bobcaygeon High School will be closed, their students redistributed between Lindsay and Fenelon Falls.

Soviet Bloc Drops Peace Package Offer

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)—The Soviet bloc, speaking through Poland, today withdrew its catch-all peace package which had been strongly opposed by the West.

Polish Foreign Minister Stanislaw Skrzeszewski told the UN's 60-country political committee he was dropping completely the section of his plan calling for an immediate cease-fire in Korea and would not press for a vote on other sections at this assembly session.

PCVS Choral Club Presents Program With Fine Clarity

By COLLETTE FERGUSON

The Peterborough Collegiate and Vocational School Choral Club performed in the collegiate auditorium at their sixth annual concert Wednesday night.

Members of this club have brought honor to Peterborough, to themselves and to their director, Melvin J. Curtis, by winning festival awards both here and in Toronto. In their concerts, which have become an important event in the city's musical life, these singers have continually shown that the honors they have received have been well-deserved

Wednesday night, what might be called the choral club proper —the girls' choir— sang with their accustomed fine clarity, balance and beauty of tone. Their two groups of selections were the highlights of the evening.

The girls, with due credit to their director, sing with naturalness and vitality and always manage to catch the true spirit of a song, whether a solemn and heavy work like Pilgrim's Chorus, from Wagner's Tannhauser, or the light and lilting Slovak Folk Dance, Dancing, arranged by Elizabeth Marting.

The girls are specialists in nursery rhyme arrangements and spirituals. Their singing of, Sing a Song of Sixpence (as Handel would have done it) by Michael Diack brought enthusiastic applause from their audience. The spiritual, They Crucified My Lord, was also beautifully done.

The choir also sang, God Bless Our Queen, by Michael Toone; The Sleigh, by Richard Kountz; Echo Song, by Orlando di Lasso; The Green Cathedral, by Carl Hahn; Kentucky Babe, by Adam Gebeil, Oh, Where do Fairies Hide Their Heads? by E. L. Bainton, Where'er You Walk, by Handel; and My Johann, by Greig. They also came back to please their enthusiastic audience with two encores.

The club's double and triple trios are also award winner and rightly so. The double trio's contribution to Wednesday's concert was, Hey Derry, by Bach and two comedy numbers, The Little Worm, by Henry Sachs and, The Three Trees, by Tom McNaughton. This group usually chooses a number to show they have dramatic as well as musical ability. Their third number did this quite nicely Wednesday night.

The triple trio sang the beautiful, He That Hath A Pleasant Face, by J. L. Hatton with fine sensitivity and then turned to Victor Herbert's Toyland, for an equally good performance.

MIXED CHOIR—SANG

The PCVS Mixed Choir sang two groups of selections. Their singing too, was good, but the boys in this group are behind the girls in their grasp of ensemble singing. More confidence will come with more experience and it will probably not be long before their singing will be as polished as the choir's distaff members.

This group sang, Invocation to Song, by Sullivan; Hear Dem Bells (spiritual) arranged by Don Wright; Bonnie Doon, by Miller; The Long Beach Sea, arranged by Leslie Bell; and, The Bluebird of Happiness, by Harmati.

This same unsteadiness in part singing was also in evidence in the singing of the PCVS Barber Shop Boys. But what this group lacked in musical finesse they made up in effort in their singing of, The Old Songs, by O'Hara; Don't Send Away Tomorrow, by Randall and, Love is Like a Dream, by Staab.

Miss Phyllis Hart and Miss Ruth Grandy are becoming well-known for their duet singing. Their choice Wednesday night was Barcarolle, from Tales from Hoffman by Offenbach, and the audience brought them back to sing The Italian Street Song, by Victor Herbert.

This year the choral club and PCVS Concert Band are presenting separate concerts. The band concert is being presented April 24. A piano duo team, Miss Betty Lapp and Miss Mary McBride, provided contrast for an otherwise all-vocal concert. They were well-applauded for their playing of Boccherini's Minuet and Malaguena by Lecuona. For their encore they played Dancing Dolls.

Four more people are also to be congratulated for the success of the concert. They are Miss Pat Warman, Miss Barbara Ephgrave, Miss Vangie Roberts and Miss Donelda Powers for their work as accompanists.

Jersey Men To Meet AtKelly-BamforthBarn

First rural activity of the new season since the Spring Show and the lifting of frost from the ground is the barn meeting Saturday (18th) at 1:30 at the Kelly and Bamforth farm, one mile east of Scott's Corners.

Bruce Sargent who is publicity man for Jersey cattle and the Millbrook Parish Show wants to see a real crowd for this event. The K-B Jerseys have come through the winter in good shape and are looking almost in show condition; a little exaggeration, but still suggesting that the 60 to 70 head, a lot of them young animals are worth seeing. So, this is not solely a Jersey affair. Other breeders are invited.

There are judging classes for adults and juniors, with useful prizes supplied by Harold Inman, Quaker Oats, Fred Hendrick and Fair's garage at the Corners. All the Jersey people need is a favorable afternoon.

Bill Raine of Brantford, manager of the widely known B.S. Bull Jerseys will be the speaker and YPU of Springville are taking charge of the coffee and doughnuts booth. Manager of the K-B herd is James Cook.

Ottawa Collegiate Band To Tour City

A tour of the city, a dance and a buffet luncheon are part of the entertainment planned for the Fisher Park Collegiate Band of Ottawa which will be in Peterborough Friday and Saturday.

The Ottawa band is coming to Peterborough to return the visit made to that city in March 1952 by the PCVS Concert Band.

The band will arrive here at noon Friday and will be entertained at lunch at Kenner Collegiate by the Board of Education.

They will present their concert in PCVS auditorium at 3 p.m. Following the concert they will tour the Peterborough Canoe Co.

A dance is being held in their honor at Kenner Collegiate Friday night.

Saturday morning a tour of the city has been arranged and they will be entertained at a buffet luncheon at PCVS by the collegiate Home and School Association.

The band will return to Ottawa Saturday afternoon.

Second Ave. Lots Not For Sale Says Committee

Lots owned by the city on Second Ave. are not for sale at present, as recommended to the council by its property committee.

Second Ave., parallelling Sherbrooke St., slopes down from High St. to Clonsilla. Included in plans of the council is a sewer on that street. With its completion, property values would be enhanced.

Another proposal to the council by the property committee, with Ald. H. S. Longhurst presiding, would authorize City Engineer Chalmers to spend not more than $2,500 on test holes in the industrial sites area, south of Lansdowne and west of Erskine Ave.

Since acquiring that property which has the advantage of adjacence to both railways, the council has given recurring thought to its improvement, including some form of subdivision, as an attraction to industries looking for locations. The general instructions now to Mr. Chalmers is to examine the subsoil as basis for further consideration.

The committee did not recommend a project of S. Fama to build west of Lemery Distributors on Lansdowne St. for turning out doughnuts. Two apartments were to be part of the small building.

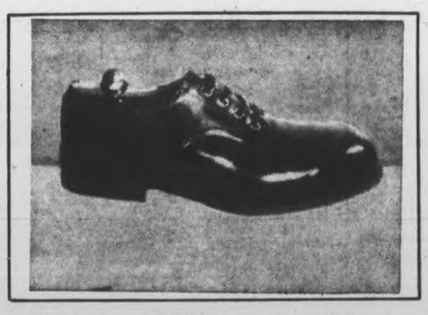
Rental of Hilliard Farm to Ken Tully for grazing at $120 a year was approved. The property is owned by the city south of the old isolation hospital.

13 Past Presidents Attend Legion Dinner

LINDSAY (ENS)—More than 100 persons attended the first annual past president dinner of Branch 67, Canadian Legion, Wednesday night.

Thirteen past presidents of the Lindsay branch were in attendance for the dinner and entertainment. The Ladies' Auxiliary of the branch catered to the gathering.

The oldest past president present was Harry Batt, who headed the local branch in 1927, one year after its establishment. Several of the past presidents are dead, and two were not able to attend. Two of the guests were from out of town, past presidents Vanstone from Longbranch and Batt from Oshawa.



Guest speaker was E. G. Jones, zone commander of Zone F-4. Entertainment was provided by Ernie Bruce, Toronto, a long-time favorite at the Lindsay Central Exhibition. Features of the evening were the presentation of pens to the past presidents and a presentation to Comrade George Potts of his life membership pin and certificate.

PAPER DRIVE

Tuesday the Boy Scouts of Peterborough will pick up the paper that citizens place on the sidewalks for them. Already we have received special calls from some of our friends asking us to be sure to call at their homes or businesses. We would ask that all paper be placed either on the sidewalk or on the verandah where it can be easily seen, right after supper. The cars and trucks will get under way at 6:15. We know that the Cubs are a busy bunch, and would like to suggest that Cub fathers get out and take the place of their lads on the trucks. Make this your good turn for your son.

PLASTIC DEMONSTRATION

For those friends who would like to assist in the work of raising funds to send the Peterborough Rover representative to the World Rover Moot this summer, the Group Mothers' Council will hold a plastic demonstration in St. Luke's Parish Hall on Wednesday next, April 22. Everyone cordially invited.

FIELD DAY, MAY 16

We understand that full provision has been made in case of rain on the 16th, but we are looking for a real bang-up time. The committee last week discussed what awards would be given. No definite statement has been received, but it is certain some boys will take home a memento of Peterborough District Field Day.

All groups are advised to send in a report as to the number of boys they expect to attend.

It has been reported many former Scouts and Scouters read this column, and this is an earnest appeal to all. Scouting and Cubbing in this district needs more leaders. Offer your services in this work, and pay back with interest and work for some of the good you acquired in Scouting whilst you were in the game. If you cannot give your time to complete leadership, maybe you can spare one or two nights each month to assist the group attached to your church or the church in the district in which you live.

1st PETERBOROUGH

Activities in St. John's Pack are many, with the schedule for the field day being the centre of attraction. Last week two more teams were chosen, one for knot relay and one for book balancing. We were pleased to have with us Cliff Boate of the Group Committee and G. Cumpsty, one of the dads, both of whom took active parts in the training program. At the opening ceremonies Mr. Boate presented Wallace Davidson with the collector's badge, Jerry Sedgwick the artist badge, and Ken McLaren his house orderly badge. Grant Menzies passed first-aid dressing, cleanliness and compass, Bob Yudin first-aid, Don Sherk first-aid, Bob Barber somersault, Fred Willison cleanliness, Paul Nornabell knots, Don Ross and Bill Collinson cleaning shoes and compass, Chris Sayers time. Saturday afternoon a number of Cubs under the leadership of Akela Stan Purser and group secretary E. Trueman went on a hike over the Warsaw Road bridge and along the canal to the Lift Lock, taking in games and observation work during the trip.

2ND PETERBOROUGH

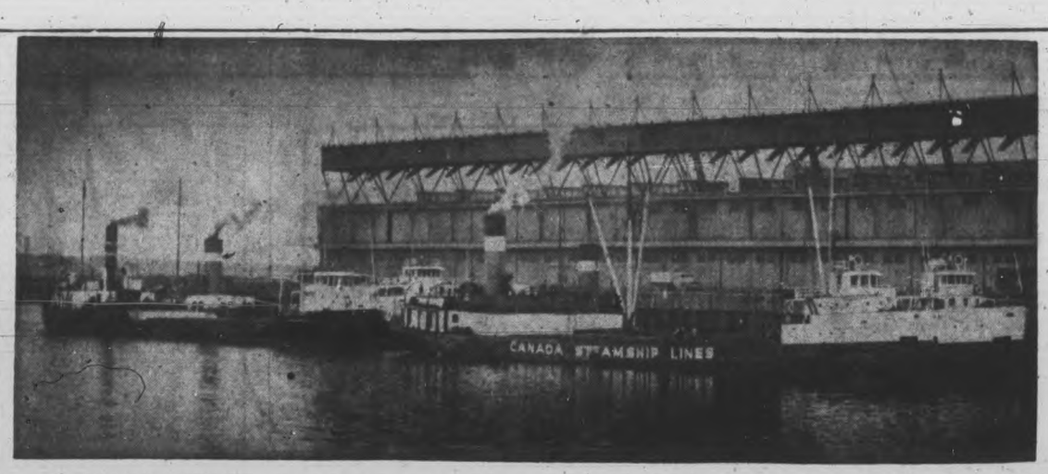
Daird Pilley took the opening ceremonies at St. Luke's Pack. Plans for parents' night went into full swing. Bob MacDonald received his observer's badge, Jack Steen the swimmer's badge, and Doug Pammett has one eye open as he can now wear his first star in his Cub hat. Some tests were passed: Don Hepburn marking up thrift, Glen Walker displayed his second star model, and Wayne Walker proved his ability to make toys. Everyone is invited to parents' night Friday, especially mom and dad.

3RD PETERBOROUGH

Following the opening meeting in the church the Pack proceeded to Morrow Park and went through extensive practices on the field day events.

4TH PETERBOROUGH

Our father and son banquet will be held on Monday instead of Tuesday, owning to the city-wide paper drive on that date. B. H. (Bert) Mortlock, executive commissioner for publications, will be the guest speaker.



5TH PETERBOROUGH

All sections of All Saints' Scout group — in the pack the opening inspection was taken by Kim Len Faskett. Several games were directed. Akela Harry Wooden invested two Cubs into the Pack, Gary Tilley and Bobby Butcher, and presented Wayne Dorrington with his Pack neckerchief, Wayne having been transferred.

Fourth year service stars were presented to David Fletcher and Glen Stuart, three-year stars to Murray Wilson, Bobby Pulford, Norman Muffett, and Keith Riches. Bobby Pulford was promoted to the rank of Sixer, whilst Eric Carr and Norman Muffett both rose to the rank of seconder, Bobby also being presented with his house orderly badge. Three new Chums were presented with white neckerchiefs, Michael Roberts, Barry Hall, and Barry Taylor. Yellow Six had won the honor pennant for the week with a score of 544 points. The father and son banquet is being held on Thursday, April 16. The Troop went to Jackson Park and held a wide game which lasted for about one hour. The Wolf Patrol and Bulldog Patrol travelled out to the Scout Grounds, and after cooking dinner held some games. Last Thursday, the Troop held a joint meeting with the Rover crew in which Troop Leader Bob Leach left the Troop and was accepted into the crew as a Squire through the stepping-up ceremony. This is the first such ceremony in the history of the crew. Next week it is work week at the Rover den; no uniform requested. On Sunday, April 19, regular monthly Communion and breakfast for the Crew, and the guest speaker will be Dr. J. N. Perry, president of the local association.

7TH PETERBOROUGH

Bob McGavin and Michael Philp were called upon to assist in the opening ceremonies. Second stars were presented to Barry LeRoy, Larry Greig, and Tom Caldwell. First stars were given to Bob McGavin and James Anderson. Warren Dunfield was promoted to Sixer of the Brown Six and Bob McGavin to that of Seconder of the Brown Six. The main practice was concentrated on field day events.

GRAIN FOR EUROPE—More than twenty-one lakeboats arrived in Montreal port loaded to their plimsoll lines with grain from the Great Lakes. Five were able to unload their cargoes while the others were forced to tie up. The photo above shows four lakers along King Edward Pier. The elevators are loaded to capacity awaiting ocean going vessels to transport the grain to the U.K. and Europe.

"Felt Tired from the Time I Got Up In the Morning"

Nerves On Edge; Couldn't Sleep. Suffered From Constipation, Dizzy Spells, and Sleep. Suffered From Con of Results She Got By Taking Syntona.

There is scarcely a person who at one time or another has not suffered from functional stomach, kidney, liver or bowel disorders making them feel rundown, tired, nervous, and full of aches and pains. No claim is made that Syntona will help everyone suffering this way, but in thousands of cases where these troubles persist it has given remarkable results. Many of these people say their troubles had been of long duration and that ordinary things they used had failed to help them.

For example, Mrs. Mary Campbell, 469 Horton Street, London, Ontario, said recently:

Trouble Began Year Ago

"About one year ago my stomach started giving me trouble and I would have awful gas, sour stomach and belching up of hot, sour liquids after my meals. I would get sick, dizzy spells, became very nervous and couldn't sleep after going to bed at night. I felt tired out from the time I got up in the mornings. More recently aching pains set into my back and joints.

Soon Felt Better

"I had been trying one thing and another without getting any noticeable relief, and finally a relative of mine suggested trying Syntona. After I started taking this medicine I was surprised how much better I felt in only a short time.

"Now I sleep better as Syntona helped the nervous dizzy feelings and cleared up the distress in my stomach. So, I have a much better appetite and constipation which troubled me for a long time is relieved. The soreness and pains in my back and joints does not trouble me now and I feel so much better in every way that I think Syntona is a grand medicine and am glad to recommend it to others."

Easy To Take

Although Syntona is made from 12 of Nature's Finest Herbs and Roots it is extremely pleasant to take because of its fine flavors. As a medicine of this nature it is unexcelled and the results you get are quickly felt. Almost anyone who has used it praises its genuine merit.

Syntona is sold and recommended in Peterborough by Elliott's Drug Store. (Advt.)

Eisenhower's Challenge Opens Peace Offensive

AH, SPRING . . . or a poor facsimile of the season, paid a violent visit to Peterborough and district today with blinding snow showers that made it dangerous for both driving and walking. Two scurrying pedestrians, heads down against the driving snow, are shown above crossing the George and Hunter Sts. intersection as familiar George St. landmarks are blotted out in the squall. Peace Plan Heartens Allies Of U.S.

Eisenhower Statement Hailed Great Speech By British Newspaper

LONDON (AP)—President Eisenhower's peace program heartened Western Europe today. Many expressed doubts of Russia's reaction. But there also was a swelling tide of hope that the new rulers in the Kremlin might use this moment to relax the East-West conflict.

The first Soviet reaction came quickly. Moscow radio complained that Eisenhower had placed the blame for the international situation on Russian policy "though no facts were given to prove this."

West European foreign offices and journalists noted, however, that the Soviet reaction was mild in tone, by usual Russian standards, and the Kremlin left itself plenty of room to manoeuvre.

THINGS BRIGHTER

The Liberal Manchester Guardian said editorially:

"The President has been enabled to make this statement of policy by the death of Stalin and the signs—as yet imprecise—that the new Soviet government wishes to see a relaxation of the conflict between East and West.

"Without the hope that a relaxation can in fact be achieved the speech would ring somewhat hollow."

The newspaper described Eisenhower's statement as "a great speech because it expresses all that was splendid about the full entry of America into world affairs in the 'hopeful spring' of 1945—the longing for peace, the genuine and often innocent belief in a world-wide rule of law, the no less genuine desire to help distant and little-known peoples."

The London Star, also Liberal, said:

"By proposing that armaments should be cut down and the money saved used to fight 'the brute forces of poverty and need' throughout the world, the President arouses the imaginations of all peoples.

"Russia, as he made clear, would not be excluded from such aid and reconstruction."

MOSCOW'S OPPORTUNITY

The Star's editorial concluded: "It is Moscow's opportunity, as the President said 'to help turn the tide of history.'"

Communist morning newspapers in East Germany ignored Eisenhower's speech. In divided Berlin the Red papers in the Eastern sector carried not a line about it.

Charged With Theft

TORONTO—(CP)— Police of suburban Leaside have arrested Harry Hunter on a charge of stealing $11,000 from the payroll of Rogers-Majestic Co., where he worked for two years. The thefts are said to have taken place during 1951-52.

Will Resume Truce Talks On Sunday

MUNSAN, Korea (AP) — The United Nations and Communists today agreed to hold a liaison meeting Sunday to discuss resumption of the long-suspended Korean armistice talks.

The agreement came less than 15 hours after the UN told the Reds it was ready to reopen the talks, providing the Reds do not stall on the over-all exchange of prisoners—the last big obstacle to an armistice.

The UN had asked for the liaison meeting Saturday to work out details for starting the new talks. The Reds, however, suggested 11 a. m. Sunday (9 p. m. EST Saturday). The UN agreed.

Allied spokesmen said the liaison groups probably would do little more than discuss the technical details of resuming full-scale armistice talks.

Even as staff officers met in Panmunjom a Communist convoy carrying sick and wounded Allied prisoners neared Kaesong, just six miles from the point where exchange of disabled captives will begin Monday.

A Communist correspondent said the British-American convoy was due in the advance Communist base sometime Friday night. He said there were "very few" litter cases.

ALL SOUTH KOREANS

The first group of sick and wounded prisoners arrived in Kaesong Thursday night. All were South Koreans, the Red newspaper men said.

Allied reconnaissance planes have spotted a third convoy of 34 vehicles, 55 miles north of Kaesong.

In sharp contrast to the last three days, no Red supply trucks streamed southward over the route of prisoner convoys.

A UN letter delivered to the Reds at Panmunjom Friday proposed:

1. That UN and Communist liaison officers meet Saturday to make arrangements for full-scale negotiations.

2. That Switzerland be named the neutral country to take custody of prisoners who refuse repatriation.

3. That these prisoners remain in Korea and be "released to the custody of the neutral state."

REASONABLE TIME

4. That the Reds would be given a "reasonable time, such as 60 days" to talk with prisoners who do not want to go home. After that the neutral state would make arrangements for peaceable disposition of those remaining in custody.

The UN warned that it would break off the talks "unless the meetings of full delegations indicate an acceptable agreement will be reached in a reasonable time."

Will Increase Pressure On Russians

Calls On Soviet To Back Talk With Concrete Action

AUGUSTA, Ga. (AP)—President Eisenhower's challenge to Russia on world peace and armament reduction is only the opening round in an all-out "peace offensive". A White House official told reporters today the new administration already has launched "the greatest drive it possibly can" to bring pressure on the Soviet Union to subscribe to an effective plan for world peace.

The President Thursday called on Russia to back her talk of peace with action by, (1) agreeing to an immediate armistice in Korea, (2) ending the cold war, (3) cutting world armaments, and (4) putting the saving into a global fund to fight "the brute forces of poverty and need."

Eisenhower laid down the challenge in a foreign policy speech at a meeting of the American Society of Newspaper in Washington.

The other choices of Soviet acceptance, the President said, are atomic war at the worst, or at the best, a continuing cloud of threatening war — "humanity hanging from a cross of iron."

Talking to newspaper men after Augusta vacation headquarters, the White House official summed up the president's address this way:

"We laid it on the line. We asked some questions—what, for example, is the Soviet Union ready to do? We are now awaiting the answers."

CAREFULLY PLANNED

The Eisenhower speech was described as a carefully planned "peace offensive" which was discussed in advance with Republican congressional leaders and will such free world governments as Britain and France.

The congressional leader, the official added, approved the idea and Britain and France endorsed it "in general terms."

He said also that the text of the President's speech has been distributed to all U.S. embassies, legations and consulates, and to the foreign offices of all the free world governments.

"The state department's Voice of America radio also is beaming the speech behind the Iron Curtain," the official said.

The official said the speech was not transmitted formally to the Kremlin, but he understood that

Lindsay Man Killed As Car Fails To Round Curve

LINDSAY—(ENS)—Howard Hines, 44, a one-armed house painter, was instantly killed late Thursday afternoon when he failed to round a curve while driving north on Highway 35, a mile north of Pontypool. The car went through the ditch and crashed into a tree on the east side of the highway. Hines was thrown forward against the dashboard and died of a broken neck. Two passengers —Arthur Makins and Arthur McGuire—both of Lindsay received minor cuts and bruises and were able to walk away from the wrecked car. They were treated by Coroner Dr. James A McArthur of Blackstock.

The trio had driven to Pontypool earlier in the day and were returning late in the afternoon when the accident occurred. Hines started into the curve but apparently the tires did not grip on the road surface which was wet from falling rain and the car went out of control.

The vehicle plunged into the east ditch and then smashed head-on into a large tree. Coroner McArthur said death was caused by a broken neck.

Crown Atorney Lorne W. Jordan of Lindsay said today there will be no inquest.

LOST ARM IN WAR

Hines was known throughout the Lindsay district as "the one-armed painter." He lost his left arm above the elbow while in the Canadian Army in the Second World War.

At the time of his death he was employed at Chatco Steel Products in Lindsay. He is reported to have worked occasionally in Peterborough.

Hines had lived in the Lindsay district for 15 years. He was the son of Edward and Emma Hines of Essex county, where he was born.

Surviving are his wife, the former Iris Brown; two sons, David, age 9, and Cecil, age 5; a daughter, Madeline, 22; also his parents.

During the Second World War he was a gunner with the 45th Field Battery. He lost his arm in an accident while still in Canada.

The funeral will be at the McArthur funeral home, Lindsay, 2 p.m. Saturday; the Rev. A. E. Cresswell of Queen Street United Church officiating. Burial will be in Riverside cemetery, Lindsay.

Not Planning Special Appeal To U.K. To Sign

OTTAWA (CP) — Trade Minister Howe said today that Canada is not planning any special appeal to Britain to sign the new international wheat agreement.

But, he said in the Commons, Canada is planning ahead to make sure sufficient supplies of wheat available to meet Britain's probable purchases in the new crop year—whether she comes into the agreement or not.

He was replying to L. E. Cardiff (PC-Huron North) who noted that the minister said Thursday he was not planning a trip to London to urge Britain to sign the pact and wondered whether Mr. Howe did not consider Britain's signing of "vital importance."

John Diefenbaker (PC-Lake Centre), asking a supplementary question, noted that the pact called for an annual export quota for Canada of 250,000,000 bushels and a quota for the United States of 270,000,000. Those quotas were based on the hope that Britain would sign the pact which replaces the current four-year pact ending next July 31.

He wondered if the same export ration for Canada and the U.S. will apply if Britain doesn't sign.

Mr. Howe said new allocations would be worked out later.

Fanatic Attacks, Injures Noted Violinist

JERUSALEM (CP)—An unidentified fanatic attacked world-famed violinist Jascha Heifetz with an iron bar early today and painfully wounded his right hand, shortly after the American musician played a sonata by German composer Richard Strauss here.

Doctors advised Heifetz, now touring Israel, to cancel his concert at Rehovoth tonight, but he said he would play on schedule and also at Tel Aviv Sunday.

Later this morning, however, Heifetz's bandaged right hand was reported so painful that it appeared doubtful whether he would be able to continue his recital series here.

Music by German composers is unwelcome in Israel because of the Nazi ban on works by Jews. Strauss, who died in 1949 at 85, was president from 1933 to 1935 of the Nazi music chamber under Propaganda Minister Goebbels. The year before his death a German denazification court cleared him of charges of nazism.

NOT SERIOUS

Doctors indicated that Heifetz's injury was not serious. According to rumor, the famed violinist's hands are insured for $300,000.

An unidentified man today telephoned the Israeli state broadcasting station saying "the attempt to break Heifetz's arm was made by the Hebrew Youth Organization."

"We warn the artist to leave the country immediately," he voice said.

An organization of that name has claimed responsibility for past acts of terrorism in Jerusalem, claiming to be inspired by patriotism, but little is known about it.

Heifetz's Strauss performances have aroused political criticism here. He had disregarded a request by the Israeli minister of culture, Benzion Dinur, to omit the German works from his program.

Questioned on his decision, Heifetz said: "There are only two kinds of music—good music and bad music."

BC Prepared To Crack Down On Lawless Doukhobors

VICTORIA—(BC)—The British Columbia government is prepared to crack down on lawless Doukhobors. Attorney-General Robert Bonner announced Thursday a "get tough" policy, promising wholesale arrests if there are any mass demonstrations.

Police fear the radical Sons of Freedom may plan nude parades and demonstrations as a follow up to recent acts of violence, including the burning of 19 buildings by torch-raiders.

Mr. Bonner said new facilities for jailing lawless elements and mass demonstrators are being prepared.

NO DIFFERENT TREATMENT

"The government is prepared to treat any member of the freedomite sect against whom it has evidence of lawlessness in precisely the same fashion as any other resident of this province is treated," he said.

Some years ago hundreds of Doukhobors, after nude parade demonstrations, were banished to an island in the Strait of Georgia. The men and women were separated, living in separate stockades.

Mr. Bonner said a minority group protesting proposals for settlement in new lands, is responsible for the present trouble.

Members of the religious sect, who came from Russia 50 years ago, have split into factions over the relocation proposals.

Death Toll 22 12 Still Missing

CHICAGO (AP)—The toll of known dead in a north-side factory explosion and fire rose to 22 today.

Twelve other persons, known to have been in the four-storey plant when it exploded in flames Thursday were listed as missing. Firemen picking their way through the debris more than 24 hours after the fire broke out believed some of the missing were trapped and burned in the basement of the factory.

Wrecking crews worked around the clock to remove tottering brick walls so the hunt could proceed with safety.

Police Capt. Robert Ryan said the death toll might reach "at least 30". A factory spokesman however, said some of the missing may have escaped.

Thirty-seven persons were injured in the fire which struck the Haber Company, manufacturer of electrical appliances and parts, at about 8:35 a.m. CST (9:35 a.m. EST). About 90 persons were reported by officials to have been in the building when the fire broke out

Eleven of the 16 identified dead were women and five were men. Capt. Ryan said two more bodies had been sighted in the water-filled basement but had not been recovered.

Firemen and wreckers worked through the night and early morning at the explosion-ripped structure, in an industrial district two miles northwest of the Loop.

Minutes after the blast, fire spread quickly.

The fire took the heaviest toll in Chicago in nearly three years. May 25, 1950, 32 persons perished in a streetcar-gasoline truck collision on the south side.

Gromyko Recalled Malik May Be Envoy

LONDON (Reuters) — Andrei Gromyko has been recalled to Moscow, it was learned today, and there are reports that Jacob Malik will replace him as Russian ambassador to Britain.

Gromyko, formerly deputy foreign minister, has been ambassador here since June, 1952. His recall is part of a shuffle of Russian diplomats which began after Stalin's death.

Malik, now in Moscow, was formerly permanent Russian representative at the United Nations.

Canada Developing Own Light Armor

OTTAWA (CP)—Defence Minister Claxton said in the Commons Thursday that Canada is developing her own lightweight body armor.

He said this armor will have comparable bullet-stopping power to American equipment now being used by Canadians in Korea but that it will contain improvements "in some other characteristics."

Mr. Claxton also said during the defence debate that anti-tank units are "likely" to be eliminated as such from the army.

He said Britain, the U.S. and Canada have been considering the role of anti-tank units but that it had not yet been decided whether they would be linked with artillery or armored groups.

He explained the reason for such a move would be that tanks themselves, with heavier and more powerful guns, can be used as anti-tank weapons.

Boy 15, Admits Double Slaying

NEWARK, N. J. (AP) — A hard-faced, chain-smoking 15-year-old boy, who told police his father trained him for crime, has admitted a double slaying in a tavern holdup.

Prosecutor Russell Morse said the youth, Michael Monahan, confessed Thursday night to the fatal shooting of a bartender and a patron last month in a $53 holdup.

The slayings admission followed stories of how he committed about 150 robberies on orders of his ex-convict father, Eugene Monahan, 44, police said.

Murder warrants have been issued against the boy and his father, both of whom have been in custody since Monday.

The boy told police he committed the robberies on his father's orders and that he was beaten if he did not comply.

Folding Bed Traps Manager

WINDSOR (CP). — Robert Wickens, 71-year-old manager of an apartment building, Thursday had the experience dreaded by all apartment dwellers.

Trapped beneath a folding bed, Mr. Wickens needed the help of the fire department's rescue squad before he could get away.

Mrs. Wickens said her husband was removing the folding bed from the hinges on which it swings down from the wall. Something slipped, and Mr. Wickens found himself prone on the floor, a steel bar of the 300-pound bed lying along his back.

His pounding on the floor attracted the attention of others in the building, and several women attempted the rescue. Another woman telephoned the fire department, and the rescue squad arrived in time to lift the bed from its victim.

Mr. Wickens was taken to hospital for treatment of scratches on his arm, his only injury.

Tom Sharkey Ring Great Dies

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Tom Sharkey, 79, barrel-chested battler who was the last of the ring greats of the 1890s, died today.

The game little slugger, who had won $250,000 fighting John L Sullivan, Jim Corbett, Bob Fitzsimmons and Jim Jeffries and others, died broke—but not forgotten.

He had been in hospital since August, 1952. His friends—fighters, promoters, old - time newspaper men and followers—chipped in to pay his expenses.

Sharkey never won a title, but he slugged it out with the best in 11 years in the ring, starting in 1893. He used to boast that he was "afraid of no man—none ever made me take a backward step."

The cocky, Irish-born boxer who stood 5 feet, 8½ inches and in fighting trim weighed between 180 and 185—about 30 pounds less than most of his heavyweight rivals. In 54 fights, he scored 35 knockouts and was knocked out only once — by Fitzsimmons in 1900. Four years before he won on an eight-round foul by Fitz.

Soviet Press Reports Speech With Unusual Lack Of Abuse

By EDDY GILMORE

MOSCOW (AP)—The Soviet press reported President Eisenhower's foreign policy speech with unusual speed and lack of abuse.

Some of the foreign diplomats in Moscow believe there is a good chance of some sort of official answer to the President. The more optimistic picture the United States and the Soviet Union as on the verge of easing world tension and possibly settling some of their outstanding differences.

In 10 years of covering Moscow news, this correspondent does not recall any time when the Soviet press acted so quickly as in reporting Eisenhower's address Pravda appeared with its account only a few hours after the President's address to the American. Society of Newspaper Editors.

The Soviet press and radio devoted 361 words of report and comment on Eisenhower's speech, indicating they regard it as an interesting and important statement on world affairs.

All papers published the same story—a Tass dispatch from New York—and Moscow radio read the message several times.

Pravda gave it a prominent place in its foreign news page, just below an account of UN proceedings. Other papers similarly used it in conspicuous positions.

Neither press nor radio praised the President's speech, but neither did they condemn it out of hand.

Commenting on it, Tass said Eisenhower in blaming the Soviet Union for the international situation failed to cite any facts to back up his contention. The dispatch also accused the President of by-passing China and "re-establishment of her national rights" and the question of a unified Germany as laid down by the Potsdam agreement.

The papers were singularly mild in comment, considering some of the things Eisenhower said.

Police Squad Catches Youth After Break-ins

HARROW (CP) — Provincial police picked up Adolph Hiesl, 17, near Colchester this morning and are holding him in connection with two break-ins in Malden township, and the theft of two cars.

One car was stolen from Earl French of Harrow. Owner of the other car was not identified. Both cars have been recovered.

A squad of Ontario provincial police scoured the Harrow area last night, chasing Hiesl through fields and woods, until they captured him at dawn.

The police got on Hiesl's trail Thursday afternoon, when he was reported seen in the vicinity.

Twelve policemen took part in the chase.

Switzerland Delays Answer

BERN (Reuters)—Switzerland said today that she will have to think over Gen. Mark Clark's proposal before she agrees to become the "neutral state" to look after Korean prisoners who do not want to return to communism.

The federal council issued a communique saying that the whole question of the obligations and responsibilities to be assumed by Switzerland must also be fully clarified before the proposal could be accepted.

Pending receipt of information on these points, the council said it would continue to examine the United Nations' commander's proposal, which now has been officially received, and would consider other problems which the acceptance of the proposal might bring.

The council added that no decision could be made until it was known that the prisoners themselves agreed.

In Korea today the Allies agreed to the Communist suggestion that prisoners unwilling to be repatriated should be turned over to a camp under the control of a neutral nation. Clark proposed Switzerland to the Communists and the Communists said they would give their answer.

Butler Will Investigate Possible Budget Secret Leak

LONDON (AP) — Chancellor R. A. Butler today promised to investigate the possibility that budget secrets leaked from the treasury before he made his budget speech in the House of Commons Tuesday.

The question was raised by Hugh Gaitskell, former Labor chancellor of the exchequer. Gaitskell pointed out that the Yorkshire Evening News carried an advertisement about television sets that referred to changes in the purchase tax before Butler actually announced the change.

Butler said the advertisement was so worded that it did not seem to imply prior knowledge that the tax would be cut, but added that he was "looking into this matter at once."

There was no implication that Butler himself was involved in any way.

The British government takes a stern view of any disclosure of budget matters outside cabinet circles before the chancellor makes his speech in the Commons. In the past chancellors have been required to resign for letting secrets slip, since the budget has a strong influence on markets.

The last such case involved Hugh Dalton, Labor chancellor in 1947. He quit.

Eisenhower Speech Important—Pearson

OTTAWA (CP)—External Affairs Minister Pearson today described President Eisenhower's statement Thursday as "a very important statement indeed" and took the unusual step of reading parts of it into the Commons record.

Back briefly from the United Nations general assembly, he said Canada's parliament and people will subscribe to the "inspiring and heartening" message urging Russia to demonstrate her sincere desire for peace by bringing an end to the Korean war and going on from there into general disarmament and help for underdeveloped lands.

Mr. Pearson returned to Ottawa from New York for the arrival of Germany's Chancellor Konrad Adenauer late today. He is expected to go back to New York Saturday.

Pakistan Government Reported Dismissed

NEW DELHI (AP) — Reliable reports reaching here today said the governor-general of Pakistan has dismissed the government of Prime Minister Khwaja Nazimuddin. There was no immediate confirmation from Karachi, where censorship often is imposed.

The reports said Governor-General hulGam Mohammed had asked Mohammed Ali, Pakistan's ambassador to Washington, to form a new government. The governor-general's note explaining his action, the informants said, charged that Nazimuddin had proved himself inadequate to grapple with the problems facing the country."

Nazimuddin, 58, became premier of Pakistan on Oct. 19, 1951. He succeeded Liaquat Ali Khan, who was assassinated.

There had been dissatisfaction among some Moslems in Karachi over the retention of Sir Mohammed Zafrullah Khan as foreign minister in the Nazimuddin cabinet. On Feb. 27 troops and police were called out to put down a demonstration against the foreign minister. The government said it put more than 700 persons under arrest.

Hold Gunman 30 Minutes After Robbery

TORONTO (CP) — Ronald E. Ferguson, 35, appeared in court today on seven charges which include Thursday's $1,835 robbery of an east-end Bank of Toronto branch.

He was remanded until April 21. Bail was refused.

Ferguson also faces a $600 safe robbery charge. Police said he broke into the safe at his former employer, a dog food company where he was secretary. He is also charged with the theft of the revolver used in Thursday's bank holdup.

Two false pretences and one forgery charge were also laid by police against the former $10,000-a-year executive. They said Ferguson bought two cars with worthless cheques and later sold them for $4,000 and opened a bank account in Hamilton for more than $11,000 with a forged certified cheque.

3 CHARGES PENDING

Three charges of attempting to rob city banks by boring through vault ceilings are pending.

Ferguson, the father of three small boys, was arrested only a half hour after the bank robbery while at home taking a shower. Police said they recovered all but $1 of the bank loot in Ferguson's car.

The holdup was the third at the bank. Police say Edwin Alonzo Boyd, now serving a life term for bank robbery, robbed it of $10,000 in January, 1952. Two youths took $900 in sliver in a mid-evening raid in April, 1950, but the money was later recovered.

BRAZEN RAID

In Thursday's raid, the gunman, described by witnesses as "handsome and clean cut" and "as brazen as they come," walked into the manager's office, handed manager E. V. Tolfree a brief case and pointed a gun from under his overcoat, police said. He forced the manager to go to a teller's cage and order the teller to fill the briefcase with money. Then, using the manager as a shield, he crossed a street in front of the bank and fled in the bank manager's automobile, which was later found abandoned.

Ferguson's arrest was credited to an alert parking lot attendant, whose name as withheld. He watched the gunman switch cars in his lot, became suspicious, and told police the licence number and description of the car.

Tass, the official Soviet news agency, had picked up the text at the White House for relay to the Kremlin.

The peace offensive Eisenhower launched on behalf of the United States had been planned weeks in advance, and is designed to take the initiative in that field from the Communists.

"It was decided to try to put the full force of the free world behind the President's speech," the official said.

The whole idea, he added, was mainly Eisenhower's.

Democrats and Republicans in Congress praised the speech. But some legislators expressed doubts that Russia would accept Eisenhower's terms and others differed about the consequence if the Russians turned them down.

Eisenhower came down Thursday with what his press secretary, James C. Hagerty, described as "a slight case of food poisoning" and a slight fever.

He went to bed as soon as he returned to Augusta Thursday night, after a 12-hour trip which took him to Washington for his speech and a brief stay at the baseball game between Washington Senators and New York Yankees.

Mother Nature continues to pull weather tricks on us in the form of late spring wintry spells. Now that a low pressure area is developing over Utah there is a serious threat of precipitation in the form of snow and rain spreading across Illinois, Michigan and into Ontario during Saturday. Hence the outlook is gloomy for warm spring weather especially in Southern Ontario. Under clear skies tonight temperatures will drop again to around 32 in Southern Ontario and to 10 to 15 in the north. Thus there will be extensive ground frost tonight and temperatures will modify only slightly on Saturday.

Veteran Ship Declared Loss

LONDON (Reuters)—The 114-year old Royal Navy battleship Conway, which ran aground in the narrow Menai Straits off the northwest coast of Wales Tuesday, was declared a total loss by salvage men Thursday night.

The announcement was sent to the admiralty as the tough old wooden sailing ship, veteran of the Crimean War, was still in service when she ran on a shelf of rocks.

Warm appreciation of the assistance of doctors in various affairs of the Hospital including lectures was expressed.

Sister Gonzaga said: "The third floor of the nurses' residence was completed; bed capacity is now 84. An elevator has been installed. The residence is greatly appreciated for the excellent living conditions and teaching facilities."

Substantial increase last year in the laboratory and X-ray services was also reported to the Board.

LAB TESTS

Dr. E. Dutkevich, pathologist, reported 25,304 laboratory tests last year. On the basis of beds there were during the year 128.5 tests for each bed. The highest number was 134.4 in 1949, but since then there has been an increase in the number of beds. The average number of tests per patient during the year was four, indicating, it was said, the necessity and advantage of tests in the the process of diagnosis. Dr. Dutkevich, a native of the Ukraine, said there were now four members of the laboratory staff.

Sister St. Ivan, M.A., informed the Board of the results from the introduction of a bookkeeping machine in the main office.

There is also a McBee Keysort card for recording details of accounting in all the service departments. One advantage is in the facility of listing and preparing statistics for government reports.

Recommendation of Mr. Overend and Mr. McCarney for the property board in particulars of painting and repairs was approved.

Reds Attack 5 Korean Hills

SEOUL (AP)—Chinese Communists today hurled 1,000 men against five west Korean hills, overran part of one key height, then scurried back to their own lines in the face of savage Allied counter-attacks.

The Communist attacks late Thursday night and before dawn today were against the same hills north and west of Chorwon which 4,000 or more Chinese hit three weeks ago.

Two hundred Chinese swept down the slopes of Old Baldy, which the Reds wrested from UN forces three weeks ago, and broke through U.S. barbed-wire entanglements on West View, a main position adjoining Baldy.

Fighting hand to hand with bayonets and grenades, the Americans ousted the Chinese and the Reds fell back to their lines on Old Baldy.

West Berlin newspapers splashed the story over their front pages and praised the speech in editorials. Der Tagespiegel called it "the clearest, most powerful expression of American policy in at least 20 years."

Obviously keyed to Moscow's reaction, the official Soviet zone news agency ADN later distributed a 500-word report on the speech.

Echoing Moscow almost word for word, ADN said Eisenhower's speech was devoted chiefly to justification of U. S. cost-war policy "including enforced armament, the formation of the orth Atlantic bloc and so forth."

NO DIRECT ATTACK

However, ADN made no direct attack either against President Eisenhower personally or against the United States.

Western Germany gave Eisenhower's program a warm reception. A spokesman for Chancellor Konrad Adenauer's Christian Democratic party said all Germany should applaud the fact that Eisenhower stressed the unification of Germany through free elections.

of this location overhead construction can be conducted satisfactorily. Transformer stands of large capacity have to be located on the ground or under it, on the laneway or on property purchased by the commission.

"In considering service to the Woolworth building site, investigation has proved that there is no public lane available for the construction of an overhead distribution system at the back of the lots facing George St. between Simcoe and Charlotte Sts. Any access to this area must be gained by legal action.

"There is a right of way provided at the back of the lots running parallel between Charlotte and Simcoe Sts. but this is not open. Legal action might open this lane but would not help in providing service to the buildings lying along the west side of George St.

LANGLEY OBJECTIONS

Numerous objections to the report were made by Dr. Langley who questioned the use of such terms as "constant hazard" and "extremely vulnerable", in reference to overhead wiring. He said that it was "A number one method and there's nothing make-shift about it."

"The citizens will not stand for the cost of underground wiring," he claimed.

"How do you know?" Chairman Fred Hills asked him.

"We asked management for an overall plan with estimated costs of underground wiring nine months ago in order that we could put it up to the citizens in a plebiscite," Dr. Langley said. "So far we haven't seen the report and we don't know what it would cost."

"In the meantime, pending the report, I'm unalterably opposed to spending large chunks of money here and there. If the citizens want to spend whatever it costs for an overall plan of underground wiring then we can go ahead with it. There's no reason why we can't pdovide service in the rear of the buildings. I believe the citizens would co-operate with us."

"We would have to obtain easements and there is the possibility we might have to expropriate," Commissioner Raine said. "I don't think we should expropriate unless it's absolutely necessary and we don't want to be faced with lawsuits."

"We can provide the service from the existing lines," Dr. Langley said, "and the transformers could be located in Woolworth's."

"Woolworth's might not want to have the transformers in their store," Mr. Hills suggested.

"We're providing the service," Dr. Langley said. "It's up to us to say where the transformers would go. I'm not satisfied to go on serving as a representative of the citizens if the will of this commission is to deliberately waste money."

"It may cost us more at first but in the long run we would probably save," Mr. Raine said, moving adoption of the general-manager's report.

"I'm afraid I'll have to go along with Mr. Raine," Mr. Hills said.

Vendor Has To Supply Charcoal To Roast Meat

TLACOLULA—Markets in Mexico are not only places of business but places of sociability. Gossip as well as money changes hands and nearly every city, town or village has a big market once a week.

* * * *

One of the most interesting to me was the Sunday market at Tlacolula, a town a few miles from Mitla. Not only the people of the town and the farmers, but many Indians from the mountains trudge miles to bring their wares and buy supplies for the next week.

* * * *

Things here are cheaper than at the Oaxaca market and the whole market is a seething mass of humanity and color. For in Oaxaca state the women wear brighter dresses than in points further north.

* * * *

My friend Jacob Robles took me, and with his thorough knowledge of the people and their customs I saw more than at any previous place. We inspected the pottery; and the metates which are little stone tables on three legs on which the people grind their corn. In another section there were tenates, the small tortilla baskets everyone uses. In the same section were the petates, the woven mats which are used by many for sleeping on or for putting on the floor.

* * * *

TRY DIFFERENT FOODS

But we had the most fun in the food section. I was the only non-Mexican there that day and we visited almost every stand. There was the loveliest bread section with fascinating bread and rolls dotted with sugar. It looked so good my pal bought some and let me eat a little. Then there was chicozapote, a fruit which was delicious. It is a melon used solely for making a refresco (drink).

* * * *

In the meat section when you make a purchase, the vendor is obligated if you wish to cook it there, to supply the brazier and the charcoal. Many people were roasting the most appetizing things. I must have looked so envious that my companion promised to give me some of the Tasajo (meat) he had bought and have the hotel cook it for me. I might add it was delicious.

* * * *

I couldn't imagine why the stall owners watched me so closely and Jacob said later that I was the only visitor he had ever taken who had made the rounds of the entire market and what was more, enjoyed it. So a Canadian made a good impression quite unintentionally.

* * * *

TAKE BUNDLES OF FISH

Outside the market proper were piles of dried fish. People were making them up into huge bundles and carrying them back up into the mountains for Holy Week. We met men on the road later bent double under the load and many of them would have at least 20 miles to walk. Strange as it may seem, they find it easier to climb, with loads on their backs in the mountains than they do on the flat highway. This is due to the position of their bodies as it eases the weight.

* * * *

Another of the ancient things in this old town is the 17th century church of the Assumption (Dominican) with its simple but fine chapel of the Lord of the Brown Christ. The chapel is decorated in the Santo Domingo style and has some fine pieces of work. There are several plaques made of bones of the saints and these are encrusted with pearls and gold. Many of them have been robbed through the years, but there are still a few to show the fine workmanship. There is also a pair of remarkably fine gates into the church proper.

* * * *

HUGE TREE OF TULE

Santa Maria del Tule on the way to Tlacolula is famous for its very old and very large tree. It is a gigantic ahuehuetl about 165 feet high and 160 feet in circumference. Twenty-eight people with outstretched arms and fingertips touching can barely encircle it. The spread of the colossal branches is 140 feet.

* * * *

This is known throughout Mexico as the Great Tree of Tule. It is supposed to have stood for 1,000 years before Columbus discovered America. It sheltered Cortez and his soldiers on their march to the Honduras more than four centuries ago. The large three at the side of the church is said to be the son of the big tree.

* * * *

A few months ago consternation developed because the tree appeared to be dying. It was finally decided that it needed more water so now there is a special watering system set up and the sick arbol has recovered. In earlier years, the people used to hold their fiestas in the churchyard under this tree.

Quilchena Queen New Jersey Champion

VANCOUVER (CP)—The new all-time Canadian champion producer for Jersey cattle, senior two-year-old division, is Quilchena Golden Queen.

She is owned by Mr. and Mrs. G. H. Keur of suburban Lulu Island. In 365 days, and milked three times daily, she produced 14,706 pounds of milk and about 900 pounds of butterfat.

This tops by a wide margin the record set by an eastern cow in 1925 with 755 pounds of butterfat.

J. ALEX EDMISON, QC, Assistant to the Principal, Queen's University, spoke in Peterborough Thursday evening to a group of Queen's graduates at a dinner meeting in Trinity Hall. A canvass of city and district gradutes is being made for contributions to the Alumni Endowment Fund. Chairman of the meeting was C. M. Krug, and A. J. Noftall presided at table.

Civic End March $6,847 To Good

Civic Hospital closed out March with a credit of $6,847.14 with the help of its city appropriation, according to a report prepared by hospital Board of Governors' treasurer T. T. Rodger.

Presented to the board Thursday night the report indicated an overall credit of $14,854.59 on the first three months operation in 1953. Revenue for the month totalled $70,289.05 before adding in the appropriation, against expenditures of $82,241.96.

With March's share of the appropriation totalling $18,800.05 this left a credit of $6,847.14 for the month's operations.

Main item in February's list of expenditures was the salary and wage account which totalled $64,-820 91. Supplies for the medical and surgical departments cost $2,-142 41, and drugs and medicines, $2,394.38. Administration costs were $2,658.38 and professional care of patients, $3,003.31.

General service costs were $9,-661 13 and physical plant costs, $4,300.49.

Minor expenses brought the total to $89 654.77 which with deductions for lodgings, cafeteria and other dietary revenue of $7,-412.81, gave the total net expenditures for February $82,241.96.

Cost Of Water

foot frontage plus water consumed. Consumers would have to purchase service pipe installations to the street line at $125. The cost to city consumers would be 42.9 cents a foot frontage annually for 15 years.

Summing up, spreading the cost of the trunk feeder over the 81 existing dwellings in the city and rural area would mean an additional charge of $628 against each property.

"From these figures it is evident that the consumers in the area of Lansdowne would barely be able to pay the cost of the mains and services serving their immediate property, let alone contribute to the cost of a trunk feeder main crossing the canal," the report said.

"Therefore," it was added, "to serve the area in the vicinity of Lansdowne and Armour Rd., a trunk feeder costing $50,811, paid for out of the general funds of the waterworks department, would have to be constructed, from which main local consumers would be able to finance extensions to their property at a reasonable cost."

TOO MUCH CHANCE

The latter proposal generally received a cold shoulder at Thursday afternoon's meeting. It was felt that the possibility of the area being opened to more new industries was not a matter which the PUC should take a chance on.

"I don't think as a commission that we're authorized to gamble on the possibility and direction of future expansion," Dr. G. R. Langley said. "Expansion out there may not come for another 10 years."

"I don't see how we can make any money out of this for at least five or six years," Chairman Fred Hills said.

"I think it's up to the city to take the risk," said Richard Raine.

"Well, do you want to see the city council about it or make a decision here and now?" the chairman asked.

"I don't think we should make a decision at all," Dr. Langley said. "I think we should go about it in a business-like way. If the city wants to pay for it, it's up to them."

General manager W. Howard Powell was instructed to write city council saying the PUC was willing to undertake the project if the city is prepared to pay a sum compensurate with the cost and is willing to discuss the matter with them.

Campbellford WMS Thankoffering Meet

CAMPBELLFORD (ENS)—The Easter thank-offering meeting of the St. Andrew's WMS was held on Tuesday in the ladies' parlour in the church. The president Mrs. Wesley Stephens opened the meeting with a call to worship.

It was decided to entertain Havelock Auxiliary of the WMS. The secretary was asked to extend an invitation to the group to meet with St. Andrew's in May.

The study on Africa, dealing with African life—old and new, was taken by Mrs. G. G. Stephens and Mrs. P. S. Nelson.

The devotional part of the meeting followed the Easter program suggested in the Glad Tidings. Mrs. Charles Milne and Mrs. James Storrie read the scripture.

The next meeting will be held in the church on Tuesday, May 5, with Mrs. DeCarrol in charge of the program and Mrs. P. B. Nelson in charge of refreshments.

Driver Stabbed In New Violence

TEHRAN, Iran (AP) — The U.S. naval attache's Iranian chauffeur was stabbed today in a new outbreak of anti-American violence in Iran. The attack came less than a day after Premier Mohammed Mossadegh promised security forces would prevent further incidents.

The driver, Mesrob Melikian, was knifed in the shoulder when a group of 20 men forced him to stop his car, which bore U. S. naval markings and carried diplomatic plates. The men, shouting anti-American slogans, also threw a brick through the window of the automobile. Two uniformed soldiers apparently off duty, tried unsuccessfully to halt the attack.

Melikian was driving to the home of the attache, Eric Pollard, to pick up Pollard's baggage when the incident occurred.

Pollard and two other U. S. officials were flying to Shiraz, southwest Iran, to investigate Communist-led attacks on U. S. technical assistance offices and personnel there.

Mossadegh Thursday night expressed Iran's regrets for the attacks to U. S. Ambassador Loy Henderson and technical assistance director William W. Warne. He told them that martial law has been declared in Shiraz and order restored.

Towards Cancer Control

This month the Peterborough branch of the Canadian Cancer Society, as well as other branches throughout the Dominion, is conducting a campaign to arouse public concern in the scourge of cancer and to secure money for the Society's work to counteract it. It is a task to which Peterborough and district people should give their attention and support, for of all the old plagues of the health and life of man, cancer alone has remained a chief menace. Not only has it not been brought under control as smallpox and tuberculosis have, but its toll has increased. It behoves Canadians therefore to become better informed about cancer, its causes and treatments, and also to support the Cancer Society financially.

* * *

The three chief weapons of the Society in its fight against cancer are research, education and welfare. Across the country scientists, assisted by funds provided by the Society, are engaged in research to find the cause and cure of cancer. To make the most of their work, it is important that cancer be diagnosed and treated at the earliest stage. One objective of the Canadian Cancer Society is to bring the facts about cancer before the public. Cancer patients and their families frequently require a helping hand to cope with long and serious illness. The welfare program of the Society is providing such help—in the form of sick room supplies, nursing services, and aid in other forms from thousands of volunteer workers in hundreds of Canadian towns.

* * *

Here in Peterborough city and county the society has an assiduous group of people actively engaged in the fight against cancer and assisting in the three-fold work of the Society—supporting research, informing the public and aiding the sick. As the Governor-General has said in urging public help for the Cancer Society, such a program is worthy of the support of all of us.

* * *

The Society needs money, and for purposes which the Minister of Health, the Hon. Paul Martin, has succinctly stated:

"Each year the Canadian Cancer Society appeals to the people of this country for voluntary donations to help finance its essential work. Out of these contributions, very generous assistance is given to the research program of the National Cancer Institute. A substantial portion is also set aside to provide for the Society's own program of fellowships. But the major activity of the Canadian Cancer Society is the promotion of its extensive eductional and welfare programs."

The Canadian Cancer Society's objective this year is $1,500,000. The Peterborough branch is campaigning to raise $8,000, and for this purpose is receiving donations at its Water Street headquarters, and three hundred canvassers are going about city and county seeking memberships and contributions.

* * *

Mr. Martin has this to say about the value of the Society's work: "Much of the hope for today's cancer sufferer is the direct result of the steadfast efforts of the Canadian Cancer Society to drive home to the general public the fact that cancer may by cured if it is treated early enough".

The Regimen Of Going To School

School is an unnatural place for the human animal. Only fish are found naturally in schools. But civilization demands and our society requires that young humans go to school, however unnatural the process may be. It is a dictatorial decision, of course, and in their very nature schools must be places of regimentation. Teachers, school boards and parents try to ease the pupils into and through this unnatural school world which is foisted on them, and it is remarkable indeed how happy our schools have become. Children like to go to school and there is almost no truancy.

Yet we are sometimes amazed that children accept the regimentation of school as easily as they do. Consider, in Peterborough, just one phase of it; the actual physical act of going to school. In the interests of their safety, traffic patrols have been established, operated by pupils themselves. No youngster may cross a street on which there is a traffic patrol without the consent of the patrol. He must queue at the crossing, and then march across with the others. He must not cross elsewhere than at the patrolled corner. He must not go to school before the time when the patrol sets up its stations, even though he might want to get in a half-hour's baseball or marbles before the school bell rings.

The school principal zones his area—in the interests of the pupils' safety—assigning boundaries within which pupils may not ride their bicycles to school. If a pupil lives only half a mile away, he must walk and not ride, whether he wants to or not.

The Peterborough school patrols and regimentation of the pupils' goings and comings seem very successful as safety measures, and many parents are grateful for the system.

A suggestion has been made that special traffic lights be installed at intersections where school and commercial traffic meet in thickest congestion. These would be operated at such times by school pupils, under the eye of a traffic policeman. We shudder at the notion. The pupils may be perfectly capable of operating the lights wisely and effectively, but we see in it a move to extend the regimentation of schools into adult spheres. Please do not move so fast, you traffic controllers. The present crop of adults has not had the conditioning into docility which pupils are now getting at street corners. Wait for a dozen years, please, then the adults of that generation (the present youngsters) may eagerly accept such school-pupil control; it would be like a return to their regimented safe childhood, the good old submissive days of leaving decisions— even minor ones like crossing a street—in the hands of others. But for the present breed of adults, if there must be special traffic lights in the interests of pupils' safety, put an adult policeman on the job; he would not be as humiliating a reminder of our incapacities to govern our own steps.

These remarks are in no wise intended to discredit the school traffic patrols, which are doing their job well. We are merely reflecting that regimentation seems to have become the price of safety. What is the cost in loss of self-reliance and independent action?

Toronto The Big

The eighth largest city on the American continent came into being Wednesday: Toronto. There are grounds for believing that Toronto has existed previously and that it has not been an instant creation, a superlative Act of God. But now Toronto is not merely Greater Toronto, but Metropolitan Toronto with one all-embracing metroplitan council and one inclusive metropolitan Board of Education. This new entity is Canada's largest city, officially.

Mayor Houde of Montreal has taken note of the fact, brushed it aside and claimed for his city continuation of its age-old prerogative to be largest. Montreal still is by a hundred thousand or so, if Greater Montreal is set beside Metropolitan Toronto. But Greater Montreal is only a place on the ground, not a city on paper, for Montreal has not swallowed its suburbs, or its suburbs swallowed it, as has happened in Toronto.

We wish the new creation well. We can hardly do otherwise, for if all is not well with Toronto, affairs would be bad for the rest of Ontario, since Metropolitan Toronto now includes more than a quarter of the entire population of Southern Ontario. But we echo Premier Frost's cautionary words to the new Metropolitan Council and Board: it cannot be expected to overtake in one fortunate stroke the problems which have gathered over the past forty years. Meanwhile the new overlordship does not do away with the old city of Toronto the Good, Toronto the Wicked, Toronto the Pompous, Toronto the Ontario Pump, nor with that ebullient epitome of it all, Mayor Lamport.

O For The Warmth Of Winter

April has fooled some of us, and given others the satisfaction of 'I-told-you-so'. After a mild winter, a green winter some might call it because of the lack of snow (a brown or black winter really), came some fine, warm early spring weather long before the calendar said that winter had ended. Do you remember such dulcet days as Good Friday, now, in today's cool air and cloud? And now, shivering April.

This district is not the only one to suffer cold April showers amounting to sleet, and frost which chills the blood. South of the border a couple of inches of snow on the field prevented an opening game of the baseball season. Northern and Western Ontario have been suffering wind and snow. Manitoba had six inches of snow and 80-mile-an-hour winds Thursday and the thermometer registered seventeen degrees of frost.

We do not pretend to see any cosmic significance or religious meaning in this cold April hand of Nature. But we dare to remark that we had cake in winter, and ate it. Well, at least we can say that so far we have had an 'open' spring.

NOTES AND COMMENT

A good way of getting plenty of time to yourself is to be punctual for every appointment.

We see a chair advertised as "so light that a child can lift it". As if this were an advantage! Parents want heavy furniture to keep the geography of the living-room as stable as possible.

The Kingston Whig-Standard has begun agitating for a celebration, to take place 20 years hence, to mark Kingston's 300th birthday. The Old Whig, in more than a century's experience, has found out how long it takes to get a civic scheme moving.

Notes And Queries

By ALPHA

Questions are solicited for this column particularly those relating to local lore and tradition.

ALPHA: I have heard that the city of New Orleans in the state of Louisiana was named for our Orleans (the island of Orleans near Quebec) and not for the city of Orleans in France. Is this true?

ANSWER: Both Canada's island of Orleans and the American city of New Orleans were named for the famous profligate soldier-statesman Philippe, Duke of Orleans. He was the son of Phillipe, "Monsieur" Duke of Orleans (1640-1701) who was a son of Louis XIII. The younger Duke in this mention (1674-1723) was regent of France during the minority of Louis XIV, when New Orleans was founded (1718).

There is some reason behind the assumption that New Orleans was named after Orleans in Canada. Both were named in honour of the Regent Duke, and both were settlements in which Pierre Le Moyne, Sieur d'Iberville, and his brother Jean Baptiste Le Moyne, Sieur de Bienville, had interests. They were early French-Canadians, or rather Frenchmen who explored and founded settlements and fought in Canada.

New Orleans was Canada South at that time; the impulse which led to its beginnings came from Canada and Canadians. New Orleans was established as the southernmost outpost of New France (Canada), and as part of the grand scheme to control and fortify the Missouri-Mississippi basin, to hedge in the English colonists on the Atlantic seaboard. It was La Salle who conceived the idea, and Iberville who really founded the French colony of Louisiana. It was his brother Jean-Baptiste Le Moyne, Sieur de Bienville, who carried out his plan and founded New Orleans—La Nouvelle Orleans.

The name itself inescapably must refer to the city of Orleans, France, as New York (named in honour of James, Duke of York, later James II) inherently also refers to the city of York, England—both because of the adjective "New."

The Island of Orleans was originally named Isle of Bacchus by Cartier in 1535, because of the numerous grape vines he saw. It was renamed in Frontenac's and Iberville's time.

DEAR ALPHA: There was an advertisement in the Examiner Tuesday showing a Canadian dollar bill. I was surprised to see it called UN DOLLAR. Since that was only a false picture, I looked at a dollar bill in my pocket. Sure enough, there it was again "UN DOLLAR" — opposite the Canadian "ONE DOLLAR." Since when has our money become United Nations money, and is Canada so keen on UN that we put UN on our money?

ANSWER: Look at a five-dollar bill. It has the legend "FIVE DOLLARS — CINQ DOLLARS." UN dollar is what it says in French (one of Canada's two official languages), ONE dollar.

HISTORIC SITES BILL: On March 30 the House of Commons passed a bill of special interest to some readers of this column. The Bill establishes the Historic Sites and Monuments Board of Canada on a statutory basis. Formerly the Board existed by virtue of an Order In Council of 1923, to advise the Minister of Resource and Development in regard to historic sites of national interest. It had twelve members.

Now the Board will be permanent. It will consist of twelve members, as follows: the Dominion Archivist, the Chief Curator of the National Museum of Canada, and one representative of each of the ten provinces, to be appointed by the Cabinet. Each provincial representative must live in the province for which he is appointed. He holds office for a maximum of five years, but may be re-appointed thereafter. The Board must meet at least once a year.

CLAUSE 5 of the new bill states: "The Board may receive and consider recommendations respecting the marking or commemoration of historic places, the establishment of historic museums and the administration, preservation and maintenance of historic museums, and shall advise the Minister in carrying out his powers under this Act."

The Minister's powers are specified in the Bill to include: marking historic places with plaques or other signs "or in any other suitable manner," making agreements with any persons for marking, commemorating historic places, and for the care and preservation of such places. He may establish, with the approval of the Treasury Board, any historic places, lands for museums and the like. All expenditures "for the purposes of the Act shall be paid out of moneys appropriated by Parliament therefor."

The Board has not yet been constituted, nor has the Cabinet named a chairman. The Peterborough Historical Society will do well to jot down the name and address of the Ontario representative, and of the chairman, when the appointments are announced. There are items of interest in this district which should be drawn to the attention of the Historic Sites and Monuments Board.

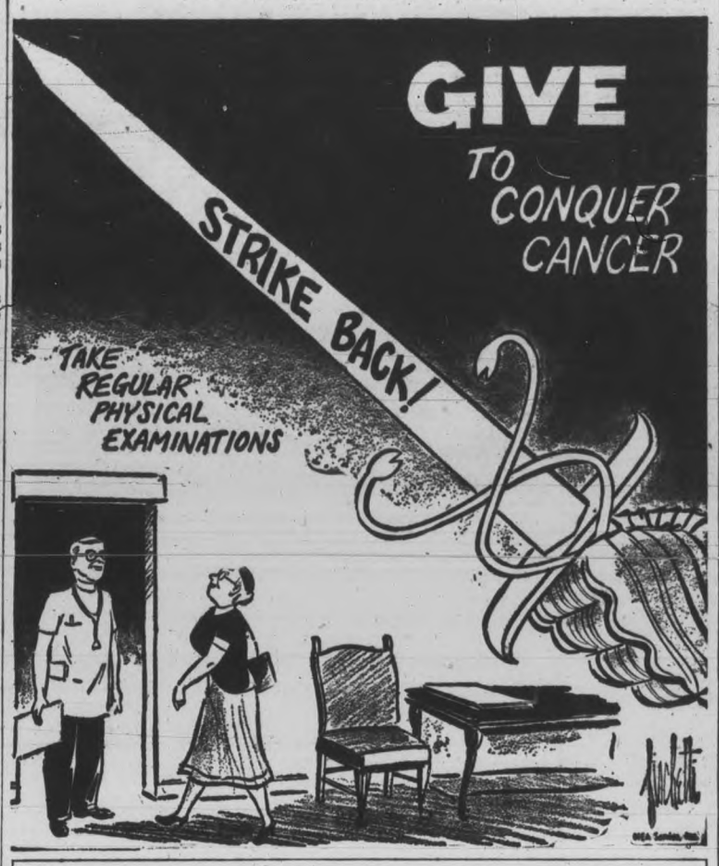
✧ ✧ ✧

A LETTER has been passed on to me written by Miss Edith B. Lewis of Hudson Heights, Quebec (Hudson Heights is within commuting distance of Montreal). Miss Lewis encloses with her letter a pinky-orange hand-bill advertising a "Hockey Match — the 'Colts' of Norwood vs. The Collegiate Institute of Peterborough, Monday Eve., — 9th March — At the Skating Rink, Charlotte Street — Puck Faced at 8 o'clock Sharp — Admission 10c." At the bottom of the leaflet is this come-on: "A closely contested game is expected as both teams are in excellent condition. An hour's skating guaranteed after the match."

Miss Lewis does not know the year — probably in the early 1890's and not later than 1896 when she and her family left Peterborough. If it was a notable match, perhaps some of my readers will remember it.

Miss Lewis also enclosed a white silk badge bearing the inscription:

STEWARD
CALICO BALL
APRIL 4TH, 1888



That was 65 years ago. Miss Lewis recalls the Calico Ball, and thought of it when she was having lunch two years ago in the Empress Hotel. The hotel "was just finished then and I had been allowed to go down with some things my Mother needed when decorating the Ball room . . . I am not sure but believe that Mrs. Roper worked with her — Mrs. Forte's mother . . . I remember Mother tacking up yards of calico for decoration and I think they were all wore cotton dresses, but for what Charity it was held I'm afraid I forget; quite possibly the forerunner of Anson House, known as the Protestant Home." They wore calico undoubtedly to save the expense, and thus to have more money for the charity.

Miss Lewis's father was F. J. Lewis, manager of the Bank of Montreal, and she was born in the apartment over the bank. It was then on the south-east corner of Water and Simcoe Streets, where the Peterborough Club now is. All the family were born there except her eldest sister Mrs. Davidson, wife of the former rector of St. John's Church. Mrs. Davidson was only six weeks old when Archdeacon Davidson moved from Ottawa to Peterborough to begin his long career as rector, following Canon Beck. Miss Lewis was the youngest of the family.

COUNTRY NOTE: Fall wheat fields nearby are wonderfully green. The soil is still cold; I discovered frost in my manure pile last Sunday — not very good manure, obviously. But I have planted short rows of lettuce, carrot, radish, onion (multipliers) and some spuds. Everybody around The Acres thinks I'm daffy, but an expert who gardens for a hobby and lives apart from the madding crowd and also out of sight of pessimistic farmers, says he always plants a bit of this and that far too early and lo-and-behold he is eating the tender delicacies while others are still planting.

He counts on losing some of the seed and plants but says he gets enough to justify the early seedings. So if you hear me munching greens in this column while you are just looking for shoots above the earth, you will know that my friend the expert knows his onions.

FOREWARNED IS FOREARMED

Canada And Sea Commerce

(HAMILTON SPECTATOR)

THREE of the Canadian Navy's biggest ships will soon be steaming across the Atlantic to take part in the great Coronation review at Spithead. With them will be three smaller craft—a destroyer and two frigates—more reminiscent of the "sheep dog" force that played such a vital role in the Battle of the Atlantic. It is, in a real sense, a token of the growing importance of our seapower, the carrying over of a magnificent war tradition into a new phase of nationhood. For the dependence of this country on an ocean commerce is one that demands new responsibilities. Our growing navy is a token of the distance we have come in accepting them.

It is a commonplace to stress what ocean commerce means to us. In 1951, on the basis of individual effort, Canada led the world in foreign trade with a figure of $536 per capita. Belgium was second, and the United States well behind with $173. With only .6 per cent of the world's population we rank fourth as an exporter and importer. Over 77,000,000 tons of ocean shipping entered or cleared from Canadian ports last year, carrying 39,000,000 tons of cargo. Some 63 per cent of our exports move by water.

✧ ✧ ✧

A GRAPHIC picture of how we depend on seaborne materials is given in Public Affairs, published by Dalhousie University. "Here are a few sobering facts about some of most important nautical imports," Peter C. Newman points out. "No satisfactory substitutes for these materials are available; none of them can be supplied by land routes. Our bauxite, basic in the manufacture of aluminum, comes 95 per cent by sea; manganese, ore, essential for processing steel 99 per cent; tin 73 per cent; sugar 84 per cent, and chrome ore 98 per cent.

"This statistical picture is in terms of peace-time business. In times of war, our ability to get these commodities is no longer a matter of choice between a balanced, prosperous economy and poverty; they become absolutely indispensable to our survival as a nation.

"Sea power in terms of naval craft alone is power without functional meaning—the ugly tramp steamer occupies an unglorified but vital position in its modern concept. The warship has meaning mostly as it affects the movement of cargo carriers, lack of such carriers makes the sea as much a barrier as does a superior fleet—more so, because the consequences of a shortage of shipping cannot be evaded. (Not counting tankers and chartered vessels, Canada's deep-sea merchant fleet today totals 65 ships aggregating a little more than 500,000 tons.)

"Another 95 ships are owned in Canada but registered in the United Kingdom. They are subject to recall in the event of hostilities. A design for a new-type cargo vessel with an eye to specific Canadian requirements for use in case of war is now being evolved. Most of our ocean traffic at the moment is carried in the holds of U.K., Dutch, German and Scandinaviah ships."

Any attempt to cope with the transport of these materials by air in time of war would be utterly futile.

To find the practicability of using the airways, the problem of moving 100,000 long tons of supplies per month (over 127,000 long tons of manganese ore alone are shipped into the United States every month) under war conditions between San Francisco and Australia—a distance of 6,500 miles, was calculated. It was found that for transport by sea 44 average-size ships, manned by crews totalling 3,200 men and requiring 165,000 barrels of fuel oil were needed. For transport by air, 10,000 four-engine cargo planes, manned by 120,000 men were required. Almost 9,000,000 barrels of gasoline had to be brought overseas to keep the planes flying—a task calling for the operation of 85 large tankers.

In any emergency the need of a strong Canadian Navy would be eloquent. To strengthen and modernize it is a paramount task in building an adequate national defence.

Bible Message

(From the Authorized Version)

And a woman having an issue of blood twelve years, which had spent all her living upon physicians, neither could be healed of any, came behind him, and touched the border of his garment; and immediately her issue of blood stanched.

And Jesus said, Who touched me? When all denied, Peter and they that were with him said, Master, the multitude throng thee and press thee, and sayest thou, Who touched me? And Jesus said, Somebody hath touched me: for I perceive that virtue is gone out of me.

And when the woman saw that she was not hid, she came trembling, and falling down before him, she declared unto him before all the people for what cause she had touched him, and how she was healed immediately.

And he said unto her, Daughter, be of good comfort: thy faith hath made thee whole; go in peace. (Luke 8:43-48.)

✧ ✧ ✧

Then came certain of the elders of Israel unto me, and sat before me.

And the word of the Lord came unto me, saying, Son of man, these men have set up their idols in their heart, and put the stumblingblock of their iniquity before their face: should I be enquired of at all by them?

Therefore speak unto them, and say unto them, Thus saith the Lord God; Every man of the house of Israel that setteth up his idols in his heart, and putteth the stumblingblock of his iniquity before his face, and cometh to the prophet; I the Lord will answer him that cometh acbording to the multitude of his idols; that I may take the house of Israel in their own heart, because they are all estranged from me through their idols. No More Horn Tooting in Karachi

(Pakistan News)

If yesterday you had driven along Bunder Road in Karachi — one of the busiest streets in the city — after a week's absence you would receive a pleasant surprise. No tram bells, no honking horns, even the bus drivers were not leaning on their horns. A few cyclists might have been found ringing their bells, but that's all.

This refreshing experience is the result of an active anti-noise campaign on the part of the local police. The Karachi traffic force is undertaking a major campaign to eliminate noise and improve the traffic situation in the fast-growing capital of Pakistan.

Certain streets are being set aside as one-way streets, and automatic traffic signals have been installed at particular crossings. To educate the public on the new traffic rules, loud speakers have been placed at certain major intersections and a policeman informs drivers and pedestrians of minor violations of the traffic rules. Only intentional offenders are given tickets.

The traffic situation of Karachi has been complicated by the rapid growth of the city since partition. The different speeds of the motor cars, cyclists, and slow-moving carts makes it difficult to keep traffic moving at a fairly rapid pace.

"Why, that makes me of Scottish extraction."

Ottawa Expects To Give Konrad Adenauer Warm Official Welcome

OTTAWA (CP)—Canada's capital is looking forward to its first meeting today with a German chancellor whose passionate urge for European unity is one of the bright linings in the clouds over that continent.

There is going to be a warm official welcome for Konrad Adenauer, a remarkably energetic man of 77 who twice was imprisoned by Hitler, was once fired as mayor of Cologne because he ordered Nazi Swastikas torn down, and whose vision of a freely-united Europe is the antithesis of the super-race theories with which Hitler bore Germany to ruin.

There is a tendency here to regard his coalition government of the West German Republic as the best hope for integrating that virile and turbulent country with the free world.

He is due at 5:30 p.m., EST, from the U.S. and he'll be here two hours less than a full day but in that time he has scheduled talks with Prime Minister St. Laurent alone, with Defence Minister Claxton, External Affairs Minister Pearson and Finance Minister Abminiser Harris, a press conference and a special convocation at the University of Ottawa.

The feeling here is that the Adenauer party will deal largely in generalities—more trade, Canadian acceptance of more of the millions of East German refugees, the desire for close relations. From the government's standpoint, there is a keen interest in getting the German view on European developments, on Russ tactics, on defence.

Firemen Give Chaplain Little Red Car

MONTREAL (CP)—A small English-made car, painted a fire-engine red, is becoming a familiar sight at Montreal fires.

Equipped with a red flasher light it is usually so hot on the ehels of the fire department's orthodox equipment that few have time to spot the small white crosses on its doors or the identity of its driver.

Until recently, Rev. Dollard Morin, chaplain of the Montreal fire department, hurried to fires by taxi or street car, and though not always needed, was noticed by men of No. 16 station to attend any fire requiring "two streams of water or more."

Appreciating this, the firemen got together and a little wooden box became a familiar sight among them on pay days.

Not long ago an unsuspecting and delighted Father Morin was presented with the result. Now the fire engines at No. 16 station move over a spot to make room for the little red car.

THESE ARE THE FACTS ABOUT DRYWALL CONSTRUCTION WITH MECHANICAL TAPING

What Does Mechanical Drywall Taping Mean?

Just this. It is the only modern method which, with machine precision, guarantees a perfect drywall surface every time! Walls and ceiling joints (as well as corners) cannot be detected after decoration. This is a considered statement based on our experience with thousands of Canadian Homes.

Why Drywall Is a Success

Backed by the unqualified success of Mechanical Taping Machines in the United States . . . and more than ten years' research and field testing . . . this method is now being enthusiastically accepted by Canadian Builders. As fast as Master Operators can be trained, they are being posted to other centres in order to make this service available to everyone interested in faster, smoother dry wall construction.

SPORTS SHOW WINDOW

By CEC. PERDUE, Sports Editor

Orillia West Yorkers had a practice last Saturday in the Orillia arena and 300 fans were on deck to see Don McPhail's charges drill in new purple and white sweaters. They had a stiff 50-minute game, according to reports. Goalie George Johnston looked real good; other familiar faces — down this way — being Les Digby, McPhail, Jim and Joe McNulty, Leo Teatro, Tony Demarco, Tommy Banks, Earl McCrone, Pud Hammond (who may play and manage at Alliston), Hank Pearsall, and some Orillia boys. Manager Don Holden is still hoping to get Merve McKenzie and Johnny Hewitt. From what we hear, McKenzie would sooner play for the Petes, but isn't signing for anyone yet as he has an application in for the job of Ontario Athletic Commissioner.

* * * * * *

Anyway, news reports indicate keen interest and enthusiasm in Orillia for the combined senior "A" club there, if it is okayed by the OLA — and they expect there that it will be. A public accountant is quoted as picking the teams to finish in this order: West Yorks, Petes, Mimico, St. Kitts, Brampton, Fergus and Hamilton, and "the Yorkers will take the Mann Cup series in six games or less." Well, well, well! That was a short season, eh? They also figure that Nanaimo, B.C., will be the western finalist in the cup playoffs. Strikes us as a little early to worry about the western team yet. A few other matters come first, such as the stiff OLA schedule, association playoffs and Eastern Canada sawoffs. Survivor then can start worrying about the Mann Cup.

McNeil's Puck Strategy

Fans who listened to Canadiens' last game in Boston must have felt sorry to hear that Goalie Gerry McNeil had to take time out during the game to have a needle freeze his injured ankle, then resuming play. Such sympathy was wasted. We have it from Baz O'Meara of the Montreal Star that McNeil "laughingly admitted in the dressing room after the game that he actually pulled a stall when Bruins were hot late in the game. Gerry and Bouchard chatted after a pileup in front of the Canadien cage and the great plot was cooked there and then. 'My ankle didn't hurt me at all,' said McNeil; 'didn't even need a shot for it this time'." The stall worked as the Bruins cooled out. Why, the slippery little so-and-so!

Speaking of NHL injuries, team physician Dr. T. A. Kelley of Bruins claims the most rugged and durable Boston players he ever treated were Ed Shore, Dit Clapper and Milt Schmidt. "I've known Dit to play with a broken toe," he recalled in an interview; "once he had some badly broken ribs and was back playing within a week." Clapper suffered a severed achilles tendon, a shoulder separation and, to quote the doctor, "more fractured and broken bones than you could count in his long playing career with Boston." Schmidt went into this Stanley Cup final series with two gimpy knees which really needed surgical attention, and he played it out with a nasty gash on the hip after falling on his own skate. The stitches kept popping out but Milt kept going. Only the game fish swim upstream.

C's Real TVL Winners

'Tis only right to pay passing tribute to the Campbellford Greenshirts for annexing the TVL hockey title for the northern section of the league this year over Wellington Dukes of the southern district. They won the series four to one on Quinte ice, and the Belleville scribe said: They proved a better balanced team with an edge in coaching, and their main forte was positional hockey and effectiveness in front of the foeman's net. They were a fast, hard-checking crew with a distinct knowledge of how to pass, when and to whom. Even the most biased fan must acknowledge the fact that the better team won." True enough, and the champions all deserve much credit, the players, executive, Manager Fred Rutherford and playing coach Wib Blake.

We haven't the haziest of the quantity of supplies required at Civic Arena or Riverside Park to feed fans at a game. But it can't begin to compare (naturally enough) with the list we saw of opening ball day for the Tigers in Detroit. This is it: 60,000 hot dogs (15 cents each) same number of rolls, 5,000 cases of beer (30 cents a bottle), 40,000 soft drinks (a dime), 10,000 crackerjack boxes (10 cents), 15,000 packs of cigarettes (two bits), 8,000 various priced cigars, and 30,000 lineup programs. They had a staff of 500 employees for opening day: girls, guys and kids. If the weather was chilly, they planned on making at least 600 gallons of coffee. It's quite a ball town, even when the team is well down in the standing.

Dick Metz Leading Virginia Beach Open

VIRGINIA BEACH, Va. (AP)—Dick Metz, a fixture on golf's tournament trail for nearly 25 years, shot a record-breaking 61 Thursday to take the first-round lead in the $12,500 Virginia Beach open.

The 61, eight under par, set a competitive course record, better-ing by one stroke the former mark set by E. J. (Dutch) Harrison in a tournament here in 1949.

The 44-year-old Metz was never over par. He scored eight birdies, three of them on putts of 12 feet or more.

Doug Ford followed with a 63.

Montreal Wins Stanley Cup On Lach's Golden Goal Trips Bruins 1-0 In Overtime

By W. R. WHEATLEY

MONTREAL—(CP)—Elegant Elmer Lach rounded out 13 brilliant years of big-time hockey Thursday night with a $9,000 goal—the one that defeated Boston Bruins 1-0 after one minute and 22 seconds of overtime play and won the Stanley Cup for Montreal Canadiens. It was Lach's first goal in 12 games of the post-season play-offs and he didn't know he had scored until Maurice (Rocket) Richard literally leaped on him, embraced him and brought the two sprawling to the ice. Richard supplied the pass for the victory goal, his only assist in the 12 games. The golden goal gave Canadiens the best-of-seven National Hockey League final series four games to one. Before that they went seven tough games before overcoming Chicago Black Hawks in the semi-final.

As new world hockey champions, succeeding Detroit Red Wings, Canadiens will reap $18,000 in cash from the NHL. The losing Bruins get $9,000. Depending upon division of shares, each of the winners will get approximately $1,000.

EXCELLENT GAME

The game ranked among the best of playoff hockey. It had clever, though sometimes cautious, play; solid body-checking and two unbending defences; a tingling goal-tending duel between two of the smallest net-minders in the league—Gerry McNeil of Canadiens and Sugar Jim Henry of the Bruins.

As time ran out in regulation play, each team cut loose in desperate, chance-taking drives, willing to gamble on the one big goal. Bruins needed it to prolong the series; Canadiens to make sure of the Stanley Cup.

The 14,450 fans were standing and screaming in their excitement. They had seen one Montreal goal a-glimmering at the end of the first period. Paul Masnick shoved in his own rebound a second after the period ended.

The crowd sank back exhausted at the end of regulation time, but intense excitement surged again as the overtime started. Even then Lach's goal struck with dramatic suddenness

KEPT BUSY

Immediately after the face-off veteran Woody Dumart of the Bruins planted an easy shot on McNeil. Play swung to the other end. Lach lifted a shot at Henry, playing despite a sprained ankle not yet healed. Henry cleared it. Canadiens kept play in the Boston end and rookie Eddie (Spider) Mazur flicked a sharp, angled backhander. Henry kicked that one away.

Richard snared the puck off to the side of the Boston cage. From near the end boards he passed with deadly accuracy back to Lach, moving about in the face-off circle to Henry's left.

"I didn't know where the puck came from," said Lach afterward. "I knew I had it on my stick and I shot for the net."

It was a hard, low drive from about 20 feet out and the puck whipped past Henry's right side into the low corner.

"The next thing I knew the Rocket was all over me and we tumbled to the ice," said Lach.

CROWD GOES WILD

The crowd went wild with excitement. Fans scrambled over the boards. Lach was lifted high in the air by Richard and captain Butch Bouchard and carried to the bench. Then the Bruins mingled with the Montreal players, congratulating them.

The Stanley Cup was brought to centre ice and presented to Bouchard by president Clarence Campbell of the NHL. Speaking in both French and English, the Montreal captain accepted the cup, then thanked the fans for their season-long support and his teammates for their winning efforts.

It was a tough game for gallant Jim Henry and his mates to lose. But it was also a brilliant victory for McNeil.

The little goalie who asked to be relieved in the series against Chicago when he was on the verge of a nervous crack-up came back brilliantly in the Boston series to win three straight, two games by shutouts. He also had to overcome an ankle injury, suffered in a practice session.

FAVORED ANKLE

Henry went into the game noticeably favoring his left ankle, sprained in the second game of the series, when he was forced to quit. His return to action gave a perceptible lift to the Bruins.

Lach's wasn't the fastest overtime-winning goal in Stanley Cup play. That record belongs to Sid Howe, with Detroit in 1940. His winning goal, beating New York Americans 2-1, came after only 25 seconds of the first overtime period. Lach's, at 1:22, was nearly a full minute off the record.

Victory marked the sixth time Canadiens have won the cup. Their last triumph, in 1946, was also against the Bruins and in exactly the same number of games, the series ending 4-1. Canadiens also won in 1944, 1931, 1930 and 1924.

It is the fourth time coach Dick Irvin has had a winner—three times with Canadiens and once, in 1932, with Toronto Maple Leafs.

IRVIN HAPPY

After the game Irvin, bubbling over with happiness, said: "It's great to win but this coaching is all for the birds. I haven't been able to sleep or eat right, especially with these playoff games one after the other."

Asked if his remark had any reference to next season, Irvin said with a laugh: "Oh, you can't tell anything about that now. Why, in only five months the teams will be practising for a new season."

In all, each Montreal player will collect somewhere around $2,500 in addition to his regular pay for the season. On the basis of 18 shares allowed by the league—there may be further splits to look after the rookies brought in for the series—each player first gets $500 because Canadiens finished second in the regular season. Then comes $1,000 for winning the semi-final series against Chicago and finally another $1,000 for the final series.

Lach Didn't Know He Scored Winning Goal

MONTREAL (CP)—Elmer Lach, whose dramatic overtime goal gave Montreal Canadiens a 1-0 victory Thursday night over Boston Bruins and the Stanley Cup, didn't know for an instant that he had scored.

"I didn't even have time to see the puck go into the net before Rocket Richard hugged me, knocked me down," said the veteran centre from Nokomis, Sask. "I just let the shot go when the puck suddenly came in front of me."

Richard, who earned an assist on the victory goal, hardly waited for the rigging behind goalie Sugar Jim Henry to sag before he raced to Lach, threw arms about him and both fell to the ice. The fans went wild and several hundred scrambled over the boards. It was several minutes before president Clarence Campbell of the National Hockey league could reach centre ice and present the Stanley Cup to captain Butch Bouchard of Canadiens.

BEDLAM PREVAILS

Bedlam prevailed in the Montreal dressing room as newspaper men, photographers and fans congratulated the players.

Coach Dick Irvin, apparently tired now that the series has ended shook hands with all his players and then sat down next to goalie Gerry McNeil.

"Well, we finally put it on ice," said Irvin to little Gerry, jokingly referring to McNeil's ankle injury which had required several freezing treatments during the series.

Irvin, who not long ago raised racing pigeons, puffed:

"Coaching is strictly for the birds; I don't want any more of it." Then he laughed and quickly changed the subject.

"They said at the start of the year that we didn't have any centre player, but Elmer showed them tonight, didn't he?"

BEST OF GAMES

Irvin considered Thursday night's game as the best of the playoffs for Canadiens and "real playoff hockey." "The thing that paid off for us was the fact that nearly every player on the team scored a goal during the playoffs."

Although the Boston dressing room was quiet and Bruins took their defeat hard, coach Lynn Patrick congratulated his players for their fine showing.

"You played a good sound game" said Patrick. "If we had played them all that way, things might have been different."

Sugar Jim Henry, who returned to the Bruins' goal despite a sprained ankle, which he appeared to be favoring towards the end of the game, felt badly over the only goal which beat him.

"Someone screened me on the shot," he said.

Barons Win Play-off Title In Overtime

CLEVELAND (AP)—Scoring on a long bouncing shot by defenceman Bob Chrystal at 6:23 of the first overtime, Cleveland Barons won the play-off title of the American Hockey League Thursday night by defeating Pittsburgh Hornets 1-0 in the seventh and deciding game of the final series.

After the teams had battled for 66 minutes without score, Chrystal hoisted a high floating shot from near the blue line.

The shot would have cleared the cage, but as goalie Gil Mayer moved casually to watch it, the puck took a bad hop to the right and whipped into the net.

This ended a record league play-off shut-out streak for Mayer at 173 minutes, 30 seconds, accomplished in two games.

Mayer also held the old record of 152:10.

GRAND SLAM CHAMPS

The teams played 121 minutes, 46 seconds at Pittsburgh Tuesday before the Hornets won 3-2.

The victory made the Barons "grand slam" champions of the league, as they also won the percentage title in the regular season.

Chrystal, though playing on defence, scored all three Cleveland goals in the last two games

The result put Cleveland Pittsburgh, top rivals for league honors for two years, exactly even for the season—eight wins apiece and one tie in 17 games.

Johnny Bower, the great Cleveland goaltender who may have been playing his last game here, made 33 stops in his shutout. Mayer had 25. Bower is earmarked for the National League next season.

Bobby Young Specializes In Spoiling No-Hit Games

By BEN PHLEGAR
Associated Press Sports Writer

It's about time the pitchers' union started boycotting Bobby Young.

Most average baseball fans probably never paid much attention to Young, who plays second base for St. Louis Browns. He isn't the league's best fielder and he is a far cry from being a great hitter, but the pitchers know him. He's a spoiler.

Young specializes in ruining no-hit games, particularly close no-hit games where one hit can make all the difference in the outcome.

Billy Pierce was baffling the Browns Wednesday in Chicago White Sox' home opener at Comiskey Park. After six hitless innings Dick Kokos walked to start the St. Louis seventh, but he was cut down trying to steal. Up came Young, a 247 lefthanded hitter facing a southpaw pitcher.

Nothing to worry about here, thought the chilled gathering of 11,354.

HITS DOUBLE

Then Young spanked a solid double into right centre field to break the spell. Without the thwarted steal it might have been a run.

As it was, the White Sox scored without a hit in the bottom of the seventh and Pierce finished up with a 1-0 one hitter. He had to be that good because his mates got only two singles off Harry Brecheen, the National League veteran who was making his American League debut.

The Chicago pitchers' battle was a sharp contrast to most of the other games Wednesday. Pittsburgh and Philadelphia combined for 24 runs in two innings as Pirates edged the Phils 14-12.

Connie Ryan, Phillies' second-sacker, garnered six straight hits to tie the major league one-game record.

Boston Red Sox clubbed four Philadelphia pitchers for 19 hits in whipping the Athletics 11-6. Cleveland outblasted Detroit Tigers 11-8.

President Eisenhower tossed out the first ball at Washington and watched New York Yankees score four runs in the first inning to mar the occasion for the Senators, who finally lost 6-3. Good battle between the other Chicago pitching did prevail in a night battle between the other Chicago and St. Louis clubs as the Cards whipped the Cubs 3-0 in St. Louis.

The night half of the day-night doubleheader in Washington was called off because of cold weather and rain cancelled National League contests in New York between the Giants and Brooklyn and in Cincinnati where Milwaukee was scheduled to play.

Washington, which like Boston was making its first appearance after rain and snow, collected nine hits off Johnny Sain but wasted a hatful of opportunities in losing to the Yankees.

Pint-sized Harvey Haddix, one of the rookies Cardinal manager Ed Stanky is counting on heavily, gave up only four hits to the Cubs and old man Enos Slaughter made it easy for him by hitting a home run with Stan Musial on base. Slaughter's blow was one of five hits the Cards got off Warren Hacker.

To Stand Trial For Arson

FORT FRANCES, Ont. (CP)—Aurel Ringuette, 36, has been committed for trial in higher court on two charges of arson arising out of a chain of fires here Easter weekend. Preliminary hearing of three other arson charges continued Thursday.

He is expected to appear at the spring assizes of the Ontario Supreme Court in June.

Movements of the suspect were outlined in testimony Wednesday when the hearings opened.

Waitresses at the town bus depot said Ringuette obtained matches from them shortly before a fire broke out there. A rooming house proprietor said the same thing happened at his establishment.

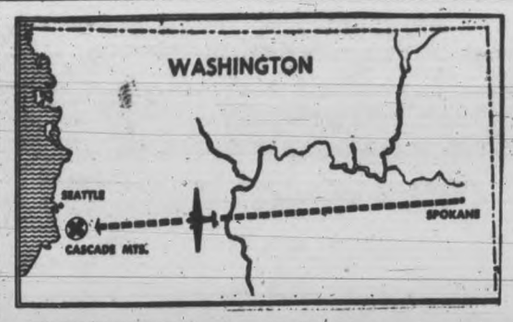
After four of the fires, the flames were found to have originated in holes in the wall which had been stuffed with paper.

During the worst blaze which caused $150,000 damage to the Emporer hotel, Ringuiette was quoted as saying: "That fire means a thousand dollars to me."

2 Railways Launch Mid-Week Excursions

MONTREAL (CP)—Canada's two major railways have launched a series of mid-week excursions to encourage travel at a time when traffic normally is at its lowest.

Excursion tickets, good for travel Tuesdays, Wednesdays and Thursdays, can be obtained at savings, amounting in some cases to as much as 50 per cent.



The excursion rates, inaugurated Feb. 10, are not available every week. The Canadian Pacific and Canadian National Railways announce publicly when and between what points the rates will be available.

For instance, this week the railways have announced the round-trip low rates will be available for mid-week travellers from Toronto to Montreal, Toronto to Winnipeg, Toronto to Niagara Falls and to some other points.

ST. ANDREWS, N.B. (CP)—Dr. J. Carl Medcof, senior biologist at St. Andrews for the fisheries research board of Canada, has been chosen for a one-year term in Ceylon as fisheries biologist under the Colombo Plan. Applications for the position were received from biologists all across Canada.

Dr. Medcof, born near Leamington, Ont., will arrive in Ceylon with Mrs. Medcof about the end of this month.

CASCADE CRASH—Cross on this newsmap shows where spotters believe a DC-3 crashed into the Cascade Mountains, south-east of Seattle, Wash. At least 23 persons were on board the plane which was en route from Spokane to Seattle.

Mrs. T. Jennings President Of Bethany WI

BETHANY (ENS).—The Women's Institute met in the town hall. Following the singing of the Institute Ode and prayers, two minutes' silence was observed in memory of the late Mrs. Charles Stephenson.

The roll call was answered by paying membership fees for the new year. The treasurer's report by Mrs. Charles Reynolds showed a bank balance of $139.69.

Mrs. Harold Sanderson, secretary, gave the highlights of the year's work, reporting 10 meetings and a membership of 42. Projects for community improvement had been a donation of $150 towards fire-fighting equipment; building the kitchen in the town hall; new walk and railing at Gribbie's Pond to make it safer for children; a $25 donation to European flood relief, a large box of toys and books sent to Sick Children's Hospital, and a cash donation of $5, attendance at the district annual convention at Elizabethville. Shut-in members had been sent fruit or flowers and member's new baby presented with a bank book and initial account of $1. The group had toured two Peterborough factories and a short course on interior decorating had been well attended. Mrs. Sanderson's report met with hearty applause.

The retiring president, Mrs. R. Carr, thanked the members for their co-operation throughout the year and requested the same loyal support to her successor.

OFFICERS ELECTED

Mrs. H. L. Challice presided for the election of officers with the following appointments: President, Mrs. Thomas Jennings; 1st vice - president, Mrs. Rupert Woods; 2nd vice-president, Mrs. T. S. Gault; secretary, Mrs. T. J. Jackson; treasurer, Mrs. Charles Reynolds; visiting committee—Mrs. Harold Sanderson, Mrs. F. W. Reynolds and Mrs. Clara Armstrong; committee for gifts for departing members or in case of bereavement. District director, Mrs. Ross Carr.

Leaders for the five groups were appointed as follows: Agriculture and Canadian industries program—Mrs. T. Jennings; citizenship and education—Mrs. R. Carr; community activities and public relations—Mrs. Mansell Finney; historical research—Mrs. Harold Sanderson; home economics—Mrs. Hope Rayson.

The secretary was requested to write a letter of thanks to Mr. Erdley Malcomson for his share in supplying materials for repairs at the pond, and to Messrs. Milton Challice and Leslie Challice for their work in the town hall kitchen.

Mrs. Challice gave a brief report of current events and for historical research pictured the average farm kitchen of 50 years ago without modern inventions. An amusing reading "Spring Fever" showed the old-time flurry of housecleaning.

The newly-elected president, Mrs. Jennings, conducted the closing exercises. Lunch was served by Mrs. H. L. Challice, Mrs. H. Sanderson, Mrs. Clara Armstrong and Mrs. William Phillips. The next meeting will be in charge of Mrs. H. Rayson and will feature home economics.

Man Waives Hearing On Smuggling Charge

BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP)—Homer Mitilenelis, 38, of Toronto waived a hearing Thursday on a charge of smuggling an alien into the U.S. and was committed to the Erie county jail pending federal grand jury action.

U. S. Commissioner Boyce Butterfield set bond at $10,000.

Mitilenelis was arrested Tuesday in Niagara Falls. Immigration authorities said he attempted to bring a woman in under a false floor in a panel truck.

The woman, Christina Behtikontz 31, a Greek national from Toronto, was held for deportation action.

Negotiations Break Down

HULL, Que. (CP)—Negotiations in the two-day Gatineau Bus Company strike broke down Thursday and company and union officials called off all future meetings until one side or the other had some new proposal to offer.

R. J. Beaudry, manager of the strike-bound company, said both parties agreed further meetings were useless unless someone had something new to discuss.

A meeting scheduled for later in the day was called off.

The 66 drivers and mechanics, members of the Amalgamated Association of Street Electric Railway and Motor Coach Employees (TLC-AFL), walked off the job Tuesday midnight when the company turned down their request for a 10-cent-an-hour increase retroactive to Sept. 1.

Present rate of pay is $1 an hour for an average 48-hour week.

Get Mixed Reaction To Malan Re-election

OTTAWA (CP) — Canadian political leaders today viewed with mixed feelings the return to power of Dr. Daniel Malan's Nationalist government in turbulent South Africa.

Reaction ranged from indifference to deep concern and an expression of hope that the fiery South African leader will not sever South Africa's link with the Commonwealth.

As usual in foreign elections, Prime Minister St. Laurent declined comment, but M. J Coldwell, CCF leader, said bluntly that Malan's practices of racial discrimination will give the Communists new opportunities to "propagandize" natives all through Asia and other parts of the world.

The friends of democratic movements, he said, are "frankly disturbed" by the endorsement of this government by the peoples of South Africa.

KITCHENER (CP)—The United Rubber Workers (CIO-CCL) has asked Labor Minister Daley to name a commissioner to inquire into the dismissal of 21 employees from Doon Twines Limited here. The union applied to the labor relations board for certification as bargaining agent for the workers, and a hearing was held March 31. Union officials say they have signed up 116 of the 158 employees.

Intoxication Or Blackout Court To Decide

Weighing evidence that a driver's seeming intoxicated condition could have been caused by a blackout and concussion, Magistrate W. R. Philp Thursday adjourned trial of Norman Austin, 41 Lee St. for one week.

Austin faces a charge of having care and control of a vehicle while intoxicated. The alleged offence took place March 27.

STAGGERED

Smelling strongly of alcohol, Austin was unable to speak coherently and staggered when he attempted to walk.

According to Dr. Robert Young, Austin is subject to blackouts resembling minor attacks of epilepsy. A concussion. the doctor said, could cause a loss of memory while the aftermath might find the victim staggering and ill.

The defence case was based on the assumption that Austin fell somewhere during one of his blackouts and suffered a concussion. The accused was unable to remember anything less than two hours prior to the time he was found in his truck by the officer.

Jury Returns True Bill Against Smith

WINDSOR, Ont. (CP) — Cecil Smith, one-time king of local bootleggers who was charged Thursday with perjury, appeared in court later and was released on $2,000 cash bail.

Judge J. A. Legris set April 28 for Smith's trial despite protests by defence counsel Sockley Kamin who said he needed more time to prepare the case.

The charge against Smith is a result of charges he made March 26 against police sgt. Gilbert Robitaille.

During a police commission hearing of the charges, Smith testified he paid money to Robitaille on various occasions so Smith would not be convicted on liquor charges.

FOUND INNOCENT

The commission found Robitaille innocent of Smith's charges and Robitaille was promoted from constable to patrol sergeant.

The charge against Smith was presented before the county court general session grand jury by crown attorney Bruce J. S. Macdonald.

The jury returned a true bill after deliberating one hour.

"Normal" Title Dropped From School For Teachers

Any young men and women attending Peterborough Normal School in the past who disliked being called "normal" students can blame it on the Romans.

And they can thank the Ontario Department of Education that after July 1 their successors will be called what they are: Students of Teachers' College, Peterborough.

History behind the "normal" title, soon to pass out of existence in Ontario, has been provided by F. C. Biehl, principal of London Normal School. It started, he found, with the Romans, developed with the French, and was brought to Ontario by Egerton Ryerson, a famous name in provincial education.

From his research Principal Biehl found that the Romans "those solid workmen who built for all time," used a square called a "norma."

By the 18th century the French had a derivative of the word — "normal" — which meant something that squared with a standard or pattern.

Following the French Revolution, in a general overhaul of education, the French Convention (1794) set up "ecoles normales," "to train teachers whose methods squared with the methods approved at that time."

Principal Biehl dated this the first attempt to give formal training to teachers. It was a half century before Britain adopted the idea.

Mr. Ryerson went to Britain and Europe in the 1840s, and brought the idea of normal schools to Ontario. He built the first in Toronto in 1847. The one in London was established in 1899.

From his research Principal Biehl has drawn a parallel which should poultice any hurts among generations of "normal" students:

The old Roman mason built for all time. His work stood forever because it squared with the "unalterable standard of his norma."

Teaching, too, has its unchanging standard. Its norma "is the unchanging goal of education — to help children grow into men and women who will be happy in themselves and useful to God and their fellow men."

DO YOU OWN A CAR?

When the man who developed Bardahl Rad Conditioner brought his car to a garage for repairs, the garage owner phoned to ask him what on earth had he put in his radiator. He said that when they drained his radiator the water was so thick with dirt it would hardly pour. The Bardahl Rad Conditioner had removed rust, scale and dirt untouched by a popular brand chemical cleaner. The garage owner immediately placed an order for their own use. Since then hundreds of thousands of car owners in Canada and the United States have used Bardahl Rad Conditioner. If you own a car you should try it too . . . if your car is new it will keep your radiator in permanently new condition . . . if you have been running your car for a few years you'll be amazed at the dirt, rust and scale it will remove. Bardahl Rad Conditioner keeps radiators clean . . . eliminates rust formation which can insulate a motor, causing harmful overheating . . . and it also lubricates and stops squeaky water pumps. Bardahl Rad Conditioner costs only 89c. Ask for it at your Service Station.

Graydon Lauds Gov't Plan Of Special Team

OTTAWA (CP)—Gordon Graydon (PC—Peel) said Thursday the government did the right thing in setting up an aviation research, design and development team to turn out Canadian planes and engines at the A. V. Roe plant at Malton, Ont.

Despite recurring difficulties, he told the Commons during a defence debate, the team now producing the Canadian-designed CF-100 all-weather fighter and the Canadian Orenda jet engine, is among the best in the world.

He hoped that when the pressure of the present defence buildup slackened the government would see that the team was kept intact for the future of Canada's aviation industry.

PROPER ALTERNATIVE

The government could have ordered production of obsolete models of planes on a high-speed production line or it could have produced some foreign-designed plane. But the alternative chosen was the proper one.

The Avro plant had surmounted untold difficulties in production of the CF-100, Mr. Graydon said. Not the least of them were brought about by the fact that the RCAF would order last-minute changes when a model was about to go into production.

Miracle Many Survive Traffic

HAMILTON (CP)—The marvel of modern traffic is not that so many people are killed and maimed but that so many survive, Paul Jones, United States road safety expert, said Thursday night.

Speaking at a dinner of the Hamilton committee of the class 20 Accident Prevention Association of Ontario, he said the problem is nothing more than a mass demonstration of gutter manners.

"Actually, this boorish traffic behavior goes deeper than mere lack of manners," Mr. Jones, director of public information for the national safety council, said.

"It reflects some of the attributes of greed, selfishness and disregard for the rights of others that bring about black marketing, bribery, corruption and the current slump in old-fashioned morality that is bothering us so much in the States right now."

Pleads Guilty Of Theft

SIMCOE (CP)—A Hamilton accountant, John Clifford Clancy, 38, pleaded guilty Thursday to 18 charges of theft and one charge of false pretenses, involving approximately $3,400. He was remanded in custody one week for sentence Accused had been looking after income tax matters for two Townsend township people. Clancy was charged with using the cheques for himself.

The bartender, Thomas Williams 34, is a prosecution witness at the first-degree murder trial of Maurice O'Dell, 27, and Walter F. Griffen, 26, both of Hamilton, Ont.

More Friction Predicted Over Olympics

MEXICO CITY (AP)—President Ruiz Cortines of Mexico today officially opens the International Olympic Committee sessions amid signs of mounting friction over selection of Melbourne as the site of the 1956 games.

There was a remote possibility the IOC would decide on the Melbourne question late today.

Australia's strict quarantine on the importation of horses loomed as a stumbling block which could cost Melbourne the Olympic Games.

Melbourne's progress report was presented to the IOC executive committee Thursday and Australian delegates said afterwards the committee seemed to approve steps that had been taken to handle the 1956 games.

OFFICIALS WORRIED

However, Australia's law which prohibits entry of horses unless they have spent six months either in Northern Ireland or Britain worried officials, particularly those from Europe.

There was little likelihood Australia would lift its ban, delegates from that country acknowledged, because the law has succeeded in keeping out at least five horse diseases common in many other countries.

Australian delegates suggested that equestrian events either (1) be eliminated, or (2) be moved to another country.

Taylor Wins Title Of Leading Breeder

TORONTO (CP)—E. P. Taylor of Toronto was leading breeder of thoroughbred horses in Canada during 1952. He broke the six-year hold on the title held by R. James Speers of Winnipeg.

Taylor-bred horses earned $150,750 with 69 winners. Speers-bred racers, in the second spot, won $121,274 and 95 firsts.

The Taylor stable also received two others honors. Canadiana, winter book favorite for the June 2 Queen's Plate, was chosen horse of the year for 1952 and Iribelle, dam of Canadiana which died last year, was leading dam.

The leading sire title was earned by Imp Fairmond, a stallion standing on the Speers' farm.

Pitching: Billy Pierce, White Sox, tossed a one-hitter in his first effort of the season as Chicago defeated St. Louis Browns 1-0.

Batting: Connie Ryan, Phillies, equalled major league one-game record by collecting six straight hits as Pittsburgh defeated Philadelphia 14-12.

Tri-Bells Hold Lead, Down Bears 62-60

EDMONTON (CP)—Toronto Nortown Tri-Bells staved off a desperate fourth-quarter surge by University of Alberta Golden Bears to hang on for a 62-60 victory over the Western champions in the first game of their best-of-five series for the Canadian senior men's basketball crown.

The teams were evenly matched —technique, speed and scoring ability. The margin of victory was a six-point lead built up early by Toronto. The Tri-Bells froze the ball in the dying minutes to stave off the Golden Bears.

Alberta, seeking its second Dominion title since Raymond Union Jacks captured it in 1923, the first year it was staged, appeared slow getting under way in the first quarter and Tri-Bells made the most of it.

Toronto led throughout, 22-12 at the end of the first quarter, 32-27 at halftime and 53-45 at the end of the third.

Don and Norm Macintosh of the Golden Bears were the top scorers, netting more than half their team's points. Don potted 21 and Norm 13.

OLD GUARD—How far the Dodgers and Yankees go in defence of their major league championship depends to a great degree on veteran shortstops Pee Wee Reese, left, and Phil Rizzuto.

Flyers Thump Citadelles 8-3 In One-Sided Series Playoff

BARRIE (CP)—All through the hockey season Barrie Flyers have been tough customers in their own backyard.

The Ontario Hockey Association standard-bearers were at their unmerciful best Thursday night as they thumped Quebec Citadelles 8-3 to take a 2-0 lead in their best-of-seven series for the Eastern Canada junior title.

A small crowd of 3,500 watched the Flyers romp to their second one-sided victory, a follow-up of Tuesday night's 9-2 count on Toronto ice, in a game that lost its one-sided nature only in the last period, when the losers were able to take advantage of a manpower edge to fire two late goals.

Jim Robertson fired two goals for the winners, with Doug Mohns, Skip Teal, Orv Tessier, Larry Thibeault, Don McKenney and Fred Pletch getting the others. Ray Cyr, Rollie Leclerc and Bert Lepage were the Quebec snipers.

It may be a different story when the teams meet again at Quebec Saturday night. Like the Flyers, Phil Watson's charges react favorably to friendly surroundings. In the interlocking Quebec - Ontario schedule this season, the Cits were undefeated against visitors from Ontario.

Possibly the most grateful for a turn in the citadelles' fortunes would be little Marcel Paille, their goaltender. With Flyers camped on his doorstep most of the evening, he kicked out 43 shots Thursday night while Marv Edwards was handling only 13 at the other end.

The Flyers were in command almost from the opening whistle, as Mohns and Teal ran in two goals in the first five minutes before Cyr counted for the losers. Tessier and Robertson made it 4-1 before the period ended.

The second frame was even more one-sided as Barrie ran off three goals without a reply, outshooting the bewildered Citadelles 21-3 in the process.

While Barrie coach Hap Emms appeared willing to coast in the final period, the Flyers still maintained an 11-8 edge in the shooting.

The Flyers earned nine of the game's 16 penalties, with Robertson and Gilles Thibeault of Quebec getting majors for a brief scuffle in the final frame.

Babe Zaharias Has Operation

BEAUMONT, Tex. (AP)—Babe Didrikson Zaharias comes to the crossroads of a fabulous athletic career today when a surgeon seeks to remove a malignancy that knocked her from golf's money-trail.

"I'd rather play 18 holes of golf than keep this engagement," said the greatest woman athlete of the times, "but let's go.'

Her operation is scheduled to be performed by Dr. Robert M. Moore professor of surgery in the University of Texas Medical School at Galveston.

Mrs. Zaharias, who won fame in the Olympic Games two decades ago, starred in every other sport she ever tried and became the top woman golfer, has been in the hospital here for eight days. She entered the hospital shortly after winning the Babe Zaharias open, a golf tournament named for her in this city where she got her start in athletics.

She has been cheerful and confident, declaring that she would take the operation in stride and return to the links.

Although serious, the operation is not considered a dangerous one. But in the Babe's case, it may interrupt a great sports career.

WANT ANOTHER HOME GAME

KITCHENER (CP)—Smiths Falls Rideaus want to have at least one more of their best-of-seven final games for the Eastern Canada senior hockey championship in Eastern Ontario. That would require a switch in playoff arrangements.

The Rideaus won the first two of their games with Kitchener-Waterloo Dutchmen on Smiths Falls ice, then dropped a 6-4 decision here Wednesday night The fourth game will be played here tonight and the fifth in Guelph Saturday.

The sixth is scheduled for Kitchener next Tuesday but coach Hal Dewey of the Rideaus said Thursday:

"As far as I'm concerned, our club will be going home Saturday night, win or lose."

He said he has no objection to bringing the team back for a seventh game here if necessary.

Officials of the Canadian Amateur Hockey Association are reported considering the proposed change.

Defenceman Clare Martin of the Dutchmen, who pulled a back muscle in Wednesday night's game may not play tonight. If he does not start, the Dutchmen will shift Howie Lee to right defence and put Harvey Jacklin on defence, while Grieg Hicks moves into centre.

KRAMER WINS AGAIN

KITCHENER (CP)—Jack Kramer Thursday night extended his lead over Frank Sedgman to 41-29 as he downed him in straight sets 6-3, 6-2 here in another match of their professional tennis tour. INVITE 23 COUNTRIES

MONTREAL (CP)—Invitations to 23 Commonwealth countries went out Thursday asking them to participate in the British Empire and Commonwealth Games in Vancouver July 30-Aug. 7, 1954. Twelve countries competed in the 1950 games at Auckland, New Zealand, and were represented by close to 600 athletes. Jack Davies, honorary secretary of the Canadian association for the games, said the number may be greater in 1954.

HORSE DISQUALIFIED

NEW YORK (AP)—Alfred G. Vanderbilt's Kitchen Maid, which finished second in the seventh race at Jamaica April 10, was disqualified Thursday by the New York state racing commission. Laboratory tests showed the filly had been given medicine containing caffeine.

No blame was attached to the owner, trainer William C. Winfrey or any employee of the stable The medicine was administered April 7 by order of Dr. William H. Wright, a veterinarian employed by Winfrey, as a cure for kidney difficulties.

Believe Dulles May Testify On Seaway

WASHINGTON (AP) — Some Eisenhower administration officials possibly State Secretary Dulles, are expected to testify when the current hearing on the St. Lawrence seaway is resumed.

The hearing before a Senate foreign relations sub-committee was adjourned Thursday, subject to call by chairman Alexander Wiley (Rep. Wis.). No date was set for resumption.

The first phase moved quickly to an end as about two dozen witnesses took the stand and filed their statements, rather than read them.

They included representatives of port cities, shipping associations, coal interests and chambers of commerce.

CONSIDER LEGISLATION

The sub-committee is considering legislation to authorize the United States to join Canada in construction of the waterway.

Proponents have testified that unless such approval is forth-coming, Canada will build the 27-foot-deep canal on its own side of the river, leaving the U. S. no voice in its control.

Opponents of U. S. participation have replied that existing treaties with Canada would protect U. S. interests, and that the seaway could not pay for itself.

Lindsay Meeting Seeks Way To End Hospital Difficulties

LINDSAY (ENS)—Three resolutions dealing with future expansion and the dire financial straits of Ross Memorial Hospital here were approved at a public meeting Thursday night.

Attending the meeting were the board of governors and representatives of most of the organizations in the town and in Victoria County.

A 17-member committee was appointed which will start meetings immediately to deal with the three resolutions.

First proposal called for the town and county to assume financial responsibility for the hospital which has been operating at a deficit since 1947. This is the only period of deficit operation in the hospital's 50-year history.

SHOULD BE ENLARGED

Second resolution was that Ross Memorial Hospital should be enlarged and modernized. The board of governors was requested to initiate a plan to bring this about.

The third, passed without discussion, appointed the committee which would plan the enlargement of the hospital and of the board of governors or formation of a new company to operate the hospital.

The board at present consists of seven voting members and two non-voting.

A clause in the original charter of the hospital empowers the governors to hand it over to the town and county if it should operate at a deficit for any lengthy period.

Approval of the first resolution followed an outline by T. H. Stinson, board chairman, and F. L. Weldon, secretary, of the present financial situation.

First deficit in the hospital's history, in 1947, was $1,300, which rose in 1950 to $32,000, decreased to $24,000 in 1951 and again shrank in 1952 to $10,000. Deficit in the first three months of operation this year amounted to $9,600.

Earnings to date were $50,400, of which about $22,000 is in unpaid accounts.

NEW RATES

With new rates coming into effect at the end of the month, Mr. Weldon expressed the hope that the 1953 deficit would not exceed the 1952 deficit.

Some financial steps taken in the last two years to clean up the deficit were outlined. They included the sale of securities issued in a maternity wing fund set up some years ago and paying off of the bank loan secured by that issue.

Present situation is that the hospital is dependent on rates to provide operating expenses, and on grants from the dominion, province, county and town, plus interest from a $30,000 endowment fund set up by the donor of the hospital, J. K. Ross.

Cost per patient day, which rose from $5.26 in 1947 to $9.58 in 1951, was well below costs of similar hospitals, Mr. Weldon pointed out.

Speaking to the second proposal on enlargement of the hospital, Dr. C. W. M. Service of Lindsay urged adoption of the report made to the governors by Dr. Harvey Agnew, well-known hospital consultant.

Dr. Agnew told the board of governors that what was needed was an addition to the hospital which would cost about $1,250,000.

Dr. C. A. Galloway of Cameron, president of the Victoria County Medical Association, recommended a plan for 110 to 125 beds in the near future.

BABY SLAIN—Into a police car goes the trunk in which the body of six-month-old Audrey Ann Nield, of Hamilton, was found strangled. Police searching the home of the parents, Mr. and Mrs. Roy Nield, found the body in the trunk on a shelf in the basement after the baby had been reported kidnapped. The baby's mother, Mrs. Roy Nield, 38, has been charged with murder.

Tow Line Snaps, Barge Drifts In Bad Storm

SAULT STE. MARIE, Ont. (CP) The grain barge Alfred Krupp drifted helplessly for several hours in a snowstorm on Lake Superior Thursday night after her tow line snapped.

However, the tug Favorite, which set out from here with the United States Coast Guard cutter Mesquite as soon as the Krupp's plight was reported, managed to put a line aboard the barge early today and take her in tow.

Members of the Krupp's crew, reported to number between 10 and 14, were described as safe and well.

LINE SNAPS

The barge went adrift while being towed down Lake Superior from the Lakehead by the freighter Mohawk Deer, owned by the Beaconfield Steamship Company of Montreal. As the freighter and the barge headed into the storm, which deposited more than an inch of snow along the Lake Superior shore, the line snapped about 9:30 p. m.

Before winds that reached 35 miles an hour, the barge drifted near Caribou Island, some 35 miles northwest of here.

Reports this morning from the rescue tug were that no one aboard the Krupp was injured and that the barge suffered no apparent damage.

Give Dramatic Description Of Battle Against Budworm

By FORBES RHUDE
Canadian Press Business Editor

A dramatic description of a battle against the spruce budworm is contained in a booklet issued by International Paper Company along with its current annual report.

The story, told mostly by pictures with brief texts, concerns an area of more than 300 square miles of heavily-infested forest in northern New Brunswick.

There, from 1949, the budworm, known as the "scourge of the softwood forest," showed an alarming increase over the Upsalquitch watershed.

In 1950 some 200 square miles were stripped of new foliage and in 1951, some 2,200 square miles were severely attacked. Widespread tree mortality on Crown forest included in the limits of New Brunswick International Paper Company was predicted for 1952.

BIG OPERATION

To combat the threat, the company organized what is described as the biggest forest-spraying operation ever attempted in Canada.

During the fall and winter of 1951-52, an airport was built in the wilderness, uarters were constructed for 150 men, and spray, fuel and equipment were hauled in over frozen roads before the spring breakup.

Finally, June 13, entomologists reported the insects at the proper stage of development and spraying proceeded during the next 15 days.

Budworms died by the billions, "spinning down on shining silk threads as the poison struck home." Based on later observations, between 99.8 and 100 per cent of the worms were reported killed. The booklet concludes:

"The first battle of the budworm was a victory for the forest managers. . . We still don't comprehend the natural forces that start and stop a budworm epidemic, but we now know that DDT can be effectively sprayed from the air over vast forests and is a powerful weapon."

NEW ORGANIZATION

Since last year's spraying, meetings between the New Brunswick government and representatives of four major paper companies have resulted in formation of a non-profit corporation, Forest Protection, Ltd.

It plans to spray at least 1,500 square miles of infested New Brunswick forests this spring, with 80 airplanes operating from six airstrips.

King Of Cambodia Visits Niagara Falls

NIAGARA FALLS, Ont. (CP)—King Norodom Sihanouck of Cambodia arrived Thursday during a downpour of rain. He compared the mighty falls to a large waterfall in his own country.

He was greeted by Premier Frost and Robert H. Saunders, Ontario hydro chairman.

The king and Premier Frost made a trip through the big hydro tunnel.

FELIX CHESTER, 65, of St. Petersburg, Florida, who lost his sight when a mine exploded on a World War I navy ship, walks with his first, and now blind, Seeing-Eye dog, a German shepherd named Charlie, and Howdy, a Boxer who leads both his human and canine pals around town. Charlie had been Chester's "eye" for 12 years until his sight failed from old age two years ago. Now Howdy fills the gap.

Margarine Issue Renewed By Senate Committee

OTTAWA (CP)—A new parliamentary issue over margarine was whipped up Thursday by a Senate committee in recommending that it be exempted from the 10-per-cent federal sales tax.

The move raised political and constitutional questions that had died down for some years after the ban on the butter substitute was lifted in 1949.

The Senate's banking and commerce committee renewed the stir by voting 10 to 4 that margarine be added to a long list of foods exempt from the sales tax. The committee was dealing with a bill, passed by the Commons, to implement some of Finance Minister Abbott's budget changes.

Before margarine could become exempt from the sales tax, the committee change would have to be approved by the Senate and then by the Commons, which already has adopted the tax bill without margarine on the exempt list.

MAY STEAM UP ISSUE

Politically, the committee action—to come before the Senate as a whole next Wednesday—could steam up an issue that was hot some years ago. In the Commons, there was no objection to the omission of margarine from the list of some 100 foods excepted from the sales tax.

Should the Senate committee's recommendation be adopted by the upper house, it would then throw the question into the Commons, where the issue has been a touchy one for a long time.

Farm interests have been pressing against any concessions to margarine.

Under the Senate committee proposal it would be given the same tax status as butter.

QUESTION RIGHT

Constitutionally, some senators in the committee questioned the right of the upper chamber to reduce a tax, under the British North America Act that provides the Commons must initiate taxes.

The committee was told by J. F. MacNeill, Senate law clerk, that a Senate committee in 1916 held the upper chamber competent to make a change such as proposed and that the opinion never had been challenged.

The fight on behalf of margarine was led by Senator W. D. Euler of Ontario, former Liberal minister of trade and commerce.

Benny-Allen Feud Going Strong

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—The feud that launched a thousand quips is still going strong after 18 years.

Fred Allen and Jack Benny have been mining pay dirt from their alleged dislike for each other for nearly two decades, and the end is not in sight. The comics will continue their tiff when they appear on Benny's TV show Sunday. It will make their first TV appearance together.

I dropped in at CBS for the first reading of the show. My purpose: 1. To see the inception of the TV program; 2. To observe what happens when these two terrible-tempered men meet.

Allen was there when I arrived. He looked as pleasantly sour as ever. Since health is the prime topic among TV comics, I asked him how he felt.

FEELING GOOD

"Pretty good," said the Boston wit, who suffered a relapse in his battle with health a few months ago. He was forced to give up his proposed TV quiz show to Herb Shriner. Allen indicated he would resume the helm of the show next fall.

Allen is the envy of his fellow comics. He has been playing the guest-star circuit and raking in much moola without the headache of having his own show. Allen claimed, however, that he was merely the middleman in the transfer of the cheques to the U. S. treasury.

How long has he known Benny?

"About 30 years," he remarked "We go back to the vaudeville days. We never played the same bill, because we both had a monologue act. Vaudeville was better organized than TV."

CAN'T RECALL ORIGIN

The origin of their feud? He couldn't remember. "I'd have to consult my files," he said.

Benny breezed in, accompanied by his three writers and others. He and Allen exchanged greetings that would indicate their feud is only scrip-deep.

I dutifully asked Benny how he felt. "Fine," he replied. Illness forced him to cancel a telecast six weeks ago.

Benny had a better memory on the feud's origin.

"It was 18 years ago," he recalled. "Allen had a boy prodigy on his show, and the kid played 'The Bee.' Allen made a slighting remark about my violin playing. I answered him back on my show, and that started it."

Far from cutting down his activities, Benny is stepping them up. Next Tuesday he opens a three week stand with a vaudeville show at San Francisco's Curran theatre. He is now doing one TV show every four weeks, plus his radio program. Next fall, he'll be on TV once every three weeks and continue on radio.

Ordain Three Ministers Of Pentecostal Assemblies

Three ministers of the Pentecostal Assemblies of Canada received ordination to the Christian ministry in the Peterborough Pentecostal church Wednesday night.

There were 13 other men who received their minister's license and 10 women were extended the recognition of Deaconesses, while three women who are preachers in their own right received a limited form of ordination for lady ministers.

Those ordained were: Alexander J. Hurn of Battersea, Ont., Morris Bailey of Kemptville, Ont., and William J. Edgington of Smith's Falls. Women who received the ministerial license for women were: Miss Lily Maud Ellis of Bannockburn, Ont., Miss Olive Yeomans and Miss Blanche Yeomans, both of Gracefield, Quebec.

The Rev. W. B. Greenwood, of Belleville, superintendent of the eastern Ontario and Quebec district presided over the ordination rites, while the ordination rites were preached by the Rev. W. E. McAlister, general superintendent from Toronto who addressed the ordinands on the subject of True Shepherds. The Rev. James Montgomery and the Rev. G. R. Upton both of Toronto assisted in the service, along with the members of the district executive. The Thursday morning session was largely taken up with the report given by the Rev. W. H. Found, president of the eastern Pentecostal College in Peterborough, who reported to the conference on the financial problems of the local institution. The Peterborough Bible College is jointly sponsored by the four district conferences, Western Ontario, Eastern Ontario and Quebec, the Maritimes and Newfoundland. For the year 1952-53 there were 116 students enrolled at the college.

Mr. Found went on to say that the student fees covered only the operational costs of the institution, but not the capital investment and suggested a plan of assessing the local churches in the four districts to take care of the latter need.

LIBERAL LEADER — Arthur Laing, 48, member of parliament for Vancouver South, has been elected leader of the Liberal party in British Columbia. He succeeds Byron Johnson, whose government was defeated in the 1952 general election. It is expected Mr. Laing, a technical agriculturist, born at Eburne, B.C., will resign his partliamentary seat shortly and be a candidate in the provincial riding of Vancouver-Point Grey in the June 9 election.

Claxton Denies Shortage Of Artillery In Korea

OTTAWA—(CP)—Defence Minister Claxton says there is no evidence to support assertions that gunners of Canada's 25th brigade in Korea can't reply to Red Chinese artillery because of ammunition shortages. That was the reply he gave in the Commons Wednesday after Lt.-Col. Gordon Churchill (PC-Winnipeg South Centre) made the assertion.

Col. Churchill, who commanded the 1st Canadian Armored Regiment in northwest Europe in the last war, said the Canadians in Korea are "sitting tight and taking it from the Chinese artillery" and haven't enough ammunition for counter-fire. As a result, he said, casualties are high.

Mr. Claxton said there is no evidence to back such a claim. United Nations artillery fire in Korea was 10 times heavier than that of the Chinese and greater than the extremely high rates of fire in the First and Second World Wars.

NEVER HAS ENOUGH

No army ever has all the ammunition it wants, but the Canadians have the ammunition they need, the minister said. They were supplied through the Commonwealth Division and by the Americans and it would be impossible for Canada to set up separate supply lines.

The exchange came as the House discussed defence for the third straight day. General discussion was concluded and members got down to an item-by-item study of the $2,000,000,000 the defence department will spend in the 1953-54 fiscal year. The study continues today.

The two-hour morning sitting was taken up with discussion of changes in the Civil Service Superannuation Act. The bill, which will make retirement pensions a matter of right for federal workers and bring 60,000 more of them under the plan, was approved in principle and sent to a committee for close study.

Mr. Claxton, due to leave next weekend for a North Atlantic council meeting in Paris, was kept bobbing up and down in his place all day answering questions or denying opposition assertions that Canada's defence preparedness was not all it might be.

RUNNING CLASH

One of the main running clashes was with Lt.-Col. Douglas Harkness (PC-Calgary West), a wartime artillery officer. Col. Harkness asserted that Mr. Claxton had said Canada has all the defence forces she needs and that she has sufficient transport planes to lift her airborne home-defence brigade all at once.

The minister promptly denied ever making the statements and challenged Col. Harkness to produce the evidence. The Opposition member said he couldn't produce the evidence at the moment but would at a later time.

Col. Harkness said reserve anti-aircraft batteries have only a quarter or a third of the guns they are supposed to have and are insufficiently trained to man the guns they do have. The minister appeared to be "asleep" when he said Mustang and Vampire fighter planes could defend Canada against a bombing attack. They would be useless against present-day fast, high-level Russian jet bombers.

"The minister has no true realization of what defence needs are," said Col. Harkness, adding that Mr. Claxton repeatedly made statements which gave Canadians the wrong impression of the defence build-up.

FEARS U-BOAT THREAT

Gordon Higgins (PC-St. John's East) said Canada's navy should concentrate most heavily on anti-submarine work to meet the U-boat threat that would materialize if war came. In the last war German submarines had roamed the coast of Newfoundland, sinking shipping.

Col. David Croll (L-Toronto-Spadina), a wartime infantry officer, said the opposition was changing its tune. It used to be waste, inefficiency and extravagance but now the charge of inadequate home defence had been added. The opposition would try to foist that on the Canadian people in the next election campaign, but they would not get away with it.

THE REV. W. A. CAMERON, former minister of Yorkminster Baptist Church, Toronto, who will be the guest preacher at the 107th Anniversary Services of Murray Street Baptist Church on Sunday. Mr. Cameron is known throughout the Christian world as a preacher, scholar, writer, and personal counsellor. Guest soloist for the occasion will be Mrs. Jeanne Pengelly of Toronto.

Cost Of Water To Downer's "Up To City"

Utilities Tosses Hot Potato To City Council

The question of who is going to pay for supplying water to the Downers Corners area has become a hot potato which the Peterborough Utilities Commission tossed into the lap of city council Thursday afternoon.

Mayor Hugh Waddell appeared at the previous PUC meeting March 30 and asked the commission to supply water to the area. He said that H. B. McGinness had purchased the property opposite the Club Aragon on the understanding that he would receive the support of the city in requesting water service of the PUC and that the city would annex the area. Also present on that date were Reeve Richard Stewart of Otonabee and township clerk James McCarthy.

The upshot of the meeting was that the PUC agreed only to prepare estimates of the cost of water service to Downers Corners while the township was to make a survey of residents of the area to discover how many would be willing to avail themselves of city water service if it is made available.

When the PUC estimates were tabled Thursday it was revealed that total cost of serving Downers Corners and the surrounding community in or abutting the city would be $78,404.13, including cost of 25 short services at $50 each and five long services at $125 each. If the service were extended to include township residents in the area, the added cost would be another $29,425.

AVERAGE COST $612

In the township area, of a total possible frontage of 10,750 feet or 144 lots, only 57 lots have been built on so that the average cost for each consumer would be $612. If all 144 lots were built on, the average cost would be $299.

In the case that the service was extended to Downers Corners alone, the situation faced by the commission would be as follows: Of a total possible frontage of 6,600 feet on Lansdowne St., there are 14 houses, two stores, seven other commercial establishments and eventually the McGinness plant.

Total cost of an eight-inch main would be $25,727.39 or $3.90 per foot of frontage and the cost to each consumer would be $3.90 per

Let's Have Lots

While tending the muskie trap nets on Wednesday at Deer Bay summer camp, owner and veteran outdoorsman Ed Pearson remarked: "If we want the weather to warm up, and stay warm, a few snow squalls are just the things to sponge the coolness from the air." He didn't predict snow in the near offing that day but it is here now and in a short time we shall be able to see how right his theory is.

Will Discuss Setting Up Polio Centre

Negotiations with the Department of Health to establish a polio treatment centre in Peterborough will commence in the near future, as the result of a meeting of the Civic Hospital Board of Directors Thursday night.

Following the presentation of a report to the board outlining the advisabilities of establishing the service here, the committee which prepared it, headed by Dr. J. T. R. Stewart, was appointed to meet with the department to obtain final approval.

Dr. Stewart outlined an eight-point program for the centre's establishment at the Civic Hospital in a report of the special committee. The committee is composed of members of the board of governors and the medical staff.

Briefly, such a service would provide treatment for anterior poliomyelitis within the hospital with the aid of government subsidies.

The committee chairman was of the opinion the administrative problems can be handled and the patient load taken care of under the plan without any greater financial loss to the hospital than would occur if such a plan were not accepted.

$5,000 EQUIPMENT

Equipment problems will involve some capital outlay but it is not expected to exceed $5,000. As for staffing the centre, qualified medical men are available but satisfactory nursing services may be difficult to establish in view of the general shortage.

It was the feeling of the special committee that the refusal to establish a polio centre would be to some extent shelving the responsibility of Peterborough onto other communities. In case of severe incidence of the disease, it might be found that this community would have to deal with its own problems in any case whether or not government assistance is accepted.

Since the special committee's formation last year, careful study has gone into the proposed centre's four aspects; administration, nursing care, equipment and clinical.

COST EXCEEDS $12

With the government paying $7.00 per day for in-patient treatment, a maximum of $5.00 per day may be charged to the patient. While the cost of caring for these patients exceeds greatly $12.00 per day, the proposed grants seem to indicate the hospital would receive as much for them as for public ward patients, if not more.

No specific provision is made in government regulations whereby physicians may receive from patients fees for professional services but no provision prevents them either.

One of the problems which might crop up received attention in the report. If the Civic Hospital becomes a polio centre, it must be prepared to make provision for the treatment of communicable diseases on medical floors if the patient load requires it. This, while not desirable, is, however, possible without too much danger.

Additionally, the Civic Hospital does not have nursing staff members who are qualified to undertake the supervision or nursing care required in the treatment of polio patients. In the event a centre is established, it will be necessary for the personnel to be well versed in all aspects of polio treatment. It was recommended selected members of the staff be sent on short courses on the subject.

Main item in the lengthy list of equipment necessary for the foundation of a polio service at Civic was a $2,000 Hubbard tank. Hospital superintendent John Hornal said, however, that equipping costs of the centre will not exceed $5,000.

The centre will also require the services of two full time physiotherapists and one occupational therapist.

TALK STRIKE ACTION

Some 300 production workers of the Quaker Oats Co. crowded into the Peterborough Labor Centre on Thursday night for the regular membership meeting. The big item on the agenda was the decision of the membership to endorse the action of the executive and stewards of Local 293, UPWA (CIO-CCL), who had called for a strike vote to be taken Sunday. The union and management are now deadlocked in a contract dispute and the recommendations of a government-appointed conciliation board have not resolved the difficulties.

Langley Objects To Plan To Put Hydro Underground

Dr. G. R. Langley fought a determined but losing battle at Thursday's PUC meeting against a proposal to provide underground hydro service to the new Woolworth building to be built at the corner of Charlotte and George Sts. Total cost of installation would be $18,150, including installation of a transformer vault at $5,500.

The proposal was contained in a report on Woolworth's request for service by General-manager W. Howard Powell, who discussed at length the alternatives of overhead service and a combination of overhead and underground service.

In his report, Mr. Powell said that Woolworth's had requested 266 kilowats but there was no electric equipment available in that location to furnish a demand of that size.

"As this service is in the business area where load concentrations are increasing rapidly, it is felt that when providing for it, consideration should be taken for future load growth," the report stated, "and a plan put forward whereby the adjoining properties may be served from the one location."

Dr. Langley took vigorous exception to the general-manager's criticism of overhead and off-the-street installations and objected to making provision for future needs until an over-all plan had been approved by the citizens.

"Overhead construction is normally used as it is the most economical for original cost," the general-manager said in his report. "However, in busy districts its maintenance provides a difficult problem, as the stringing and repairing of conductors from an overhead location presents a constant hazard to pedestrians, and pedestrians, projecting signs and vehicles present a problem to the employees doing such work. As a result, the tendency in these districts, when conductors are run on the streets, is to place them underground.

VULNERABLE, UNSIGHTLY

"Transformer banks located overhead in the business districts are usually of extreme size and unsightly. When located on pole structures they are extremely vulnerable to destruction by motor vehicles, with consequent hazard from falling equipment and delay in restoration of service. As a result, when located on busy streets, most transformer banks are located underground.

"Off-the-street location of electric services is yet another consideration.

"Where public laneways are available, service can be supplied economically by constructing overhead distribution systems in these areas. In the comparative quiet

Miss K. E. Wallis Seriously Ill

Miss Katherine E. Wallis, the 93-year-old Santa Cruz sculptor who at one time lived in Peterborough, is seriously ill in a Santa Cruz hospital. She has been a patient for about three weeks.

When taken ill Miss Wallis was completing "The Nativity" which has occupied her skill for the past two years and is valued at $3,000. The sculpture, which still requires the finishing touches, is now on display at the 23rd annual exhibition of California artists in Santa Cruz. It was being carved from a huge stump of pear wood.

Miss Wallis sent a collection of some 20 pieces of sculpture to her native city of Peterborough. At present they are stored in the public library and plans call for them to be displayed together in a single room, the location not yet designated.

KEPT TOGETHER

At first it was the intention to divide the Wallis collection among various city institutions, such as City Hall, Civic Hospital, Anson House and PCVS. But later it was decided to keep the collection together.

As yet no display room has been decided on and the collection remains in the library.

Miss Wallis' family home is Merino, a stone house built by her father, a half a mile west of Jackson Park. The Peterborough-born sculptor once studied under Rodin and is the only Canadian artist elected Societaire Nationale des Beaux Arts.

Girl Knocked Off Bicycle

Victoria Danilka, 20, 466 Patterson St., was taken to Civic Hospital about 4:30 p.m. Thursday suffering from lacerations of the scalp and left leg as a result of being knocked from her bicycle by a car driven by Russel W. Clark, 19, RR 1, Ida.

Her condition was reported satisfactory today. Miss Danilka, whose parents live at 7 George St., Lindsay, is an employee of Civic Hospital.

The mishap ocurred on Charlotte St. W. at Dobbin Ave. Bystanders said that Clark was making a right hand turn as he entered Charlotte St. W. from Dobbin Ave. He turned wide and collided with the bicycle which was coming from the direction of the hospital.

Clark is being charged with careless driving.

PC William G. Scott investigated.

By HARRY THEOBALD

Lakefield 4-H Forestry Club Realizes the Hopes of District Forester John Bell....Town and Township Company of 150 at Hastings Goodwill Dinner....'Quinte Cattle Breeders Report Net Profit of $13,354.

John Bell of Lakefield, district forester," with the Ontario Department of Lands and Forests, must be convinced subscriber to that maxim from the literature and oratory of stimulus and lift: 'opportunity is all around you, if only you can recognize it.'

Probably he also smiles in approval at that companion postulate of professional optimists, sales mangers for instance, when in one phrase or another they shine up that exhortation to courage and perseverence and reassurance: "the darkest hour is just before the dawn."

Bromides they may be from long usage, but Mr. Bell knows they are true.

The Lakefield District 4-H Forestry Club of 51 members, High School students of the average age of 14, dispelled the doubts of John Bell. Probably in the last week of April, they are going to plant 15,000 red pines at Nassau as the first season's effort in a ten-spring project that will put 150,000 treees in the ground by 1962.

Last fall, Mr. Bell was depressed about the dim prospect of developing the degree of reforestation interest he sought in the midst of increasing 4-H Club activity. True, there was the junior club at Lakehurst in Harvey township but it was confined to a small corner of Peterborough county.

There were 4-H calf clubs, swine clubs, grain and tractor clubs, but forestry appeared to be failing in appeal to young people largely because the way of approach to their enthusiasm was eluding the thinking and planning of Forester Bell.

Ken Best, assistant agricultural representative shared in his worry as they got together and wrestled with the problem in gloomy winter afternoon sessions. Then, almost overnight about two months ago the cloud lifted from the forestry horizon, and the 4-H forestry club at Lakefield High School began to take shape and membership.

In retrospect the turning point escapes exact identification. Mr. Best and Mr. Bell had first fingers in this bright and promising propect as it now looms. Cam Rowatt and his conservation associates were eager to help the reforestation cause. Robert McMorran of the CGE strayed into the picture with a definite suggestion of the possibilites at Nassau. The company itself sounded the voice of approval. J. E. Stephens, Principal of Lakefield High School contributed the penultimate encouragement. Finally 51 of the young students responded to the tree planting plan that was outlined to them.

CATALYTIC NEEDED

These were elements and aid that were all at hand for John Bell and his hopes. All that was lacking was an agency or medium to bring them together. Obviously without the Canadian General Electric Company and conservationist McMorran, the Nassau project could not have developed as the key factor to the 150,000 red pine planting enterprise. Once it appeared as a certainty, the next step was presenting it to Mr. Stephens and his students. At any rate, John Bell and Ken Best have recruited one of the largest 4-H Forestry Clubs in the country.

C. G. E pays for the trees. The students do the planting of the Nassau area of nearly 200 acres, and Mr. Best reports that Cliff Curtis has promised use of a tractor which probably means also a plow to facilitate the Club work on planting day.

The Club members, boys and girls of from 13 to 17 years of age, with an odd junior of 12 years, have elected their officers as follows: President — Harry Hamilton; vice-president, Mary Ann Guthrie and secretary Ann Wilson.

PERSONNEL OF CLUB

These young folks are largely from the Lakefield-Smith-Dummer area. Their membership roll is as follows, with addresses only of those beyond the Lakefield district.

400 AT KEMPTVILLE

The Eastern Ontario Cattle Breeding Association at Kemptville, with 400 members present, showed a 20 per cent increase in business last year in spite of the U.S. embargo. This unit closed the year with 2,750 members. Frank J. Casselman of Chesterville was elected president.

150 At Hastings Dinner

Cordial relations between urban and rural communities pervaded the dinner Wednesday night in Hastings town hall at which the village Chamber of Commerce and Asphodel farmers of the Federation of Agriculture broke bread together. Of the company of 150, about two-thirds were from the southeastern township of the county.

Max Humphries, president of the Chamber of Commerce, was chairman of the dinner. The speakers were Orville Shugge, a director of the Dairy Farmers of Canada, and Paul Meehan of the Ontario Co-Operative Medical Services. A fine program of music added much to the entertainment of the evening.

Mr. Shugge emphasized as one of his topics the increasing awareness of farmers of the benefits of publicity in promoting sales of their products, particularly in the dairy field since it has been invaded by vegetable oil concoctions. The food values of milk, butter, cheese had helped to build up healthy people in this country. But, the challenge of a form of substitute in the last few years had aroused farmers to the necessity of advertising the high quality of their dairy products. Mr. Shugge mentioned the June set-aside fund as a means of making a broad advertising campaign possible, and expressed the hope that dairy farmers would realize its importance.

Last of the Federation's series of local dinners was at South Dummer Thursday night with Mr. Meehan the visiting speaker.

Norwood Meetings

Norwood calf club members are meeting Friday, April 24 at 7:30 p.m. at the home of Stanley Andrews. One item of business will be to survey the possibility of forming a beef calf club, instead of leaving it as proposed now to carry on this year with the dairy calf club. It is understood that George Shoniker will take on the job as beef calf club leader. After next Friday night's meeting the eastern young people may have two 4-H calf clubs. It can be done if parents will co-operate with the Junior Farmers and the county representatives of the Ontario Department of Agriculture.

William S. McMullen of the production service of the federal Department of Agriculture is expected in Norwood next Wednesday to discuss with representatives of the fair board plans for buildings at the fair grounds this year. That evening the 4-H swine clubs are to meet at Norwood town hall. In prospect are 30 to 40 members, sufficient for two or three clubs. Ken Best reports that at the Junior Farmers' executive meeting this week, G. A. Brethen was asked to act as a swine club leader this season. He accepted, thereby assuming one more job in the brackets of promotion. Incidentally he told the Juniors that he was hoping the directors of the fair would be able to provide financial assistance to the 4-H clubs.

FARMERS' DAY, JUNE 24

Wednesday, June 24, will be Farmers' Day at Kemptville Agricultural School Farm. Is it planned, as announced by A. M. Barr, principal, for farmers of eastern Ontario to see demonstrations and other activities closely related to their farm problems.

BACK ON THE LAND after a light winter, district farmers are plowing and seeding for another year's crop. Most counties in Western and Southern Ontario have reported seeding under way. Here, district farmers have considerable seeding done. Russell Buck, who lives along the Norwood-Hastings road (above), gets a little more plowing done. Most farmers rely upon the tractor to quicken their spring work, but Mr. Buck still prefers the old stand-bys, his three blacks. (Examiner Staff Photo).

Buying Alberta Herefords For Norwood Area Juniors

G. A. Brethen of Norwood is prolific of ideas all conceived and directed toward enlarging the usefulness of the Norwood Fair and its East Peterborough Agricultural Society in that important half of the county.

Effects of the English Yorkshire swine club of last year cannot yet be gauged, perhaps never will be traceable, depending on the practice of breeders. Now with the approval of the fair board, Mr. Brethen announces plans for buying 35 Hereford heifers in Alberta for delivery to East Peterborough. Arrangement for this enterprise in purebred livestock is explained in the following statement from Mr. Brethen:

Norwood Fair Board has made financial arrangements and issued instructions for the purchase of a car lot of selected heifers at the big Clareshom, Alta., sale Friday, April 17.

Six hundred feeder calves, all Herefords, are being offered at this sale. The heifers bought by the Norwood Agricultural Society will weigh around 500 pounds each. They will have met all health requirements when delivered to stockyards at Norwood.

Pending confirmation of purchase, these calves will be allotted to 35 boys and girls between the ages of 10 and 20 years, who will constitute the Norwood Fair Feeder Calf Club. Entries will be confined to members of the Norwood Fair and residents of the townships of Belmont, Methuen, Dummer, Asphodel and Otonabee. These municipalities have been making annual grants to the East Peterborough Agricultural Society, and their youth will be given priority.

At time and date to be set, the western calves will be drawn by lot, tagged and weighed, and later will be shown by their young owners for valuable prizes at the Norwood Fair on Monday, Oct. 12, Thanksgiving Day, as a provincial government commercial feature. The following day calves will be sold at auction, the net profit on the project going to the boy or girl owner in each instance. All calves will carry insurance against loss.

It has been arranged by the Society for the local banks at Havelock, Norwood, Hastings and

Parents And 4-H Clubs

4-H Clubs in East Peterborough will be just as successful this year as the rural people desire and decide.

These clubs for farm boys and girls are sponsored by the Ontario Department of Agriculture. In the maintenance of the Department the farmers of Asphodel, Dummer, Belmonth and Methuen pay some proportionate part. From that aspect the farm homes have an opportunity of receiving through the Department's agencies their share of the advantages which they are helping to finance.

Those advantages are now being accepted by some 60,000 young rural people across Canada who live in communities much the same as that of which Norwood is the centre.

Ontario 4-H Clubs have been active for years. Their record of performance stands out in the thousands of their graduates, adult men and women, many of them remaining in agriculture. Their broad purpose is to help young people to be better farmers and Canadians.

With that background of experience and highest responsibility in sponsorship, membership and graduates, the 4-H Clubs that are now being projected in East Peterborough should immediately win the confidence of those farm parents who so far have not given to this investment in rural youth the interest and confidence it deserves.

4-H Clubs are a service to rural youth for which East Peterborough farmers are paying. It is a service to which older Junior Farmers, club graduates acting as Leaders, are giving time and supervision without remuneration, voluntarily assisting the Department representatives.

Every aspect of the Clubs recommends them not only to individual farm homes, but more broadly to the farm community organizations, Federation, Women's Institute, and others. About the only question remaining to farm homes in the eastern townships whose boys and girls have not yet enrolled for 4-H work is: what are we waiting for?

Keene to lend the boys and girls the necessary financial assistance required, if desired, on a note signed jointly by the club member and parent or guardian at 5 per cent. simple interest. The principal and interest will be deducted from the sale price of the calves in the fall.

These calves have been carefully selected by Ian Davidson of Canada Packers Company, Calgary, and in co-operation with the Canadian Hereford Association for uniformity and breeding.

They are from a T.B.-free area and have been inoculated against Bang's disease and shipping fever. Much care has been taken to secure for the boys and girls of the East Peterborough area the very best 'white faces' available.

Much interest has been shown in this project, and as calves are expected to arrive next week, the Society wants every boy and girl who wishes to get in on this project to telephone, write or call on G. A. Brethen, Norwood, giving name and address, lot and number, also township, and name of parent or guardian.

They are reminded that there will be just 35 calves to be offered and it will mean "first in, first served". This project is intended to be combined with the big English Yorkshire swine and bacon show and sale on Monday and Tuesday, Oct. 12 and 13.

Possessed Fish Man Fined $25

Found guilty on a charge of possessing fish out of season, William J. Emmorey of Hastings was fined $25 and costs of $5.00 Thursday in magistrate's court. His son, Elmer, had a similar charge against him dismissed.

Most of the defence story had been given Monday when the crown presented its evidence by two conservation officers. Witnesses Thursday just corroborated Emmorey's testimony.

In asking for dismissal of the charge against the 19-year-old, Crown Attorney John A. Bradshaw, QC, suggested the magistrate "impose a heavier sentence on his father for dragging the boy into this mess."

Besides paying out the $30, however, Emmorey loses the truck he was driving the night of the offence plus several articles confiscated by conservation officers.

A second charge against Emmorey, having a rifle not dismantled or encased during the night hours, was dismissed upon

Find Father's Ninth Victim

LAWRENCE, Mass. (AP)—The body of Peter Akulonis, Jr., 9, ninth victim of his crazed father's maniacal rampage Wednesday was found Thursday in Dracut, nine miles from his home.

The body was found off the Lowell boulevard—a route between Lowell and Lawrence.

Four of the victims, all members of Akulonis' family, were found hacked to death in a Lawrence tenement and two others in a Methuen tenement.

The slayer, Peter Akulonis, 39, a tinsmith, later killed his brother, Raymond, 37, in a parked machine, with a rifle as police closed in on him and then took his own life with another shot.

The victims included Akulonis' 72-year-old widowed mother, his wife, another son, two brothers and two nephews.

The boy had been hacked on the head. The body was found in a sandpit.

Both Drivers Saw Headlights, One Man Fined

Found guilty on a charge of careless driving, Ralph G. Portsmith of RR 4, Omemee, was fined $15 and $13.90 costs in magistrate's court Thursday.

The court action arose from an accident December 6 at the intersection of Aylmer and King Sts. Other driver involved was Gordon Simpson of RR 3, Peterborough.

Simpson had been driving south on Aylmer St. early that night. Nearing the intersection he saw a pair of headlights coming from the east side of the street where King crosses Aylmer. His car was hit and went careening over a boulevard at the roadside.

Portsmith, his wife and daughter were riding in his truck when the accident occurred. They all testified the accused had stopped at the intersection and was creeping slowly forward to give the driver a chance to see if any traffic was coming, prior to making a right turn.

As with Simpson, a pair of headlight suddenly appeared and the car carrying them collided with the front of the truck.

All three were thrown from the truck and landed on the road within five feet of each other.

Defence counsel J. Arthur Fair, QC, maintained that, from the position of the passengers on the road, damage to the truck and eventual landing place of the truck, the car struck it in such a way as to indicate it had been planning a left turn.

Basing his decision on the point of impact as indicated by dirt marks on the road, however, Magistrate W. R. Philp found the defendant guilty.

Civic Requests $24,677 Grants For Mentally Ill

Primary step in the establishment of a mental health clinic in Peterborough Civic Hospital Superintendent John Hornal gained the approval of the hospital's board of governors Thursday night to apply for federal and provincial grants of $24,677 for the construction of a mental outpatient's department in the hospital basement.

Already appointed to head up mental health work in the Peterborough area, Dr. J. S. Pratten of the Department of Health will arrive in the city soon.

Until permanent quarters have been constructed in the basement or located elsewhere at the hospital, Dr. Pratt will take up temporary offices in the hospital on his arrival.

In presenting his report on a mental clinic establishment here, Mr. Hornal made estimates on work necessary in the basement to construct offices in the basement. Cost of offices might run into $9.15 a square foot or a total of $33,688.50. Including architect's fees, the job will probably cost no more than $40,000.

GRANTS COVER COSTS

This cost will be covered by grants, according to the administrator. A total of $22,600 has already been granted the Civic recently, while an additional mental grant of $24,677 is anticipated.

So far as equipment for the clinic is concerned, this would be paid for out of special grants for this work. The salaries of all professional personnel including the secretary will be paid for by the province. The hospital will be required to provide nurses and orderlies for treatments plus housekeeping service. The charges that are ordinarily made for treatment should enable the hospital to make this service available without loss.

The immediate basement requirements are four offices, a waiting room, a treatment room, a recovery room, nursing station and toilet facilities.

Mr. Hornal commented, "Dr. Pratten and his team will provide a very great service to this community."

Dr. Pratten will act as a consultant to the medical men of the district in mental health problems as well as with such social agencies as need his services. As soon as possible he hope to add a social worker and a psychiatrist to his staff.

Lethbridge Battles To 5-5 Tie In Series

WINNIPEG (CP) — As coach Butch McDonald of Lethbridge Native Sons put it: "It could have gone either way."

He was commenting in the dressing room after his club had battled to a 5-5 tie with St. Boniface Canadiens Thursday night in the fourth game of their best-of-seven series for the Western Canada junior hockey title. The Canadiens lead the series 2-1 in games, and with the tie game, hold a 5-3 edge in points.

Another win and a tie or two more wins would give the Manitobans the championship and a berth into the Dominion junior hockey final against the Eastern champions, Barrie Flyers or Quebec Citadelles.

Billy Dea, Roger LaPlante, Harold Jones, Earl Ingarfield and Larry Winder notched the Lethbridge goals. Leo Konyk tallied two for St. Boniface with Louis Marius, Bob Jason and Barry Thorndycraft registering singles.

2 Amateurs Golfers Will Be Among Best

WALLACEBURG (CP)—E. Harold Banks, manager of the Ontario Golf Association, predicted Thursday night that within a year or two Canadian amateur golfers will hold their own with any in the world. The only thing that could stop them would be lack of first-class competition.

In a speech to the Wallaceburg Rotary Club on the history of golf, Banks said that in 1952 the Canadian amateur team came within two points of tying a strong United States amateur team at Seattle although the Canadians lacked Bill Mawhinney of Vancouver, the country's best amateur at the time.

"In Ontario we have a great string of junior golfers coming up," said Banks. "Last year at the Ontario junior final Bill McBeth of Cedar Springs, a 15-year-old boy now going to collegiate at London, came second to Ontario junior champion Jerry Knetchel of Kitchener with 149 for 36 holes."

Crosby Wins Support Of British Magazine

LONDON (AP)—Bing Crosby and his golfing ability got the backing today of a stalwart, well-informed friend—the influential London magazine, Golf Illustrated.

Said the Illustrated, after hearing that a London sports columnist had criticized the crooner for entering the British amateur championship at Hoylake, May 25-30:

"It has been suggested that Bing is not a good enough golfer to play in the event. We do not agree with that at all. He is certainly better than many of the home players who enter."

Columnist Desmond Hackett of the Daily Express wrote two weeks ago that Crosby should be barred from playing in the tournament. Hackett added that comedian Bob Hope and other "elderly American business men" who turn up year after year should also be barred.

Hackett said Crosby made the 1950 amateur at St. Andrews a cheap circus.

Circus Aerialists Receive Competition

NEW YORK (AP)—The aerialists of the circus received unexpected competition Thursday night from a customer at Madison Square Garden.

Then he fell 50 feet to the arena floor.

Lorenzo suffered only possible rib fractures. He was taken to the psychiatric ward at Bellevue hospital.

LONDON (AP) — Actress Vivien Leigh now is being treated for "recurrence of a lung complaint," her agent has announced.

The agent said she had been moved from a nursing home to a home in the country for recuperation. Miss Leigh, wife of actor Sir Laurence Olivier, was treated for tuberculosis in 1945.

She was flown home from Hollywood last month after suffering a breakdown while making a film.

Arrest Woman For $42 Theft

LINDSAY (ENS)—First arrest in the Lindsay area of a woman on a charge of breaking and entering and theft was made Thursday in Highland Grove by OPP Constable Jack McKendry of Apsley.

Charged is Carmel Hogan, 22, formerly a Lindsay resident. A complaint was received by Lindsay police April 14 from Mrs. Mary Cayley that someone had entered her home through a basement window and had stolen $42 from her purse.

The $42 was money Mrs. Cayley had been saving toward the purchase of a refrigerator.

Mrs. Cayley told police that Miss Hogan had formerly boarded at the Cayley home and recently had asked for a key so that she might go to get some dresses she had left there. This request was refused.

Neighbors have reported seeing a woman apparently trying to enter the house at an upstairs window.

Miss Hogan, who had returned to her parents' home in Highland Grove, was released on bail after making a statement to Chief Constable John Hunter of Lindsay. It is understood part of the money was recovered.

One Convicted, One Freed In Driving Counts

LINDSAY (ENS)—One conviction and one acquittal were registered in magistrate's court here today on two careless driving charges.

Found guilty was Frederick Rathburn of Peterborough who was fined $12.50 and $2.50 costs by Magistrate E. A. Gee. The magistrate dismissed a charge against Harold Fowler of Oakwood.

Rathburn was charged after his car left Highway 7 on April 1 a mile east of Omemee. Rathburn told court he had been working double shifts and had finished work at 3 a.m. that day, had gone home, and was returning to work when the car went off the road.

OPP Constable Tom Fitzpatrick testified that Rathburn said at the crash scene that he had been on a late party the night before and might have drowsed at the wheel. In court, Rathburn claimed the rear tire blew, throwing him out of control.

Defence counsel W. C. Grant said after the conviction was registered: "I hope your worship doesn't slip off the road someday. I'd like to try the case if you did."

Magistrate Gee laughed.

Fowler was charged after his light delivery truck was in collision April 6 with a car driven by Robert Algar of Toronto, whose wife suffered a broken collarbone in the accident. Dismissal came on a technicality after the accident date. Fowler when Fowler pointed out that the also claimed he hadn't seen the date on his summons was one day Algar car.

LONDON (CP)—Six RCAF officers injured in an emergency landing in Germany early this month are all believed out of danger, it was reported today.

Three are still on the seriously ill list, but are not considered in critical condition. They are Air Commodore Keith Hodson of London, Ont., chief of staff of the RCAF's 1st air division, Group Capt. Richard Cox of Sioux Lookout, Ont., senior air staff officer, and Flt. Lt. Ross Gooder of Ottawa and Toronto.

The six Canadians have been in the United States Air Force hospital at Landstuhl, Germany, since April 7, when their Beechcraft transport plane crashed on a flight from the RCAF base at Zweibrucken, Germany to Paris.

Other officers injured were Air Vice-Marshal Hugh Campbell of Fredericton, officer commanding the 1st air division, Wing Cmdr. R. A. Ashman of Ottawa, senior personnel officer, and Flt. Lt. W. Unruh, of Lucky Lake, Sask., navigator.

All six officers suffered back injuries. Cox also suffered fractured ribs, compound fractures of the left leg and concussion.

Nationalist Guerrillas Check Burmese Troops

RANGOON (AP)—Chinese Nationalist guerrillas have checked a Burmese Army offensive against their positions in northeast Burma with barrages from a formidable American-type 75-millimetre recoilless cannon, military sources here reported today.

The sources said the cannon was successfully introduced 18 months ago by American forces in Korea, who used it against "human sea" Red attacks.

The Chinese Nationalists in Burma are remnants of Chiang Kai-shek's forces driven out of Yunnan province by Chinese Communist conquests. The Burmese army is attempting to clear them from the country.

London Ballet Invited To Montreal's 'Musical May'

By MURIEL NARAWAY
Canadian Press Staff Writer

LONDON (CP)—At Canada's invitation, the London Festival Ballet Company headed by Anton Dolin will represent world ballet at Montreal's "Musical May" festival.

In the three years since the company was formed by Dr. Julian Braunsweg, it has won recognition in the top ballet centres of Britain and Europe, returning each year b request for a season at Monte Carlo, the home of ballet.

The Canadian invitation is considered one more feather in the company's cap. It is recognized in artistic circles here that Montreal calls for high standards from those chosen to attend the musical festival. This year, the ballet shares honors with New York's Metropolitan Opera Company and the Boston Symphony Orchestra.

BUSY SCHEDULE

Sailing May 26 on the liner Empress of Scotland, the company starts a heavy two-week Canadian program with four to five days of ballet in Montreal. Next stop is Hamilton, for three or four days, with the rest of the time divided between Ottawa, Quebec and possibly Toronto.

The company returns home June 20 to appear in the Welsh Eisteddfod at Llangollen, followed by an eight-week season at London's Festival Hall.

In point of time, the tour is even tougher than that made in 1932 by Maurice Colborne and Barry Jones when they interrupted the London run of "The Queen's Husband" to take the play on a four-week Canadian tour, including Toronto, Hamilton, Ottawa and Montreal. They opened in London's West End immediately on return.

Colbourne, in a recent interview, recalled that tour was an outstanding success. The thing that remains in his memory is the wire received in Liverpool as he boarded ship saying $10,000 had been received in advance bookings, a week before opening night.

Colbourne, now 58, has many happy memories of other successful Canadian appearances and wishes he could see Canada again. "But I don't think I will," he said regretfully.

COSTLY ENDEAVOR

The Festival Ballet Company, a commercial outfit launched by Dr. Braunsweg just before the Festival of Britain opened in May, 1950, also hopes Canadian bookings will be successful. They want to recover the $50,000 the tour will cost in fares alone. Unlike the Sadler's Wells Ballet, they have no assistance from the government or the Arts Council.

For most of the 80-member company, this will be the first Canadian visit. Although more than one Canadian can generally be found in both the first and second companies of the Sadler's Wells Ballet, the Festival Ballet is essentially English. Exceptions include the premier ballerina, Russian-born Nathalie Leslie, Bulgarian Sonia Arova and Belgian Oleg Brianski. Male dancers of note include John Gilpin, a Briton.

The company's Canadian repertoire will cover about a dozen productions, including "Giselle" and other ballets Anton Dolin has danced with Alicia Markova, here and in North America. Dolin toured North America with Markova in their own ballet company, 1945-47, and Markova was co-star in the Festival Ballet when it opened under Dolin's direction.

The ballet for opening night in Montreal has still to be decided, but the Canadian repertoire is expected to include two new ballets, "Symphony for Fun" by Britain's Michael Charmley, set to music by American Don Gillies; and the story of Alice in Wonderland, which Canada is likely to see before its London premiere. So far it has been staged once, at the Bath Festival early this year.

TO VISIT CANADA—The London Festival Ballet Company will share honors with New York's Metropolitan "Musical May" festival in June. Principal dancers are ballerina Nathalie Leslie and premier danseur Anton Dolin, shown in costume for the classic "Giselle." The company also will appear at Ottawa, Quebec, Hamilton and possibly Toronto.

Absent Member Shares In Meeting

Easter thank-offering meeting of St. James' WMS was held on Tuesday afternoon.

The meeting opened with an inspirational service of worship with Mrs. E. Kent, group leader, in charge. Other members of the group assisting were Mrs. G. Saunders, Mrs. H. Doig, Mrs. B. Pitchford, Mrs. N. Brown and Mrs. W. Rose. A hymn chosen by Mrs. Cripps was sung. Mrs. Cripps, a life member, although now residing in Ottawa, still desires to share in the work of the auxiliary. Mrs. Rose paid tribute to her fine Christian example during her many years of service at St. James'. Two lovely trio selections were sung by Mrs. E. Wood, Mrs. R. Pearson and Mrs. A. Davies, accompanied by Mrs. Doig.

Mrs. G. Hewitt concluded the study book "Along African Trails" by telling interesting facts from the closing chapters.

During the business session the roll call was answered by the number of calls made and the books read. Mrs. K. Sloane, supply secretary, announced articles requested for the bale in readiness and also that a bale would be prepared for overseas shortly.

Mrs. E. M. Davis gave a timely message on Christian stewardship in a reading entitled "The Spirit of Self Sacrifice."

The offering was received and dedicated by Mrs. Hewitt.

The date decided upon for the mother and daughter banquet is Tuesday, May 12 at 6.30 p.m. As part of the program a film recently prepared by the Rev. Anson Moorehouse will be shown.

The meeting closed with benediction by Mrs. L. M. Bird, president.

MARY MOORE SAYS:

Readers' Friday Column

QUESTION: Will you please send me recipe for Banana Bread which appeared a few weeks ago? Mine always has an uncooked portion. If you have a recipe for a rich date loaf with a buttery crusty top I'd like it. Mine is always soft....your velvet cocoa cake was delicious. Sometime yill you print a nut cake with brown sugar, and a good white loaf cake recipe?....my five-year-old clips any recipes I leave behind so you see I have a budding culinary artist to train. W. I.

ANSWER: That certainly is starting to train them young. I have sent the Banana Nut Bread.

RICH DATE LOAF

Three-quarters cup brown sugar, 2 tablespoons soft shortening, 1 egg, 1½ cups milk, 3 cups sifted flour, 3½ teaspoons baking powder, 1 teaspoon salt, ½ to ¾ cup chopped nuts, ¾ cup chopped dates (or figs). (If dates are dry they should be steamed before adding). Beat together the brown sugar, soft shortening and egg, then stir in the milk. Sift together and stir in the flour, baking powder, and salt. Stir in nuts and chopped dates. Pour into well-greased loaf pan about 9x5x3 inches. Let stand 20 minutes before baking. Bake at 350 deg. Fahr. for at least 70 minutes—maybe a little longer. When done toothpick thrust into centre yill come out clean. This slices better on second day, but use very sharp knife. To achieve the crusty top you like you should brush top of loaf with mixture of 1 tablespoon sugar and 1 beaten egg yolk, 5 minutes before removing from oven.

NUT CAKE

(brown sugar)

Two-thirds cup soft shortening or shortening and butter, 1 2/3 cups sifted light brown sugar (or white sugar if you wish), ⅓ teaspoon baking soda, 1 teaspoon salt, 1 cup milk, 1 teaspoon vanilla, 1½ cups chopped walnuts or pecans. Cream butter or shortening until very light, then beat in the sugar until mixture is fluffy. Beat in the unbeaten eggs. Sift together the sifted flour, baking powder, soda and salt and add alternately with the milk and vanilla. Fold in the nuts. Pour into 2 9-inch layer cake tins or into 1 pan 13x9 inches, greased and floured. Bake at 350 deg. Fahr. Bake layers 25 to 30 minutes; oblong pan 35 to 40 minutes. LOAF CAKE (standard 2-egg cake)

Two and one-quarter cups sifted flour, 4½ teaspoons baking powder, ¼ teaspoon salt, ½ cup

Am't Of Donation Brings 2 Motions At LCW Meeting

A business matter of the Local Council of Women caused some confliction of opinion at the meeting Thursday afternoon. President Mrs. A. W. Nelson advised a request had come from National Council for a donation toward a memorial plaque to Lady Aberdeen, founder of the Council of Women, which is being put in a cairn on the American side of the Peace Garden at Winnipeg. It is expected to have an unveiling of this plaque during the National Council meeting at Winnipeg June 15-20.

A motion by Mrs. H. Tremain, seconded by Mrs. C. C. Pilon, suggested that a decision on the amount of the donation be made after finding out the type of plaque, the cost of it and the number of Councils which might make donations toward it. Mrs. E. B. McWilliams then made an amendment to the motion that $10 be sent on and an additional amount be sent if necessary when the total cost was discovered. This motion was seconded by Mrs. W. C. Steinkraus and received a majority vote. The first motion was not voted upon.

Mrs. Nelson remarked that it is the unity with Provincial and National Councils which makes the membership in Council of Women most worthwhile. She announced the Provincial Council meeting at Orillia May 12-14 and stated she will attend. Mrs. W. C. Steinkraus, past president, has been nominated vice-president of Provincial.

The president will also attend a meeting at Kingston next Wednesday, April 22, at which housing for elderly people will be the topic of day-long discussion. It is hoped to hold an open meeting at which this meeting can be reported and Mrs. Nelson asked that setting and announcing the date of such meeting be left in the hands of the housing committee as this should be done before the next meeting of Council.

Members approved a motion that economics chairman Mrs. W. A. Burrell be made a member of the Canadian Association of Consumers. The resignation of Miss Gene Clark as health convener was received and the president announced the executive will make an appointment shortly.

Assistant corresponding secretary Mrs. Frank Gray read the correspondence in absence of Mrs. W. T. Fanjoy. Mrs. J. Ellis was introduced as the new pianist.

Some gift parcels and $4 in cash were given to the baby shower for the Save-the-children Fund at the meeting. Among these was a baby's jacket and $1 sent by Mrs. E. Wand who is now living in St. Catharines and was confined to hospital at the time of writing. Her letter was read by Mrs. W. H. Morton.

Mrs. Nelson opened the meeting by reading the valedictory address of Mrs. E. Wand made 10 years ago The address urged a community spirit and an effort to make the Peterborough Council the best in the province.

Mrs. Young, the former Margaret Jane Cook, was born January 25, 1875, daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. John Cook, early residents of Harwood. The couple were married at Bethesda Presbyterian manse April 16, 1893, by the Rev. James Ross. The bridesmaid was Miss Tilly Blair and the groomsman Frank Ross.

Mrs. Young is the aunt of Fannie, Mae and Ruby Hie who married Mr. Young's three brothers, all of whom are still living in Harwood. By an unusual coincidence Mr. Young's three sisters, Margaret, Sarah and Winnifred, married three Meadows brothers from Western Canada. Mrs. Margaret Meadows came from Brandon, Manitoba, this week to be present when her brother and sister-in-law celebrated their diamond wedding anniversary.

HARWOOD NATIVE

Also a native of Harwood, Mr. Young was born September 27, 1872. At the age of 11 he went to work in Elliott's sawmill, which was originally operated by Campbell and Houston. The mill employed 125 men and for four summers Alexander Young cut laths there until it closed down and he went to Fenelon Falls where he worked one summer in the Thompson and Ellis sawmill.

Shortly after that Mr. Young began a career lasting more than 20 years as a mariner on excursion steamers working the lower Trent system.

In 1899 he shipped as a deckhand aboard the Eclipse which ran excursions from Peterborough to Healey Falls 15 miles below Hastings on the Trent River. He served on the Eclipse for three seasons under Capt. Charles W. Calcutt with whom he later transferred to the Water Lily.

On August 4, 1904, Mr. Young obtained his certificate as mate of a passenger steamer in the minor inland waters of Canada. In 1906 Capt. William H. White bought the Water Lily and Mr. Young served for two season under Capt. G. W. Frewer who now teaches masters and mates for the great lakes and inland waterways at nautical school in Toronto during the winter.

TUG ENGINEER

From 1908 until 1910 Mr. Young served on the Monarch with Capt. C. W. Harris with whom he transferred to the Geneva on which he served until 1917, joining the government tug J. B. McColl in 1918 as engineer.

Mr. Young spent two years on the J. B. McColl sweeping the Trent system, testing depths during dredging operations.

Finally in 1920 Mr. Young put in one more year in the passenger service, serving aboard the Rainbow before retiring from marine service. From then on he served for many years as a fishing guide in the popular resort community of Harwood.

Mr. and Mrs. Young had three sons and four daughters. The eldest son Alexander died overseas October 18, 1918, while serving in the First Great War. The second son Charles was killed in an accident in 1925 and the third son Kingsley died of pneumonia in 1927.

Their daughters are Mrs. William Lee and Mrs. Melville Harvey of Harwood, Mrs. Milton Clydesdale of Peterborough and Mrs. Whitney Davey of Baltimore. There are seven grandchildren.

Alderman Miller Reports To Women's Council

Local Council of Women desired an explanation of the city's recent annexation of a part of Smith Township, and Alderman Doug Miller accommodated by appearing at the regular meeting Thursday afternoon to supply it.

He stated "The city did not spend five cents in this piece of business," and explained that after Council had decided on the property and fixed the terms, the deal was handed over to Land Assembly for completion and said that LA has now repaid the City Council all expenses of the preliminary business. The lots are to go on the market at the cost price, as the Assembly is not a money-making organization, he added.

Future development of this section will go exactly as the town plan has outlined it, Mr. Miller said, but plans already in existence may not be altered. He pointed out the benefits of annexation to people residing in the section previously are better school facilities, police protection, increased fire protection, public health services and the fact that their property is more valuable.

Mr. Miller was questioned following his talk, one point raised being in regard to setting aside about 20 acres of the new section which would be a natural park. The area referred to is now called Bear Creek park.

The Memorial Centre question was brought up when Mrs. W. H. Morton told Alderman Miller that in 1921 the Local Council of Women recommended to the City Council that a memorial centre be built in memory of men who died in the First World War. She had again brought the matter up during her term of presidency toward the close of the Second World War, she said.

The alderman first stated that the delay in building the Memorial Centre was "primarily a matter of money." He also said that a suitable location was the actual hold-up, remarking that citizens seemed not to want the centre built in front of their own houses but did not mind about someone else's. Mr. Miller expressed himself as favoring the Exhibition grounds if permission from the Morrow Trust can be secured.

"If people would get off the defensive and on the offensive, I think the Memorial Centre could be started next year," he said.

The "ward system" had also been designated to Alderman Miller as a point the Local Council wished explained. He gave his view: "I feel it would be going backward and not ahead to adopt the ward system. It is all right in large cities where each alderman cannot be expected to have an over-all view and opinion of the city's affairs."

Mr. Miller was introduced by Mrs. C. C. Pilon and he was thanked for his assistance by Miss Leta Brownscombe.

Gay Stage Show By Kinette Club

Kinettes entertained the Kinsmen at "Gentlemen's Night" Thursday. The event was held in the Empress Hotel and about 75 couples attended.

A show was staged entirely by the Kinette Club members and their theme was "hillbillies in town for a few days, taking in a few night spots". After seeing some of the "higher" type of entertainment at waterfront carbarets, the hillbillies decided to put on a show of their own which included, "fightin', feudin' and fussin' among the Martins and the McCoys," ending up with a square dance complete with caller and fiddler.

The chorus lines which gave out with Charleston numbers and other dance routines along with tappers certainly gave a complete change of scenery and mood.

Following the show, dancing continued and a buffet supper was served.

DOROTHY DIX:

Correspond In Light Vein With Unacquainted Boys

DEAR MISS DIX: The boy I like is in service, and he writes me frequently. Although we have never met, he claims he cares for me. He sent me his picture and promised to come to see me, but whenever he has week-end off, he finds some excuse for not visiting me.

Finally, after several of these postponements, I wrote and said I wouldn't write any more. Should I have done it? I really like him, and wonder if I should write again, tell him I'm sorry about the unpleasant letter I sent, and ask him to continue our correspondence. He is 19, and I am 17.

LILY W.

ANSWER: A girl who seriously and sincerely takes on the job of corresponding with a serviceman to cheer him up and ease his homesickness is doing a fine job. However, when she lets the correspondence run away with her and assume romantic proportions that were never intended, she's courting trouble.

Romance rarely thrives on correspondence alone, though letter-writing may be the spark to set love aflame. When young men, or young women, begin to protest undying love after an exchange of half a dozen epistles, it's time to call a halt to the whole thing. The girl, especially, is apt to be hurt by such an affair, since she is likely to believe every word the boy writes, then read between the lines to discover things he never intended. Correspondence of this nature has failed in its original purpose and should be abandoned.

MISSIVES OF INTEREST

Letters of real interest to boys overseas, or even those in remote spots of their own country, consist chiefly of happenings on the home front, especially in the field of sports. Clippings of cartoons and jokes, even local social items with a new twist, give life to a letter. A young man writing to a strange girl is not nearly as interested in her personal life as he is in developments of things that have always appealed to him —news of records, television and radio, for instance, will be more absorbing than a description of the dress Susie wore at a dance last week.

Lily has taken the matter of correspondence altogether too much to heart. The fact that the boy didn't want to give up his weekend leaves to visit her should not be taken with heartache. It's only natural for him to spend free time with his family, and the friends he's known for years, rather than devote the precious days to a stranger. Lily is old enough to have more discrimination and better understanding. For her, the correspondence was merely a satisfaction for her own ego, and concern for the boy was not uppermost in her intentions, as it should have been.

Girls, if you're writing to a strange serviceman, and his letters begin to indicate sentimental overtones, let him know by return mail that you prefer to keep the correspondence on a friendly level. Let the more serious intentions await his homecoming.

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR MISS DIX: I am a married woman of 34 and my husband is 38. We've been married for seven years and have no family. My husband has a good job, and I've been working ever since we married. We have a nice home, and my husband wants me to quit work and look after the house. I don't want to, however, because I've fallen in love with a man who works with me. He is married and has a family.

P. J.

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: The very reason you don't want to give up your job is the reason you should. Can't you realize that continuing daily contact with a man who is doubly unavailable for you is continuing a grave injustice to all concerned —his wife, your husband, his children, besides both of you. You don't mention if he loves you or not, but in the name of common decency —even if your moral sense gives no further persuasion —stay away from him.

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR MISS DIX: Some time ago my girl, Frances, wrote and asked you if it was all right for 13 and 14-year-olds to go steady. You said no, so she gave me up, and now I have no girl friend.

FRANCES' EX.

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: I'm sorry indeed if I spoiled your romance, but from no angle is it good policy for youngsters in their early teens to go steady. There's no reason why you can't continue to see Frances occasionally; just be sensible about not monopolizing her time. Going steady is a situation fraught with dangerous possibilities for teen-agers. It is a situation, also, that is unfair to girls since it keeps them from meeting and knowing other boys. By concentrating on one boy too early, a girl can make a serious mistake. A little more freedom of action is good for you as well as for Frances. Try to see it in that light, and don't give up hope of winning her, if that's your aim. True love will conquer, never fear!

butter or good quality shortening, 1 cup sugar, 2 well-beaten eggs, ¾ cup milk, 1 teaspoon vanilla. Sift flour and measure it and sift it 3 times with the baking powder and salt. Cream the butter until light then gradually beat the sugar into it until both are fluffy. Add unbeaten egg and beat 1 minute. Add flour mixture alternately with the milk and vanilla, about 1/3 of each at a time. Bake in greased and floured loaf pan or in pan 8x8x2 inches at 350 deg. Fahr. about 50 to 60 minutes. This may be baked in 2 9-inch layer pans at 375 deg. Fahr. for 25 minutes. This is good with caramel frosting.

QUESTION: I've been trying to find a recipe for pickled hard-cooked eggs for years . . . would you please send or print it?—Mrs. K. C.

ANSWER:

PICKLED EGGS

Put 12 eggs on to cook in cold water, let come to simmering point and simmer ½ hour. Drain and chill in cold water. Remove shells from eggs. Boil together 4 cups white vinegar, 1 teaspoon each dry mustard, salt and pepper for 1 minute. As soon as this is cool enough pour it into a glass jar and drop in eggs. Cover and let stand 10 days before serving. If desired cloves (whole) and chopped chives may be added to increase flavor, and green coloring may be added to tint whites of eggs.

Removing Elbow Grease From Spring Cleaning

By JOAN BARBERIS

The chemists were evidently busy all winter taking the elbow grease out of spring-cleaning.

Just how successful they've been was demonstrated at a large Toronto department store (Simpson's). The store gathered together all the latest fluids for refurbishing a house with a minimum of muscle.

To clean porcelain-enamelled ovens there's a new paste-like "stuff" that is painted on when the oven is cold. Leave for two or three hours, then wash off with cloth and cold water.

Next a spray that dusts and polishes in a single operation. You just put it on mops or dusters and it's good for furniture, woodwork, floors or windows.

A new "paint-like" substance with 12 years of research and development behind it was introduced.

It's described as "a plastic-resin base, mineral pigment spray that bathes fabrics in a deeply penetrating color-mist."

This new spray doesn't blot out fabric patterns and comes in about a dozen different colors.

This may be used on furniture, rugs, draperies, canvas, auto and aircraft interiors, convertible tops, rubber mats, suede purses and shoes, leatherette, patio tiles and many other things.

EASY RUG-CLEANING

If you have such "desperate" things on your carpets as chewing gum, tar or lipstick, there are some crystal-like cleaners that you just sprinkle on, rub in and then vacuum.

A metallic maple leaf will clean silver. Pop it into a dishpan with detergent, add your tarnished silver and that's all the effort involved.

Washable woollens may be mothproofed at home. Add a few spoonfuls of this new mixture to your wash water. No odor, no oily residue and the article stays mothproofed for a year.

A new wallpaper adhesive that is applied to the wall, not the paper. Just roll or brush it on to any clean surface whether painted, papered, or plastered. Leaves the paper dry and easy to handle. Incidentally, wallpaper applied with this adhesive can be soaked off the wall if necessary.

Base Metals Slip Sharply On Exchange

TORONTO (CP)—Base metals slipped sharply in early afternoon stock market trading today to lead a general decline.

Industrials also fell. Golds were weak and western oils slipped. Volume for the first three hours totalled 2,630,000 shares—highest this month.

Hudson Bay led base metals lower with a drop of $1.50 and International Nickel, Sherritt Gordon, Cassiar and Cobalt slipped. Most uraniums weakened and New Brunswick base metals also slipped.

The list of industrials in trading narrowed as papers, utilities, agricultures and manufacturing companies slipped. Banks held firm.

Senior golds were mixed but juniors and holding companies slipped.

Western oils losses outnumbered gains about three to one. Leading losers were Britalta, Canadian Atlantic and Stanwell.

Approve Settlement Outside Of Court

LONDON, Ont. (CP) — Louis E. Thornton and his wife and children had their out-of-court settlement in a motor accident claim against Gordon Burke of Blenheim, approved today by Justice D. C. Wells.

In the settlement Burke agreed to pay Thornton and his family a total of $3,000 damages and dismissed his claim against the Thorntons.

The Thorntons asked a total of $4,239, special damages and Burke, a total of $1,033 in special damages in a counter suit. The case was originally scheduled to be heard by a jury here today.

The action resulted from an accident between a car driven by Thornton and a truck owned by Burke on Highway 2 east of Melbourne on January 18 last year.

Prince Tours Parliament Bldg.

TORONTO (CP) — Crown Prince Akihito of Japan today made an informal tour of the Ontario Parliament buildings and then left for Hamilton and a visit to the plant of the Steel Company of Canada

The five-foot-four-inch prince, who may some day rule Japan's 70,000,000 citizens, wore a dark business suit, white shirt and dark tie.

Japanese-Canadian Grace Honkawa, RCAF member from London, Ont., who is serving as a secretary on the tour, told reporters the prince likes Canadian food, especially beefsteak, but takes no sugar in his tea and avoids sweets.

Travelling with the prince are eight Japanese government officials and 22 Japanese newspaper men.

Looking Around For New Type Of Aircraft

OTTAWA (CP)—Defence Minister Claxton said Friday night Canada is exploring the possibility of acquiring the right to make a new type of long-range aircraft.

The minister did not elaborate except to indicate to the Commons that production of the new aircraft, if rights were acquired, would start in about two years.

Later, the minister said that the air force has been "looking around" for a new bomber-type aircraft to replace the Lancasters now used for maritime reconnaissance work off Canada's coasts.

The minister said the Lancasters must be replaced by 1956 or 1957 but so far no "suitable" replacement aircraft had been found.

It is understood that Canada is studying British and United States four-engine planes for possible future use on coastal patrol.

In reply to a question by Maj.-Gen. G. R. Pearkes, VC, (PC—Nanaimo), Mr. Claxton said CF-100s in the new squadron being formed at North Bay are being equipped with radar gunsights.

He added that as new CF-100s come off the assembly line, they will be equipped with later-type sights.

He said the Canadian part of the northland radar screen will be largely in operation by the end of this year.

Unanimous Vote Taken By UN

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (AP)—In a rare unanimous vote, the UN general assembly today expressed hope that the proposed talks at Panmunjom will result in an early armistice in Korea.

The action had been foreshadowed when the assembly's 60-nation political committee took a similar unanimous decision two days ago.

The resolution, originally offered by Brazil, provides that the assembly will hold off any Korean discussions here until the outcome of the Panmunjom talks is known. The assembly will remain in recess, ready for a quick meeting, if an armistice or other Korean developments require action.

The harmonious action was made possible Thursday when Poland withdrew a Soviet bloc catch-all peace plan which had raised such controversial issues as an immediate cease-fire in Korea, a one-third reduction in the armaments of the big powers and an immediate ban on atomic weapons.

Find 11 More Bodies In Chicago Ruins

CHICAGO (AP)—Eleven more bodies were recovered Friday from the smouldering ruins of a four-storey factory, bringing to 27 the toll of dead in Thursday's explosion and fire.

Six other employees of the wrecked plant were listed as missing.

Wrecking crews turned over debris with giant power shovels in the belief that more victims may be buried in the basement of the Haber Corp. plant.

At hospitals, some burned workers were reported in critical condition. Thirty-seven persons were injured in the blaze. Many leaped from the building in screaming panic—their clothing in flames—within minutes after the fire broke out.

2,200 Marines In Trenches See Spectacular A-Blast

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP)—Twenty-two hundred U.S. marines crouching in trenches today witnessed the most spectacular atomic blast of the spring series—a shot that flashed blinding white then turned a beautiful rose orange during an unusually long-linger afterglow.

The pre-dawn detonation, first to involve marines manoeuvring in helicopters, was set off from a 300-foot tower.

After the explosion the ground troops scrambled up and advanced in a tactical exercise toward a mock enemy. Their trenches were 4,000 yards from ground zero.

Leap-frogging over them came 200 more marines in 40 Sikorsky helicopters applying vertical envelopment tactics, similar to those carried out in the Second World War by gliders and paratroops.

DON'T DISCLOSE DISTANCE

Six marines and six soldiers rode out the blast in trenches well in advance of the main body of troops. Authorities would not disclose their distance from the blast.

The exercise commander, Brig.-Gen. William C. Bullock, said there were no casualties.

The brilliant flash was seen in Los Angeles, 250 miles away, as an orange- yellow glow illuminating the entire sky.

The dirty white cloud that rose skyward after the shot bore down on this resort community, 75 miles from the atomic energy commission's Yucca Flat proving ground, at a fast clip. But as it neared the city the wind veered and the cloud passed well to the north.

Observers here felt no shock wave and heard no sound from the blast, sixth of the spring test series.

Ninety-nine planes, including 12 giant B-50 jet bombers, were in the air over the test site on various missions.

Omens Were Right Woman Has Twins

PITTSBURGH, Kan. (AP)—Several weeks ago chickens at the Howard Windsor farm, near Pittsburgh, began laying double yolk eggs. Windsor jokingly told his wife, who was expecting, that it might be an omen.

April 1, a cow on the couple's farm gave birth to twin calves.

Tuesday morning Mrs. Windsor received her visit from the stork. She got twin boys.

Turkey, Steak On Army Menu

OTTAWA (CP) —An Ontario farmer suggested to Defence Minister Claxton Friday that the fighting forces should eat more turkey, but the minister indicated that he believes they already get plenty.

"I do not know whether it has been coincidence, or whether they have been dressing up because the boss is around, but I have never gone into a cookhouse without seeing either steak or turkey," Mr. Claxton told the Commons.

He was replying to A. E. Catherwood (PC—Haldimand) who said that The Turkey Producers Association would like to see turkey on the military menus at least once a week.

TORONTO (CP)—A $60,000,000 housing development is being planned for suburban North York.

L. A. Wayne, of the Bayview Development Company, said Friday night first sod for the 600-acre development, to be known as Bayview Gardens, is expected to be turned within 45 days.

He said the development, designed for upper middle-class families and expected to be completed in two years, will consist of 1,000 apartments and 3,000 homes as well as a shopping centre.

Plans for the project, to extend over five years, include development of an additional 400 acres at an estimated cost of $100,000,000. Mr. Wayne said the later development will be contingent on the completion of the first 600-acre project.

He said houses in the area will cost from $16,000 up and the land will be subdivided into distinct areas. Plans for the development are being drawn up by Dr. E. G. Faludi, planning consultant.

Dust, Ice Storms Hit Across U.S.

Winds From Canada Fan Flames In Forest Fires

ALBUQUERQUE, N.M. (AP)—A spring storm, sweeping out of Canada, today scattered towering dust clouds, ice and fire through six western states.

Forest fires in New Mexico and Arizona blazed under lashing winds.

Gritty clouds of reddish dust as high as 20,000 feet blanked out western skies from southern Colorado and eastern Arizona into Oklahoma and Texas.

Motorists skidded on icy Colorado roads and 14 cars and trucks piled up in a blinding New Mexico sand storm. One person was killed and at least 10 injured in scattered accidents.

INCHES OF SNOW

Seven inches of snow piled up at Big Piney, Wyo.

Freezing rains and fog hit Oklahoma and Texas.

More than 1,000 men were on the firelines in southern New Mexico attempting to control flames which swept through 13,440 acres of virgin pine in the Lincoln national forest. Loss is estimated at $800,000.

In the Coronado national forest of eastern Arizona, 225 men fought what officers termed a man-made blaze which today had destroyed about 2,000 acres.

Speeding Car Kills 2 Youths

QUEBEC (CP)—Police sought today the driver of a speeding automobile that killed two youths and critically injured a third on the Quebec-Montreal highway Friday night.

Roger Plamondon, 17, and Claude Dupont, 18, both of Quebec, were killed by the swerving automobile that became bogged in roadside mud after striking the youths but pulled away before police arrived.

A passing motorist spotted the car and took down the licence number.

Hospital authorities said Marcel Belanger, 19, of Quebec, third youth struck down, was critically injured.

U.S. Closing Two Consulates

OTTAWA (CP) — The United States has decided to reduce its consulates in Canada to 13 from 15, closing offices at Victoria and Hamilton, the U.S. embassy announced Friday.

The embassy said the decision is in line with President Eisenhower's economy drive.

U. S. consular services at Victoria and Hamilton will be closed permanently before June 30.

Duties will be taken over by the consulates-general in Vancouver, Toronto and Niagara Falls, Ont.

New Prime Minister

KARACHI (AP) — Pakistan's governor-general dismissed the government of Prime Minister Kwaja Nazimuddin Friday on the ground that it was unable to cope with a tide of problems, including a threatened famine and maintenance of law and order. Mohammed Ali, Pakistan ambassador to Washington and former high commissioner to Canada, agreed to form a new government and it was sworn in Friday night. At 45 he is one of the world's youngest prime ministers. He returned from Washington a week ago. Broadcasting to the Nation, Mohammed Ali said he will "go more than halfway" to meet Prime Minister Jawarharlal Nehru of India.

Mayor Orders Taxi Drivers Back To Work

WELLAND (CP)—Mayor Armour McCrae today ordered striking taxi drivers to get their cabs back on the street. The 41 taxis immediately went back into operation.

He took the action as chairman of the police commission, which has power to suspend or cancel the taxi operators' licences.

The taxi drivers in Welland and adjacent Crowland township struck Friday in protest against imposition of a jail sentence on eight cab drivers for breaking a rule which forbids a taxi operating outside a municipality from picking up more than one passenger for a specific trip.

The jailed drivers were released today after their employers paid fines.

Previously the drivers refused to pay the fines of $20 and costs each and said they would take the alternative seven days in jail.

WITHOUT SERVICE

The strike left this city of 17,000 and the surrounding township without taxi service.

Canada Coach Lines, which operates a bus service here, has made formal complaints that the cab drivers were operating a "jitney" service.

Jack Pearson, manager of one of the taxi firms, said the drivers had no choice but to go back.

He said the situation will be discussed at a police commission meeting Mayor McCrae said will be called soon. The meeting may be held Monday.

One of the effects of the strike was that a police cruiser had to be used to transport a shipment of blood to a hospital Friday night, an assignment usually handled by a taxicab.

Three Gunmen Rob B.C. Bank

VICTORIA (CP)—Three bold gunmen robbed the suburban Oak Bay branch of the Canadian Bank of Commerce Friday of $2,000, mostly in U.S. currency.

The robbery took place just a half block from the police station.

Manager K. W. Brown said the men struck at 1:30 p.m. Three minutes later they were escaping in a stolen car. No shots were fired. The leader was armed with Sten gun and the others with automatic pistols.

"Three men walked through the door," said Mr. Brown. "One man took up position by the door, another stood in the middle of the bank and the third jumped the counter.

"The man with the Sten gun ordered us to lie face down on the floor."

Only one customer and the three members of the staff were in the bank.

The man who jumped the counter took the $2,000 from a teller's cage.

St. Laurent Undecided About Election Date

OTTAWA (CP)—Prime Minister St. Laurent says he still hasn't made up his mind about the date of the federal election and that he's not likely to make any announcement until he returns from the Coronation in June.

He was quoted to that effect Friday by the Ottawa Citizen in an interview. Mr. St. Laurent recently indicated he will call an election sometime between August and the end of October.

UN Guards Put Down BriefUprising

Forced To Fire To Keep Prisoners From Taking Weapons

PUSAN, Korea (AP)—Allied guards armed with shotguns killed four Communist prisoners and wounded 45 in putting down a bloody riot by chanting, rock-throwing captives on Yoncho Island Friday afternoon, the United Nations prisoner of war command announced.

No UN security personnel were seriously hurt.

Yoncho is near Koje Island off the tip of South Korea.

The POW command said the incident began when prisoners lined up in a stockade for a routine inspection refused to allow the compound commander to inspect the baracks.

BARRICADED IN QUARTERS

Defiant prisoners barricaded themselves in their quarters.

Allied guards threw concussion grenades to break down the barricades and non-toxic irritants to force the prisoners out of doors.

At an apparently pre-arranged signal, the command said, prisoners in seven neighboring compounds poured out of their barracks to stage a shouting, chanting, rock-throwing demonstration.

UN guards again tried to stop the rioters with non-toxic agents but failed. The guards then opened fire with shotguns "to break up the concerted attack and to prevent the prisoners from grabbing the weapons," the command announced. This stopped the rioters and order was restored.

Guards also used shotguns in four neighboring compounds when prisoners there kept hurling stones at the security forces, the command said.

The command said the rioters were "die-hard Communist prisoners of war."

Allied Planes Blast Red Zone

SEOUL (AP)—Waves of Allied planes, including swift Sabre jets flying as fighter-bombers, clashed at Communist fortifications in Western Korea today as the air force rounded out its busiest week of the Korean war.

In the week ending Friday night 7,790 sorties were flown against the Reds—an all-time high for the Korean conflict—the air force said.

U.S. Sabre jets bagged 18 Communist MiGs in sky battles high over North Korea during the week, the biggest weekly kill since last October. Only one Sabre fell in combat, but nine more Allied planes went down to ground fire or mechanical troubles, the air force said.

Sabre jets flying as bombers dropped through a break in the haze on the northwest Korean coast and plastered a Red troop concentration area. The 5th air force said 17 buildings were destroyed.

Air force and marine jets teamed up for Saturday's big attacks on the western front where Communist troops were regrouping after being thrown off Pork Chop hill and other strategic outposts.

Arizona Officers Make Big Opium Haul

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP)—Federal, state and city narcotics officers Friday night seized $146,500 of smoking - grade opium here—the largest dope haul in Phoenix history.

Earl Smith, U. S. narcotics bureau chief in Arizona, said 36½ pounds of opium in 57 cans were found, most of it at a motel and the rest later at a bar and private home.

Smith said Paul James Sutton, 39, part owner of the bar, was arrested as he handed over some of the opium to an undercover agent who had contacted him and offered to buy $11,000 worth of dope.

"It's all my stuff," Smith quoted Sutton as saying.

MEXICO CITY (AP). — The International Olympic Committee today confirmed Melbourne, Australia, as the site for the 1956 Olympic Games.

Schedule Settled For Exchange Of Wounded PoWs

MUNSAN, Korea (AP)—United Nations and Communist staff officers today agreed tentatively on a time schedule for Monday's historic exchange of disabled prisoners of the Korean war. They completed arrangements for a meeting Sunday to set a date for resuming the suspended full-scale Korean armistice talks. The tentative schedule calls for the first exchange of sick and wounded prisoners at 9 a.m. Monday, (7 p.m. EST Sunday).

All five delegates of the UN's main truce team were in Korea today. They could be in Panmunjom, truce-talk village, in a matter of hours.

Lt.-Gen. William K. Harrison, head of the UN delegation, and air force Brig.-Gen. Edgar Glenn, another member, flew here from Japan today.

NO OBJECTION

Harrison told reporters he has no objection to talking truce with the Reds in Panmunjom even while an exchange of disabled prisoners goes on near the conference hut.

Already at this advance truce headquarters of the UN command is a third team member, Rear-Admiral John C. Daniel. He will head the liaison group that will meet the Communists at Panmunjom Sunday at 11 a.m. (9 p.m. EST Saturday) and discuss reopening the full-scale talks.

The two other truce delegates are at army posts in Korea but only a few minutes by small plane from the armistice site. They are Brig.-Gen. Ralph M. Osborne, artillery commander for the U. S. 3rd division, and Brig.-Gen. Lee Han Lim of the Republic of Korea army.

The exchange timetable for Monday offered by Red staff officers today would start operation Little Switch at 9 a.m. Monday (7 p.m. EST Sunday).

APPEAR REASONABLE

Col. Douglas M. Cairns, UN staff officer, said the proposed times "appeared reasonable" but told the Reds "we would like to make a thorough study of them before definitely agreeing."

The Reds proposed that they deliver captured Allied troops to the Panmunjom exchange point in groups of 25 at 9 a. m., 9:30 a. m., 2 p. m., and 2:30 p. m. The Reds have said they will release 600 Allied prisoners at the rate of 100 a day.

The Communists asked the Allies to deliver captured Reds in four groups of 25 each between 9 and 9:30 a. m.; four groups between

OHA President S. E. McTavish Dies On Train

OSHAWA (CP)—Stewart E. McTavish of Oshawa, president of the Ontario Hockey Association and export manager for General Motors of Canada, was found dead today in his railroad berth at Quebec city.

Relatives here received word of his death, but said they had no further details.

The body was taken to the morgue where coroner Paul V. Morceau said official identification will be made. Death was believed due to natural causes.

Dr. McTavish came to Quebec for the Eastern Canada Memorial Cup final between Barrie Flyers and Quebec Citadelles. The third game of the best-of-seven series will be played here tonight with the Flyers leading 2-0.

With General Motors here for 28 years, Mr. McTavish was elected president of the OHA April 28, 1952, after serving as vice-president since 1950 and as second vice-president two years previous to that. He was first elected to the OHA executive in 1940.

He is survived by his widow, the former Dorothy Moffat of Oshawa, and two sons, William and Allan, both living here.

M. I. (Tory) Gregg of Wingham, OHA vice-president, will take over as president.

Frank Byrne, manager of the Citadelles, when informed of Mr. McTavish's death, said:

"It seems unbelievable. I saw him at the game in Barrie Thursday and he appeared in the best of health.

"He was a very fine person and we feel his loss here in Quebec."

Before play gets under way tonight, two minutes silence will be observed.

Jim Ellis, coach of the Peterborough senior hockey team in the OHA, said today that Mr. McTavish took a great interest in

Better Times Ahead

Howe Sees More Prosperity For Canada

OTTAWA (CP)—Trade Minister Howe, who has guided Canada's trade economy since 1948, says that at no time in the past has Canada been more prosperous and he thinks there are even better times ahead.

The 67-year-old American-born minister made his annual report on domestic and foreign economic conditions to the Commons Friday night. He said Canada has attracted the attention of the world by her rapid expansion and her stability and he predicted a continuation of the trend.

The expansion, he said, is no flash in the pan based on temporary boom conditions. Investment plans for capital expenditure are expected to touch $5,400,000,000 this year—compared with $5,100,000,000 in 1952—and this "reflects the growing diversity and adaptability of Canada's industry and the capacity to produce economically an increasing proportion of the world's requirements."

RARELY FALTERED

Giving an extensive report as his estimates came before members for scrutiny, the minister said that in spite of predictions of recessions and depressions, Canadian production and expansion rarely faltered since the end of the war.

Canada's gross national production reached $23,000,000,000 last year, compared with $21,400,000 in 1951, a year of "notable progress in the standards of living for the Canadian people." Continued development of resources and productive capacity would make possible an even higher standard.

Continuing world-wide demand for Canada's major export products and the relative stability of export prices "provide evidence of the basic strength of Canada's position in world trade," the minister said.

There was a continuing demand for Canadian wheat. In the present crop year Canada expected to export "all the wheat that can be handled by our transportation and storage facilities."

The United States remained Canada's best customer, but overseas trade with Britain and other countries was increasing. Efforts to diversify Canada's trade were paying off.

A BUSY DAY

The minister made his report at the close of a busy day in which members completed consideration of $2,000,000,000 which the defence department estimates it will spend in the 1953-54 fiscal year. The air force is getting the major share among the services—some $828,000,000.

Under questioning the minister said any thoughts of the federal government taking over construction of highways—ordinarily the responsibility of the provinces—for defence purposes had a "pretty low priority." There were many other defence needs that were more important.

Associate Defence Minister Campney, replying to questions, said that of the $71,000,000 appropriation for bombs and ammunition, about 2½ per cent is for Canadian troops in Korea. Part of the remainder was for a start on stockpiling in Canada.

Churchill Speech Backs Peace Bid From Eisenhower

GLASGOW (Reuters)—Prime Minister Churchill Friday night threw his massive authority behind President Eisenhower's bid for peaceful collaboration with Russia which, he said, had also given the world "sudden hopes." In a speech to a mass meeting of Scottish Conservatives, the prime minister said that perhaps another chance of achieving peace had come, but added: "We cannot tell—the future is inscrutable." At the same time he disclaimed any intention of springing an autumn election on the British people, taking advantage of the "soft" budget of many tax cuts presented this week.

FRANK W. LOVEJOY

Churchill welcomed the "massive and magnificent" Eisenhower speech made Thursday.

SET FORTH ISSUES

"He has set forth the range of practical issues which divide the world," Churchill said. "He has declared the resolve of the free nations headed and sustained by the giant power of the United States not to weaken their defensive measures until an honorable settlement is reached.

"But he has closed no door upon sincere efforts to reach a true world peace by good faith and good will. We give him our resolute and wholehearted support."

Analysing Russia's new peaceful tone, struck since the death of Stalin, Churchill declared:

"Now suddenly the mighty events far beyond our control but in harmony with our highest hopes have made their mark on the life of the world.

NEW MEN IN POWER

"New men have obtained a supreme power in Moscow and their words and gestures and even to some extent their actions seem to betoken a change of mood. We cannot yet tell what this means We cannot measure how deep is their purpose or where the process they have set on foot will lead them."

Churchill said he had been unable to understand why, after the Second World War, Russia did not join the West in seeking a "just and lasting treaty of peace." At that time science had offered the world "the choice between a golden age of prosperity and the most hideous form of destruction."

Japan Holding New Election

TOKYO (AP)—Japan holds its second national election in seven months Sunday. Some 35,000,000 voters are expected to cast ballots which will decide the political future of Prime Minister Shigeru Yoshida and show whether Japan's small but vocal Communist party can stage a comeback.

Although important issues are at stake the campaign has failed to spark public enthusiasm. No more than 70 per cent of Japan's 48,000,000 voters are expected to turn out. This would be a sizeable drop from the 76 per cent who balloted last October.

All 466 seats in Japan's powerful House of Representatives will be filled. And the new national government will be formed on the basis of party representation in the House.

CALLED ELECTION

Little Yoshida, battling for his political life, dissolved the lower House and called the elections after the body passed a motion of non-confidence against him.

Members of his own political party bolted to allow the motion to pass. Rather than resign, Yoshida took his case to the people.

A total of 1,035 candidates—including 38 Communists—are running for the 466 seats. From two to five candidates will be elected from each of 117 election districts throughout Japan.

The Reds have made a lot of noise in the campaign, but little apparent headway. Few observers give them a chance to land more than two or three candidates.

The Communists were shut out in last October's voting. They opened a comeback with 92 candidates, but four already have withdrawn in the face of public apathy.

Married Troops Get Higher Subsistence Pay

OTTAWA (CP)—The 48,000 married men in Canada's armed forces will get bigger subsistence or ration allowances, effective May 1.

Some 33,000 married men living off-station will get increased subsistence allowances ranging from $16 to $30 a month. The remaining 15,000 living on-station will get a $10-a-month increase in ration allowance.

Defence Minister Claxton, after announcing the boosts in the Commons Friday night, told a reporter the increases will cost the government about $10,000,000.

He also announced in the House that the government will pay the cost of moving dependents of Canadian servicemen stationed in Europe — including Germany—to the area where they were serving.

PAID OWN WAY

Up to now, dependents have had to pay their own way. The new plan, however, has two fairly-stringent conditions: the serviceman first must find suitable accommodation for his family and hold a two-year posting to a European theatre.

The new subsistence allowance for other ranks who are married will be $91 a month, an increase of $30 a month for privates and corporals in the army or their equivalents in the navy and RCAF, $19 a month for sergeants and $10 a month for staff sergeants and warrant officers.

Basic minimum rate for officers —except second lieutenants who will get the basic $91 rate for other ranks—will be $110 a month. This will increase the allowance for married second lieutenants by $26 a month, lieutenants $21 and captains $16. The increases do not apply above the rank of captain.

RATION ALLOWANCE UP

The ration allowance, paid married men supplied with married quarters by the services, will be increased by $10 to $30.

After May 1, an army private, or his equivalent in the navy or RCAF, will get a total of $219 a month in basic pay and subsistence and marriage allowances compared to the current $189. A captain will get $405 compared to the current $389.

The services now provide about 15,000 men with married quarters and similar housing will be provided for another 5,000 under present construction plans. Some 33,000 married men now live off-station.

Mr. Claxton said the increases will meet the married man's problem of providing accommodation for himself and his family where he is not provided quarters by the services.

The increases will also apply to married servicemen separated from their families by postings.

Transport Fails To Make Turn

Several thousands of dollars damage was caused at 10.30 a.m. today when a large car transport failed to make the turn at Welcome Corners, struck two oncoming cars, and toppled over in the ditch.

Nobody was injured.

The transport truck—carrying three cars from Oshawa to Kingston—started to make the turn at Welcome to go into Port Hope. But it went out of control, struck the two oncoming cars and went into the ditch.

One of the cars, trying to maneuver past the careening transport truck, partly ran up onto a lawn, but the transport struck it in the rear end.

Windshields of the three cars on the transport were shattered when the large vehicle toppled over in the ditch, and there was also damage to the bodies of the cars.

OPP Constable Stanley Judson of Cobourg is investigating.

Evacuate Civilians In Face Of Attack

SAIGON, Indo-China (AP) — French and Laotian troops today evacuated civilians from the little town of Xiengkhouang in central Laos in the face of a threatened Vietminh attack.

The French said they had no intention of defending the town of 3,000 people, but planned a defence about 18 miles north of it in Des Jarres plain.

Communist-led Vietminh troops stepped up their invasion of Laos. While the Vietminh forces pouring in from northern Laos pursued a French-Laotian column withdrawing from Samneua, in northern Laos, one Vietminh's division drove towards Xiengkhouang from the coast of Annam.

The main business for the liaison officers' meeting will be setting a date for the formal talks.

What to do about captured Communist prisoners who refuse repatriation is the last major obstacle to an armistice. The Reds have demanded them back. The UN refuses forcibly to repatriate anyone. The truce talks collapsed last October on that note.

Both Members Of Crime Team Sent To Reform

Two members of a forgery and breakin team received reformatory sentences Friday afternoon from Judge John de N. Kennedy in county criminal court.

Allen Ross Gillan, 19, of Toronto, was given 22 months definite on four charges of obtaining money by false pretences and five charges of forgery. On similar charges 23-year-old Arnold Cross of Cavan Township was sentenced to 18 months definite and 12 months indefinite.

These sentences will run concurrently with those handed out by Magistrate W. R. Philp, QC, when the pair pleaded guilty to charges of theft from Blackwood's electrical appliance store on Jan. 25, charges of breaking and entering with intent to commit theft, and four forgery counts.

LEADER

Gillian, the acknowledged leader of the team, received the stiffer sentence.

In passing sentence Judge Kennedy said: "You have both made a bad start in life, you Gillian, particularly so. . .Your whole future rests in your own hands. If you are stupid and break the law again you will probably be sent to penitentiary for a long time."

A third man, Russel Harley of Peterborough, is being held for questioning regarding the small-time crime wave. He was arrested by the OPP in North Bay and brought back to Peterborough for questioning.

The breakin with intent was Feb. 20 at Inman Grain and Feeds, Ware St. And the forgery and false pretences charges date from December.

Defence Counsel Edward Fanjoy called Archdeacon W. P. Robertson as a character witness for Cross, and Major Harry Everitt of the Salvation Army for Gillian.

Crown Attorney John A. Bradshow, QC, had previously described Gillian as "the brains of the team".

Holds Judgment On Break-in

COBOURG (ENS) — Judgment was reserved Friday by Magistrate R. B. Baxter in connection with a charge of breaking and entering against Fred Cardy of London. He was charged with breaking into Mathieson's service station in Hope township on the night of March 31 where police found his car minus the driver, but with several packages of cigarettes and tobacco which it was alleged, came from the service station. Also in the car were two short pieces of rubber hose, one of which smelled strongly of gasoline.

Constable R. O'Brien and Constable D. Henderson picked up 23-year-old Fred Cardy on the outskirts of Port Hope at 3:45 on the following morning, and turned him over to provincial police. Police searched his car, which had been abandoned at the service station and found the cigarettes and rubber hose. Provincial Constable Lyle Erskine told the court that one of the pieces of hose was similar to the air hose at Elliott's service station at Newtonville, which had been cut.

Cardy testified that he ran out of gas at Newtonville around ten p.m. on March 31 and left his car to hitchhike to Brighton but went to Bewdley with a stranger and later hitchhiked back to Port Hope where he was picked up. He said that he had left his keys in the car and was surprised to learn that police had found it at Mathieson's service station. Questioned by the magistrate Cardy was vague as to the geography of Bewdley and did not know on which side of the village street, Rice Lake was located. He admitted previous convictions for theft.

Jury Convicts 2 Canadians In Murder Case

BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP)—A Supreme Court jury Friday night convicted Maurice O'Dell, 27, and Walter F. Griffen, 26, both of Hamilton, Ont., of first-degree murder in the holdup-slaying last December of a Buffalo jeweler.

The jury, composed of 10 men and two women, did not recommend leniency in either case, which means the death sentence is mandatory. The court set May 1 for sentencing.

O'Dell and Griffen calmly eyed jury foreman Fred Caughill as he announced the verdict.

O'Dell and Griffen were tried for the murder Dec. 9 of Donald F. Hurd during a holdup of his jewelry store. The trial lasted five days.

$37,000 GEMS TAKEN

Authorities said an estimated $37,000 worth of gems were taken during the stickup, and about $15,000 worth have been recovered.

The jury could have recommended leniency for either or both of the defendants, and this would have called for a sentence of life imprisonment. However, any such recommendation would not have been binding on Justice William Munson.

In closing testimony, Griffen admitted that he took part in the stickup, but blamed the killing on O'Dell. O'Dell's lawyer offered no defence for his client.

Scotland Fights To 2-2 Tie With England

By VERNON MORGAN

LONDON (Reuters) — England and Scotland fought to a 2-2 tie at London's Wembley Stadium today in a tough, evenly-matched game for the British international soccer championship.

England, which has not won against Scotland on a home ground since 1934, led most of the way but Lawrie Reilly, crack centre-forward from Hibernian, clipped the equalizer over goalkeeper Gil Merrick's head in the last few seconds of the game.

Scotland not only shares honors in the championship but has the satisfaction of having held England with 10 men for the final 20 minutes of the international after left-back Sammy Cox (Glasgow Rangers) injured his ankle and was carried off to hospital on a stretcher.

The northerners have won 31 games since the annual series began in 1872. England has won 22 and 17 games have been drawn.

TAKE EDGE OFF

The tie will take the edge off Scotland's traditional festivities in the heart of London tonight. About 25,000 Scotsmen, many in kilts and tartan tam o'shanters, were among the crowd of 100,000 soccer fans which paid a record £50,000 to see the annual duel.

Ivor Broadis, inside-right from Manchester City, opened the scoring for England in the first half with a rising shot from 15 yards.

The Scots' inside-right Bobby Johnstone struck the crossbar with a hard shot and Reilly rocketed it home on the rebound to tie the score in the second half.

Broadis put England ahead again with a low-slung shot which rolled into the net before goalkeeper George Farm could dive.

At this stage, Cox was taken off with his twisted ankle. Victory looked certain for England until diminutive Reilly found an opening and slammed the ball over Merrick's head as the referee looked at his watch ready to blow the final whistle.

German Leader Says 2 Countries Now Partners

OTTAWA (CP)—West Germany's Conrad Adenauer told a press conference today he plans to exchange ideas with Canadian leaders on the world political situation because of two new factors—"the phrases" by Russia's Malenkov and the "definite" peace program put forward by President Eisenhower.

He also said Germany is trying to hurry the establishment of international tribunals to review the cases of German war criminals, but he was not able to discuss the case of Maj.-Gen. Kurt Meyer because he is not aware of its details.

He said West Germany does not seek the release of "real criminals —they will serve their sentences" —but does not consider all prisoners now held by the Allies real criminals.

APPROVES SPEECH

The impassive 77-year-old German leader said he wants to talk to Prime Minister St. Laurent and other cabinet ministers about the possibilities of Canada accepting more of Germany's 10,000,000 refugees from Communist zones and importing more German equipment, machines and engines

He praised the peace proposals of President Eisenhower as being "intelligent, firm and strong"

"We welcome the idea that after the Russians have made so many phrases, and so far they are nothing but phrases, that now we have a definite peace program. I heartily welcome Eisenhower's speech."

Trade, immigration and the defence of Western Europe were expected to be the chief topics in talks the German leader will have, first with Prime Minister St. Laurent, then with Defence Minister Claxton and Finance Minister Abbott, and later with Immigration Minister Harris.

Dr. Vollrath Freiherr von Maltzan, head of Germany's office of foreign trade, was to confer with Trade Minister Howe.

A warm welcome met the tall, 77-year-old chancellor as he arrived by RCAF plane late Friday for a 22-hour visit. In a brief statement at the airport, he confirmed Canadian views of him as a strong apostle of European unity and a foe of both the Nazi "bogus nationalism" and communism.

"Our two countries now are partners in the great struggle for the preservation of peace and freedom," the chancellor said. "Germany will greatly contribute her share to our common effort and as long as we remain strong I'm sure we will succeed."

An informal luncheon today at Government House with Governor-General Vincent Massey, and a special convocation at the University of Ottawa to receive an honorary doctor of laws degree were planned to round out his brief stay here.

Weekend Church Story:

Disciples First Called Christians At Antioch

By WILLIAM E. GILROY, DD

The principal setting of the scenes and events of the New Testament, espcially the Four Gospels and the life of Christ, was in Palestine.

But a broader setting involving a great part of what was then the known world became a reality as the number of disciples increased. They spread to various areas and new converts were won in many pagan cities.

The reading of the New Testament, particularly the Book of the Acts and the Epistles of Saint Paul, is made more interesting if we have some knowledge of that ancient world.

The city of Damascus, for instance, to which Paul was journeying when his conversion changed his whole life, is said to be the world's oldest city. Its origin dates back to as long before the birth of Christ as our time has been since Christ's birth. I have read that it was a city before Babylon began.

Damascus was the royal city of Syria, and there are numerous references to it in the Old Testament and the records of the wars of Israel. The single New Testament reference is in connectoin with the conversion of Paul. But to me it is interesting that a group of Christian disciples were already there, bringing the new life of the Gospel to the oldest of all cities.

It was a different challenge that Christianity met at Antioch, about three hundred miles north of Jerusalem in a very new city. It was the greatest and most magnificent of sixteen Antiochs that Seleucus Nikator (BC 312-380), a successor to Alexander the Great, built, and named after his father Antiochus.

Situated on the navigable river of Orontes 14 miles from the Mediterranean, Antioch was then a city of about half-a-million people on the great line of trade between east and west and immensely prosperous and wealthy. In its splendor it aspired to surpass all other cities of that ancient world.

A visitor impressed with the boardwalk in Atlantic City would be even more interested in the double-colonnaded corso that ran in a straight line through Antioch for five miles, with statues, fountains, flowers and adornments along the way. And if the visitor to Mount Rushmore is impressed with the sculptured head of U.S. Presidents, what would he think of a whole mountain sculptured into a vast statue of Charon? This was Mt. Sulpius looming above the city.

But with all its wealth, culture, grandeur, and pagan temples, Antioch had a sinister distinction. It was the wickedest, most licentious city of its time. Roman moralists, decrying the evils of their own city, were wont to say that "the Orentes had overflowed the Tiber."

Yet it was here in Antioch that the disciples were first called Christians. It was the Christian Gospel and the Christian way, penetrating a world of evil and of pagan culture. It is a symbol of the Christian Gospel and the Christian way ever opposing and conquering evil, establishing a new culture and splendor upon moral and spiritual foundations.

Tax Relaxation On Profits Eased In Quebec

QUEBEC (CP)—Premier Duplessis announced Friday that Quebec-based corporations whose business does not depend on use of natural resources will be relieved of provincial taxation on profits from business in other Canadian provinces but the seven-per-cent provincial tax will still be collected on profits from business in Quebec and foreign countries.

In making the announcement at his weekly press conference, Mr. Duplessis said the tax-cut will be decreed by order-in-council in the near future "with appropriate retroactive effect' He did not elaborate.

Mr. Duplessis also announced Fenimore Mines Limited of Toronto plan to spend $68,000,000 on an iron ore mining and processing project southwest of Ungava bay.

EXPECT 10,000 PEOPLE

He added the project, second in the barren but ore-rich area of northern Quebec, is expected to bring 10,000 persons "within a few years" to the area.

The firm, headed by J. A. Retty, prominent Montreal geologist, has been granted exploration and development permits for the area 80 miles in diameter between Larch river and Riviere aux Feuilles, two large streams flowing northeast into Ungava bay.

Proven deposits of high-grade ore now are estimated to be 566,000,000 tons, Mr. Duplessis said.

In other announcements, Mr. Duplessis said:

1. He will call by-elections in Montreal Outremont and Matapedia ridings "before the next session of the legislature" which will "probably start in November."

2. Forest travellers will be required to obtain permits starting April 20 until Nov. 15. This is a fire prevention measure.

3. Chief municipal Judge Roland Paquette of Montreal has been appointed to a two-year term as chairman of arbitration boards in labor disputes that may arise between Montreal and its employees.

4. Serious consideration will be given to a project to build a 50-mile highway between La Malbaie and Tadoussac, on the St. Lawrence north shore, as part of a planned 300-mile road between Quebec and Sept Iles, terminal of Ungava's iron ore development.

Santo Domingo Church Long Used As Fortress

By JEAN E. STENTON

OAXACA—One of the most beautiful churches in the Republic is the Santo Domingo in Oaxaca which was begun by the Dominicans in 1572 and finished almost a century later.

* * * *

The facade is simple and well proportioned but it also shows the scars made by bullets of revolutions and wars. Between 1828 and 1867, the church and monastery were often used as a fortress being beseiged and taken with the cost of much blood and fire.

* * * *

The vault of the nave is decorated with intricate frescoes, gilded medallions representing Biblical scenes of the New and Old Testaments.

The inner walls are richly decorated in the Baroque style and these ornaments are gilded. Figures carved in wood and covered with gold and color complete the decoration.

* * * *

GENEALOGICAL TREE

The vault which supports the choir shows an elaborate genealogical tree, symbol of the history of the Church. At its roots is the figure of King David on his death bed. On the branches are the pictures of St. Peter and St. Paul, kings who helped the growth of the Church etc.

* * * *

The upper vault of the choir is the most beautiful. Pictures of members of the Dominican order form the decoration, each one diminishing in size so that the idea of great height is created. The adjacent convent is now used as a military prison.

* * * *

One of the most beloved churches in Oaxaca is La Soledad. Wide staircases lead up to the front entrance of the church and it is a fine example of colonial Baroque. At the main altar among flowers and eternally lit candles stands the image of the Virgin of Solitude, patroness of Oaxaca and the richest and most worshipped in Southern Mexico.

* * * *

Her crown is made of several kilos of pure gold and her garments are richly sprinkled with diamonds, rubies and emeralds and embroidered with gold and silver. At this time she is dressed in black because of the Lenten season, but when that passes her more elaborate garments will be worn again.

* * * *

The 18th of December brings many Indians from far away places to join the local people in the celebration of the festival in the Virgin's honor turning it into a gay and picturesque fair. The plume dancers also come and dance in the courtyard.

* * * *

Adjoining the church is a most interesting museum. There are many beautiful pieces of Chinese and French porcelain, gifts to the Virgin. There are beautiful vestments from the 18th century embroidered with gold and silver by the nuns; there are jewels and a gold crown and many other gifts from worshippers who have received help from their special saint. The story of La Soledad is told in stained glass windows.

* * * *

The Oaxaca museum is well worth a visit and it is not a thing to hurry through. The building of green stone of colonial style was formerly a girls' school, but now houses the regional archaeological treasures.

* * * *

In one of the rooms the jewels of Tomb No. 7 at Monte Alban are on display. (The best are in Britain at the moment.) However there are lovely gold necklaces, bracelets, ear ring; besides various finely carved objects of obsidion, jade, turquoise, seashells. There are goblets and other temple receptacles which show a great artistic sense and originality.

* * * *

Samples of contemporaneous popular art are displayed in another room. Here huge maps and pictures show the divisions of the state, their products and way of life. There are costumes, ceramics, objects made of palm leaves and many domestic articles from across the state.

* * * *

HOUSE OF JUAREZ

A small building on a quiet street is the humble house where Benito Juarez lived with Father Salanueve as a child. Juarez, Mexico's greatest hero and most brilliant president, is revered by all. An Indian, he started out to be a priest, but ended up by becoming a lawyer, a leader of his people against oppression and finally the president of Mexico. Today this house is a small museum built around a patio with objects of interest about Juarez and contemporary figures.

* * * *

There are many pleasant walks and drives around the city. El Fortin, a high hill with a statue of Juarez on top is one of the nicest with a magnificent view. Juarez is pointing away from the city and Oaxaca people interpret it to mean: "if you don't like it, leave". But most visitors leave Oaxaca regretfully.

* * * *

In the earlier days this hill was used for pagan festivals. When the missionaries settled in Oaxaca they found the Indians had such reverence for the spot that they held their own Christian festivals there. At the crest of the hill, several hundred feet above Juarez, is a monument to the flag. Once in a while there are special ceremonies held here and then the hill is a mass of color and humanity. Vendors set up stands with food and the crowd spends most of the day there.

Ottawa Collegiate Band Captures PCVS Audience

A 35-piece collegiate band played for a wildly enthusiastic audience of students in the PCVS auditorium Friday afternoon.

The band was from Fisher Park Collegiate, Ottawa, and was making a return performance for the visit made to Ottawa in March 1952 by the PCVS Concert Band.

School bands are not always a joy to hear and quite often provoke praise only because listeners believe musical participation among youth should be encouraged. But the Ottawa band, like Peterborough collegiate's band, can be praised for the quality of their performance as well as their efforts.

If judgement of the band's performance were based on its audience's reaction, this Ottawa band would get top marks. The applause consistently increased after each number until the last number —a medley from Gershwin's Porgy and Bess—brought down the house.

The Peterborough students also took a jazz band, a smaller group from the whole, to their hearts after their lively playing of two numbers.

COMPETENT SOLOISTS

The Ottawa band is fortunate in having competent soloists to add variety to their programs. The soloists—a pianist, trombonist and trumpeter—all played with band accompaniment and were brought back for bows. Unfortunately all three had difficulties at times keeping their playing distinct from the band. This was the band's not the soloists' fault. The group was not always able to control its tone to the extent required for a sympathetic accompaniment.

There were too, occasions when melodies and rhythm weren't too distinct, but as a whole the players did a fine job in keeping their tone and time under control.

H. J. Heath, director and the members of the band are to be congratulated as is the person or persons responsible for the exchange of visits between the two school bands. It is to be hoped that these occasions will be repeated.

Wednesday's program was: Dorian Overture; Blossom Time, Romberg; Cordobba, Lecuona; Sylvia, trombone solo; Pavane, Ravel; Pavanne, Gould; Dream of Olwen, William, piano solo; Dance Selections, Louella, In the Mood; Belle of the Ball, Anderson; Trumpeter's Lullaby, Anderson, trumpet solo; Blue Tango, Anderson; The Palts, trombone and trumpet duet; Medley, Porgy and Bess, Gershwin.

Chaplin Gives Up U.S. Home Because Of Vicious Lies

LONDON (AP)—Charlie Chaplin said Friday night he is giving up his residence in the United States because "lies and vicious propaganda by reactionary groups" handicapped his film work.

The little comedian announced his decision in a statement. He wrote it out in longhand in his luxurious suite of the Savoy Hotel as he looked out over the Thames to the cockney, world of Lambeth where he was born 64 years ago.

This renunciation of the America which nurtured his wistful genius was issued in typewritten form by the hotel's public relations office:

"It is not easy to uproot myself and my family from a country where I have lived for 40 years without a feeling of sadness. Since the end of the last world war, I have been the object of lies and vicious propaganda by powerful reactionary groups who by their influence and by the aid of America's yellow press have created an unhealthy atmosphere in which liberal-minded individuals can be singled out and persecuted.

IMPOSSIBLE TO WORK

"Under these circumstances I find it virtually impossible to continue my motion picture work and I have therefore, given up my residence in the United States."

Earlier in the day when Chaplin flew in from Geneva with his wife, Oona, 27, he refused to comment on his future plans.

A British subject who never sought American citizenship, Chaplin was linked last year by the U.S. justice department with communism and "grave moral charges." He was barred from re-entry unless he could establish his right to enter the United States through an immigration service examination "like any other alien."

Fire Damages Arena

MIDLAND (CP)—A fire, believed to have started in the basement, caused about $5,000 worth of damage Friday to the Arena Gardens. The alarm was given by a milkman making his rounds who saw smoke coming from the front of the building. The blaze burned through the floor of the main lobby and damaged an extensive section of the floor.

Missionaries In India

When India became two self-governing nations of the British Commonwealth it was a foregone conclusion that the situation of the Christian missionaries in India would be radically changed. Nevertheless there may be surprise and some indignation at the recent declarations of Prime Minister Nehru, and the Home Minister, Dr. K. N. Karju which have reached us from New Delhi; they have made it plain that they want no more proselytizing Westerners; Christian teaching in India must be done by Indian Christians; other missionaries must confine themselves to educational, medical, philanthropic and rural social work.

* * *

We must not jump to the conclusion that the Indians are ungrateful to the missionaries, or indifferent to the great good they have done. Educated Indians are fully conscious of the needs of their country in matters relating to public health and general education. They know, also, that they cannot bring about the reforms they need and want without expert Western assistance. But they also know that they must raise the millions of ignorant and poverty-stricken people in their own land to a new level of self-respect and a new consciousness of India's greatness, and that this cannot be done if too many of the reforming elements seem to be in the hands of Westerners. Nor can they tolerate a situation in which every amelioration of the lot of the poorest Indians comes from a group of people who are, directly or indirectly, engaged in undermining the age-old religious beliefs of the Indian people.

* * *

Now is the time, if ever such a time were at hand, for people deeply concerned in mission work to show a broad and truly Christian spirit. And now is the time for all of us in the West to try to see the missionaries as they appear in Indian eyes. Many of them have worked among the people of India with the utmost devotion, and in a spirit of Christian selflessness which commands the highest admiration. But we must recognize that some Christian missionaries are promoters of fanatical sects and the Indians, not being fools, know them for what they are, and despise them.

* * *

In his recent book, The World and the West, the historian Arnold Toynbee points out that to Eastern people generally, we Westerners appear as religious fanatics. Their own religions are not particularly dynamic, and above all they are not proselytizing religions. We go about the spreading of our religion as we go about the extension of our trade, and as we go about the organization of our governmental and military systems —with an energy and a determination to have our own way which alarms less zealous peoples. We confidently send emissaries to countries with extremely ancient cultures and religions, and we tell the people there that they are wrong, and that our way is the only right way; and, in the nineteenth century, if not today, we suggest that our religion and our scientific capabilities are all of a piece, and that the one must necessarily be accepted with the other. We too often forget that such an approach is offensive and humiliating to subject peoples; when they cease to be subject peoples they will endure this state of affairs no longer. Great though many of our missionary ventures have been, in too many cases we have forgotten that we are taking to the East a religion which had its origins in the East, but which we have very thoroughly Westernized. We forget, also, that the multiplicity of varieties of Christianity which establish missions in the East seem as confusing to people there as the many shades of Hinduism appear to us.

* * *

The new Indian attitude toward missions will alter the course of their work, but it does not look as though that work would be stopped altogether. It does appear that in future the preaching side of missionary work will be in the hands of Indian Christians; can we find any serious fault with that? We must rid ourselves of any lingering shreds of Bible Imperialism which impede our concept of modern India.

Statement of American Precepts

President Eisenhower's speech on Friday had a nobility of phrase and purpose which scoffers can deny only by demeaning themselves and their own intentions. His tone and affirmation of humanity's dignity and of the honest, decent forces behind American policy, inspire respect for him and the people of whom he is head. These have as much importance as his detailed proposals for peace, disarmament and Russian proof of good intentions. He has spoken as he has asked other governors to speak: with simplicity and honesty. One hears such phrases as this, and is heartened by them: "A world that begins to witness the rebirth of trust among nations can find its way to a peace that is neither partial nor punitive . . . We are ready to dedicate our strength to serving the needs, rather than the fears, of the world".

Despite American materialism, American ideals and beliefs in rightness and freedom remain, and no American has given a better statement of these ideals as expressed in United States post-war foreign policy than President Eisenhower made Thursday; what he termed "a few clear precepts which govern its conduct in world affairs:

First: No people on earth can be held—as a people—to be an enemy, for all humanity shares the common hunger for peace and fellowship and justice.

Second: No nation's security and well-being can be lastingly achieved in isolation, but only in effective co-operation with fellow-nations.

Third: Any nation's right to a form of government and an economic system of its own choosing is inalienable.

Fourth: Any nation's attempt to dictate to other nations their form of government is indefensible.

And fifth: A nation's hope of lasting peace cannot be firmly based upon any race in armaments, but rather upon just relations and honest understanding with all other nations.

These are not the precepts of an aggressive, domineering nation. These are the principles of a country which wants peace and plenty and freedom for all, as for itself. These are the intentions of a people not wanting to live under the cloud of threatening war with humanity hanging from a cross of iron, but of a people ready to dedicate their strength to serving the needs, rather than the fears, of the world. The President's speech was a challenge in spirit, as well as in specific terms, to Russia and the Communist world.

Leading Youth—But Whither?

We have received information about post-graduate scholarships which are being offered by the Princess Alice Foundation, the purpose of which is to train leaders of youth. The scholarships are worth $1,200, which is a substantial sum of money toward a year's university study, and the recipients are to be trained, according to the information we have at hand, "as outstanding leaders of youth". Such a purpose raises questions.

Can anyone be trained to be outstanding? We have always thought that people became outstanding because they possessed within themselves qualities which could not be created by training.

Where are these outstanding and specially trained young women going to lead youth? We hear a great deal about leading youth these days but the direction taken by all this leading is rarely mentioned. We are very much interested in young people, and we have observed that many of them—and many of the best among them—avoid being led whenever possible. We do not in the least underestimate the power of a good home or a fine teacher to influence the life of a child, but such influences are not "leadership" in the sense in which the Princess Alice Foundation appears to use the word. Young people who are alert and curious about the world have a way of leading themselves. Those who submit tamely to being led are not, we feel, those to whom Canada can look for great things in the future.

We have no desire to be discouraging or disparaging on this subject of leadership. But we have noticed that leadership seems to be an end in itself; the direction in which this leadership is tending is vague indeed. Some clarification and discussion of aims would be interesting and enlightening.

Spring In Paris

During the Easter holiday fifty thousand English people went to Paris with their mackintoshes and their wet weather. At the same time a million Parisians took themselves and their weather away from Paris, many thousands of them to the sunny Cote d'Azur —Nice, Cannes and other resort centres on the Mediterranean. This sort of double-shuffle is a tradition in Paris at Easter. Now, a correspondent tells us, the English have gone back to England, the Parisians back to Paris, and spring is fully inaugurated with the annual painting of the Eiffel Tower just begun. Acrobatic workmen are putting thirty-two tons of paint on the tower.

The Eiffel Tower is sixty-four years old but its two and a-half million rivets still hold. It was designed by Gustave Eiffel as an engineering feat to astonish visitors to the great exposition of 1889, and has become one of the chief skymarks of Paris. It is owned by a private company, the Eiffel Tower Company, whose contract with the City of Paris expires in 1980. If this contract is not renewed then, the company will be obliged to cart the tower away. No one believes this will happen, least of all visitors to Paris. Some day shortly the twenty-five millionth visitor to the Tower will be counted, and he is to be given a new car to mark the occasion. We do not suggest this as an inducement to Canadians to visit Paris this week, although such a flying visit is possible any day, now that TCA has a direct route to the French capital.

The Journal of Samuel Marchbanks

SUNDAY: The strongest sensation of a Canadian — of this Canadian, anyhow — at the approach of Spring is one of liberation from a score of detestable bondages. And I do not mean merely bondage to overshoes and gloves lined with degenerating rabbit's fur: I mean, principally, bondage to the whole notion of Indoors. A Canadian, unless he is a hairy-chested devotee of winter sports, spends the winter months trying to keep out of the fresh air as much as he can. Yet he ungratefully works up a distaste for the very walls and windows which separate him from the icy discomfort which he also hates. He develops a sense of imprisonment. And when Spring comes he finds himself free again, and it is likely to go to his head; he may be seen without his overcoat when the temperature is barely above 50 degrees Fahrenheit; he attempts to rake lawns which are still frozen, and the sight of a crocus throws him into a spasm. Like a prisoner released from the Bastille, he weeps over every sunbeam.

✧ ✧ ✧

MONDAY: A birthday party took place at Marchbanks Towers this afternoon and something exceeding a dozen young persons around six years of age invaded its cloistral silences, making the rafters ring with their merry laughter, and their shouted conversation. I do not know why it is so, but around the age of six every child suddenly acquires a voice like a sea-captain or an auctioneer. I hid myself in my study, for birthday parties are too exciting for me, but as my study is next to the stairs I was able to hear the guests fall from top to bottom; all but two managed to do this at some time in the afternoon and one young man did it three times. They all landed outside my door with a crash, and set up a frantic outcry which was hushed with candy. Why this unsteadiness in the six-year-old? Is it a phenomenon of the present day, or has it always been so? (I recall falling once at a birthday party myself, when I was eight, and hitting a steam radiator such a crack with my face that I bear the scar to this day. But that was during a game of hide-and-seek). I would have ventured forth to enquire, but I am no hand with children, and when they are already disturbed I throw them into hysterics.

✧ ✧ ✧

TUESDAY: Lunched today with some business acquaintances at a golf club, and my meal was much enlivened by a couple of young men on the links just outside the window who appeared to be making their first ventures in the game. They needed an instructor, but they had none. They had grasped the first principle of the game, which is that the ball should be balanced on a little peg, and knocked off, but they were handicapped by a lack of technique. I think that they had just graduated from baseball, for they gripped the driver well down the shaft, bent their knees, and flailed the air as hard as they could, at shoulder level. Neither of them hit the ball once . . . I had not much heart to laugh at them, for I gave up golf many years ago after a game in which I used 109 strokes on the first two holes. On my best day I never did nine holes in under 300. But I never had much trouble driving; I could always wallop the ball from its peg — usually for quite an impressive distance. It was on the greens that my basic lack of aptitude revealed itself in its fullest and most ignominious richness.

✧ ✧ ✧

WEDNESDAY: Was reading a book of history today, the work of a very able woman writer. Bue she had an irritating habit of hinting at spicy or disgusting facts which she had uncovered, but considered unsuitable to be passed on to her readers. This sort of modesty gives me a pain. Why mention something which you do not mean to tell? It is the same with the reports now appearing in the papers about the murders done in London, of which the man Christie is suspected. The police and the reporters hint that each of these murders was preceded by an assault of a type too horrible to mention. Good: but why mention that it is too horrible to mention? Why drive us almost out of our minds with curiosity which is not to be satisfied? If there is one thing which is calculated to goad me to a pitch of frenzy dangerous to my reason, it is this sort of ostentatious, public secret-keeping. I cannot bear to have historians and newspaper writers waving juicy secrets under my nose without letting me share them. When I read such writing I become red in the face, and shout, and shake the book. All or nothing, is my policy on secrets.

✧ ✧ ✧

THURSDAY: Business takes me to Toronto, and I put up at the Big Pub. Forgetting the tender solicitude of the C.P.R., which buries everybody who sleeps in its arms under five or six heavy blankets, I went to bed and fell asleep at once, only to become the prey of horrible dreams that I was being crushed under a heavy weight, and fried at the same time. At last I woke, and cast off a couple of blankets. Slept again. Woke again. Threw off more blankets. Kept on in this way, like Salome casting aside her seven veils, until I was under one blanket, which broke loose from its moorings, and crept up around my neck. Dreamed of Arctic wastes . . . I appreciate the C.P.R.'s eagerness to keep me warm, but Spring has stolen upon us, and the perfect temperature in bed is unobtainable.

✧ ✧ ✧

FRIDAY: Walking up University Avenue in Toronto today I observed the little sticks which have been placed in the central boulevard, and read a notice which said that these were all trees which had been given to Toronto by a number of friendly nations. If I were a friendly nation and wanted to give Toronto a gift, it would not be a tree. A tree is likely to turn unfriendly in the course of a couple of weeks. What is Toronto to do when the Puerjo Rican tree develops budworm, or when the tree from Luxembourg gets maggots under its bark? Is Toronto callously to lay the axe to these saplings, thereby endangering friendly relations between itself and the nations concerned? Or is Toronto to spend great sums calling in famous tree doctors to brood over the ailing plants, to steam them with Friar's Balsam, and to sit up with them night after night, watering their roots with hot lemonade? A tree is a much more troublesome gift than an animal. Further, when the trees are all full-grown, and some are taller and handsomer than others, and get more of the Toronto sun, what questions may not be asked?

✧ ✧ ✧

SATURDAY: I am a loyal creature, in a mute sort of way, but it is being rubbed into me a little too much that I am a new Elizabethan; everywhere I go, and whatever I do, something about the approaching Coronation is sure to turn up. I saw a Coronation tablecloth in a window today, and with it were some Coronation face towels with ER on them in twirly writing. I have no wish to slop marmalade and canned soup on pictures of Buckingham Palace, and common decency forbids me to wipe my face, however reverently, on the royal signet. What is more, I am sick of bad pictures of the young Queen. There are some which have been widely distributed which I am convinced are the work of Communists, boring from within. Maybe I am a New Elizabethan, but I feel just like an Old Georgian; no spirit of questing and adventure stirs in me, for the tax-gatherers have killed it all; I feel no poetic upsurge, or if I do I take a pinch of baking-soda and it subsides; I feel no new hope, for I am still waiting for Providence to give some attention to my old hopes, which I have had for years. Every reign must have its curmudgeons, and who am I to baulk at filling that humble but necessary function?

NO MAN'S LAND

Some People Are Audiles, Most Visualizers

(VANCOUVER SUN)

THERE'S sound scientific fact behind the assertion of Oveta Culp Hobby, United States federal security administrator, that newspapers are a more "stable" source of communication than radio.

Newspapers convey a more lasting message because the majority of people remember chiefly by seeing.

Psychology teaches that perception is accomplished in three ways—by seeing, by hearing and by muscular action. People who remember by seeing are visualizers. People who remember by hearing are audiles; people who remember by muscular action, such as moving the lips or inaudibly forming words in the mouth and throat, are motiles.

Everybody is more or less a combination of all three. But some psychologists estimate that those who perceive and remember largely by the eye message make up about 70 percent of human beings.

That means that roughly 70 percent, must see a thing to understand and remember it. That's what makes newspapers the most "stable" source of communication.

But there's another factor too. In the case of radio or television perception must be instantaneous. There's no going back for a second check.

Radio and television flash their message and they're gone.

Saskatoon Bull Sale

(Saskatoon Star-Phoenix)

This week's bull show and sale, to be staged at the livestock pavilion, is a new departure for the Saskatoon Exhibition Board, and one that should be a very constructive aid to the cattle industry. The event, inception of which was cancelled last year owing to the foot and mouth disease, presents to the buyer an assortment of the best bulls of beef type from all three prairie provinces.

Only Grade A bulls will be sold, and local and district cattlemen will have an opportunity of securing breeding stock from outside the province. Similarly there is a possibility of buyers from outside this province taking Saskatchewan animals. More than 70 animals have been entered, and these are to be graded before the show opens.

Bible Message

(From the Authorized Version)

And Jesus, walking by the sea of Galilee, saw two brethren, Simon called Peter, and Andrew his brother, casting a net into the sea: for they were fishers. And he saith unto them, Follow me, and I will make you fishers of men. And they straightway left their nets, and followed him.

And going on from thence, he saw other two brethren, James the son of Zebedee, and John his brother, in a ship with Zebedee their father, mending their nets; and he called them. And they immediately left the ship and their father, and followed him.

And Jesus went about all Galilee, teaching in their synagogues, and preaching the gospel of the kingdom, and healing all manner of sickness and all manner of disease among the people. (Matt. 4: 18-23.)

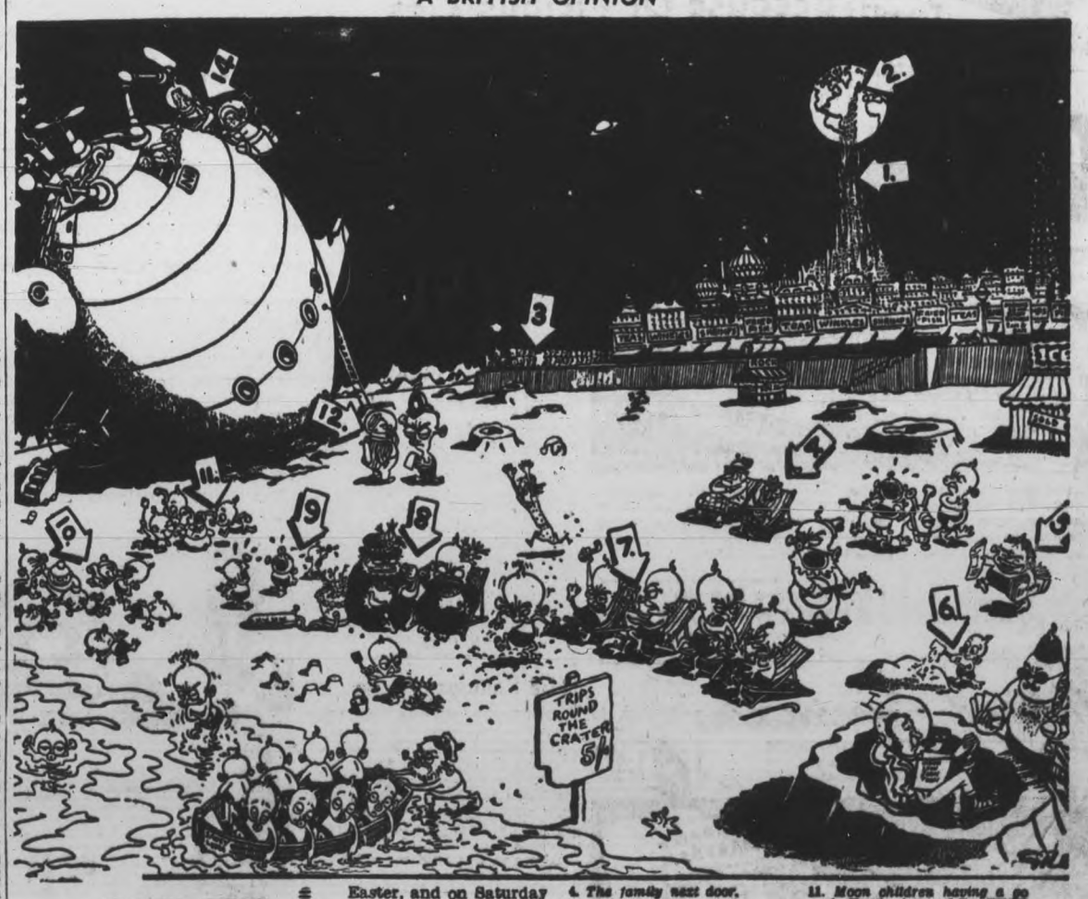
✧ ✧ ✧

And seeing the multitude, he went up into a mountain: and when he was set, his disciples came unto him: and he opened his mouth, and taught them, saying, Blessed are the poor in spirit: for theirs is the kingdom of heaven . . . Blessed are they which do hunger and thirst after righteousness: for they shall be filled . . .

Ye are the light of the world. A city that is set on an hill cannot be hid. Neither do men light a candle, and put it under a bushel, but on a candlestick; and it giveth light unto all that are in the house. Let your light so shine before men, that they may see your good works, and glorify your Father which is in heaven. (Matt. 5: 1-2, 6, 14-16.)

Name Of A Pastry

(Fort William Times-Journal)



Upon due consideration, the mother of a Fort William family decided to rename her baking confections.

Her young daughter, in the first grade, was among those asked by the teacher to tell their favorite dessert. She replied promptly:

"It's papa-kiss-mamma with-jam-in-between," she announced, to the astonishment of the teacher.

It was the family name for a turn-over.

A BRITISH OPINION

BUT IT'S SO DOWN TO EARTH!

THE Giles family decided on a "complete change" this Easter, and on Saturday they set off on a space ship excursion for the moon.

Now they have arrived to find, says Giles, that even on the moon they are not as "away from it all" as all that.

This Giles guide shows why :—

1. Rain.
2. Manchester
3. Moon men queueing to see "What the Butler Saw."
4. The family next door.
5. The moon newsboy.
6. Moon boy burying moon father alive.
7. Moon fathers discussing income tax.
8. Earth grandma and moon grandma sucking bull's-eyes and discussing rheumatism.
9. Moon children hollering for ice cream.
10. The twins having a go at moon children while they have a chance.
11. Moon children having a go at Vera's boy while THEY have the chance.
12. Father getting hooked for parking by moon policemen.
13. Moon man trying to interest George in postcards, carpets, and Easter eggs.
14. Some of the family returning to the space ship for a cup of tea, with a feeling that they have been to the moon before.

Peterborough In The 70's: An Old-Timer Relates His Memories And Opinions

ED. NOTE: These notes were jotted down during the last war by an old Peterborough resident who later lived in Toronto and London. They describe Peterborough as he remembered it in the seventies. They are personal impressions and opinions and may contain some errors in names and facts. We publish them with little editing. Other Peterborough people may recall persons mentioned, or have had told them some incidents which will cross-check the impressions in these articles.

The writer says by way of introduction: "This article covers incidents, and a general history of Merchants, Manufacturers, Professional men and others and conditions generally, at that time. If any of those living have been overlooked it is not intentional, as this is largely from memory. I have arranged the article largely according to trades and calling. Peterborough is a wealthy and flourishing city today (i.e. during World War II). It was a flourishing and wealth town in the Seventies."

Further items from these recollections will be published on this Feature Page from time to time.

DRYGOODS TRADE

The drygoods trade was well represented. Hall, Innis and Co. was one of the leading houses and of the department stores in Canada. They had millinery, groceries and other lines. Their premises were on the south-west corner of Water and Simcoe Streets. In early days Water Street was the main street. The firm originally was Nicholls and Hall. Nicholls was considered a millionaire and gave the Nicholls Hospital to Peterborough. Later on the firm became R. Hall and Son and moved to George St.

W. W. Johnston & Co. were on the east side of George St. near Hunter. They had a large and extensive business in small wares.

Hackett and Shirley, later John Hackett, were on the west side of George Street, near Hunter. John Hackett died in the late eighties and his widow married Harry LeBrun.

John Erskine was on the west side of George St. near Hunter and did a large business in blankets and woollens.

Fairweather & Co. were on the northwest corner of George and Simcoe. They also handled furs, and later on opened up in Toronto and became one of the leading merchants in Canada.

T. Dolan Co. succeeded James Dolan about 1878 and James Dolan went to the Madoc Gold Mines. Many people lost their fortunes in the Madoc Gold Mines. There is some gold in the Madoc district. When the Cluxton Block at the east corner of George and Hunter Streets was rebuilt after the fire T. Dolan & Co. moved there, a large shop with a frontage of at least 75 feet on George and 150 feet on Hunter. They had a large stock of millinery and men's clothing, gents' furnishing, and were large importers of British and foreign goods and sent buyers to European and American markets like the large shops of today.

Doran and Gibbons were on the north side of Simcoe west of George Street. About 1876 J. J. Gibbons opened a large drygoods shop in London, Ont.

Thomas Bradburn succeeded Morrow and Co. The Morrows have long been prominent citizens of Peterborough, also the Bradburns. Evie Bradburn was member for West Peterboough, ditto his half-bother William. They were both sons of Thos. Bradburn. The Bradburns had a department store, drygoods, millinery, groceries, etc. Thos. Bradburn owned the Grand Opera House and many shops on George St. and houses and other property and was reputed to be very wealthy.

Other drygoods houses were John Elder, H. LeBrun. Eastland Bros., Isaac Robinson & Co., James Best, Munro and Alexander.

HARDWARE SHOPS

These were represented by Robert Kingan, at the corner of Hunter and Chambers Sts. The Kingans made a specialty of bicycles, velocipedes, tricycles. There were safety bicycles in those days just like the modern wheels only made of wood and steel tires instead of rubber ones. This was before the high wheels came in. The Kingan boys had safety bicycles and were the envy of other boys.

McKee and Davidson, and in recent years the Peterborough Hardware Co. and M. Theodore McWilliams were on the west side of George St. near Hunter. They carried a large stock of hardware. Theo. McWilliams started the Brock St. Troop of Boy Scouts long before the days of Baden Powell. He had a drill sergeant from the 57th Batt. Also he had drums, bugles, uniforms. Nearly every Saturday we had a paper-chase. It appears to me that Theo. McWilliams originated the Boy Scouts not Sir Baden Powell. J. B. McWilliams was the father and was commissioner of Crown Lands and had an office in the post office. Mrs. McWilliams Sr. lived to a great age. Roland F., now lieutenant-governor of Manitoba, is a brother of Theodore, another brother, Victor, a doctor, died young. Mrs. Miller was a sister.

George Stethem was on George St. west side north of Simcoe. They made a specialty of school and lumbermen's and campers' supplies and skates, toys, waggons and sleighs. A large business was done with the lumber trade. They made a specialty of skates, toys, waggons and sleighs.

Bertram & Co., later Foster & Phelan, were on the west side of George south of Hunter, and they made a specialty of lumbermen's supplies. In the spring 50 or more drives of lumber would come down the Otonabee River.

TAILOR SHOPS

Ready - made clothing was scarcely known. Nearly everyone went to a tailor and the clothes were made up for them. Tailors were prosperous. Many retired early in life, wealthy. Thousands of men were in the north woods for the winter and tailors would go to the lumber camps before the spring drives came down and measure the men and later their suits would be ready for them when they reached Peterborough. William Mercer was one of the leading tailors. His shop was on the north-west side corner of George and Hunter. He had the elite trade. Others were T. Henry Madison & Green, T. Dolan, J Simon, and all the drygoods shops had a tailoring department.

HOTELS AND SALOONS

Allan Huffman ran the Huffman House on the south side of Hunter near the Creek. Later on it was called the Oriental, and J. McIntyre and George Graham were the proprietors. It was the leading hotel.

BACHELORS' BALL

The Bachelor's Ball was an event each year. In the late seventies dress suits were just coming in. I can remember my father getting his first dress suit for the Bachelors' Ball. Previous to that he had gone in a morning coat and light grey trousers. Room and board American plan $2 a day and a bus met all trains.

CASEY HOUSE

T. G. Choate ran the Casey House on George Street west side, between Rush & Elliott's and Garvey's groceries, room and board $1.50 a day. Bus met all trains.

PHELAN HOUSE

Edward Phelan ran the Phelan House on Simcoe Street south side near the Creek. Last time I was in Peterborough it was still a first-class hotel. Rev. Joseph Phelan, former rector of St. Peter's Cathedral, was a son. Room and meals $1 a day, and three kinds of meat at each meal. Board and meals weekly $3, including a free cocktail before the noon meal on Sunday. Edward Phelan never broke the law. In 1892 and 1893 the writer boarded at Phelan's, and paid $3.50 a week, including washing and mending. Often he took the whole three kinds of meat at one meal.

Mr. Phelan died a wealthy man. A bus met all trains. Edward Phelan also had a livery, cab and hack business. His son Edward J. was manager. They had the first hack in Peterborough. It was as much of a curiosity as an electric call-bell later on. Young Eddie died early in life and had one of the largest funerals up to that date. More than 300 carriages. Many of the blinds on the shops were down. Most funerals were in the afternoon then, including Roman Catholic ones, and weddings were usually in the afternoons, too. Many of the daughters of wealthier Roman Catholics would be married in their own homes instead of the church or rectory, as now.

Peterborough in early days had a large French-Canadian population and many of the French-Canadian Roman Catholics closed their shops on church holidays. The Irish Roman Catholics stayed open. Edward Phelan owned the lot on the south-east corner of George and Charlotte Streets, and it was picked out by Sir Hector Langevin as the site for the new Post Office and the site purchased by the Sir John A. Macdonald Government. The old Post Office was on Water Street east side near Simcoe. A large fire destroyed Hall's wholesale biscuit and confectionery works and damaged the Post Office. There was also a Post Office in Ashburnham in the building occupied by Garvey's Ashburnham grocery. The Post Office there was closed and amalgamated with the Peterborough Post Office and moved to a new building at the northeast corner of George and Brock Streets. These premises were found unsatisfactory and that was the reason for the new Post Office. The northender thought George and Charlotte too far down and wanted a more central site chosen, and they prevailed....The new Post Office was built on the northwest corner of Hunter and Water Streets. The south-enders were sore and many fist-fights resulted. Later on, the Customs and Inland Revenue building was put up on the Phelan site. There was no free delivery of letters in those days and everybody went to the Post Office for his or her mail. Near the Post Office was considered the choice business centre.

CAVANAGH HOUSE.

Tim Cavanagh ran the Cavanagh House at the corner of Water and Hunter (southwest corner). It was headquarters for the lumber trade. Later on Cavanagh was proprietor of the new Empress now run by the Grahams.

WHITE HOUSE

Robert White ran the White House on Charlotte Street, near George. A son, Jack White, went to the Egyptian War, and was a member of the cre wof one of the boats on the Nile. Lord Wolseley went to the relief of General Gordon at Khartoum. A company was recruited in Peterborough for the Nile Expedition. Gen. Gordon was dead when the British reached Khartoum and they met much opposition, and Khartoum and the Sudan were not recovered till Lord Kitchener's time.

CITY HOTEL

The City Hotel on George Street was where the Bank of Nova Scotia is now. Banks & Dolan were proprietors, later J. J. Clancy and Martin Connors.

KENNEALLY HOUSE

Was on the southeast corner of George and Brock Streets. It was said it was the leading house in Peterborough in the thirties. It was a large roughcast building. Other hotelmen were J. McIlMoyle, Moses Gerow, Sr., R. N. Roddy, John Sullivan, Albert Morgan, William Snowden, Joseph Darm, W. W. Chamberlain, Joseph Brault, William Bell, George Allen.

Some hotels sold wines and spirits and other liquors, others wine and beer only. When the drives came down the river in the spring, the hotels and shops were so busy they had to take on extra hands. Many of the bushmen left most of their winter earnings in Peterborough. Many early merchants and hotelkeepers retired with fortunes.

European Sports Cars Set The Pace For American Models

By ALASTAIR BUCHAN

WASHINGTON — In the austere post-war years the American motor car has been synonymous with wealth and power. In London, Paris, in any city of the world, the sleek Buicks and Cadillacs, with the yard-wide "dollar grin" of their bonnets, were the very symbol of affluence and prestige.

By a curious reversal of taste, the British and European sports car has now come in the last two years to occupy the same position of prestige in the United States. A walk down Park Avenue in New York, through Chicago's expensive suburb of Lake Forest or Washington's elegant eighteenth-century conclave of Georgetown, will show you as many Jaguars, Rileys, MG's, and Humbers as the more expensive American cars.

The rich and high-spirited American has suddenly rediscovered the beauty and quality of European cars. And not only the rich, for British Morrises, Austins and Hillmans, the small French Renault, and even the German Volkswagen are being sold over here in increasing numbers.

TWO ELEMENTS

There are two elements in this increase in the popularity of foreign cars. With the cost of living bearing down hard on the average American middle-class household, the relative cheapness of the small medium - priced British and French cars is attractive. A standard small Austin costs here a little less than the cheapest American car, and, although gasoline is only about half the price here that it is in Britain, low fuel consumption makes small British cars much more economical to run.

Moreover, the centres of all American cities are becoming increasingly congested with traffic and Britis and European cars are much easier to manoeuvre and park, especially for the lady of the house. For this reason, Austins are reported to have sold 85,000 cars in North America; and cars are now Britain's second most valuable direct export to the United States.

At the other end of the scale, Americans with money to spare have rediscovered the excitement of sports cars. Twenty-five or 30 years ago, as the readers of the novels of F. Scott Fitzgerald will recall, the sports car, the Stutz Bearcat or the Apperson Jack Rabbit, flourished in America, but with the advent of Henry Ford and the depression, the car became merely an appanage of the household, prized for comfort, convenience and cheapness rather than style. Now, by one of those curious twists of fashion, the sports cars have reasserted their popularity.

SPORTS CARS

And, since there are at present few American-made sports cars, the foreign sports car has leapt into prominence; 25,000 of them have been imported since the war from Britain and Europe. By far themost popular is the M.G. (a Morris product) which costs about $2,100, no more than a Studebaker or Plymouth, and which with its speed, manoeuvrability and bright colours is beloved of the young and dashing. Next comes the Jaguar, in both its sports and saloon versions, which sells for about $4,000, and the exports of which to the United States will bring in about ten million dollars this year and—if deliveries can meet orders—about twenty-six million in 1953.

The Riley is beginning to be recognized as a car that combines both speed and comfort. And finally there are the really expensive racing cars proper, the Nash-Healey, which has an English chassis and Italian body, and an American engine, the Italian Alfa Romeo and the English Allard with a Cadillac engine, all of which cost between four thousand and six thousand dollars.

What started the new fashion? In part, it is prosperity which enables the moderately rich man to afford a stable of two or three cars. In part, the emergency of a first-class road system in the United States on which high speeds are permitted. But it is also a reaction against the stereotyped design of American cars, with their overload of chromium and their emphasis on comfort and dependability rather than on performance.

And not only do the new foreign cars sell well, but throughout the country Model T Fords, 1910 Cadillacs, old forgotten racing cars like the Mercer, or freaks like the Stanley Steamer, are being bought up and refurbished. A few years ago you could have bought an old Rolls Royce almost for the cost of taking it away; now they are sold for high prices. It is part of a rebellion against the tyranny of Detroit.

Detroit is trying to adapt itself to this new current. Almost every big automobile company has an experimental and much-publicized sports model. But for the most part they are merely changes in external design, with low-slung body, wire wheel spokes and fish-tail exhaust; they do not have the speed or manoeuvrability that the new generation of sports car enthusiasts demands.

DETROIT'S RESPONSE

But Detroit has many weapons, and no great cause to worry. There are only two areas, the eastern and the western seaboards where the roads are good enough to enable a customer to eschew the good springing and reliable engine performance of the Detroit-made car.

European imports are still only a fraction of the four-million odd cars sold annually in the United States. And if the small car and the sports car really do become permanent wants of the American customer, American manufacturers can either produce them, or, by invoking the "peril point" provision of the American tariff law, seek to have the tariff raised against imported cars.

Mr. Walter Reuther, the new head of the CIO (Congress of Industrial Organizations)and president of the United Automobile Workers, despite his intelligent liberalism, will never permit Coventry (British car manufacturing centre) to put Detroiters out of work. And the European car exporter should remember that there are now three members of General Motors, its ex-president and two heads of its regional sales organization, in General Eisenhower's cabinet.

Annuals Follow The Bulbs: Some Useful Kinds To Plant

By HENRY PREE (NEA)

Annuals are the indispensable flowers for the home garden, be it large or small, formal or informal. Long season bloomers, quick growers, low growers, medium height and tall, they will fit into the role assigned. There's an annual for every need.

When the bulb beds are getting unsightly, tuck in annuals and they will soon hide the dying foliage. After the iris season there is apt to be a gap in the floral parade that annuals can fill. Annuals are the answer for those who need cut flowers in abundance.

The 10 most popular annuals are zinnia, marigold, bachelor's-button, larkspur, annual phlox, snapdragon, gaillardia, annual chrysanthemum and pansy. Other widely grown ones include verbena, sunflower, scabiosa, cosmos, China aster and the pinks.

Good edging annuals include the ageratum, alyssum, candy tuft, verbena, annual phlox, etc. Ones of moderate height are zinnias, dwarf French marigolds, Nigelia, larkspur, gaillardia, China aster, chrysanthemum, dahlias, snapdragons. Of the tall growers the cosmos and tall African marigolds are most commonly grown, but other good ones are Mexican sunflower (Tithonia). sunflower, castor bean, hollyhock and hibiscus.

To many home gardeners the first mild days of spring means rolling the lawn—and in some cases an application of lime. If rolling is necessary to press back grass heaved by the frost then do so but not with a heavy roller. A water ballast roller—with very little water in it—will do the job. Using a heavy roller will do more harm than good. Lime is not necessary.

Home gardeners this season will, for the first time, be able to attack a wide range of garden pests including aphids, mites, scales and other insects with one easy-to-use insecticide which the Department of Agriculture describes as "one of the safest insecticides to handle.

Introduction of the new insecticide, malathon, permits gardeners to use one spray or dust instead of several specific killers to control the many pests which yearly plague the nation's home gardens.

Malathon is the first insecticide which, when used according to directions, is safe enough for home use and controls such common pests as mites, "plant lice," mealybugs, leaf hoppers, thrips, scale insects. white flies and some beetles and caterpillars.

Studies by the Department of Agriculture have shown that traces of malathon "are lost so quickly from fruits and vegetables that there is less danger of contamination than in the case of more persistent insecticides."

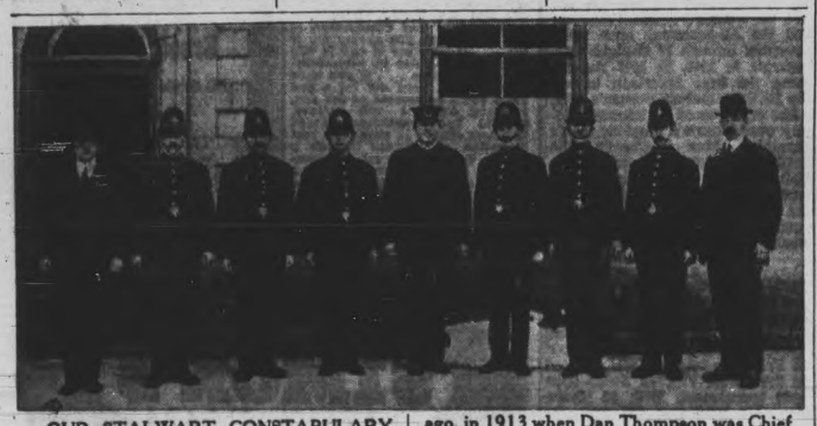
The pests which can be controlled by malathon attack such popular food crops as beans, potatoes, tomatoes, broccoli and cabbage and such ornaments as roses, chrysanthemums, gladioli, azaleas, rhododendron, spruce, Juniper, arbor vitae, spirea, euonymus and ivy.

Gardening Questions

Q—Can seedling vegetables and annuals be started indoors for early planting in the garden?

A—Yes—but do not expect stocky, sturdy plants. Because of the poor light and high heat in the middle of the day, the plants are likely to get too spindly and too soft. A hot bed or a cold frame would be a good investment.

Q—What low-growing evergreen shrubs would you recommend for a foot-wide area between the house wall and a service walk? The area receives no direct sunlight.



A—The area is too narrow to permit planting of shrubs. The best plants would be something like Baltic Ivy (hedera helix baltica). or plain English Ivy. Be sure that a rich humusy soil is used.

Annuals make pretty fillers of unsightly gaps left by wilted spring flowers

TOM THUMB, wife and child. An article about the famous midget appeared on this page some months ago, together with photographs. A Millbrook reader, going through a family album, discovered this picture. It is an uncommon one, and reveals a pleasant-looking family group. "Tom Thumb" Charles Sherwood Stratton) the American dwarf was born in 1838 and died in 1883 after making a career and fortune, through the showmanship of P. T. Barnum, out of his small stature. When Barnum discovered him in 1842 he was 28 inches high and weighed 15 younds. He increased a little in size and weight thereafter. He married in 1863 Lavinia Warren a dwarf girl, and together they travelled widely and gave exhibitions.

A-F-I-E-L-D with NICK NICKELS

After being cooped up all winter one can really never get the feel of mid-spring and the promise of another summer until the first boat ride.

I went up to Ed Pearson's Bay View Camp on Deer Bay on Wednesday morning and he kindly offered me a ride in front of his trusty Yohnston to visit the 'lunge trap nets.

It was cool on the water but clear as a bell. The high birch-poplar shores had a slight bloom of color, warmer than their drab winter grey. Pairs of nesting redhead ducks skittered low over the surface while a chain of geese wavered overhead, flying high, as they honked their mysterious way north.

We could see the net tenders working over their sets in the rush-fringed shallows on the north shore. We soon reached them bobbing in their red Lands and Forests punt beside the staked-up nets. We drew alongside.

It was a familiar but ever interesting scene—the tall men, Gratton and Wilfred Nicholls, doing their faithful chore of hauling, bailing out small fish, feeling the 'lunge to see if they were ripe for "milking" and the operation of pressing the roe into enamelled basins.

They handled the small "jacks" with ease but the old "copper backs" took a bit of tussling as they squirmed in their gloved hands and on the knees of their black rubber pants. The water was 45 degrees on Wednesday morning and they were finding little luck in female fish that would "let down."

The Nicholls boys have been at this game for so many years they knew some of the fish by nickname. They talked of "Old Humpy" that morning, a bruiser of a female with a huge lump back of its head. There was yet another freak that was withered away to the bare tail bone behind the dorsal fin. For the ugly carp that they fished from the nets occasionally they had ruder names.

Most of the seven net sets were located on a fish and game sanctuary piece of Deer Bay called Black Duck Lake, a section ringed with a string of small islands whose entrances are posted to keep fishermen out.

After visiting three sets and oggling the 'lunge in each trap we went back down the lake to Bay View. Ed Pearson regaled me with stories of fishing in "his" lake until we got to his dock. He has been guiding for 24 years and knows the lake better than any man. Having built up a splendid camp in the past several years he has turned the business over to his sons. He thought he would have unlimited time for fishing for his own pleasure but things didn't work out that way.

"Every time I go out from camp now guests want me to guide them," he said. "I sneak out in the evenings and if I come back with a few fish, and they see me landing, they pester me to guide them. Now, I can't fish on my own lake without making our guests sore. Is that a laugh?"

The lake shores at first sight appear to be almost virgin country but there were signs of small private camps here and tere. Tony Welbourne's, Paul Irwin's and Archie Stewart's were a few district names that I picked up. They have made a splendid choice on Deer Bay.

Netting supervisor and manager of the Deer Lake Hatchery Henry Jackson was sitting on the camp dock. We got to talking about the great ratio of small male 'lunge to the females that appeared in the nets. It seems that these little jacks outnumber the females ten to one, according to some freak of nature, and, in order to get rid of their great numbers, the length limits may have to be lessened a bit in order to rid the lakes of them.

I know the tendency is to lengthen the size limit in order to husband our fish populations but this situation in 'lunge may have to be changed.

To see the annual muskie roundup always strengthens my belief that the Kawarthas are teeming with fish. Why do fishermen keep saying that, because of their lack of know-how, our lakes are fished out? This is absolute nonsense and it is too bad that more people can't see this unique operation for themselves. It would open their eyes as it has mine and change their way of thinking.

GRANT'S SPORT CORNER

By DON GRANT

Tucked into a back corner of the bus, puffing and panting after my usual 100-yard Dagwood Bumstead dash to the bus stop, I suddenly realized that the annual district high schools' track and field meet is only a month away.

Crammed into that month is all the year's track and field activities for the Peterborough school runners, jumpers and vaulters. It's a far cry from the good old days. Let's look back just for a second.

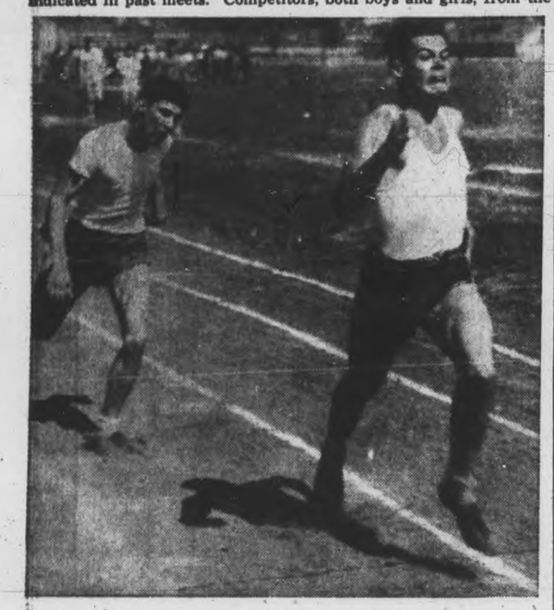
Probably track and field's greatest era in Peterborough was between 1900 and 1922. There was also bicycling, running and jumping prior to the turn of the century.

Walked To Toronto and Back

Old timers will remember the walk to Toronto and back in 1907. Then Dave Hartley made the trip, walking, in 34 hours and six minutes, not bad for 186 miles. Jimmie Reynolds was second in that lengthy jaunt, coming in two hours and 15 minutes after Dave.

A year later Peterborough was singled out of all towns and cities in the world as host for the world walking championship. Later Bev Goulding's dad, world champion walker and title holder, George Goulding, walked in Peterborough as walking competitions shared most of the limelight.

But there were also plenty of sprinters and long distance runners such as Ray Best, Ernie Wilson, Ben Howard, Fred McGrath, Fred Simpson, Peter Wallace. Famous Tom Longboat made appearances several times.



But track and field faded for 24 years. Finally in 1946, 15-year-old Jim Flowers, a former member of the Nottingham track club entered the Dominion Scholastic meet in Hamilton. That started track and field again in the city, resulting in the Peterborough Harriers Club.

But that club lasted only a few years. Fellows like Dean Reed, Ron Douglas, Ray Donnelly, Flowers and others under Bill Morewood entered several local and Ontario events. Then enthusiasm died.

School Meet Attempt At Revival

The district school meet (now in its third year) has helped to revive track and field. It has also shown that Peterborough and district is far behind in track and field programs.

The advantage of a track and field club in the schools has been indicated in past meets. Competitors, both boys and girls, from the

At The Tape—BRYAN YOUNG and HUGH OUTRAM

Oshawa club have been the leaders. They come up with top contenders in sprints, long-distance running, pole-vaulting and other phases of the sport.

This year Trinity College School of Port Hope and Grove of Lakefield, both with several track and field events during the year, have entered the annual meet. This means more competition for Oshawa and a better meet.

The addition of stronger track and field entrants also means that, if Peterborough schools want to win titles, they'll have to step up their present track and field schedules.

Instead of the usual one month of cramming for the district meet as well as the COSSA and Ontario meets, the schools must develop clubs under a term-long program. Kenner, St. Peter's and PCVS could hold outdoor and indoor meets throughout the year.

These clubs would open a large field for all students to enter. Not everyone can play football and basketball, but nearly everyone can run, jump and throw. With a little instruction on the finer points and good conditioning, maybe they could win a COSSA title or perhaps an Ontario championship.

The public schools in past years have held field days. These could be enlarged and the meets include the more colorful events such as pole vault, shot put and discus.

The schools, elementary and high, could provide a good grounding for boys and girls who wish to cary on their track and field after school years in a city club, possibly operated by the Recreation Commission.

Perhaps such a program spread across Canada would give this country a strong track and field team for the Olympics.

But back to this year. The three secondary schools will be holding field days for boys and girls during the next three weeks. Their champions in senior, intermediate and junior will carry their colors into the district meet on May 18.

In previous years the Jaycees have operated the meet in conjunction with their annual jamboree which has helped to defray expenses. But this year they'll be giving all their attention to the meet, since the jamboree has been discontinued.

Rideaus Overpower Dutchmen By 7-4 Score

KITCHENER (CP)—Only one more victory is needed by Smiths Falls Rideaus to carry the hopes of the East in the Allan Cup finals.

The Rideaus moved closer to the Eastern Canada senior hockey crown Friday night by overpowering Kitchener-Waterloo Dutchmen 7-4 in the fourth game.

That gave the visitors a 3-1 lead in the best-of-seven finals. The winner will meet the Western senior titlists, either Penticton V's or Fort William Beavers, in the Allan cup finals.

The Dutchmen utilized three oxygen tanks behind their bench in an attempt to give their aching muscles and lungs additional strength Friday night. But it didn't help them enough. The Ontario champions, however, put up a stirring battle in the final period.

CUT 3-GOAL LEAD

They cut a three-goal lead by the Ottawa Valley champions to 5-4 with less than four minutes remaining. Then Rideaus showed their class. Connie Tudin scored his second goal at the 18:22 mark and Johnny Muretich fired the second of his two goals into an open net.

Archie Richardson also was a two-goal scorer for the Rideaus, his first putting them ahead 3-2 after the midway mark of the second frame. Earlier in the session Charlie Brooker and Clare Martin had wiped out first-period goals by Tudin and Muretich.

Richardson's second counter, after less than two minutes of the third period, coming on top of Jerry Moore's goal for the Rideaus in the second period, put them in front 5-2. Then the Dutchmen staged their last-ditch rally, cutting the lead to a single goal when Howie Lee scored at 4:06 and Doug Verity at 16:22.

Goalie Johnny Craig of Smiths Falls played a major part in halting the Dutchmen's third-period offensive. It was then that he showed his best form.

Alberta Downs Tri-Bells 76-65

EDMONTON (CP) — University of Alberta Golden Bears used a loss in the first game of the Canadian senior men's basketball finals for a winning pattern in the second Friday night, defeating Toronto Nortown Tri-Bells 76-65 to tie the best-of-five series at one game each.

Third game will be played here tonight.

Golden Bears, who dropped the opening game Thursday 62-60, after getting away to a slow start, pulled a switch on Tri-Bells. The Ontario team had to face a deficit throughout, the same position Alberta was in Thursday night.

Only once did Tri-Bells threaten, and then only momentarily. Alberta held a 23-12 lead at the end of the first quarter, were ahead 37-30 at half time, and 53-47 at the three-quarter mark.

The two Macintosh brothers, Don and Norm, topped scorers with 17 points each. Tri-Bells captain Glen Pettinger and six-foot, eight-inch Bud Natanson, playing centre, each scored 12 points.

PLAN MEMORIAL FOR BELL

SARNIA (CP)—If preliminary plans are finally approved, a spacious "field house" may be constructed at Athletic Park this summer to honor the memory of Jack Bell, star of the Sarnia Imperials football team, fatally injured in a game in 1950. A substantial portion of the cost would be obtained from an $18,000 trust fund collected through public subscriptions for Mrs. Jenny Bell, mother of the football player, who died last year.

Greatest Woman Athlete May Never Compete Again

By WILL GRIMSLEY

NEW YORK (AP)—It's hard for the sports world to conceive that Babe Didrikson Zaharias may never wham another golf ball or may never compete in another athletic event.

The supple, sinewy, 39-year-old daughter of a Norwegian immigrant, now seriously ill in Beaumont, Tex., has become the national symbol of female athletic excellence; acclaimed the greatest woman athlete who ever lived.

When in February, 1950, United States sports writers were polled by The Associated Press on the outstanding athletes of the century, the women's division was a runaway for the fabulous Texan.

Not even from men's ranks has anyone risen to challenge the Babe for the diversity of her achievements.

SET WORLD RECORDS

As a tall, raw-boned girl of 19, she set world's records in the javelin and 80-metre hurdles in the 1932 Olympics. She also won the high jump with a record leap but was disqualified for diving headfirst over the bar.

The records, later bettered, were, for the javelin throw, 143 feet, four inches; for the hurdles, 11.7 seconds. Her record high jump was five feet, five inches.

A year before that, in the national Amateur Athletic Union track-and-field meet, she won the 100-yard dash, the 80-metre hurdles, 220-yard dash, javelin, discus, broad jump and high jump.

She was twice All-America as a basketball forward, star of the national champion Dallas team, and was a home-run slugger on a women's amateur baseball nine. In a tournament at Jersey City in 1930 she rifled a baseball 296 feet while fans gaped. She once scored 106 points in a basketball game.

PITCHED BASEBALL

She took the mound for St. Louis Cardinals in an exhibition game against Brooklyn Dodgers. She donned a football suit and worked out with Southern Methodist University at Dallas, impressing onlookers with her left-footed kicking.

Possessed of remarkable muscular co-ordination, the Babe also shone in swimming, diving, bowling, fencing, lacrosse, billiards and even boxing before turning full-time to golf.

In billiards, she was good enough to make a cross-country exhibition tour. In 1931 a sensationalist arranged a boxing bout between the Babe and the late Young Stribling's brother, but the match never came off.

"I've decided to give up boxing," the Babe said at the time. "I'm going to be a lady now. I'm 18, you know."

But for all that, Babe has been jealous of her femininity. The best way to get a No. 5 iron wrapped around one's neck was to call Babe the "Texas Tomboy."

OPERATE A GOLF CLUB

She is married to a 300-pound former wrestler named George Zaharias, who accumulated wealth as a promoter and real-estate operator. They have a little pink stucco cottage in Tampa, Fla., where they operate the Tampa Golf and Country Club.

The Babe does her own housework and likes to cook. She gave up some of her tomboy ways after marriage and liked to be called by her real name, "Mildred."

She is a graceful ballroom dancer and as a typist can bat out 86 words a minute.

The five-foot-six, powerfully-built Babe shot a 95 the first round of golf she ever played. She was in the low 80s within a month. In her first tournament he won medallist honors with a 77. That was 1934.

Able to outhit her women rivals 100 to 150 yards off the tee, she won the women's national amateur and the All-American open while sweeping through 17 straight tournaments in 1946. In 1947 she became the first American to win the British amateur women's title.

She once scored an informal victory over Britain's amateur men's champion, Max McCready. She challenged Billy Maxwell, the United States' 1951 national amateur champion, and tried to enter the men's national open. Neither venture ever succeeded. The men wouldn't give her a chance.

FORD TAKES LEAD

VIRGINIA BEACH, Va. (AP)—Doug Ford, fourth-leading money winner in professional golf this year, fashioned a four-under-par 65 Friday to take the halfway lead in the $12,500 Virginia Beach open golf tournament. With 63 Thursday, his total was 128 over the 6,065-yard Cavalier Yacht and Country Club course. Dick Metz, who fired a course-record 61 Thursday, took 70 Friday for 131 and second place.

Admit Oshawa Senior Bees To Lakeshore Membership

COBOURG, — Oshawa Senior Bees were admitted to the Lakeshore Baseball circuit, league president R. D. Dodge declared here Friday and will be classed as intermediate "A" unless the OBA rules otherwise at the subcommittee meeting in Hamilton today.

The Lakeshore League, primarily an intermediate loop, throughout its 50-year history did not receive an expected request for entry from a second senior team. Peterborough Petes and the loop will now be made up of eight teams divided into various classifications.

Lindsay Merchants and Whitby will be in with Oshawa in intermediate "A" and, in return for the Lindsay agreement to enter against the Oshawa team, they will be allowed to use Peterborough seniors and have lined up five Littlock City men already.

Whitby has dipped into Oshawa over the years for playing material and it is conceivable they will enter a biding war against Oshawa for the Motor City athletes.

ONLY JUNIOR CLUB

Peterborough Locks were admitted as the only junior club in the league.

Cobourg Legionnaires, Port Hope Ontarios and Colborne Dodgers will enter Intermediate "B" with Bowmanville Roses still unclassified.

Like Whitby, Bowmanville depended on Oshawa playing materail in other seasons and whether they'll attempt to make a three-cornered affair of the fight for Oshawa players is not known as yet.

Each team will play 28 games, 14 at home and the same number away.

Cobourg Legionnaires and Port Hope Ontarios will open the season here on Victoria Day, May 18, with the actual opening of the league taking place Saturday, May 16, in Peterborough where the Cobourg club will meet the young Petes.

TO PRESENT CASE

Secretary Ab Walker, Oshawa, a member of the O.B.A. and W. Hurley, Whitby, will present the Lakeshore case for Oshawa relegation to intermediate "A" at the O.B.A. hearing in Hamilton.

The loop discussed the annual all-star game, and with a view to halting the reign of Bowmanville over the all-star clubs of the past are considering making the affair an "east-west" game with players from all teams involved instead of one all-star club against the previous years' champions.

Civic Nurses Take Crown In Girls' Hoop League By Beating Black's, 65-46

Building up a lengthy lead in the first half and then lengthening it in the final quarter, Civic Nurse's romped to a 65-46 victory over Black's Friday night for the girls' intermediate city basketball championship. The Nurses lost the first game of the best-of-three series but came back last week to win the second, taking the series in the third Friday.

All the girls' city basketball championships have been decided. Before the Easter holidays, the undefeated Collis cagers easily won the senior title in a round-robin series with Civic Nurses and Black's. The junior honors went to Lindsay over CGE lasses.

LED THE WAY

Pat Martyn paced the Nurses throughout the first quarter Friday night as they kept even with Black's 14-all. Carol Gibson, Rita Naylor, Marney Hollingsworth and Carol Roper were Black's marksmen.

But in the second quarter Jean Bell took over the Nurses' scoring duties. She wipped in 12 points and with other points by B. Dawe, Fran Hannam and Martyn, the Nurses built up a 35-27 half-time score. The same four for Black's, Roper, Hollingsworth, Gibson and Naylor, again provided the 13 points in that quarter.

Black's practically stopped the Nurses in the third quarter, in fact they did manage to hold most off the nurses of the score sheet. But they couldn't stop Jean Bell. She again went on another spree, this time for 11 points while Pat Martyn dropped in a field basket, as Nurses kept the lead 48-40 at three-quarters. Carol Raper and Rita Naylor kept Black's within striking distance.

But in the fourth while Blacks were limited mostly to foul shots for six points, the Nurses' stars, Martyn and Bell, again broke loose, rolling up the wide margin.

Jean Bell easily led the scoring with 30 points, followed up by teammate Pat Martyn with 21. Blacks' best was Carol Raper with 16.

Local "Y" Gets Two Tilts From Toronto

Peterborough YMCA's volley ball and basketball teams were victorious in games with Central YMCA Friday night, but the Toronto "Y" floor hockey team spoiled a perfect night for Peterborough by winning a close contest.

This was the first time that the Peterborough "Y" has played a home-and-home fun night with another YMCA. It proved quite a success.

Paced by Bill Edger, Nels Stanger, Lloyd Ash, Errol Hanbidge, Howard David and Ken Kingston, the volleyball team jumped to a 15-13 victory in the first of three series. But Toronto came back to win the second 15-10. Then in a thrilling third game, the Peterborough volleyballers came through to eke out a 16-14 win.

RULES CONFUSE

Several rules in Central's floor hockey confused the Peterborough men who this year played their first games of floor hockey. Toronto jumped ahead 4-1 in the first period, kept ahead 6-3 in the second and finally took the win 8-5. Some of the Peterborough players were Mick Magee, Joe Pearson, Reg Seabrooke, Pat Belsey, John Longo, Jim Heffernan, John Rose and Bob Payne.

The win in basketball was Peterborough's second win over Central "Y" cagers this year. Again paced by Bill Edger, Peterborough "Y" recorded a 54-51 victory, the same margin by which they took the first game two months ago 51-48. Edger topped the scorers with 17 while Thompson had 15. Bob Boorman, Chum Gillespie and Neil Thompson were best defensively for Peterborough.

DO YOU OWN A CAR?

When the man who developed Bardahl Rad Conditioner brought his car to a garage for repairs, the garage owner phoned to ask him what on earth had he put in his radiator. He said that when they drained his radiator the water was so thick with dirt it would hardly pour. The Bardahl Rad Conditioner had removed rust, scale and dirt untouched by a popular brand chemical cleaner. The garage owner immediately placed an order for their own use. Since then hundreds of thousands of car owners in Canada and the United States have used Bardahl Rad Conditioner. If you own a car you should try it too . . . if your car is new it will keep your radiator in permanently new condition . . . if you have been running your car for a few years you'll be amazed at the dirt, rust and scale it will remove. Bardahl Rad Conditioner keeps radiators clean . . . eliminates rust formation which can insulate a motor, causing harmful overheating . . . and it also lubricates and stops squeaky water pumps. Bardahl Rad Conditioner costs only 90c. Ask for it at your Service Station.

JOHN LYNCH, athletic director at St. Peter's High School, has been appointed manager of the Peterborough junior lacrosse team. He will be assisted by Carl Fitzgerald who will be trainer and in charge of equipment. — (Examiner Staff Photo)

Oshawa Team Signs Aleno

OSHAWA (CP)—Chuck Aleno, top RBI hitter in the Florida State League last season and at one time a third baseman with Cincinnati of the National League and Rochester of the International League, has been signed for the 1953 season by Oshawa Merchants of the Senior Intercounty Baseball League.

Aleno, a pitcher as well as a third sacker, batted .308 last year, hit in 131 runs and clouted 24 doubles and 25 home runs. He led the infielders with a fielding average of .956.

Redlegs Edge Braves 10-9 Despite Desperate Rally

By BEN PHLEGAR, Associated Press Sports Writer

From now on you can scratch off "unbeaten" when you're talking about the 1953 major league baseball teams. With only five days gone and a dozen games played in each league, every one of the 16 teams has lost at least once. The last three—Milwaukee, Cleveland and Brooklyn—bowed Friday.

All save Washington have won at least once.

The longest streak was two games, certainly nothing to excite the faithful, but at least for the Braves it equalled their best consecutive victory string in a season and a half.

PUT UP FIGHT

The Braves, who would like to think they left their losing habits in Boston when they moved to Milwaukee, put up quite a fight to make it three in a row, but a desperation ninth-inning rally in Cincinati fell one run short.

The Redlegs edged them, 10-9, [illegible] Joe Nuxhall got the side [illegible] the tying run on second base.

A ninth-inning rally that was successful enabled Detroit to end Cleveland's two game streak, 6-5. The Dodgers bowed to New York Giants, 6-3, in the afternoon half of a day-night twin bill at the Polo Grounds although they hustled back into the win column with a 12-4 decision under the lights.

In other action New York Yankees whipped Washington 7-3, Mickey Mantle driving a 562-foot home run, one of the longest in baseball history; Philadelphia's Charlie Bishop shut out Boston Red Sox 5-0 on five hits, and St. Louis Browns edged the Chicago White Sox 6-4 in Chicago, with the temperature only four degrees above freezing.

Mantle's drive bounced off a beer sign 457 feet from home plate and landed in a back yard 105 feet behind the park.

The renewal of the Giants-Dodgers feud saw Sal Maglie go 6 2-3 hitless innings in the afternoon game before a wind-blown fly ball by Jackie Robinson eluded Monte Irvin in the seventh. Maglie then had to have help from Hoyt Wilhelm, who finally quelled the Dodgers with the bases loaded in the ninth.

After getting nowhere for four innings against Jim Hearn in the night game, the Dodgers exploded for six runs in the fifth and four more in the sixth to leave no doubts. Billy Loes scattered nine hits for the victory.

The Athletics came up with a surprise when they started Bishop and the Red Sox remained surprised all afternoon as the rookie showed perfect control and struck out five.

The Tigers, most everybody's choice for last place in the American League, stopped the Indians as catcher Matt Batts tripled home the tying run in the last of the ninth and a fly ball by Owen Friend brought the winning tally across.

The Browns batted around in the seventh inning and scored five runs to whip the White Sox.

Intermediates Open Ball Season May 16

Lakeshore intermediate baseball league will officially open May 16, league officials announced today as they completed drawing up the 1953 schedule. Howie Dalton's junior Lifiocs, Peterborough's only entry, will open at Riverside park May 16; other games that day include Whitby at Port Hope and Oshawa at Lindsay. The Lifiocs play the final league game against Oshawa on August 15.

Dalton has been holding workouts at Riverside for the past several weeks. He concentrated first on conditioning workouts, gradually switching to throwing the ball around and picking positions for the players.

A few of the players attending the practices are Jerry Frizzelle, Gary Kearns, Clare Ferguson, Don Bigford, Ken Pammett, Murray Byrne, Dan Griffin, Doug Ash, Lawrence Foley and Leo Sullivan. A few players from the district will be imported to strengthen the team.

VETERAN SHOW HORSE — Bouncing Buster is the 24-year-old pride of dairyman Gord Williamson of Brandon, Man., and his Lilla Gord stable of jumpers and show horses. Bought for $75 when he was considered washed up at 10, Bouncing Buster has won more than $1,000 a year in prizes on the western circuit of horse shows since Williamson bought him.

Aged Nag, Bouncing Buster, Pride Of Western Circuits

BRANDON, Man. (CP)—A horseman's hunch and $75 has been parlayed into a pot of gold for Gord Williamson, Brandon dairyman and owner of the Lilla Gord stables.

Fifteen years ago Williamson bought a 10-year-old bay gelding jumper then due for livery service. Today Bouncing Buster at 24 is the pride of Western show circuits and has won an average of more than $1,000 a year in prize money.

Bouncing Buster has written into Western Canadian thoroughbred history a story that may never be equalled.

As plain Buster he was considered washed up as a jumper. But Williamson didn't think so. He had $75 and another horse to gamble on his hunch.

TOP RIBBON WINNER

Buster became Bouncing Buster and brought more ribbons to the Lilla Gord stables than any other mount. In 15 years he hasn't missed a summer or spring show on the Western circuit.

Bidders have come from far and wide to buy the horse. An American once offered Williamson $6,000 and was refused. He then asked Williamson to name his own price, but was told the horse was not for sale.

Is Buster slowing up?

Not so that you'd notice. His victory string for this spring shows three firsts, including the Winnipeg Memorial Trophy at the Brandon Winter Fair; three firsts at the Regina Horse Show; and a similar record at Edmonton and Saskatoon.

IN FINE CONDITION

Every sprin, Bouncing Buster receives a check-up by a veterinarian and the report is always the same —sound in wind, limb and heart. At 24, Buster looks as though he may go on forever.

It's difficult to define the secret of his success. Boss Gord Williamson thinks Buster just has that extra something of a great competitor you can't put your finger on. His even temperament is in his favor. On the way to the ring he picks his way quietly through a crowd of admirers.

Since he came to Brandon, only two persons have ridden Buster—Gord Williamson and his wife.

"That counts for a lot," says Williamson who has been taking horses over the jumps since he was 15 years old.

DRIVER 75 YEARS—A year ago, 86-year-old Joe Judge, of Corner Brook, Nfld., developed a bronchial condition that forced him to give up a career of harness racing that probably is unequalled in Canada. He had been riding sulkies since he was 10 and hit the Newfoundland harness circuit in 1877, just 30 years after it was organized in that province. It was at St. John's, where he spent most of his life, that Joe chalked up his greatest victories and established himself as Newfoundland's foremost racing authority

Memorial Cup Finals Look Like 1951 Series

QUEBEC (CP)—So far, the Eastern Canada Memorial Cup hockey final between Barrie Flyers and Quebec Citadelles looks much like a carbon copy of their series in 1951.

Most of the players on both teams are new, but Flyers' 2-0 lead in games as the best-of-seven series moves to Quebec tonight provides Quebec fans with the same situation as two years ago.

Barrie, then, lost twice here before eliminating Citadelles in seven games and going on to win the Memorial Cup and Canada junior hockey championship. Winners of this series will meet either Lethbridge Native Sons or St. Boniface Canadiens in the East-West final.

Always tough to beat on home ice, Citadelles could bounce back with two straight wins tonight and Monday.

HAVEN'T LOST

They have not lost against Ontario teams here in nine games of the Quebec - Ontario interlocking schedule.

A big question is whether Barrie goalie Marv Edwards can beat an apparent Quebec jinx. As the net-minder for St. Catharines earlier this year, he watched eight goals whiz past him from the stick of Quebec's Michel Labadie who has not scored yet in the series.

But Quebec coach Phil Watson is not counting on that.

"If we haven't scored on Edwards it's because we haven't shot often enough," he said as his team arrived Friday night.

GOING TO BE DIFFERENT

"Starting tomorrow night, though he's going to see a lot more rubber."

"Saturday's game is the most important of the series," he added. "A loss would mean virtual elimination, but a win could bring us 'up' again," he said.

"Emms (coach Happy Emms of Barrie) knows that as well as I do, and he is certain to have his team going all out."

Defenceman Bob Chevalier, who suffered an ankle injury Thursday night, is a doubtful starter for Quebec.

When Race Horses Earned Keep Doing Light Work

CORNER BROOK, Nfld. (CP)—A year ago 86-year-old Joe Judge developed a bronchial condition that forced him to give up a career of harness racing that probably is unequalled in Canada. He had been riding sulkies since he was a young gaffer of 10.

Joe hit the Newfoundland harness racing scene in 1877, just 30 years after the sport was organized in the island, and since then he has been as closely associated with the sport here as the salt spray with coastal fishing hamlets.

It was at St. John's, where he spent most of his life, that Joe chalked up his greatest victories and established himself as Newfoundland's foremost racing authority.

IN EARLY 1900s

The development of ice racing on Quidi Vidi lake near St. John's began at the turn of the century. In one of the earliest meets Joe Judge rode to victory over two others to win a $10 prize.

Ice racing continued to grow in popularity until three years ago, with crowds of 3,000 regularly attending on half holidays. Increasingly balmy winter weather has hit hard at this phase of the sport, however, and horsemen are pessimistic about its future.

Among his achievements, Joe Judge considers his 1924 victory in the Newfoundland free-for-all championships among the most notable. He drove Molivera, whose dam, Sweet Marie, once held the world record for the mile.

AT BELLA VISTA

Joe was still going strong in 1934 when Bella Vista track—the only one in the province—was opened at St. John's. There were no purses in its early years; betting was done mostly by the horse-owners, with wagers going as high as $500.

Many of the horses had other things to do besides racing. Owned by bakeries and other firms using horse power for deliveries, they earned their keep by doing light work.

In recent years, six to 10 programs have been staged at Bella Vista each summer. No admission is charged, but the Horsemen's Association accepts donations from those in attendance.

It was there two years ago that Joe Judge, then a greying but still bombastic 84, capped his career by winning the All-Newfoundland championship.

BANQUET FOR CANADIENS

MONTREAL (CP) — Montreal Canadiens, still aglow over their newly-won Stanley Cup hockey honors, will be feted Monday night.

Managing director Frank Selke said Friday that the players, club officials, press, radio and TV representatives, and wives, too will gather at a victory banquet to celebrate the occasion.

Selke also indicated he may have something to say about the future of the club and about next season. But just now he wasn't talking about those things. He was still beaming over Canadiens' 1-0 victory Thursday night over Boston Bruins—a victory on Elmer Lach's overtime goal that gave Canadiens the final series four games to one.

"Not only are we going to have this banquet," said Selke, "but next fall before the all-star game we're going to hold a bigger one to which our supporters will be invited."

He added:

"We've had a splendid hockey season. The game itself is good enough. I think we demonstrated in the semi-final series against Chicago and in the final against Boston that we can play interesting hockey, good games, without a lot of name-calling, fights, dirty play and even officials screaming at each other."

LILLIS TO HEAD BOWIE

BALTIMORE (AP)—Donald Lillis, New York investment banker, was named Friday to replace Larry MacPhail as president of Bowie race track. Lillis, one of the principal investors in a syndicate which bought Bowie last year, will continue as chairman of the board of directors. The board elected him president.

MacPhail is under suspension of the Maryland racing commission for "conduct detrimental to the best interests of racing" and barred from the track.

Will Decide Olympic Issue Shortly

MEXICO CITY (AP)—The International Olympic Committee is expected to decide today whether Melbourne will be the host city for the 1956 Olympic Games.

The Australian city apparently had everything in its favor except one touchy problem—a strict quarantine which could ban importation of horses needed for equestrian events.

Australian delegates obviously were worried after Friday's opening IOC business session.

But William P. Barry, representing Melbourne, said he believed the outlook had improved since the issue first exploded into the open two days ago during preliminary committee meetings.

ONLY ROME PREPARED

Only Rome has come prepared to present adequate arguments as a site for the games. And Avery Brundage, president of the IOC, has said it would be unfair to other cities to hear Rome alone and reach a decision.

The Australians see this as one factor in their favor. If Melbourne is not approved, a final decision on a substitute would be delayed until next year's meeting at Athens.

That would give the substitute city only two years in which to prepare—too little time, many claim, for such an international event.

Various compromises have been suggested to get around the Australian law which prohibits importation of horses unless they have been in England or Ireland for at least six months.

BIG HANDICAP

The Australians finally proposed that horses of participating countries be concentrated in England or the United States and inspected there by Australian veterinarians before being shipped to Melbourne. Japan, among others, pointed out this would be a handicap to Far Eastern countries.

Formal sessions of the IOC opened Friday with a welcoming address by President Adolfo Ruiz Cortines of Mexico.

Among changes voted at Friday's meeting were:

1. No professional athletes may serve as a member of any Olympic committee—including national Olympic committees.

2. No political demonstrations would be allowed in Olympic stadiums.

The committee turned down a proposal to substitute an Olympic anthem for the national anthems played after Olympic victories.

Doctors Say Babe Zaharias May Play Again

BEAUMONT, Tex. (AP)—Babe Didrikson Zaharias came through "okay" in a nearly four-hour operation here Friday and one of her doctors said there was a chance she could compete again in athletics.

The woman named the "greatest woman athlete of the half-century" was operated upon for removal of a malignancy of the lower rectum that for a time threatened to end a fabulous career.

But after Mrs. Zaharias came out of the operating room one of her doctors said:

"If things go as well as it looks, she could possibly take part in athletics again. But how soon is a little too early to say."

None of the doctors who took part in the operation would be quoted by name. But they agreed the woman who was an Olympic track star and then a fabulous competitor in amateur and professional golf, "stood the operation as well as anybody could."

Mickey Mantle Misses Home Run Record

NEW YORK (AP)—Mickey Mantle came close, but missed Friday by 38 feet hitting the longest home run on the unofficial records.

The young New York Yankee centrefielder teed off on a pitch by Chuck Stobbs of Washington and the ball travelled an estimated 562 feet. The Yanks went on to win 7-3.

The blow put Mantle in second place in the long-ball sweepstakes. The longest home run ever was hit by Babe Ruth in Briggs Stadium, Detroit, in 1926. It is said to have travelled 600 feet.

Aces In Top Spot

With one more week to go in the YMCA senior girls' bowling loop, Aces hold top place with 106 points. Lucky Strikes and Tigers are tied next with 92 points, followed by Glens with 90, Commandos 88, Hurricanes 82, Bombers 80 and Corvettes 48.

Tigers took six points this week in shutting out Hurricanes. Aces, Corvettes and Bombers took four points each from Glens, Lucky Strikes and Commandos in that order. L. Martin had high three of 684, followed by Nancy Moffatt with 645, P. Menard 642, S. Heckman 620, A. Willshaw 617, G. Mann 603, and Betty Pogue and Mary Morton with 608 each.

N. Moffatt had top single of 338, followed by L. Martin with 303, P. Menard 262, Jean Ward 252, D. Woods 249, S. Heckman 245, G. Mann 242, Mary Flaherty 238 and 235, and Betty Castle and N. Hegburn 232 each.

YORKE TO WATERLOO

TIMMINS (CP)—George Yorke, lanky righthander who pitched last year in a class B league with Jackson, Miss., will play this season with Waterloo Tigers of the Intercounty Senior Baseball League.

Dreyer Scores TKO Over Phil Burton

NEW YORK (AP)—Gerry Dreyer British Empire welter champion, scored a technical knockout over the veteran Phil Burton, St. Louis, in 2:52 of the sixth round in a scheduled 10-rounder Friday night at St. Nicholas Arena. Dreyer weighed 149, Burton 143.

The 23-year-old lad from Pretoria, South Africa, dropped Burton twice before referee George Walsh stopped the fight. It was the first time Burton, 26, had been knocked out in 79 pro fights.

Dreyer was way out front in the first five rounds when he opened his attack to drop Burton for a nine-count in the sixth with a flurry of punches. A right to the jaw dumped Burton on all fours as referee Walsh stopped it.

It was the 33rd win in 34 starts for Dreyer, making his TV debut before a crowd of 1,428 paying $3,084.

The Regiment will parade at the Armouries from 0900 to 1630 hrs. 19th Apr. 53.

Order of dress will be battledress, beret, web belt, boots and anklets.

Lunch will be provided.

Bill Cummins Named President Of Lindsay Ball

LINDSAY — (ENS) — The Lindsay baseball association held its annual meeting here Friday night for the election of officers for the 1953 season, and the laying of tentative plans concerning the teams that will represent the town this year in the Lakeshore and Tri-County Leagues.

Bill Cummins, popular sportsman and former recreation director for the town, was elected president, succeeding Bob Chapman.

Vice-presidents are Andy Widdis, manager of the Lindsay Merchants in the Lakeshore League for the past three years, and Don Blackwood; Secretary-Treasurer Lloyd Burrows was returned, and Dr. W. R. Crowe was elected honorary president.

The executive elected were Rod McEachern, Gord Bate, Bob Harris, Clark Endicott, Warren Fry, Gord Broad, Glen Heatlie Don Osborne, Rube Morris, Len Francis, Dr. H. G. Metcalfe, Bob Henry, Mike Stevens, Frank Powers and Tom Bolderstone. Chairman of the various committee of the association were appointed from the exeecutive.

PETERBOROUGH IMPORTS

Andy Widdis applied for renewal of his option of the franchise for the Lakeshore League team, which is owned by the association. It was granted, and he announced that the Merchants would open their season against Oshawa on May 16 at Lindsay. Widdis expects to have several imports to strengthen the club this season, and it is reported that four of five Peterborough senior players will make their baseball home here this year, along with another player from Orillia.

The franchise for Tri-County team operated by Lou Walker of Walkwoods Ltd. during the past three seasons, was also discussed but another group consisting of some of the Lindsay hockey Muskies of the past year, indicated their desire to enter a team in that league. Since there are not enough players for two teams and only one franchise in any case, the matter was left over for a week, one night before the Tri-County annual meeting. There was speculation that Lindsay would be barred from the Tri-County this year because of its dropping out of a playoff set with Sutton last fall.

"HOW DARE YOU, SIR! Let go!" said Miss Ayers (Jean Winslow), foreground, to Pat (the Rev. A. M. Butler) in an operetta presentation of "The Belle of Barcelona" at Knox United Sunday School on Friday evennig. Find Stone Age Skeleton In Lake Bed

BOYLE, Ireland (AP)—The full skeleton of a Stone Age man has been found on the bed of an Irish lake now being drained to reveal secrets of life 5,000 years ago.

This and other findings—including two pattern brooches, an iron ax, a bone needle, a canoe and a bronze spearhead—were reported today by archaeologists now busy at Lough Gara near the town of Boyle in central Ireland, 100 miles northwest of Dublin.

The ancient settlements were first discovered last fall when a prolonged drought lowered the lake level, revealing more than 140 crannogs or man-made lake dwellings.

Archaeologists called the discovery one of the richest ever and a treasure house of the Stone and Bronze ages. After a preliminary examination, however, winter rains came and the settlements again disappeared beneath the waters.

Archaeologists already have formed part of the picture. The lake dwellers lived a close community life and were skilled in engineering and boat building. From the number of ornaments and bones of animal flocks already found, the dwellers are judged to have been wealthy. They practised agriculture and knew of grain-growing and they had grasped the principle of specialization.

Mother Admits Drowning Two

EAST LANSING, Mich. (CP)—Mrs. Helen Streiter, 24, told police Friday she drowned her two small children whose bodies were found in the bathroom of their tiny apartment in a Michigan State College campus development.

Her husband, Herman Streiter, 25, a graduate student in electrical engineering and a navy veteran, said he couldn't think of a reason for his wife's action.

The woman told police:

"I drowned them because I did not want them to go through what I have gone through."

He stressed the point that the chief object of all club work "is to provide for its members training in good citizenship" and he emphasized that the "calf" was only a small part of the work and what each member learned was the important part. He outlined the rules and regulations of the club and distributed the club material.

The following are the executive committee for this year: Club leader, Howard Evans; president, Denton Ward; vice-president, David McComb; secretary-treasurer, David Turney.

Army Captain Holds Off Mob

TEHRAN, Iran (AP)—A lone Iranian Army captain held off a mob threatening the lives of 38 American men, women and children when anti-U. S. feeling suddenly exploded in Shiraz Thursday, the Americans reported today.

Mobs, which appeared to have been whipped up by religious fanaticism, were joined by Communists when a demonstration for Premier Mohammed Mossadegh took on an anti-American character.

Looters destroyed or carried away thousands of dollars worth of U. S. supplies and equipment Wednesday night.

The disorders spread to American homes the next day and technical aid program employees and their families were forced to take refuge in the walled garden of a Ghasghahi tribal chieftain whose servants mounted guard.

No Americans were hurt, but unconfirmed reports said two persons were killed and at least 30 arrested during the disorders.

Premier Mossadegh's government declared martial law at Shiraz and dismissed the governor of the area, Gen. Mohammed Nakhjavan.

Exhibition Board Receives Applications

Applications from several persons for the post of secretary-manager of the Peterborough Industrial Exhibition were discussed generally at Friday night's exhibition board meeting, but no definite consideration was given to any.

The applications were filed for the time being, and for future discussion in more detail.

To fill the post of secretary until a permanent secretary-manager is appointed, the board chose Mrs. Joseph Tully.

A deputation of race horse owners appeared at the meeting to discuss the removal of harness racing from night programs at the exhibition. This matter was postponed pending a study of it by a committee to be named by board president Norman McConkey.

A committee was also chosen to study sanitary conditions of race horse stables on the exhibition grounds. The board had received a letter from MOH Dr. D. P. Wells which criticized conditions.

St. George's Holds Parish Dinner

So many members of St. George's Anglican Church flocked to the annual parish dinner Thursday night in the parish hall that it took two sittings to accommodate them all.

About 275 participated in the dinner. The Rev. H J. Scuse welcomed the parishioners and outlined the growth of the church. It originated in the old Crawford's Grove school, a chancel was added, and now a parish hall was built, which was really the basement of the church that the minister hoped would be built.

Mr. Scuse thanked the members of the congregation for their efforts in the past and said the meeting was held to concentrate all the congregation's efforts in fulfilling their plans for a new church.

The Rt. Rev. F. H. Wilkinson, co- adjutor bishop of the diocese of Toronto, congratulated the members on their parish hall. The faith and courage of the people of the parish in building a new church would be helped through the Holy Spirit, he said.

Walter Bannon, people's warden, thanked Robert F. DeGrace through Mrs. DeGrace for his part in planning the proposed church. Mrs. DeGrace was also presented with a gift for her husband.

Mr. Scuse thanked the men of the parish for their work painting and making chairs for the hall.

Jim Edwards, general supervisor of the Church School presented Mrs Fred Dorrell, a former supervisor, with a silver tray. Mr. Edwards said that Mrs. Dorrell, who had served in the Church School from 1919 to 1952, 33 years, had taught him when he first entered the Church School 18 years before.

Albert Cuffe thanked Mrs. Leslie Moore and her helpers for preparing in the sparkling new kitchen, the turkey dinner that they all enjoyed. Mr. Cuffe said he remembered when there was no church on the site. The late Thomas Hooper, he said, donated the land for the building.

Sunday the Very Rev. A. T. Briarly Browne, dean of the diocese of Ontario and rector of St. George's Cathedral in Kingston, will be the guest preacher at the evensong and will be in charge of the ceremony of opening the new parish hall after the service. The award was won by Travalarm, a Westclox product, in a competition sponsored by the National Industrial Design Committee to encourage and promote improved designs in Canadian-made products. Prime Minister St. Laurent gave an address indicating the government's interest in the work of the committee and the National Gallery of which the committee is a part. Judging was on a basis of special design, suitability for the purpose for which the article was made, as well as adaptability to the Canadian market. More than 350 products were entered, ranging from bicycle horns and toasters to office and household furniture. Forty-six awards were given to Canadian manufacturers and designers.

How Safe Is Your Home? Every Week 850 Homes Lost

Every week some 850 Canadian homes are struck by fire. And every month, 24 Canadians die as a result of fire—nearly always a fire in the home.

Of course, you say, that grim reminder isn't meant for me. For your home, you hope, is comparatively fire-safe. But is it?

Studies of thousands of home fires show that at least 20% are started by carelessness in smoking and the use of matches. About 10% more are caused by defective chimneys and flues, sparks falling on combustible roofs, and defective electrical equipment.

Overheated or defective furnaces and stoves form the next most important cause of home fires, and then in order: the use of flammable liquids inside the house; the ignition of rubbish; spontaneous combustion; hot ashes and coals; and the ignition of woodwork located too close to heating equipment.

Chief causes of deaths and injuries in home fires are the lack of means for extinguishing fires when they have started; conditions that favour the rapid spread of smoke, heat and flames throughout the house; the lack of safe exits from the upper rooms where stairs and halls are blocked by fire; and the use of gasoline for dry-cleaning and other household purposes.

Let's go over the house and see what fire safe-guards should be built into various parts of it:

The chimney should have a separate flue for each furnace, stove, fireplace or other heating unit. Flues should be lined with glazed clay tile and surrounded with not less than 4" of masonry, with all horizontal joints between the tile and brickwork broken. Minimum cross-sectional area of flue for a chimney should be 70 square inches—50 square inches for a fireplace. All chimneys should be carried up to a height of 3'0" above the roof and at least 2' above any ridge within ten feet of it.

Chimneys should be equipped with a cast iron clean-out door set at least 3'0" below the smoke pipe inlet. No joists or beams should be built into or rest on brickwork forming any chimney—nor should floor framing come within 2" of any chimney or within 4" of the back of any fireplace.

Back and side of the fireplace should be of clay or shale brick, or cut or cast stone 8" thick or of rubble or hollow clay or concrete units at least 12" thick. Fireplace walls should be lined with firebrick or other approved material, laid in fire clay mortar or high temperature cement.

Connection to the chimney flue should be through a smoke chamber and damper Ash dumps should empty into an enclosed chamber of incombustible material provided with metal clean-out doors. The hearth should be of non-combustible material supported on a fireproof slab or brick arch and extend at least 20" in front of the fireplace and at least 12" at each side.

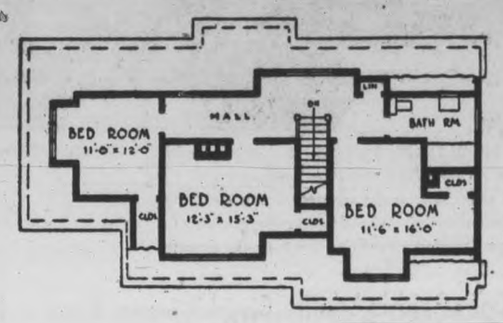
Now let us go down into the basement. Here we usually find such fire hazards as the furnace and hot water heater, and even more serious ones in the form of accumulated papers, boxes, old paint cans, furniture and other combustibles that any chance spark can set ablaze. It is not strange, therefore, that 20% of all home fires, and probably 50% of the most destructive ones, start here. These hazards can be minimized by leaving a good clearance between heating equipment and woodwork, and by keeping the basement clean and in good order. A minimum of 18" should be left between the top level of the heating unit and combustible floor construction; 3'0" on any side except the one containing an ash or stoking door; 18" between combustible materials and smoke pipes.

A WISE PRECAUTION

When a basement fire is completely confined in the early stages, its existence may not be known, especially at night, until it has attained serious proportions. Some kind of fire alarm is therefore a very wise precaution. A new product, the FIRELARM, soon to be available in Canada at around $15.00, gives a loud penetrating warning when temperature reaches the danger point. Requiring no maintenance, this unit is hung on the wall near any fire hazard and plugged into the nearest convenient 110-120 volt outlet.

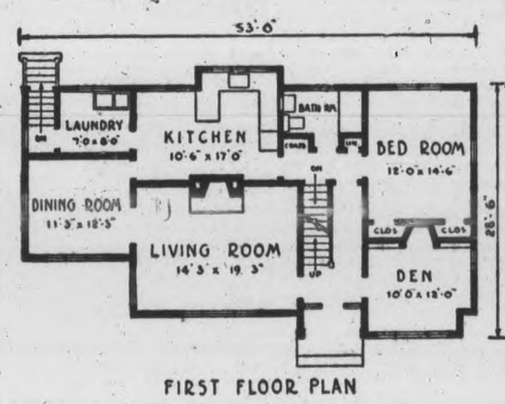
If the electric wiring is installed by a competent electrician (and no one else should be permitted to do so), it is safe to assume that the work will be done in accordance with the regulations of the Canadian Electrical Code and the local building code. However, the owner should make sure that plenty of wall outlets, for plugging in lamps and appliances, are provided. Usually there are too few of these conveniences, and the result is that serious fire hazards are created by running long electric cords around rooms or under rugs.

A final safeguard is the installation of modern compact fire extinguishers at strategic points. In planning a new home, it is most important to provide niches or sabinets that will keep extinguishers out of the way but always ready for use. Placement should be high enough to prevent tampering by young children. Place them where a line of retreat is always open, for instance, near a door or at the head of a staircase.



Because there is always so much of it, combustible rubbish is the most dangerous of the inflammable contents of the home. Never allow waste paper and other burnable trash to accumulate anywhere, in or about the house. Remove it immediately and dispose of it safely.

Even more dangerous in themselves are the so called inflammable liquids, including gasoline, kerosene, paint, varnish, turpentine, etc. Of these, gasoline is by far the worst, resulting in scores of deaths in the home every year. The best rule is: Never bring any quantity of gasoline into the home, and never use it for any purpose except as a motor fuel. And never use kerosene to start a fire.



Some inflammable liquids are dangerous for another reason. Many of the vegetable and animal oils will absorb oxygen from the air. Under certain conditions, they mal heat up and finally ignite spontaneously, causing serious fires.

To guard against this hazard, get oily and paint-soaked rags and papers out of the house as soon as you are through using them. Keep paint-stained garments and oil mops out in the open where they are freely exposed to the air and away from a source of heat or in air-tight metal containers. Never put them in drawers, closets or under piles of other articles.

LONDON (CP)—Saskatchewan's Shirley Douglas came to London to learn to be a serious actress. But all they want, it seems, is cheesecake.

"Maybe I'm too fussy," says the photogenic blonde daughter of Saskatchewan Premier T. C. Douglas. "But I'm afraid cheesecake can be dangerous if you have serious ideas about acting."

Shirley pursues the muse diligently enough by day, regularly attending classes at London's Royal Academy of Dramatic Art. But nearly every night she has to shoo photographers away from her basement flat opposite Westminster Cathedral, the church often mistaken for Westminster Abbey.

SHAPELY MISS

The trouble is Shirley's too shapely. Ever since she arrived here last September, the cameras have been clicking. Once she made the front page of all three London evening newspapers the same day.

Now she's in the news again. She was an instant hit with millions of televiewers a few nights ago when, clad in a bathing suit as a channel-swimming "dumb blonde," she appeared in her second TV role.

Shirley admitted she was nervous at first. "I had to walk across the screen in a bathing suit, but I didn't mind as it was all part of the play," she said.

"It was all terribly thrilling and a tremendous break."

She landed the role in "Half-Seas Over" on her 19th birthday, April 2—again the emphasis was on curves. She took over a part originally allotted to the willowy British beauty, Yvonne Marsh, and the papers played it as a triumph for what was called Canadian "brawn."

TV producer John Warrington decided at the 11th hour that the 21-year-old Miss Marsh looked too frail to negotiate the choppy channel, and called on Miss Douglas.

HIT ON TV—Shirley Douglas, 19-year-old actress daughter of Saskatchewan's premier, T. C. Douglas, wowed millions of London televiewers when she pranced before the screen in this bathing suit. She was chosen from 40 girls to play a channel-swimming blonde. Shirley — bust 34 and waist 24—has been studying at the Royal Academy of Dramatic Arts since last September.

FORTY AFTER JOB

"What we really wanted," said Warrington, "was a curvaceous blonde from the new world, and that is what we have got." He picked Shirley from 40 applicants. The disappointed Miss Marsh, deprived of her first big role in TV, wondered aloud whether "it's a good thing to be slim."

After winning the part, the Canadian actress found out that theatre folk have to be tough. For three successive nights, she posed for bathing-suit shots in her large, stone-floored apartment which, like many British houses, is unblessed with central heating.

She has had one other television spot. That was as a commentator in one of a series of films on the Coronation, scheduled to be shown in Canada early in May. She intends to return to her classes at the Royal Academy shortly, unless she gets a "really big" offer.

She shares her four-roomed flat with another Canadian girl, 29-year-old Paddy Grimmer of Dalhousie, N.B., here on a $2,000-a-year scholarship from Canada's Imperial Order Daughters of the Empire. They pay about $16 a week for accomodation distinguished by peeling paint and gloomy antique furniture but Miss Douglas says "we're happy—it's roomy, comfortable and central."

City Homes Use More Hydro Than Last Year

During March the peak load of the city's electrical system was 974 kilowatts more than in the same month last year, PUC General-manager W. Howard Powell reports. This is an increase of four per cent.

The peak load in March, 1953, was 24,200 kilowatts compared with 23,226 kilowatts in March, 1952. The kilowatt hour consumption was 11,430,200, an increase of 1,239,500 kilowatt hours or 12 per cent over the same month last year. The load factor improved from 59 to 63 per cent.

In the Aylmer St. substation, five more distribution circuit control cubicles were installed and placed in operation. All necessary cables and conduits to outside terminal poles were completed. One more circuit control cubicle and a breaker for the rotary condenser circuit are to be delivered after which the metering panels will be set and the panel completed.

In the distribution system, circuits were rebuilt as follows: Primary—Aylmer St. from Sherbrooke to King St.; light and power—Edison Ave. from Park St. to Monaghan Rd.; light—in laneway east of George St. between Dublin and Antrim Sts.

Thirty-five new three-wire services, one new two-wire service and one new power service were connected. Ten services were changed from two- to three-wire. Forty-eight new flat rate water heaters were connected.

Short Walkout Ends 270 Back At Jobs

KITCHENER (CP) — Some 270 employees in the tire division of the B. F. Goodrich Rubber Company of Canada Limited plant here returned to work today after walking off their jobs Thursday afternoon.

Union officials said the walkout was apparently in protest against the company suspending three employees for participating in a work stoppage.

Company and union representatives were to meet today in an attempt to settle the dispute.

Use Liberty Ships For Storing Wheat

NEW YORK—The Department of Agriculture is using 50 government-owned Liberty ships lying here in the mothball fleet in the Hudson river as rent-free storage deposits for a bumper spring wheat crop.

The government is storing the wheat in the ships because it doesn't know where else to keep it. There are no land storage units available.

Each ship can hold 215,000 bushels of wheat, which cost the government $473,000 in loans to farmers at $2.20 a bushel. The farmers are turning the wheat over to the government rather than repaying the loans.

When the grain will be withdrawn for use or whether it will ever be used is not known. In 1950, after more than a year of similar storage, the grain was shipped to Europe and India Mutual Security funds to prevent famine.

Toronto Man Wins Collection Trophy

TORONTO (CP)—Judges of the Canadian Philatelic Society exhibition Friday awarded the Brisley Trophy to Herbert Dube of the North Toronto Stamp Club for his collection of Austrian stamps issued in 1850.

The outstanding piece of the collection, they said, was a strip of 10 blue mercuries, the first newspaper stamps, originally worth about 1½ cents each. The 10 now are valued at about $500.

Award winners included: British North America, 19th century, Dr. William Harvey, Kitchener; J. E. Kraemer, Kitchener; British North America, 20th century, Rev. Donald Goodgar, Ayr; Britain, Herbert Buckland, Port Perry; Asia, the Americas and Africa, Mr. Goodgar; interclubs, Grand River Valley.

Brief Meeting Ends With No Agreement

STRATFORD (CP) — A brief meeting Friday between officials of the Swift Canadian Company and local 307, United Packinghouse Workers of America (CIO-CCL) ended without agreement in the strike which began March 6.

William Dancavitch, union field representative, described the atmosphere at the meeting as "easier" than at previous ones.

The company again proposed a 7½-cent wage increase for the 61 striking employees. The union seeks nine cents.

Cheap Paint Is Not Money-Saver

By MR. FIX
Distributed by NEA Service

Perhaps nothing distresses a home owner more than to see the paint in and on his home failing. Especially so when the paint represents a labor of love and more than a little bit of cash.

This is borne out by letters from readers of this column. Disturbed (to understate the case), they want to know the reasons for paint failure so they can prevent more of the same.

Quite often the fault lies with the paint itself, and with the owner who selects a cheap grade of paint to save money. Most manufacturers make at least two grades of paint. To buy the cheaper grade is often a waste of money, and the saving involved is slight.

If the fault isn't inherent in the paint, moisture is usually the villain in this melodrama, as you will see.

It can be moisture generated by everyday housekeeping activities. Adequate ventilation and moisture barriers built into the walls put this demon out of action.

It can be dampness that seeps into the house around fittings, window sashes, etc. Caulking will take care of a lot of it.

Moisture barriers in crawl spaces under [illegible]tless houses knock out another source of dampness.

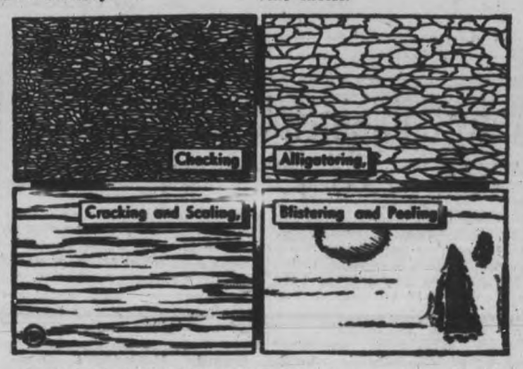
Other causes of paint failure are: Painting over damp surfaces using paint that forms a hard, brittle film, not giving undercoats sufficient time to dry, improper mixing of paint and careless application.

Blistering and peeling is one type of paint failure. This is caused by moisture behind the paint film. The wood may not have been dry at the time it was painted, or water vapor may be coming through the wall and condensing behind the paint. Moisture barriers and ventilating louvres help here.

Alligatoring is another type of failure. It is so-called because the painted surface resembles an alligator's scales. Only the top surface of the coating is affected.

It may be caused by a faster-drying paint over a slower-drying one, or by a soft undercoat which wasn't allowed time enough to dry, or by an undercoat that had too much oil or thinner in it and so was unable to dry. It is necessary to remove alligatoring with a scraper before sanding and re-painting.

Checking is like alligatoring in a lesser degree. It is a network of fine hair lines on the very surface of the outer coat and is caused by a too-soft undercoat. Sand, dust and repaint. Another undercoat is unnecessary.

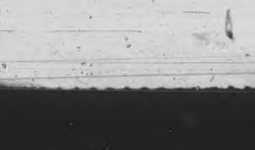


Cracking and scaling is separation of paint film from the wood or plaster in rather long strips. The paint first cracks, allowing moisture to get behind it and loosen it further. The defect is caused by hard, inelastic paints that don't expand with the wood under temperature changes. Scrape off and repaint with better material.

Remember to allow new wood to dry thoroughly before painting and to give the first coating time to dry.

FIX-IT FORUM

Q.—How can vertical cracks in corners of plaster wall be filled?



A.—The easiest way is to mix patching plaster into a thick paste and brush it into the crack with a stiff paint brush. Let it dry for a while, then scrape off the excess.

MOISTURE IS THE CULPRIT in most cases of paint failure, some of the more common types of which are illustrated above.

City Water Used Takes Jump Over Year Ago

The Peterborough Utilities Commission water department pumped 131,125,000 gallons of water during March, 5,880,000 gallons more than in the same month last year, General-manager W. Howard Powell reports.

The maximum rate of pumpage in gallons a minute was 5,620 compared with 5,270 in March, 1952. The average rate in March, 1953, was 2,930 compared with 2,800 in the same month last year.

The water was treated with an average of 6.8 pounds of chlorine and 117 pounds of alumn to each million gallons of water.

Precipitation figures in inches for March, 1953, were: Rain, 2.89; snow, 1.25; total, 3.015, and for the same month last year: Rain, 0.99; snow, 8.0; total, 1.79.

Average temperature of the water last month was 34.8 and of the air 32.3. In March, 1952, the average temperature of the water was 32.9 and of the air 28.2.

FILTER BEDS

At the filter plant the contractor for the plant addition concentrated on completion of the filter extension building and by the end of the month brickwork was completed and the roof on. The balance of the work is proceeding at a satisfactory rate. On the job ready for installation is the following equipment: Alum feed machinery, rate of flow controllers, pipe fittings for filter gallery and filter sand.

At the pumphouse, the control mechanism of No. 2 high lift pump became defective. High water conditions have temporarily prevented its repair.

In the distribution system the crew was busy maintaing excavations after the frost had left the ground. One new water service was laid and two were relaid. One hydrant was changed and one repaired.

Centenary WA Shows Winter's Needlework

ROSENEATH —(ENS) —A display of new quilts, fancy and work aprons and fancy work, were shown at the April meeting of Cenenary W.A. This was the needlework done by members during the winter months.

The meeting was held in the church Thursday afternoon. The president, Mrs. Dawson Timlin, presided over the worship service and business period. Mrs. Arnold Elder was organist. The correspondence was read by the secretary, Mrs. Ernest Burrison. Mrs. Leo Timlin, good cheer convener, presented her report.

Final plans were made for the presentation of two one-act plays in the LOL hall on Friday evening.

Miss Emma Sherwin was in charge of an April program, assisted by Mrs. Reginald Timlin. Mrs. Arnold Elder and Mrs. Hilton Linton.

Skin Eruptions

Here is a clean, stainless, penetrating antiseptic—known all over Canada as MOONE'S EMERALD OIL—that dries right in and brings swift sure relief from the itching and discomfort.

Not only does this healing antiseptic oil promote rapid and healthy healing in open sores and wounds but boils and simple ulcers are also relieved.

In skin affections the itching of Eczema is quickly relieved. Pimples —skin eruptions dry up and scale off in a very few days. The same is true of Salt Rheum, Itching Toes and Feet and many other itching skin affections.

MOONE'S EMERALD OIL can be obtained in the original bottle at any modern drug store. Satisfaction or money back.

Licence Bureau To Be Moved

LAKEFIELD (ENS). — The licence bureau will be moved from the council chamber to the tourist information booth on Queen St., it has been decided by the Chamber of Commerce.

Mrs. William O'Brien, who has been issuing licences will issue any that might still be required. Although the information booth is not yet open for the season, an electric bell will be installed and, as Mrs. O'Brien lives beside the booth, she will be available during office hours.

The president, Donald Hendren, presided at the meeting at Lakefield Hotel.

Ways of helping the fair board improve the annual fair were discussed. Howard Beavis, secretary-treasurer, stated that it was the first time in his 35 years with the board that any organization had offered to help in any way and the board was grateful.

A committee consisting of W. A. Killoran, the Rev. George Downing, Mr. Hendren, Perce Archer, Capt. J. Sloan and A. W. Stewart was appointed to meet with fair board president, Roland Darling, and Mr. Beavis and discuss the matter.

Permisison will be asked from the council to install flower boxes on the main street. The Rev. G. Downing will head a committee to be in charge of this work. Wilton Hillier, tourist chairman, reported that letters regarding maps of the Kawartha area had been sent out and that maps would be ready for mailing May 15. They will be the same size and color as last year.

Monday's fire at the Lakefield Boat Co. was discussed and the chamber has offered any assistance possible to the owners.

The amount of gas made last month was 7,670,000 cubic feet, an increase of 1,960,000 cubic feet or 34.5 per cent over the same month last year.

In the distribution system, the Romaine St. main from Aylmer St. to Monaghan Rd. was converted to high pressure to feed the Outboard Marine and Manufacturing Co. whose gas service was enlarged to three-inch. Seven high-pressure dresser gas joints were repaired.

Cotton Tales Present Fashion Show

LAKEFIELD (ENS). — The Cotton Tales, a girls' club sponsored by the Women's Institute, held an enjoyable evening in the Memorial Hall this week to conclude their winter classes.

Mrs. T. Payton, leader of the club, welcomed the large audience and gave a humorous reading on a report by Lois Duncan on making a skirt. A radio broadcast was given by Jane Deladonne and Noreen Corkery with Bernadette Wallbridge singing the commercials. Readings were given by Dorothy Pott and Joanne Wannamaker. Noreen Corkery gave a report on the club's exhibition at the achievement day at Peterborough Normal School.

A skit, "Our Cotton Tales," by Dorothy Pott, Joanne Wannamaker, Jane Deladonne, Velma Weavers and Bernadette Wallbridge introduced the fashion show in which the dresses made by the girls during the winter were modelled. Mrs. Payton and the club members first appeared in badly fitted dresses. Mrs. Clarence Foster then read a poem, "Changing Colors," and the girls modelled their pretty new cotton dresses.

Mrs. Howard Bullock, president of the Women's Institute, and Mrs. J. Moore, district president, both spoke briefly and congratulated the girls and their leaders. Mrs. J. McKerchar was pianist for the evening.

Belleville Veteran Fought At Batoche 68 Years Ago

BELLEVILLE, Ont. (CP)—Jesse Barlow, 89, can look back to the exciting days at Batoche 68 years ago this month when he helped crush the Northwest Rebellion led by Louis Riel.

He was working on a district farm when the soldiers were called out. By the time he hiked to town, the Belleville group had already left but he caught up with his company at Kingston and entrained for the northwest by way of the newly-built Canadian Pacific railway.

On one occasion he and his fellow soldiers rode open flatcars in 20-below-zero weather. They marched 35 miles through slush and mud. From Swift Current, Sask., they were transported 180 miles along the Saskatchewan river by flatboat, a journey that took 12 days.

GROUNDED ON SANDBARS

The boats often grounded on hidden sandbars. Many times the 160 tons of foodstuffs and supplies had to be unloaded while the men went ashore to take up ropes and pulled the boats free.

At Fish Creek the men camped for a week and had their first brush with Riel's Indians.

They entered Batoche May 9, 1885. The rebellion was crushed there with the capture of Riel, who was convicted of treason and hanged at Regina Nov. 16, 1885.

Silver-haired Mr. Barlow smiles nowadays when he puts on the forage cap made of sacking and the canvas bandolier he and his companions wore in those far-off days. These pieces of equipment were originated by the men themselves and later adopted as "regulation."

PROTECT NECK FROM SUN

A "fly protector" worn under the cap served to protect the soldier's neck from the sun, much as does a similar sunshade worn by the French Foreign Legion.

"The fly-protectors were sent to us by the good ladies of Belleville, along with a nightshirt for each soldier," Mr. Barlow recalled in an interview. "What a parade we had when the parcels arrived! We looked like a mixture of the foreign legion, the Ku Klux Klan and the Grenadier Guards."

Mr. Barlow, who retired in 1929 as a railway engineer after 42 years on the road, is the only Belleville man still alive who fought in the battle of Batoche.

IN RIEL REBELLION—Jesse Barlow, 89, is the sole surviving member in Belleville of the Argyll Light Infantry Company which fought in the Riel Rebellion of 1885. He wears the forage cap and bandolier and holds the knapsack he used during the campaign. The men made their own hats (of potato sacking) and the canvas bandoliers.

India Curtails Exports Going To Tibet

By HOMER BIGART
New York Herald Tribune News Service

NEW DELHI—Disturbed by the recent expansion of Chinese Communist military strength in Tibet and by the contemptuous treatment there of Indian nationals, the government of India quietly has suppressed virtually all exports across the mountain passes from Tibet.

Recently, the Indian government clamped a sudden ban on exportation to Tibet of iron and steel, photographic materials, gasoline and electrical equipment. Reports from Kalimpong, the Indian town where a Trans-Himalaya trail to Lhasa begins, said hundreds of loads of merchandise were being detained by Indian officials at a check-point near the frontier town of Yatung.

The official reason for the latest ban was that India is short of steel. The real reason was that India is determined not to assist the Peking government in building up military strength along the frontier. Estimates of the Chinese military forces in Tibet range up to a half-million men.

TAKE DIM VIEW

Communist China is encountering enormous difficulties in keeping this large force supplied across the "roof of the world," and has approached India with a request for 20,000 tons of rice, ostensibly for the Tibetan people, in order to save transport. The Indians, who have not enough food for their own needs, are taking a dim view of this request.

Relations between India and Communist China have been irritated recently by a number of incidents. The Communists refused brusquely to recognize the Indian consul at Kashgar, in Sinkiang Province, China. Under an old treaty, the Indians had the right to post a battalion of troops at Gyantse, inside Tibet. This has been withdrawn. The Chinese now have two full divisions at Gyantse.

In recent months, Indian traders and religious pilgrims have been treated roughly in Tibet. Cameras and guns have been confiscated, although the Indians have traditionally enjoyed the right to carry arms for protection against Tibetan bandits. The finance minister of the Indian state of Saurashtra, while en route to a Buddhist Shrine, had his gun confiscated and his luggage looted. A four-month-old protest against mistreatment of Indian nationals has remained unanswered.

PRESIDENT JUAN D. PERON of Argentina, centre, smiles from Government House balcony in Buenos Aires a short time before bombs were hurled during his speech to a mass meeting, killing five listeners in the Plaza de Mayo. At left of Peron is Interior Minister Angel Borlenghi, at right is Maj. Carlos Aloe, governor of Buenos Aires province. Others are not identified. Peron was unhurt and after a shocked pause went on with his speech, ad-libbing on the blast and blaming outside and underground enemies for Argentina's troubles.

MAKE WAY FOR THE WADDLERS—Motorists come second at this spot on Trinity Park road in Fort Worth, Tex., where this sign guarantees the right-of-way for ducks. Park authorities noticed the ducks were having a hard time crossing the road in search of food, hence the sign.

Price Morris Named School Truant Officer

LAKEFIELD (ENS) — April meeting of Lakefield public school board was held in the school Monday evening with the chairman, Dr. R. H. Campbell presiding.

Price Morris was appointed attendance officer for the coming year, replacing Leslie R. Foster.

The Lakefield District High School will be allowed to remove the cupboards from the laboratory, but they must decorate the walls and leave the room in first class condition.

An extra classroom will be opened in the fall, and the secretary, Miss Grace Yonge, was asked to advertise for a teacher for same.

Principal E. G. Sloan reported attendance for March at 317 pupils with 91.02 percentage.

The finance committee recommended payment of accounts totalling $414.36.

DIES IN NOVA SCOTIA

Arthur G. Shatford, 61, prominent in Canadian banking circles, is dead at his home in Annapolis Royal, N.S. He retired last year an assistant manager of the Bank of Montreal because of poor health. He is survived by his widow and a son, Dr. Robert Shatford, Marmora, Ont.

OFFICES CLOSE SATURDAY

At a special meeting Friday afternoon of the Peterborough County Bar Association it was decided to close legal offices in the city on Saturdays during July and August. In other years the offices closed at 4 p.m. during the two-month holiday season. Now it will be a five-day week.

ELECTED OFFICERS

Fred Huffman was elected president of the YMCA Friday Night Club, succeeding Charles Bain. Others elected were: Ronald Wallace, vice - president; Al Northcott, secretary; Bill Bunker, treasurer; standing committee, Bill Prest, Bob Oliver, Howie Eastman.

BANQUET POSTPONED

The banquet in the Empress Hotel scheduled for April 28 in connection with the official opening of the Ross L. Dobbin substation at which Hydro Chairman Robert Saunders was to have been speaker has been indefinitely postponed, according to PUC officials.

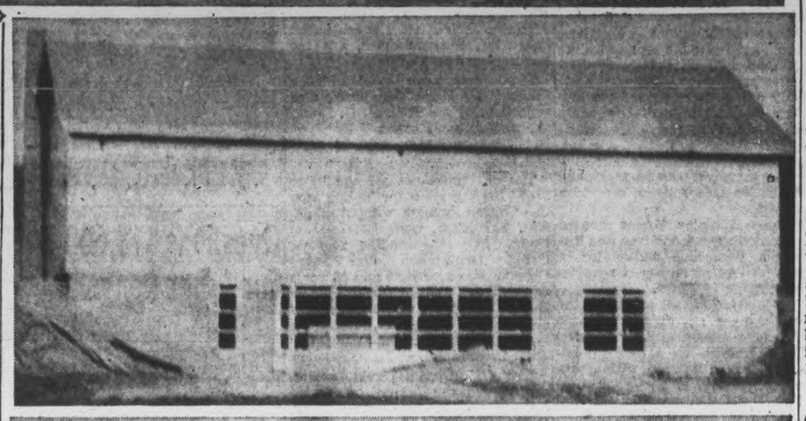
AIRMAN PROMOTED

Stationed at Westover Air Force Base, Mass., Airman Carroll W. Lewis, son of Mr. and Mrs. Carroll L. Lewis of 340 Rubidge Street, has been promoted to airman first class in the USAF. At present a member of the pararescue team of the 46th Air Rescue Squadron, he is married to the former Lorraine M. Crawford, whose parents live at 580 Downie Street.

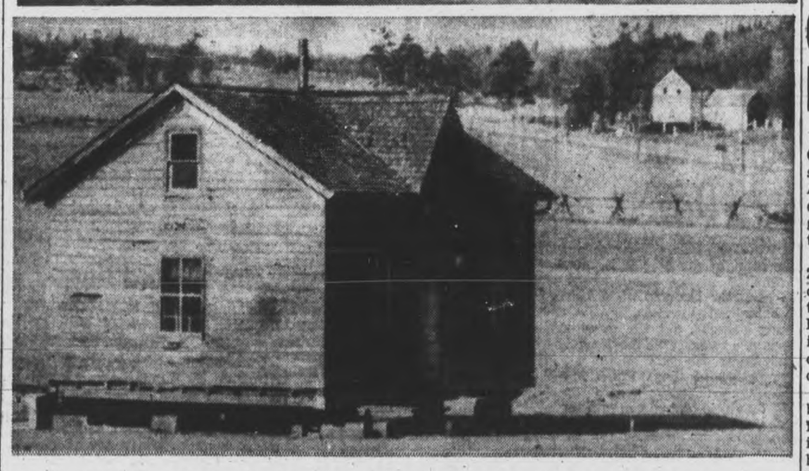
HOLIDAY POSTPONED

The one-day holiday promised the boys of St. Peter's elementary school by Premier Leslie Frost when he formally opened the new building last Friday night will be April 24, just a week later. Premier Frost announced the holiday to mark the opening and he suggested April 17. However Normal School students taught Friday at St. Peter's and school authorities didn't want to interrupt the schedule for a holiday. So the official holiday for the 255 boys attending the school was postponed a week.

Excellent Recital Given By Lowe And Whittemore



The 1952-53 season of the Community Concert Association was brought to a close on Friday evening when Arthur Whittemore and Jack Lowe gave an excellent two-piano recital. The local Association has shown a particular fondness for two-piano music, and keenly appreciated the great technical skill and artistic discretion of Friday night's concert. The opinion was expressed by several of the members that Whittemore and Lowe, in those compositions which demanded depth of musical understanding and a poetic quality of interpretation, were inferior to Bartlett and Robinson, but that they had a dynamic quality which was admirably suited to such works as Ravel's "La Valse", which was perhaps the most thoroughly satisfactory number on their program.



The concert began with three of Dvorak's "Slavonic Dances", played with beautiful control of some runaway rhythms, and these were followed by a Schubert Rondeau —"Notre amitie est invariable"— a title which admirably summed up the wonderful sympathy between the two players which gave distinction to their work. It was in the Brahms "Variations on a Theme of Haydn" that a certain lack of depth was felt. This is not to suggest for an instant that the playing of this extremely demanding composition was unsatisfactory on any purely material level; on the contrary, it was magnificently played, but fell a little short of the high poetic serenity which Bartlett and Robinson are able to impart to it.

It is only fair, however, to say that Whittemore and Lowe played some pieces by Aaron Copland and Clifford Shaw as only American musicians could play them; it was here that their fine dynamic quality was most needed and best satire, which was wonderfully suited. We must be grateful to them for letting us hear some contemporary music, which is too much a rarity in Community Concert programs. They possess, also a rare understanding of musical displayed in "La Valse", in Francis Poulenc's "First Movement", which they played as an encore, and in the March from Prokofiev's "Love For Three Oranges". The satiric content of much modern music baffles many otherwise first-rate musicians; it is a question whether it is possible to understand it fully and at the same time do full justice to the Brahms composition already referred to. This is a question of musical temperament upon which Peter Piper might like to comment.

Whittemore and Lowe were generous with encores, and in one of these (a Siciliano from the Bach Sonata in E flat major) they played with more sheer beauty than at any other time during the evening. They have a pleasing sense of showmanship, and were not unmindful of those members of the audience who like some relief from the demands of a fully classical evening. This was an excellent concert with which to end the season, and the Association must be complimented on the fact that, for several seasons past, it has managed to end its season with a strongly appealing and musically satisfying program.

THE HAMLET OF FENELLA, shown in the top picture, will be radically altered as a result of grading and cuvert-building operations along a three-mile stretch of Highway 45. Two houses have already been removed to make way for a re-alignment of the long vertical curve down the hill past the United Church shown against the horizon on the left in the top picture. Also scheduled for removal is the house shown near the corner of the portion of ground being levelled by the bulldozer. The old community hall which was torn down last fall was also in the path of the new stretch and has been replaced by the new structure shown in the middle picture and in the top photo, upper left. William Fleming's house, shown in the bottom photo, was moved half a mile north of Fenella out of the path of the new section of the highway.

Vote Ordered At Raybestos

A vote has been ordered at the Canadian Raybestos Co. plant by the Ontario Labor Relations Board so the 127 production workers can decide which of the two rival unions they want as their bargaining agents: the United Electrical, Radio and Machine Workers of America (Indep.), or the International Union of Electrical, Radio and Machine Workers (CIO-CCL).

No date has been set for the vote. It will be arranged by agreement among the two unions and the company.

On April 15 the IUE filed 66 membership cards with the OLRB to back up their bid for certification at Raybestos. Sixty-one of them were signed before the application was made on March 20, and the other five were between that date and the hearing last Wednesday.

The OLRB, after examining the evidence, said Friday that they were satisfied that the IUE had at least 45 per cent of the eligible employees and so automatically ordered a representation vote.

Local 527, UE, are the present bargaining agents and are now in contract negotiations with the company.

Next Wednesday the OLRB will have a hearing in Toronto on the IUE application to represent the production workers at the CGE plant.

Passing Car Clips Open Door Of Auto

Damage was estimated at $100 early this morning in an accident at the Club Aragon involving William Morrison of 676 Cameron Ave. and Geoffrey Feeley of 1035 Western Ave.

Morrison was parked by the club with his left front door open, taking on passengers. Feeley's car, passing on the left clipped the open door. Damage was estimated at $85 to Morrison's car and $15 to the Feeley vehicle.

Homes In Fenella Shuffled By Change In Road Curve

The march of progress, which alters everything it touches, is making an almost complete transformation in the appearance of Fenella on Highway 45, south of the east end of Rice Lake and just north of the Northumberland county reforestation plot.

Of a total of not more than a dozen buildings here, five are being moved to make way for a re-alignment of the long curve in the highway which sweeps down the hill where the United Church stands and through the hamlet.

The road from Cobourg to Norwood was taken over from the United Counties of Northumberland and Durham by the Department of Highways 10 or 12 years ago. Since then it has been graded and paved in successive stages northward from Cobourg as far as Baltimore.

Now, a three-mile stretch from Fenella north is being graded by the McCoy Construction Co., of Stittsville, to bring it up to provincial highway standards. Initial grading was started at Baltimore about 1947.

NEED CLEAR VIEW

Departmental standards require unobstructed vision for 750 feet on vertical curves and for this reason it has been necessary to re-align the Fenella curve to take it further away from the United Church. This has brought five existing buildings within the path of the new route so that some of them have been removed and another will be moved back.

The first building actually to go was the old community hall which was demolished last fall before the project was under way at all. It has since been replaced by a shiny new building further from the highway.

The new hall was built by volunteer labor from the district, supervised by Herman Davis, a Fenella carpenter.

When it later became apparent that some more buildings would have to be moved, the first to go was one belonging to Oral George who operates Fenella's general store. He sold it to Lyle Curtis who fortunately had just built a service station at the southern edge of Fenella and was able to move the house out to his new place of business.

William Fleming's house has been moved about half a mile north of Fenella and Fred Talling's and Miss Ruby Errington's have yet to be removed, while Mrs. Ethel Stewart's will be moved back farther from the highway.

The construction company has set up an office at the outskirts of Fenella and already men are busy setting up fence posts along the extreme edges of the new route. Graders have begun scraping out the new drainage ditches and a bulldozer is gouging a section out of the side of the hill.

The project, known in construction language as a grade revision and standard cross-section, will entail building new culverts in addition to grading.

Youth Held For Theft Sought In U.S.

Mental Patient Allowed Visit Crossed Border

LINDSAY— (ENS)— Sought for nearly a month by customs officers and officials of a U.S. mental hospital, 16-year-old Gerald Wilson turned up in magistrate's court here Friday afternoon.

Wilson pleaded guilty to theft of a $1,200 tractor from the farmer who employed him. He was sentenced to the time he had already spent in jail here and is being returned to the Pontiac, Mich., Hospital today.

Wilson denied being a U.S. citizen despite a strong American accent, and claimed he came from London, Ont. When he couldn't remember the address of his parents, the Lindsay OPP detachment began a search for them, but left the job unfinished when Wilson admitted his true identity.

VISITING HOME

A former inmate of the Pontiac State Mental Hospital, he escaped custody during a visit to his home about a month ago.

He entered Canada illegally at Port Huron, Mich., and has been sought since then. He reached the Lindsay area by hitch-hiking, and has been working for a farmer near Dunsford, 10 miles north of Lindsay.

City Scouts Hold Paper Drive

Peterborough's Boy Scouts, Cubs and Rovers will hold their second paper drive for 1953 on April 21. Proceeds from this drive will go entirely to the groups taking part in the collection.

This year there are 415 Cubs, 215 Scouts and 11 Rovers in the city. To carry on the boys' work the association needs money for leadership training courses camping facilities, craft shows, field days, tree planting and summer camps.

Apple Day for many years has been the main source of income for Peterborough Scouting. But in recent years the association has been helped financially by the paper drives. In the last drive in January, the proceeds were shared by the association and the groups.

Oldest Resident Of Ontario Dies

BELLEVILLE (CP) — Believed the oldest woman in Ontario, Mrs. Jane Mitchell died today at 107.

Born in the nearby Wooler district New Year's Day 1847, she spent all her life in the Wooler area.

She never saw a motion picture. She avoided tea and coffee. She never used liquor or cigarettes.

When she was 90, she became ill. Because of her advanced age, the doctor did not consider it advisable to operate. She was put to bed and remained there until her death.

She remained mentally alert to the last and always had a ready smile for visitors.

Surviving are two sons, 14 grandchildren and 13 great-grandchildren.

H. L. GARNER, general manager of the Peterborough Examiner, was Friday elected to the board of directors of the Canadian Daily Newspapers Association at its 34th annual meeting in Toronto. Arthur L. Davies, publisher and general manager of the Kingston Whig-Standard was also named to the board of directors.

Leaky Roof Ruins $325,000 Bancroft School

BANCROFT (ENS) — The school board and responsible officials are gravely concerned over the condition of the North Hastings High School building here which was completed just over four years ago at a cost of $325,000.

Roof of the building began leaking six months after the opening of the school, and the roofing contractors were twice recalled to carry out repairs. In spite of these repairs the roof has continued to deteriorate rapidly and now two-thirds of the school is affected.

A tour of the building reveals water damage running into thousands of dollars with the probability of extensive hidden deterioration.

The spacious auditorium, which houses the finest stage in the district, has two gaping holes in the ceiling about six feet by two feet under which the caretaker has suspended five buckets in an effort to catch the dripping water. The floor beneath these holes is badly heaved and rotting over a large area.

PLASTER FALLS

Plaster has fallen in the side entrance hall and a large proportion of that remaining is water damaged. Student lockers are not immune and the top shelf of one houses a drip-catching bowl.

The home economics classroom is badly damaged and boasts a four foot hole in the ceiling with its inevitable suspended bucket.

Evidence of water leaks is everywhere, over doors, around ventilators and lighting fittings, the woodworking shop alone being unaffected.

It is understood that the school board have been in consultation with the general contractors, the architect, the insurance company with whom the roof is bonded and numerous times with the roofing contractors in an effort to get the situation remedied.

In desperation they have now sought legal advice in the matter. One official expressed the view that if extensive re-roofing is not carried out this summer serious damage will ensue to the whole structure.

Cold Night Setback For Crops

No Great Harm Done To Sprouts Yet Says Frank Paterson

Nine degrees of frost overnight shouldn't do sprouting crops any great harm, agricultural representative Frank Paterson estimated today. He was commenting on the night low of 23 degrees.

"It won't do any good, but it will be more in the nature of a setback. I don't think it will be serious unless we get cold, dry weather, which is bad for growing," he commented.

WARM YEAR AGO

Nine a.m. temperature of 26 degrees was a bare three degrees above the night low. Today's weather is no reminder of that a year ago, when the mercury reached 64 degrees.

The night low for tonight is predicted to be about 32, several degrees higher than Friday night. Sunday is expected to be mostly sunny and a little warmer.

The awards are open to men and women employed by Canadian daily newspapers. Winners receive $400 each and a certificate of award. Citation winners receive an engraved a memento, a certificate.

Awards:

Editorial writing — Bruce Hutchison, Victoria Times.

Spot news reporting — Don Delaplante, Toronto Globe and Mail.

Feature writing — Wilfred List, Toronto Globe and Mail.

Staff Corresponding — William Stevenson, Toronto Daily Star.

Spot news photography — Russell K. Cooper, Toronto Telegram.

Feature news photography — Harry Befus, Calgary Herald.

Cartooning — Robert LaPalme, Montreal Le Devoir.

Citations: T. E. Nichols, Hamilton Spectator, for staff corresponding. Robert W. Chambers, Halifax Chronicle-Herald, for cartooning.

PRESENTED AT DINNER

Awards and citations will be presented at a dinner in Toronto May 8 given by the Toronto Men's Press Club. The prizes, designed to reward and signalize excellence in Canadian newspaper work, were originated in 1949 by the club. Funds for five years were guaranteed by the late George McCullagh, then publisher of the Toronto Globe and Mail and The Telegram. The basis of support now has been broadened. The Toronto Star, the Montreal Star and the Thomson Newspapers have each pledged one year's cost of the awards. Other financial supporters include the Windsor Star, the London Free Press and the Vancouver Sun.

EDITORIAL WRITING

Hutchison, editor of the Victoria Times, won the award in editorial writing with a selection of editorials mainly concerned with general issues of which particular aspects were pertinent during the year in British Columbia. These included freedom of the press, the question of judges acting as labor abitrators, and the constitutional issue raised by last year's indecisive provincial election.

Judges in this category referred favorably to an appreciable increase in interest in this category, particularly among Western and French-language entrants, and remarked that "there is evidence that our hometown newspapers of smaller circulation are hitting a praiseworthy standard of editorial writing."

SPOT NEWS REPORTING

Delaplante won the spot news reporting award with his story last April 11 breaking the fact of thievery at the Petawawa military camp. The story, pieced together at Petawawa, Brockville and Ottawa, stood up as accurate when later official investigation revealed widespread irregularities.

Several other reporters were specially mentioned in this category. They included James Y. Nicol, Toronto Star, for a story written last March while serving on The Telegram, in which he uncovered the comparative wealth of a man who died as a rag-picker; William Bantey, Montreal Star, for Bordeaux jail riot coverage and Ian MacNeil, Sydney Post-Record, for coverage of a mine explosion at Stellarton, N. S.

FEATURE WRITING

The award in feature writing went to List for a series of stories on labor and sociological developments in Quebec tied into coverage of the Louiseville textile strike situation last October.

Honorably mentioned were a series by The Telegram's Dorothy Howarth on selection of the Boyd-gang trial jury—entered in spot news reporting but considered by the judges to rate a higher place as feature writing; Ron Kenyon's Telegram series in December on the strange family of children near Toronto growing up in conditions so primitive they were unable to speak; and an exposure of Oakalla prison farm conditions by Bruce Larsen of the Vancouver Province.

STAFF CORRESPONDING

Stevenson won the award in staff corresponding with his graphic reporting for The Star last June 10 of the Koje Island battle between Communist prisoners and U. S. troops.

Nichols' citation was given for a series of stories written to convey a simple and direct picture of the Quebec scene last May.

Also mentioned in this division were Forbes Rhude, The Canadian Press, for an interpretative series on Labrador development, and Peter McClintock, Regina Leader-Post, for correspondence from Ottawa.

PHOTOGRAPHY

Cooper's winning picture in the spot news photography class was an action shot of rioting prisoners scurrying out of range of a teargas burst during the Guelph reformatory riots last July.

Befus won in the feature class with a picture of unbroken horses from the hills kicking up dust at the Calgary Stampede. It was a repeat performance for Befus. He won the spot picture award in 1950 with his notable "Footsteps to Death" picture of a constable peering at the empty rubbers of a man who had just been killed in a traffic accident.

The judges had special mention for Peter Dunlop of The Telegram for a shot of an aerial salute at Uplands airport.

CARTOONING

The judges in cartooning agreed on Robert LaPalme "for his incisive comment in individualistic style on public affairs—national, international and provincial"—and chose as an example an April 23 cartoon showing Finance Minister Abbott as a prestidigitator producing a surplus out of the taxpayer's pocket.

They noted that they "found the greatest difficulty in selecting Mr. LaPalme over Robert W. Chambers of the Halifax Chronicle-Herald whose submitted examples were of outstanding quality." Chambers, a consistent performer, won a citation also in 1950.

Bravo !

WINNING CARTOON—This cartoon by Robert Lapalme of the Montreal Le Devoir has won the fourth annual national newspaper award for cartooning. The judges agreed on Lapalme "for his incisive comment in individualistic style on public affairs — national, international and provincial." The cartoon shows Finance Minister Abbott as a prestidigitator producing a surplus out of the taxpayers' pocket.

PHOTOGRAPHY — Russell K. Cooper of the Toronto Telegram has been awarded the fourth annual national newspaper award for spot news photography. His winning picture was an action shot of rioting prisoners scurrying out of range of a tear gas burst during the Guelph reformatory riots last July.

STAFF CORRESPONDING — William Stevenson of the Toronto Daily Star has been awarded the fourth annual national newspaper award for staff corresponding. Stevenson won the award with his graphic reporting for the Star last June 10 of the Koje Island battle between Communist prisoners and United States troops.

FEATURE WRITING — The national newspaper award for feature writing has been given to Wilf List of the Toronto Globe and Mail. It was for a series on Labrador and sociological developments in Quebec tied into coverage of the Louisville textile strike situation last October.

FEATURE PHOTOS — Harry Befus of the Calgary Herald has won the fourth annual national newspaper award for feature news photography. His picture of unbroken horses from the hills kicking up the dust at the Calgary Stampede was a repeat winning performance by Befus. He won the spot picture award in 1950.

SPOT NEWS—Don Delaplante of the Toronto Globe and Mail has won the fourth annual national newspaper award for spot reporting. Delaplante won the award for breaking the story, April 1, 1952, of thievery at the Petawawa military camp. The story, pieced together at Petawawa, Brockville and Ottawa, stood up as accurate when later official investigation revealed widespread irregularities.

Bill Approved For National Credit Unions

OTTAWA (CP)—A bill paving the way for the establishment of national credit unions was given approval in principle Friday by the Commons with all parties approving the principle.

Only objection to second reading of the measure immediately came from some Progressive Conservative members who argued the bill, received by the members only during the morning, should have had more study before being sent to a committee.

Finance Minister Abbott pressed for immediate second reading before his departure today for a North Atlantic Treaty Organization meeting in Paris.

The legislation will permit of the establishment of credit unions—which lend money to their co-operative members—on a national basis. They now operate within provincial boundaries.

The legislation provides for supervision of the activities of such unions made up of groups from more than one province, such as is given in loan companies' legislation and other federal measures.

Young People Worst Drivers

TORONTO (CP)—The daring young man in the jalopy is often the menace of the roads, Highways Minister Doucett of Ontario said Friday.

Young persons, not the drunken drivers, are responsible for most of the accidents, he said at the annual meeting of the Ontario Motor League.

"We have to cut down on the ruthless, unnecessary killing on our highways."

Dr. M. J. Hooley of Ridgetown was elected president of the OML. He succeeds Herbert H. Bishop.

Mr. Bishop told delegates the taxation of motor cars as a luxury is "an inequitable absurdity." He said that 83 per cent of the nearly 3,000,000 cars in use in Canada could be classed as essential.

Fisherman Drowns In Choppy Water

PORT BURWELL (CP)—Pat Patterson, 42-year-old Port Burwell fisherman, was drowned Friday night in the choppy harbor water before his companion could get help.

His companion, Alex McLeod, 22, of Port Burwell, tried to help him after their small row boat capsized in rough water on the east side of the east pier.

McLeod had to give up and swim to shore. Harbor water was too rough to launch a rescue craft.

One-Year Term

TORONTO (CP)—Mrs. Edna Le Blanc, 22, was sentenced Friday to one year in reformatory for neglecting to provide the necessities of life for her two-year-old son, David. The child died last January. Earlier this week Mrs. Le Blanc was acquitted of a charge of manslaughter in connection with the boy's death.

Saved From Drowning

BARRIE (CP)—Three - year - old Eric McGee was saved from drowning at a dock here Friday when William Malcolmson, walking out onto the wharf, saw the young boy clinging to the bottom step of the wharf and hauled him to safety. The boy said he lost his balance and fell into the water.

Fathers, Sons Enjoy Banquet At Knox Church

A successful Father and Son Banquet was held Wednesday in the Sunday School hall of Knox United Church.

Sponsor of the event is the Men's Bowling Club and its president, Vince Grainger was chairman.

The main speaker, Rev. J. Arnold Foster, likened life to a game of hockey or baseball where all men must train hard, cooperate with others in playing energetically and unselfishly, where one must accept self-discipline as a necessity for a winning team and where the coaching must be of a high order.

The boys were reminded that the training period for the game of life is in the school and in the Church, that one must, as in sport, do one's best willingly and cheerfully at all times, even if it becomes necessary to play defensively at times to protect ones ideals.

To the Christian the coach is the instructor, the comforter, and the inspiration, Jesus Christ.

Two toasts were made, "The Church" by Brian Donaldson, was replied to by the Rev. H. G. Douglas, and "Our Fathers" by Joey Henderson was answered by Gordon Morrison.

The chairman praised the "Pee Wee" hockey team for having won the Church League without a defeat. The team, captained by Don Dunn, had the leading scorers, David Drummond and Terry Downer who scored 45 and 28 goals respectively, and the leading goalie Brian Donaldson, who allowed only six goals in 14 games. The team is coached by Gordon James and Jack Drummond.

In the sing song, David Donaldson played the piano while his father, John, led the singing. Merv. Williamson thanked the speaker and the chairman thanked the Women's Association for an excellent meal which was acknowledged by Mrs. Eric Pearse.

Blame Union For Slowdown

TORONTO (CP)—The United Electrical Workers (Ind.) has been found responsible by an arbitration board of conducting a slowdown campaign at the Canadian Westinghouse Company in Hamilton in an effort to influence negotiations on a new collective bargaining agreement.

The board, with Mr. Justice G.A. Gale as chairman, said the union was responsible for refusal by employees to work overtime in an effort to force the company into wage concessions.

Union nominee Drummond Wren dissented with the majority report of the board.

The slowdown started in the air brake manufacturing department and affected the foundry, resulting in layoffs there.

Questions $18,600 For Ashes Removal

OTTAWA (CP)—Douglas Harkness (PC—Calgary East) drew attention Friday to an $18,600 item in defence estimates for "removal of ashes" at the Petawawa, Ont., military camp.

He asked associate defence minister Campney how much coal was used at the camp to produce ashes to such an extent that it cost $18,000 to remove them.

The minister replied he wasn't competent to compute coal in terms of ashes without reference to the Dominion coal board or some other such body.

He promised to look into the matter adding:

"All I can say new is that that's a lot of ashes."

Heifetz Gives Concert Though Injured

REHOVOT, Israel (AP)—Jascha Heifetz bowed his violin with an injured right hand and wound up his controversial Israeli tour with an applause-winning concert under heavy guard here Friday.

Three performances of a German composition, Richard Strauss' violin sonata, had inflamed extremist Israelis against the noted Russian-born American artist and led to one physical attack.

A tall, dark thug armed with an iron bar struck Heifetz' right hand on a street in Jerusalem shortly after Heifetz had received an ovation Thursday night from a capacity audience for a program that included the Strauss work.

Anti-Nazi sentiment was reflected in a flurry of anonymous demands that Heifetz break off his tour and get out of the country.

The 52-year-old Jewish artist insisted on carrying out his scheduled appearance in this city though aides said his hand was paining him and a doctor suggested he rest it a few days.

The Strauss work was not on Heifetz's Rehovot program.

Heifetz' position is that only artistic values should be considered in drawing up concert programs. He has defied private threats and official cautions in playing the Strauss work here.

Taxi Drivers Go On Strike

WELLAND (CP)—Taxi drivers in Welland and adjacent Crowland township went on strike Friday in protest against a jail sentence imposed on eight cab drivers for violation of the Public Vehicles Act.

The eight drivers were fined $20 and $1 costs each, but refused to pay and were sentenced to seven days in the county jail. All pleaded guilty to the charge of conducting the business of a carrier of passengers between Welland and Crowland without an operating permit.

The Public Vehicles Act prohibits a taxi operating outside one municipality from picking up more than one fare for a specific trip.

"The drivers won't work while the others are in jail," Romeo Lemlin, manager of a co-operative firm, said when he announced the strike.

Vitamin B-6 May Prevent ArteryHardening

By ALTON L. BLAKESLEE
Associated Press Science Reporter

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Vitamin B-6 may be a key to preventing hardening of arteries, or slowing down the wearying changes of age, a scientist finds.

The evidence comes from monkeys, fed only chemical pill diets in which one or another vitamin or essential chemical was missing.

If they didn't get vitamin B-6, pyridoxine, the monkeys in six to 18 months developed signs like those of hardening of human arteries. The walls of arteries thickened.

The monkeys grew old more quickly. Their hair became gray and lost lustre, said Doctors James F. Rinehart and L. D. Greenberg, pathologists of the University of California hospital.

If the B-6 was added to their food soon enough, the signs of artery hardening cleared up. Giving B-6 didn't make their gray hair turn back again to youthful color, though.

MAY BE DEFICIENCY

Dr. Rinehart is studying the possibility that human hardening of arteries may come either from too little B-6, or some error or inefficiency in the way that human bodies may use the vitamin. Hardening and too-quick aging might come from some such fault.

His tests on humans or animals do not show that taking vitamin B-6 could cure hardening. But it might be slowed down or prevented if tests could show which people were possibly not getting enough vitamin, or were not making the right use of it.

Beans and peas are rich in vitamin B-6. Meat gives it to you, too, as well as other foods, Dr. Rinehart said.

He and his associates developed new methods of spotting subtle changes inside living cells or organs, to see the effect of any change or lack in diet, or of change in activities or health.

Federal Subventions To Assist Mines

OTTAWA (CP)—Federal treasury subventions to help Canadian mines sell coal to the railways are to be increased in Eastern and Western Canada, it was learned Friday.

Action expected to be taken by cabinet next week would add around $2,000,000 a year to the cost of the subsidies. They now total between $6,000,000 and $7,000,00 a year.

The government move, informants said, is aimed at making it more feasible for the railways —particularly the government-owned Canadian National Railways—to buy Canadian coal in competition with United States fuel.

THE BELL IS RINGING AGAIN to tell Cobourg workers that it is 6 a.m., time to get up. And Hugh Gibson, president of the Allied Labor Council (left), and some 500 workers who signed a petition asking for the bell to be rung again, are happy. But visitors of the British Hotel across the street from the tower (above) and some others who do not have to get to work so early had only a short two weeks of blissful quiet.—(Murray Smith Photo).

Silenced Bell Rings Again Over Protests Of Sleepers

COBOURG — (ENS) — Four week's interlude of silence, in many, many years of ringing of the six a.m. bell, has come to an end. It was a brief victory for A. R. Freeman, proprietor of the British Hotel, because labor rallied to the cause and now the bell rings again, perhaps for many decades yet to come.

Up in the clock tower of the town hall, is a bell whose ringing notes carry to the farthest ends of the town. The bell strikes the hour, each hour in 24 but it is also rung for a comparatively long interval at six in the morning, at noon and at six in the evening. It also rings long and loudly when a fire alarm is turned in.

It is a reliable bell, too. When the four faces of the town clock are not in agreement, it really does not matter a great deal because the old clock always strikes on time.

Back through the years to way-back-when, the six a.m. bell has been a call to the workers to get up and get ready for another day of labor. Consequently the bell has become a tradition, something that is part of Cobourg and as such to be perpetuated.

HOTEL ACROSS STREET

Just acros from the town hall with its bell, is the British Hotel. Some of the guests disliked being awakened so early by the clanging of the six. a.m. bell and complained to A. R. Freeman, the proprietor.

Incidentally it is not the current crop of guests alone who abhor the early bell. Back about twenty years ago the proprietor at that time made enquiries to see if the bell could be silenced and the query brought a storm of protest. In fact the late Jack Delanty, when he ran and was elected mayor, championed the cause of labor and the six o'clock bell and attributed his election to the support of the working masses. There was a Supreme Court judge who used to come here who once expressed the hope that the six a.m. bell would drop off its mountings so that he could sleep in to the later hour enjoyed by the legal fraternity.

TRIED AGAIN

But through the years, in spite of the objections raised at times, the bell rang on and on, up until about a month ago. It was then that Mr. Freeman was able to persuade the town council to stop the six a.m. ringing because it awakened his guests.

Council decided to give the proposal a try to see what happened. For two weeks there was no re-action of any account. But this week the labor unions of Cobourg presented a petition, 500 strong, to have the bell's early morning ringing resumed. Five hundred names on a petition packs no little weight. The Allied Labor Council, of which Hugh Gibson is president, started the ball rolling, or the bell tolling, and the labor unions got busy and supported th petition.

And so the six o'clock bell rings once more. The break in tradition has been spanned, the workers hearken to its clarion call each morn again, and the guests over in the British Hotel stir in their slumber roll over and try to sleep.

Rival Liberal Group Disputes Officers

HAWKESBURY (CP)—A rival group of Liberal party members Friday night challenged the executive elected last week for the newly-formed Liberal Association of Glengarry and Prescott.

The group elected a new slate of officers for the association, and charged that last week's election meeting in Alexandria was unconstitutional.

Noel Berthiaume of Hawkesbury, elected president of the new group Friday night, said that although he had been temporary president of the Glengarry-Prescott Liberal Association he had not been advised of the Alexandria meeting that elected Roland Pilon president.

At Friday night's meeting, Raymond Bruneau, Liberal member of Parliament for Prescott, agreed with Mr. Berthiaume's stand.

The dispute between the two Liberal groups apparently stemmed from the redistribution of Commons constituencies which united the previously separate ridings of Prescott and Glengarry. William J. Major, also a Liberal, is the present member of Parliament for Glengarry.

The meeting decided to refer the dispute to Transport Minister Chevrier, the member for neighboring Stormong constituency, to decide which of the rival groups will officially represent the Liberal party in the combined constituencies.

Base Metals Take Beating On Toronto Stock Exchange

By HARRY KINGDON
Canadian Press Staff Writer

Base metals took a beating on the Toronto stock exchange this week.

The market as a whole—measured by the exchange's indexes—dropped an average of 3.87 points. Base metals alone dropped 5.81 points on the week.

Observers said the losses probably resulted largely because the market still is in the grip of a decline that started with Communist "peace moves" late in March. The apparent change in attitude in Moscow left the whole international situation uncertain and investors adopted a policy of wait-and-see.

Friday saw the sharpest decline of the week, but traders said little heavy selling pressure appeared. Scarcity of buyers caused prices to fall even under mild pressure.

FALLING OFF

Base metals have been falling off gradually ever since January. Lower world prices for lead, zinc and other metals have been generally blamed.

Many industries stopped stockpiling base metals in 1952 and started using up what they had on hand. This resulted in reduced orders to primary producers who were forced to cut prices to keep their products moving.

President Eisenhower's "challenge to disarm" speech Thursday was another factor. Many investors followed established practice of selling vulnerable stocks Friday so that they would not be caught unprepared by new international developments that might result from the speech during the weekend.

ON DOWNWARD PATH

Prices moved along a downward path in Montreal and Toronto Monday but turned firmer in Montreal Tuesday. Toronto prices continued to slip Tuesday but turned mixed with Montreal Wednesday. Montreal continued mixed Thursday while Toronto headed lower. Both centres dropped Friday.

New York prices held steady Monday and started upward Tuesday. The rise continued Wednesday but prices turned mixed Thursday and dipped Friday.

From Friday to Friday, the Toronto exchange indexes showed industrials down 3.70 at 309.75, golds down .53 at 79.74, base metals down 5.81 at 159.84 and western oils down 3.46 at 116.84.

In the Montreal averages, banks were down .56 at 32.73, utilities down .8 at 93.7, industrials down 1.7 at 192.7, combined down 1.4 at 159.7, papers down 15.42 at 663.04 and golds down .10 at 61.02.

In New York, the Associated Press average of 60 stocks was down $2.30 at $109.00.

Fee Raised Slightly '53-'54 In Women's Art Association

Very little change was made in the executive of Peterborough Branch of the Lyceum Club Women's Art Association of Canada at the annual meeting Friday. The fee for members was increased however to $3.50 for the coming season.

Mrs. Ford Turner is re-elected president, following a successful first term, and her three vice president will again be Mrs. H. R. Scott, Mrs. W. J. Gilling, and Mrs. F. E. Hooper.

Also re-elected are recording secretary, Mrs. G. H. Cutmore, corresponding secretary, Mrs. L. B. Martin, treasurer Mrs. H. R. Sills and her assistant Mrs. F. L. Buckland and Mrs. B. L. Barnes.

New members' representatives in '53-'54 will be Miss Jean Buck and Mrs. C. H. Crowe and Mrs. W. G. Ovens was re-elected.

Archivist will again be Mrs. R. G. Maniece and exhibition conveners will be Mrs. R. R. Baker and Mrs. O. J. Frisken.

Mrs. Turner explained that the increase of 25c in fees will provide for one speaker on the studio program. The treasurer's report showed that 104 fees were paid last year and there were eight evening members who pay $1. each. Guests at studio meetings are charged 50c and there were 44 this year.

The 48th year of the Woman's Art Association in Peterborough is nearly completed. It is continuing to give valuable instruction and pleasant recreation for the members. Mrs. G. H. Cutmore commented in her secretarial report. Welfare of others has also been considered and five food parcels were sent to England and a $25. donation to the European flood victims.

Programs enjoyed by the Guild of Arts and Crafts were outlined in the report of convener Mrs. A. E. Gatz. Miss M. Lees reported for the Art Study Club advising that Art of the Far East, Chinese Art and Art of Japan had been studied this year.

Miss Jean Buck of the Literary Study Club said the program had been chiefly drama this year, as requested by members, and since they are keen about play-reading a number of plays had been read in full.

Mrs. O. Smith said a wide variety of interests came into the program of the Home Arts Guild in the nine papers presented by members. She advised that Mrs. W. C. McCreery will be the convener next year.

The Music Study Club, under convenership of Mrs. C. H. Crowe has studied The Romantic Period in music, part two, this year, programs on Berlioz, Schumann, Liszt and their contemporaries being given. In addition to the club program, there is a singing group which has entertained at Christmas and for the annual meeting.

Mrs. Turner commented briefly on the various speakers at the studio meetings this year. She hoped high standard promoted by belonging to a national organization and the standard set by the previous presidents and executives had been maintained.

The president and three officers of the Toronto Association were guests at the luncheon meeting. President Mrs. T. H. Hancock spoke briefly of her club's program and activities.

Eighty four ladies were seated at quartette tables in the YWCA Green Room for the luncheon. The pleasing arrangements were in charge of the Literary Study Club members. They arranged daffodils and iris in a centrepiece for the president's table and had a pot of African violets on each small table, most of these having been brought from members' own homes.

A period of musical entertainment was introduced by Music Study Club convener Mrs. Crowe and included two vocal solos by Mrs. Ross Moore, two selections by the singing group directed and led by Mrs. James Goldie, and two expertly executed numbers by the two piano team of Mrs. G. W. Craw and Mrs. R. R. Baker. Mrs. Craw was accompanist for the singing with Mrs. Percy Hooper supplying the violin obligato in the group selections.

Of Interest to Women

DOROTHY DIX:

Wife Who Looks For Trouble At Office Will Find It

DEAR MISS DIX: A great deal is written about secretaries who fall in love with their bosses and steal them from their wives, but will you please write one thing about the secretaries who are not in love with their bosses and wouldn't have them if they were the last men on earth!

I have no romantic notions about my boss, yet his wife is very jealous, probably just because I am single, and much younger than she is. However, I certainly would prefer to spend my life in single-blessedness than be married to my employer.

What his wife and the thousands of other jealous women like her don't realize is that single, attractive women aren't married because they are a lot more particular than many women with wedding rings. Because we unmarried office workers have ideals that haven't been fulfilled as yet, we're considered potential husband snatchers by every jealous wife.

ONE WHO KNOWS

✧ ✧ ✧

YOUTH IS INDEPENDENT

ANSWER: While conceding your right to be irked by the jealousy of Mrs. Boss, I must point out that she can scarcely be blamed for letting her devotion verge upon possessiveness. After all, she is attached to the man and undoubtedly convinced that such a Don Juan must be desirable to many women. Remember, also, that the eyes of love cannot discern age, and to her he is still the young Romeo who wooed her so enchantingly. That a generation separates him and his female employees is a fact seldom obvious to his wife.

The place for any wife is definitely OUT of her husband's office. She should not snoop around to find out what his secretary is like, what their working arrangements are, how friendly they are, or how devotedly Miss Secretary looks at the boss. For one thing, they find too often what they are seeking. A wife who is determined to find a reason for jealousy will dig it out whether it's present or must be manufactured. A "hands off" policy, as far as the office is concerned, lessens opportunities for such machinations.

A wife's presence around a place of business is upsetting to her husband, the secretary and the rest of the staff. After all, everyone's in the place to work, and the sudden appearance of a lady whose only purpose is to play detective at everyone else's expense is distracting, to say the least.

A woman who is inclined to be jealous of her husband's secretary might try taking an objective look at him, and ask herself if he, as he looks at 45, would have appealed to her at 22. The answer quite definitely would be "no." If she feels that the relationship between the two is overfriendly, let her be reminded that no two people can work co-operatively without harmony. Miss Secretary undoubtedly knows much more about her boss' business than his wife is interested in hearing and, since he is dependent to a large extent upon a competent associate's understanding of his job, a strong personal feeling is bound to arise between the two. This, however, must not be confused with romantic leanings, to which it is usually not even remotely related.

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR MISS DIX: I have been engaged for three months to a boy I love dearly. When we became engaged we planned to wait until I was eighteen (a year from now), then have a big wedding, which I have always wanted. Now he says he doesn't want to wait. Whenever I mention wedding plans, he objects to everything I want, until I have become quite depressed. J. F.

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: Neither one of you is ready for marriage and the best thing to do is wait at least the year as you intended originally. Marriage is too serious an undertaking to be entered into if there is any doubt or uncertainty about its success. If the boy truly loves you, he'll be willing to wait.

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR MISS DIX: I'd like your opinion of a certain boy. I graduated from high school with him and, in the four years of school he never dated a girl. He's very handsome and could have had all the dates he wanted. He wasn't playing hard to get, either, but claims he's frightened of girls. Now he's about 25, and still has never had a date. How can he be changed? It's too bad that he isn't interested in girls, as he's a man of fine character, as well as good looks. PUZZLED

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: It seems to me that a man's desire, or lack of it, in dating is a matter of personal choice and is not open to interference.

It's very easy to understand that a handsome man of fine character would send feminine hearts a-flutter, but if he's set in the present state of his existence there's not much you can do but yearn. Aren't there any eligible young men a little more interested?

Soap Carving As A Hobby For Your Boy And Girl

By NANCY CLEAVER

Have you ever thought of soap carving as a possible hobby for you or your child? The whole family, if the youngsters are of school age, might spend a Friday evening discovering what fun it is to experiment with sculpture in soap. A soap carving party has been carried out very successfully by a number of people.

Soap sculpture has the advantage of being both clean and inexpensive. Even the scraps of soap can be used next wash day! The one necessary tool is a pocket knife for cutting or a kitchen paring knife which comes to a sharp point. A large laundry bar of some white soap with an even texture such as Ivory is the medium for carving. This soap should be a fresh cake, purchased especially for this purpose. One which has been used in the laundry is likely to warp.

HANDLE KNIFE WITH CARE

One safety warning for both adults as well as boys and girls is this: Always handle your knife with care. Concentrate on the job on hand and keep your eyes on your work and grasp your knife so that it is always well under control. One slip may mean a cut finger or a ruined carving. Cut carefully toward you as if you were paring fruit.

After smoothing the surface of the soap it is usual to make a drawing of whatever figure or pattern you wish to carve. It is wise to start with a very simple pattern such as a dog or cat. If there is a pet in the home he can act as a model. The design should then be traced on the soap.

In starting to cut away the superfluous soap, do not hurry and do not cut too deeply. Round off the square edges, taking care not to harm the farthest projecting point. Then start work on the front part. Do not attempt to add small details to your caving until you have produced the general outline.

If you wish to paint your piece of soap sculpture use poster paint. Water color tints are too faint. Color has magic for children and it does add a lot to the effectiveness of many pieces of sculpture such as a toy soldier or a Scottie dog. But age gives an ivory tint to soap which is rather charming. A thin coat of clear transparent lacquer protects the surface from dust and exposure.

Sometimes an arm or leg snaps off or more than one cake of soap must be used for a larger design. If two pieces of soap are to be united, they can be attached by using a solution of sodium silicate or a paste made by boiling soap scraps with a little water. If a pin is hidden inside the two pieces (head in one piece and point in the other) just before they are pressed together, this greatly reinforces the connecting process. The soap paste can hide the joining crack or any small cavities.

PLENTY OF ENJOYMENT

The first results of attempts at soap carving may be rather unshapely or even funny. But most people find it satisfying to attempt to create something with their hands. The real value in soap carving does not lie in the product but in the enjoyment of the activity.

Each person can choose to carve whatever he likes. A parent should give a child the minimum of direction. Let him choose his own pattern and work it out in his own way! Soap sculpture may be a fleeting interest. A boy may start with it and go on to whittling boats and figures in wood. But it is a good plan to try out a number of different kinds of handcraft before specializing in any one.

The importance of leisure time when individuals are free to do what they wish is recognized by educational and medical authorities. Children are poor indeed who have received no encouragement from mother and dad to find hobbies which they like. The word hobby comes from "hobby horse" or a toy horse which one rides and rides without arriving at any destination. Thus a hobby is a leisure time activity which is enjoyed as much as a small child enjoys riding his toy mount. Many enthusiastic amateur soap sculptors will testify their particular hobby is great fun!

Readers' Saturday Column

By MARY MOORE

QUESTION:....I wonder if you can come to my help. I'd like to make a forgotten cake which I heard on the radio once....I could't copy it as she called it too fast for me. It is in the form of a meringue that you put in a warm oven around 350 deg. I believe, and then turn the oven off. If you have it and have the space I would appreciate it. Mrs. Wilfrid G.

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: I believe it must be Meringue Torte sometimes known as Schaum Torte that you refer to.

MERINGUE TORTE

Three-quarters cup egg whites (about 6 whites), 2 cups sugar, 1½ teaspoons lemon juice or white vinegar. Beat the whites until they are stiff and hold a point, and then start to add 1 cup of the sugar slowly while beating. Then start adding the lemon juice with the remaining cup of sugar, both slowly, beating constantly. Beat until very stiff and shiny. Line 2 9-inch layer cake tins with paper, and spread the meringue in both of them, making the edges high. Bake at 275 deg. Fahr. for about 60 minutes or until delicately browned and crusty. Cool before removing from pan. If paper sticks to bottom stand meringue on damp towel for a few moments then quickly peel off the paper. These are served filled with ice cream or fresh cut up fruit such as strawberries or peaches, or raspberries or blueberries.

✧ ✧ ✧

QUESTION:....how can I use leftover roast beef? I would appreciate any recipes you have on that subject. Mary P.

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: These are the favorites.

BROWNED HASH

Combine equal quantities of chopped (not ground) cooked roast beef and diced cold or hot cooked potatoes. Season by adding salt and pepper, about 1 or 2 tablespoons finely chopped onion (green preferably), 1 tablespoon chopped parsley. Moisten with brown gravey or cream,—to 2 cups meat and 2 cups potatoes you need at least ½ cup gravy or cream. Spread evenly in lightly buttered frying pan. Brown on one side over low heat until bottom is crispy. This is usually served folded over like an omelette.

SAVORY MEAT PIE

For four people saute in 2 tablespoons hot fat or butter ½ cup each chopped celery and onion until limp but not at all brown. Remove from heat and mix with about 2 or 2½ cups cooked meat cut into ¾-inch cubes, and about ½ cup each cooked vegetables such as green beans, carrots, and potato. Moisten with about 2 cups of leftover gravy. If you do not have enough gravy make it up to 2 cups with medium white sauce.

✧ ✧ ✧

QUESTION: I have just read your soap recipe Here is mine: Put into a large kettle 12 lbs. grease-rinds of pigs' feet and skin and ears and drippings and tallow all can go in. Now add 3 lbs. lye on top off that and 2 pails of soft water. Now start your fire. Have a long stick ready to stir contents in kettle. When it boils once, after that you need less fire or it would boil over. Keep on stirring and watching and boil until grease is all eaten up, and soap and lye separate on stick. It is then boiled about 4 or 5 hours. Then salt off by adding 2 cups salt, 1½ pails water and let boil up, then pull fire out, cover, and let stand till next day. Cut out and put in dry place. This soap never gives one rough hands—rather keeps them healed.

I don't know how women can bake good bread these days without being taught. In my day bread dough got worked till it whistled and texture of our bread was fine and white. When baked it kept soft all week and we baked 12 large loaves to last all week. I'd say all girls ought to learn how to bake bread. It seems the bread they make now don't need muscles. Some day I may send a recipe for fried cakes made with buttermilk. I'm old now and don't bake much. (No signature.)

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: Do send in the recipe for the fried cakes. I'd love to have it. And thanks for the soap method. I fear there would not be many who would have facilities for building a fire, nor the fat nor rind etc. you refer to, however I appreciate this recipe and it may explain the salting off to some of our modern home-made soap makers. Thank you for the other recipes which I will try to use when I have space.

6—In Memoriam

DAINARD—In loving memory of our mother, Mrs. Wesley Dainard, who passed away April 19, 1943.
The depths of sorrow we cannot tell,
Of the loss of one we loved so well,
And while she sleeps in peaceful sleep
Her memory we shall always keep.
—Lovingly remembered by her family.

REVOY—In memory of our darling son, Douglas Roy Revoy, who passed away April 17th, 1952, age four months.
He suffered patiently and long,
His hope was bright, his faith was strong,
The peace of Jesus filled his breast
And in His arms he sank to rest.
—Ever remembered by Mom, Dad, Donna, Neil and Darry.

Allard Climbs Into Hills For Reunion

By BILL BOSS

IN KOREA (CP)—Brig. Jean Victor Allard today donned a tin hat and climbed into the Korean hills for a joyful reunion with his old comrades-in-arms of the 1st battalion, Royal 22nd Regiment.

It was his first meeting in Korea with Lt.-Col. Louis Trudeau, the commanding officer, who was one of his company commanders in Italy during the Second World War where Allard commanded the Battalion.

Brig. Allard, who formally takes over command of the Canadian 25th brigade Monday from Brig. M. P. (Pat) Bogert, was less short of breath than anyone else in his party when the hill summit was reached.

Allard revealed he lost 40 pounds while getting into condition in Canada before coming to Korea. He whittled his weight down to 187 pounds by walking five miles every evening in and around Ottawa.

VISITS BATTALION

On Friday Allard visited the 3rd battalion, the Princess Patricias Canadian Light Infantry, and the Lord Strathcona's Horse.

While Brig. Allard was visiting the 1st battalion of the Royal 22nd, the regiment's 3rd battalion arrived at brigade rear areas. The 3rd battalion is shortly to take over from the 1st battalion. Also reaching brigade rear areas was the 81st Field Regiment, Royal Canadian Artillery.

Meanwhile Maj.-Gen. W. H. S. Macklin, adjutant-general of the Canadian Army, arrived at Seoul Friday evening for an inspection trip in Korea.

FRONT NOISY

The front was noisy at the time Allard was up there. An air strike was being delivered a bare mile away. Tanks were shooting up enemy bunkers and enemy mortar bombs were landing on the forward slopes of the United Nations positions.

Spring now is arriving at front-line areas with blossoming azaleas spreading a lush, mauve, heather-like carpet over the hills and over no man's land territory. Green and wild rice and barley form a contrast to the brown shrubbery and undergrowth which soon will be in leaf.

Foulkes Leaves For NATO Talks

AMSTERDAM, (Reuters)—Lt.-Gen. Charles Foulkes, chairman of the Canadian joint chiefs of staff committee, left here by air today for Paris after a three-day unofficial visit to Holland. He will attend the NATO council talks in Paris.

He had lunch Friday with Queen Juliana and Prince Bernhard.

Foulkes, as commander of the Canadian troops which helped liberate Holland, accepted the German surrender at Wageningen on May 5, 1945.

He came here chiefly to present a bound copy of the surrender documents to the mayor of Wageningen. He is an honorary citizen of the town.

Former Premier To Receive Hon. Degrees

LONDON, Ont. (CP)—A former premier of Ontario, two men prominent in university life, and a leading Canadian journalist are to receive honorary degrees from the University of Western Ontario.

May 30 honorary degrees of doctor of laws will be conferred upon Hon. E. C. Drury, former premier of Ontario and leader of the United Farmers of Ontario government, and Herve Major, news editor of Montreal La Presse and former president of The Canadian Press. An honorary degree of doctor of science will be conferred upon Dr. Charles C. Macklin, long-time head of the department of anatomy at UWO, and now professor of histology.

Dr. G. E. Hall, president of the university, also announced that at fall convocation an honorary doctor of laws degree will be conferred upon Dr. H. R. Kingston, former principal of University College, and dean of the faculty of arts and science.

Mr. Drury, registrar, clerk and sheriff of Simcoe county, was called a "great benefactor of this university" by president Hall. It was during his time in government office that a royal commission on education recommended financial support to UWO.

Dr. Macklin, who is retiring at the end of June, has spent a life time of teaching and research at UWO.

The honor to Mr. Major recognizes his contribution to Canadian journalism. While he was president of The Canadian Press he inaugurated its service in French. President Hall remarked that UWO, with its Trois-Pistoles summer school, has attempted to establish closer relationships between French - speaking and English-speaking Canadians.

Garson Outlines Business Rules

OTTAWA (CP)—Business men Friday night got five rules for staying out of trouble under the government's anti-combines legislation.

Justice Minister Garson, in an address prepared for a meeting of plumbing contractors, laid down these precepts:

"Don't arrange with others to rig prices.

"Don't arrange with others to limit supply or distribution.

"Don't arrange with others to restrain entry into the business.

"Don't practise resale price maintenance. (This practice—that of a supplier putting pressure on a retailer to hold up sale price—was outlawed by Parliament in 1951.)

"Don't make a practice of discriminating among your customers who are competitors of each other by giving one more favorable terms, on the basis of like quantities, than another."

Movie Column

Older Movies May Be Released For TV Shows

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—TV viewers this week saw signs of a break in the film industry's backlog of old movies.

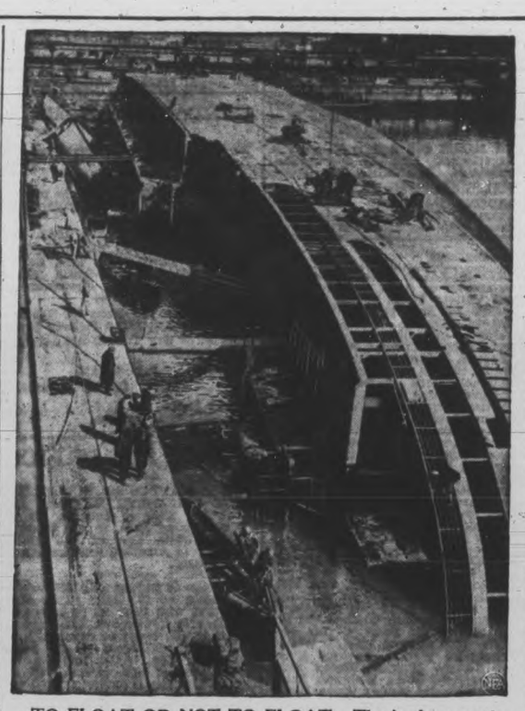
That doesn't mean "Gone With the Wind" or "Samson and Delilah" will be seen on TV in the near future. But it could happen in a few years.

The news came in the annual report to stockholders of 20th Century-Fox. The report foresaw "Millions of dollars" resulting from the possible release of the company's 900 films made since the advent of sound.

"With the advent of cinemascope and other new techniques, it is anticipated that the theatre demand for motion pictures will be generally for pictures of the new types," it said.

"The demand for the older pictures will greatly decrease for theatres. Therefore it is likely these pictures will then be made available for television."

CREATES STIR



This announcement created a stir in the film industry and on Wall street. It was the first time a major studio had indicated it might release its oldies to TV.

Movies have become increasingly important in TV programming. With live-show costs mounting to new highs, stations are seeking more movies to telecast. They are relatively cheap, provide varied entertainment and draw good audience ratings.

But the stations have been scraping the bottom of the movie barrel. The only films available for TV are those made by Republic, Monogram, English and other foreign studios, plus a scattering of Hollywood independents, most of them now defunct.

The major studios need the money they could get from releasing their films to TV. If new-dimensional films would make the old-style movies obsolete, the studios would have an excuse to sell to the home sets.

But would a flood of good old pictures on TV keep people home. Should the studios wait for some kind of pay-as-you-see TV. These are questions that must be answered.

TO FLOAT OR NOT TO FLOAT—That's the question for these workers who swarm over the capsized liner Empress of Canada, in Liverpool, England. The liner burned and sank last January. Experts, confronted with Britain's biggest salvage operation, are determining whether to break the ship up where it lies or float it out of the dock.

Commission May Study Death Penalty Abolition

OTTAWA (CP)—Justice Minister Garson indicated Friday that the government is prepared to set up a royal commission or parliamentary committee to study possible abolition of capital punishment in Canada.

As a result, Ross Thatcher (CCF—Moose Jaw) withdrew his private bill in the Commons seeking abolition of the death penalty for murder.

Mr. Garson, speaking on Mr. Thatcher's bill as it came up for approval in principle, said the question of capital punishment was one of "great importance, complexity and difficulty."

It would be better to deal with it after the criminal law committee had completed its task of consolidating the Criminal Code. The government or commons then could set up a royal commission to consider capital punishment, whipping and the legal definition of insanity.

WOULD LIKE COMMITTEE

The criminal law committee Thursday decided to recommend that Parliament establish a body to consider abolition of the death penalty and whipping and to study wording in the Criminal Code relating to insanity.

Mr. Garson did not indicate whether he is for or against capital punishment. He said he could quote statistics of American states or New Zealand showing that the murder rate was higher than in Canada after capital punishment was abolished there.

But, he added, these statistics are not necessarily relevant. Many other factors besides capital punishment could affect the homicide rate. The matter could not be decided on casual statistics nor newspaper clippings.

Angus MacInnis (CCF—Vancouver East) said he is opposed to capital punishment because taking one life for another was revenge. Civilized society was getting away from the idea of revenge and was taking a moch broader view of protecting society.

"BRUTAL METHOD"

He termed the method of carrying out the death penalty in Canada—by hanging — "brutal" and "most revolting."

J. J. Smith (L—Moose Mountain) said it doesn't make much difference to the man to be executed how it is done—by gallows, guillotine or electric chair—but it does to the victim's friends and relatives. If the death penalty was to be exacted, the electric chair would be more humanitarian.

The cry, which in Japanese means "long live the emperor," was given for the 19-year-old heir-apparent to the Japanese throne.

Akihito said in Japanese he is happy to be in Canada and told those present they should be proud to live in such a country.

The half-hour ceremony in the University of Toronto's convocation hall climaxed a gruelling day for the prince which included a tour of Ontario's Parliament Buildings and a visit to the Steel Company of Canada plant at Hamilton.

Mayor Allan Lamport of Toronto presented the prince with a cigarette lighter and said he hoped "it won't teach you bad habits."

Today he is to visit the Ontario hydro's tunnel project at Niagara Falls.

Planning To Sue PEI Marketing Board

CHARLOTTETOWN (CP)—Murdock Dawson said Friday that he plans to sue the Prince Edward Island potato marketing board, a government agency, for $20,000 for refusing him permission to sell stock below minimum prices.

Dawson said he asked the board for permission to sell table stock potatoes at $1.60 to $1.70 a bushel when the minimum price set by the board was $1.95. He later asked permission to sell seed potatoes at $2 per 100 pounds when the minimum was $3.25. Both times he was refused.

As a result, he said, he still has on hand about 17,250 bushels of his total yield of 30,000 bushels.

He is suing the board to recover his losses.

Predict 60-Mill Rate

WINDSOR, Ont. (CP)—City hall officials predicted Friday a 1953 tax rate of 60 mills compared with the 57-mill levy of last year. Earlier, it was expected a rate of 58 mills would be struck, of which two mills would be earmarked for a proposed civic centre.

Wins Damages Of $28,274

OTTAWA (CP) — An Ontario Supreme Court jury today awarded damages amounting to $28,274 on an action brought by Ronald Arnold Garland of Almonte, against Colonial Coach Lines, Ltd., and bus driver William Leo Carroll of Ottawa, for injuries suffered in an accident last Sept. 11.

Garland suffered serious chest and internal injuries when he drove his automobile into the rear of a bus on highway 44, near Almonte.

The jury held the bus company 85 per cent responsible claiming the bus, which had stopped to pick up a passenger, was not far enough over on the right shoulder of the road. Garland was held 15 per cent responsible on the ground that he did not exercise sufficient caution in view of weather conditions at the time.

A. T. Hewitt, counsel for the defendants, said the case would be appealed. If the damages are upheld by the Court of Appeals, Garland would receive 85 per cent of the $28,274, and Colonel Coach would get from the plaintiff 15 per cent of $1,544 claimed by the company for damages to its property.

Call Police Boat Aid Grounded Tanker

TORONTO (CP) — A Toronto harbor commission police boat was called to the aid of the tanker Lubrolake today when she went aground while trying to enter through the eastern gap of the harbor.

Four crew members of the tanker, owned by Lakeland Tankers, were taken to shore by the police boat. On shore, they rigged a cable to a pier and hauled the ship off the shoal by its own winches.

Shotgun Blast Wounds Driver

WELLAND (CP) — A shotgun blast crashed through the right front window of an automobile today, causing facial wounds to its occupant, police said.

Investigators said they have arrested Mrs. Isabel Baranyi, 37, on a charge of wounding Henry Chernish, 25. They said one pellet wounded Chernist in the nose and another knocked his tooth out. He was treated at hospital but later released.

Raise For Teachers

MEXICO CITY (AP)—President Adolfo Ruiz Cortines has approved salary increases of about $46 a year for Mexico's 47,000 teachers. The raises are expected to head off threats f a teacher strike. Teachers' present salaries range from $35 to $250 a month.

Britain Bans Old-Fashioned Blackboard For The New Colored Chalkboard

LONDON—The Education Ministry is conducting a campaign to ban the old-fashioned blackboard from grammar schools and high schools in Great Britain. They want to replace it with a "chalkboard" in some one of nine brighter colors, so as to produce brighter students.

A Ministry bulletin advising local educational authorities to make the change recommended yellow, green, blue or maroon.

A spokesman explained: "A slab of black on the wall has a tendency to create a dark, depressing, uncomfortable and gloomy atmosphere, whereas brighter colors bring correspondingly bright results."

The new practice, he said, undoubtedly will be beneficial, "just as the modern scheme of playing music during milking periods has succeeded in producing more contented cows."

Colored "chalkboards" already have been introduced in some of the 1,000 new schools built in Britain since the war. Virtually all of the other 28,000 state schools still have the traditional blackboards of wood or slate.

The London "Times" suggested that the Ministry go one step further and enliven the garb of the professors.

"What is the good of having a bright blue blackboard if the pedagogue who uses it . . . continues to be enveloped in a long black gown?" asked the "Times".

The Ministry replied through a spokesman that about 25 per cent. of the 230,000 teachers in British state schools wear black gowns as a symbol of their higher educational degrees, as "tradition" demands.

Urges Russia Abolish Cominform For Peace

NEW DELHI (AP) — India's vice-president, a former ambassador to Moscow, proposed Thursday night that Russia abolish Soviet communism's international arm—the Cominform—as a sign of its peaceful intentions.

Sources close to India's government said Prime Minister Nehru's regime thinks such a development "would be natural and not impossible to hope for" as the culmination of the current Communist peace campaign.

In an interview today, Radhakrishnan said scrapping of the Cominform "would greatly reassure the world that they (the Soviets) have no intention of interfering in affairs of other countries."

Canadians Top U.S. Sale Two Holsteins $5,500 Each

Seventeen Holsteins consigned from Canada averaged $2,048 as compared with the general average of $1,236 for 57 head at the Wolverine Classic Sale, Williamstown, Mich., April 13.

The Wolverine is one of the top annual U.S. Holstein auctions, and the $1,236 average is the highest made on the continent this year.

Two Canadian animals made the highest price of the sale, each bringing $5,500. The first to reach that figure was Fran Lee Lass, All-Canadian three year old for 1951 and Grand Champion at Western Fair, and reserve All-Canadian three year old for 1951 and Grand Champion at Western Fair, and reserve All-Canadian four year old in 1952.

She was consigned by Hardy Shore of Glanworth, and was bought for Forsgate Farms, Jamestown, N.Y.

The second animal to bring $5,500 was Glenafton Laurel Johanna, a daughter of Marksman consigned by J. J. E. McCague, Alliston, Ont. and bought by Elmer Stoltz, Alliston, with M. H. Farms, Milliken, Ont. as runner-up. McCague also received $2,100 for a bull calf from Jos. Mathews, St. Johns, Mich. and $1,375 for a bred heifer from Beiru Acres, Arlington, Ill.

J. E. Houck & Son, Brampton, Ont., secured $4,250 from Forsgate Farms for a four-year-old daughter of the three times All-Canadian A.B.C. Reflection Sovreign and also sold the top bull at $3,500. He was Houckholme Scepter who went to Guillermo Villa, Medellin, Colombia.

C. J. Cerswell, Beeton, sold a Marksman son at $2,000 to William Miller, Flint, Mich., and a five-year-old cow to Elmer Stoltz at $850.

W. W. Thompson, Hornby, Ont., received $2,350 from Albert Seiling, Elmira, Ont., for a two-year-old maternal sister of the Grand Champion at the top U.S. show of 1952, the Dairy Cattle Congress at Waterloo, Iowa.

Harold James, Sarnia, received $1,600 for a five-year-old cow; Wilfred James, Sarnia, $1,025 for a bred heifer; Fox Bros., Guelph, and L. B. Reid, Ripley, $765 each for a pair of bred heifers; and Don Shore, St. Thomas, $675 for a two-year-old.

Highest price for a U.S. animal was $2,975 received by F. K. Merkley, Flint, Mich., from Forsgate Farms, for a four-year-old.

Seven bulls averaged $1,671; 23 milking females $1,260; 21 bred heifers $1,104; 4 open yearlings $737 and 2 heifer calves $1,300.

Roy C. Warwick, Blenheim, bought a bred heifer from Pabst Farms, Oconomowoc, Wis., at $2,650.

Health Of Sixty Senators Vital Factor In Australia

By STAN HUTCHINSON

CANBERRA (AP)—The health of Australia's 60 senators may be a vital factor in the country's politics for years to come.

Australians will elect 32 senators May 9, and the prospect is that the Senate then will be split 30-30 between the Liberal and Country party government team and the opposing Labor party. With power so evenly divided, the death or illness of even one senator could upset party control.

Australia's upper house is elected by the proportional representation system, introduced in 1949. To replace a previous system which reacted so violently to slight fluctuations in political opinion that the Senate opposition once was reduced to only one member.

In the new system, Labor and non-Labor voters are fairly evenly balanced. In the present Senate, the government originally had a 32-28 majority. This has been reduced to a 30-28 majority by the deaths of two government senators.

The senators retire in batches of 30 at alternate three-year elections.

Normally five senators are elected for each of the six states and the party with a slight political edge gains a 3-2 majority.

The two deaths mean that in two states, Western Australia and Tasmania, there will be six vacancies and a 3-3 result is almost inevitable. A 4-2 result would require an improbable 57 per cent vote for one party.

The Australian constitution provides that if a vote in the Senate is evenly divided the proposal is defeated. Thus 30 Labor senators would be able to reject any legislation introduced by the coalition government of Prime Minister Robert Menzies, a Liberal, and Arthur Fadden of the Country party.

After the election, political stability will hang on the senators' health. Senator Nicholas McKenna, Labor party leader in the Senate, puts it this way:

"With evenly balanced members, the absence, death, or resignation of only one senator could alter the whole course of Australian politics."

CANADIAN POW SAYS 15 OTHERS ALIVE

Reds Release 100 PoWs In Exchange

Find Most Patients Received Good Hospital Care

PANMUNJOM, Korea (CP)—One hundred disabled Allied prisoners of war including L./Cpl. Paul Dugal of Quebec City came back to freedom today in a dramatic first exchange of Korean war captives.

They came back, some smiling, some emotionless, some weeping.

The trade — for 500 glum Communist sick and wounded—was the first clear break in long-deadlocked truce talks and could be the prelude to an armistice in the grim 34-month-long war. The talks, suspended last October, resume Saturday.

Dugal, the first returned Canadian, brought the glad news that at least 15 other Canadians are prisoners of the Reds. He produced a notebook with messages from 12 soldiers of the Royal Canadian Regiment, taken prisoner during the battle of Little Gibraltar last Oct. 23.

(In Quebec, his mother, Mrs. Yvonne Dugal, wept when she learned her son was alive.)

Dugal's disclosure of other Canadian PoWs have renewed hope that many of the 28 Canadians listed as missing would turn up alive.

The original list of prisoners handed to the U. S. by the Reds in November, 1951, named only one Canadian PoW, Gnr. John Orval Jenkins, RCA., of Hamilton. He was not among the prisoners exchanged today.

OTHERS FREED

Besides Dugal, the blue-clad Allied prisoners included 30 Americans, 12 Britons, 50 South Koreans four Turks and one each from South Africa, Greece and the Philippines.

Another 100 return Tuesday—35 Americans, 12 British, three Turks and 50 South Koreans, the Reds said today. In all, 605 Allied sick and wounded are being traded for 5,800 Reds.

Those crossing today appeared to be in fair health and well fed. None mentioned unusually harsh treatment in the North Korean prison camps, where some had been since 1950, the first year of the war. But one officer said treatment was "unbelievably poor" before the truce negotiations began, then picked up materially.

Four came back on stretchers; others walked or hobbled on crutches.

Many said the Reds tried to win them to communism, but there was no outward indication of success.

WINTER (?) SCENE—For many spring arrived more than a month ago, but for the people living west of Monaghan Road Sunday, winter was still here. A snow storm blew up late in the afternoon and blanketed the district west of the city. Oddly enough the storm seemed to draw a sharp line down Monaghan Road, for east of there there was little snow. Other sections of the city didn't know the storm existed. Although the snow melted quickly today, the hills west of the city still had white patches. In some low areas, such as the creek running through the Kawartha Golf Club grounds (above), winter is still here.—(Examiner Staff Photo)

Tornadoes Kill 10, Injure 400

Property Damage In Three States Climbs Into Millions

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP)—Pint-sized tornadoes and a strange, hurricane-liked wind battered three southern states during the weekend, killing 10 persons and injuring more than 400.

Property damage climbed into the millions of dollars.

Thousands of homes were wrecked. Hundreds were left jobless when the winds devastated an Alabama cotton mill. Three schools in Columbus, Ga., were so heavily damaged that 2,000 children were being reassigned to other classrooms on a double-session basis.

TRAGIC SIDELIGHT

In a tragic sidelight, eight persons were killed in an automobile collision near Jackson, Ga. Four of the victims were en route to inspect the damage to the family home hit by stiff winds at Montezuma.

With surveys still in progress, 625 homes in Arkansas, Alabama and Georgia were reported destroyed. Approximately 3,500 others were damaged, at least half of them extensively.

Governor Gordon Persons of Alabama estimated the loss in his state between $4,000,000 and $5,000,000. Damage in Arkansas was fixed at about $1,500,000. Georgia damage, confined prinipally to the Columbus area, was estimated at several millions.

The storms, packing gusts of up to more than 100 miles an hour, first struck in northeast Arkansas Saturday night, dipped into central and east Alabama, then slammed into west Georgia.

Will Stand Trial

COLLINGWOOD, — (CP) Walter Fines, 17, of Aurora was committed for trial today when he appeared for preliminary hearing on a manslaughter charge in connection with the hockey game death March 5 of 17-year-old Robert Gillies of Stayner. Gillies died shortly after he crashed head first into the boards during an Ontario Hockey Association junior "C" playoff here between Aurora and Collingwood.

Yoshida Fails To Win Control In Election

TOKYO (AP)—Prime Minister Shigeru Yoshida's Liberal party won 42 per cent of the seats in the powerful House of Representatives Sunday, but Japan's political picture was as cloudy as ever.

Complete returns showed today that the second general election in seven months gave the Liberals 199 seats in the 466-member House—not enough to form a single-party government. It was a loss of five seats.

Yoshida, a strong supporter of the United States, had staked his political future on the balloting, hoping for a majority. However, his foremost rivals lost strength and it was possible Yoshida would pick up enough outside strength to form his fifth cabinet.

The Communists placed one man in the House. They had none last time.

LINE-UP OF SEATS

With only three seats in doubt, this was the line-up: Liberals, 199; Progressives, 76; Left socialists, 72; Right Socialists, 66; Dissident Liberals, 35; Communist 1; others, 17.

Slightly more than 35,000,000, or 73 per cent of the electorate, turned out.

Political observers had predicted that a coalition of Dissident Liberals—who split away from Yoshida last month—Progressives and some Right Socialists would rule.

Favored to head such a coalition was either Ichiro Hatoyama, leader of the Dissident Liberals, or one-legged Mamoru Shigemitsu, Progressive leader.

But the voters turned thumbs down on both. Hatoyama had 39 seats in the last hours and lost ground. Shigemitsu, who put up 169 candidates, saw his strength dwindle from 89 seats.

The Right Socialists picked up strength from their previous total of 60, while the leftists made the biggest leap, from a pre-election total of 56.

Brings Message Brighton Soldier Held In Red Camp

By BILL BOSS

FREEDOM VILLAGE, Korea—(CP)—Paul Dugal, free of captivity, today brought with him word of at least 15 other Canadians he knows to be prisoners of war of the Reds. All had previously been listed as "missing in action". Dugal, a lance-corporal of the Royal 22nd regiment, was the first Commonwealth prisoner to reach Munsan in the exchange of sick and wounded. He carried with him a notebook containing messages from 12 soldiers of the Royal Canadian Regiment captured during the battle for Little Gibraltar hill last Oct. 23 when a company of the unit was overrun.

He said that two men of his own unit, the Royal 22nd, captured Nov. 24, 1951, also were all right, while a third, Pte. A. Baken of Montreal is in hospital.

(Ordinarily the names brought back by Dugal would have been withheld from publication pending notification of next-of-kin. In this instance, since the army has not yet received them at Ottawa, The Canadian Press feels it a vital service to the public that they be made available for publication).

The names:

Royal Canadian Regiment:

L. Cpl. G. A. McKinney, Melita, Man.
P. J. Jollymore, Toronto.
W. Bell, Toronto.
Pte. J. W. Cranston, Hamilton.
Pte. J. E. McInnis, George River, N.S.
Pte. D. F. Orson, Ridgetown, Ont.
Pte. G. E. Griffiths, Brighton, Ont.
Pte. K. H. Dawe, Grand Bend, Ont.
Pte. E. J. R. Fields, Windsor, Ont.
Pte. R. T. Eakin, Guelph, Ont.
Pte. T. E. Rothwell, Stewiacke, N.S.
Pte. R. B. Watson, Toronto.

Royal 22nd Regiment:

Pte. J. A. Bellefeuille, Hull, Que.
Pte. J. T. Allain, Rexton, N.B.
Pte. J. A. Baker, Montreal (in Hospital).

(With minor differences in spelling or address, all these names were listed by the army as "missing in action" in a recapitulation April 9 of Canadians who had been listed as missing or prisoners of war since Canad ans first entered the Korean conflict.)

The arrival of Dugal from enemy custody was like a return from the dead.

The 20-year-old lance-corporal was semi-paralyzed but overwhelmed with joy.

He was captured June 23, 1952, when wounded by a mortar fragment during a raid by the Van Doos. He had literally been given up for dead by the Canadian Army which officially listed him as missing and believed killed.

Dugal's black notebook contained

Airmen Report Seeing Strange Object In Sky

SEOUL (AP)—Four U.S. Army airmen Sunday reported seeing a small "white, rounded, delta-shaped object" flying at 60 to 80 miles an hour over Communist territory on the Korean western front.

An official intelligence report said the sighting was made north of Pork Chop and Old Baldy hills where heavy fighting has raged the last few days.

An officer with a front-line division who asked not to be identified by name told The Associated Press that other luminous objects, traveling at super-sonic speeds of 800 miles per hour, had been observed in the Baldy-Pork Chop area and tracked on radar—also within the last few days.

NO MENTION

However, the official G-2 report made no mention of these other incidents.

The release said:

"At approximately 1 p.m. today (Sunday) aerial observers in two separate planes flying routine reconnaissance missions, observed a white, rounded, delta-shaped object.

"It was estimated to be five to seven feet in diameter. The observers had no idea of its depth or thickness.

"It was travelling between 60 and 80 miles per hour in a vibrating motion. The course of flight was north northeast to south southwest over enemy territory."

Quebec Mother Sobs With Joy, Son Still Alive

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

A grey-haired French-Canadian mother sobbed with joy in Quebec City when she learned that her only son was alive and had been freed from a Communist prison camp in Korea.

"Oh my God . . . I thought he was dead," she cried. "This is the best news I ever got in my whole life."

A little Spanish-speaking mother in New York who had prayed for hours at her church said softly:

"My prayers have been answered, and so soon."

She was happy and thankful that her son had been freed and was coming home.

A youthful wife in Hereford, Tex., almost shouted her joy:

"Oh boy, oh boy, am I happy."

TO SEE DAUGHTER

Her husband was one of the 30 United States prisoners freed Sunday by the Reds, too. She was especially happy he would get to see his two-year-old daughter for the first time.

But for many there was more anguished waiting. Thousands of relatives and friends of the more

Port Hope Pilot Missing On Flight From Gander

HALIFAX—(CP)—Twenty-three American and Canadian military aircraft were ready today to under take a mass search for a private plane missing since Saturday on a flight from Gander, Nfld., to Ottawa.

Aboard were Doug Brooks of Port Hope, pilot; Jock Laurie, navigator, Alan Pye and David Bertrand, engineers, all of Ottawa.

The RCAF search and rescue unit here said three Lancasters had already left the air force's base at Greenwood, N. S., two of them to check on the weather along the route the twin-engine Ventura would normally take.

If conditions were favorable, seven more Lancasters from Greenwood and 13 USAF craft from Harmon Field, Nfld., would join in the hunt. First weather reports favored the early take off of all the craft. The search will be concentrated in the Harmon area and the Gulf of St. Lawrence.

STANDING BY

An RCAF para-rescue team was standing by at Harmon.

The plane, owned by Spartan Air Service Ltd., was on the last leg of a flight from Liberia, Africa, where it was doing an aerial survey for the United States government.

One search plane owned by the Spartan firm, a two-seater P-38, crashed at Sept Iles, Que., airport early today. The pilot, James Lago of Ottawa, and an unidentified crew member, escaped injury but the plane was reported wrecked.

Rescued Woman Falls To Death

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—A young Miami housewife being rescued from a sinking boat in Biscayne bay lost her grip on a Coast Guard helicopter cable Saturday and dropped 110 feet to her death.

The Coast Guard identified the woman as Mrs. Loretta Jean Lawter, 19.

Her husband, Oren, 24, who watched in horror as she fell back into the bay, said the rescuers didn't allow him enough time to strap her into the harness at the end of the rescue cable.

The crew aboard the helicopter reported that both Oren and his brother, Andrew, 28, also of Miami, gave them the "high sign" before they began hauling the woman aloft.

The Lawter brothers and their wives had gone fishing in a 16-foot outboard motorboat. High waves clogged the motor and the boat capsized, spilling them into waist-deep water.

As the boat started to come apart, the Coast Guard helicopter, came over on its routine nightly check. Its rescue cable was lowered and Andrew's wife, Susan, was taken aboard.

Loretta went up next and Andrew said no time was allowed to buckle the harness around her.

Girl Trapped In Car, Nine Hours In Creek

OTTAWA (CP)—Critically injured after a 60-foot plunge off a bridge in an automobile, Christine Carol Decary kept her head above the cold waters of a creek for nine hours Sunday before she was rescued.

Thomas John Batty, 17, on his first date with the 15-year-old Ottawa high school girl, was killed when his car crashed through the concrete railing of the bridge. His body was found in the creek 50 feet from the wrecked car.

Christine suffered possible internal injuries, a dislocated hip and extreme shock in the mishap about four miles south of here at a bridge spanning Mosquito creek. Hospital officials said she will likely recover.

The young couple went to a drive-in theatre and were returning home when the car went over the bridge. The car, upside down in the creek, was discovered about 8 a. m. by William Birtch, of nearby Gloucester.

The girl was trapped in the front seat. A tractor from a nearby farm hauled the car far enough out of the water to free the injured girl. By that time she was unconscious.

Two Youths Charged With Car Theft

BARRIE, Ont. (CP)—Two youths were charged Sunday with car theft and reckless driving after the auto in which they were riding overturned at the town limits.

Police charged John Paus and John Vaillaincourt, both 18, of Penetanguishene, with theft of the car owned by William Burk of Port McNicoll.

Provincial police chased the car on Highway No. 27, south from Penetanguishene to Barrie, at speeds up to 100 miles an hour. The car carrying the youths overturned as they attempted to turn onto the Toronto-Barrie highway.

Vaillaincourt suffered severe cuts. Paus was only slightly injured.

Dulles Presents Defence Program

WASHINGTON (AP)—State Secretary John Foster Dulles flies to Paris this week to advocate a long-range European defence program designed to meet a continuing Soviet threat during a period of 20 or 30 years.

Dulles says that what he calls the Soviet "peace defensive" has produced no evidence to indicate the Kremlin is abandoning aggressive policies or that the Free world would be justified in letting down its guard.

He does say it may bring an armistice in Korea.

The secretary told the American society of Newspaper Editors here Saturday night that Russia has yet to respond in action to the test which President Eisenhower outlined in his world peace plan last Thursday.

In going to Paris Tuesday ,he will head the U. S. delegation at a meeting of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization council. It opens Thursday.

Bandleader Collapses Twice In 18 Hours

BOSTON (CP)—Bandleader-clarinetist Benny Goodman, who collapsed Sunday night for the second time in 18 hours, was scheduled to be moved to a New York hospital today in an ambulance equipped with an oxygen tent.

He spent the night in an oxygen tent in his Hotel Ritz-Carlton Suite. A doctor said his condition was not serious enough to warrant immediate hospital treatment.

However, John Hammond, brother-in-law of the 43-year-old clarinetist, said "we don't think it was a heart attack."

Hammond added: "The cause seems to be sheer exhaustion from Benny's current nation-wide concert tour. He had only four hours sleep in the four days before his first collapse Sunday.

Pakistan Casts Lot With Western World

KARACHI (AP)—Pakistan's new prime minister, Mohammed Ali, in an interview today cast the lot of his regime behind the West in world affairs.

"We just do not have much in common with the Soviet Union," he declared.

He stressed Pakistan's need for 1,000,000 tons of U. S. wheat to meet a food crisis.

The 44-year-old prime minister, interviewed on his sick bed where he is suffering from dysentery, said Pakistan, "most certainly belongs to the Free world, and whether in America you like it or not the mantle of leadership of the Free world has fallen upon you. We value freedom as highly as you do."

Mohammed Ali, was Pakistan's first high commissioner to Canada and more recently ambassador to the U.S.

Prisoners Dined Before Release

MOSCOW (CP)—Six British civilians and an Irish priest told today how their North Korean captors wined and dined them for 19 days before handing them over to the Russians.

The seven internees, caught early in the Korean war, arrived in Moscow today on the trans-Siberian express. British embassy officials met them at the station and whisked them to the embassy building for a rest before their scheduled return to Britain Tuesday.

A spokesman for the group told a press conference they had spent almost their entire internment in a North Korean farmhouse. He said they were told of their impending release March 20 and driven to Pyongyang, the North Korean capital, in trucks.

There, he said, they were feted with dinners, wines and caviar. This "festive atmosphere" went on until April 8 when the North Koreans agreed to their release at Moscow's request, he said.

Fourteen French civilians also interned by the North Koreans are due here early next week.

The Britons who reached here today included Capt. Vyvyan Holt, Britain's minister to the South Korean government in 1950; Bishop Cecil Cooper, Anglican bishop of Korea; Vice-Consul George Blake; Norman Philip Owen, legation clerk; Herbert Arthur Lord, Salvation Army commissioner; Philip Deane, correspondent of the London Observer, and Father Thomas Quinlan, a native of Republic of Ireland.

3 of Gloucesters Returned in POW Swap

Indoctrination Described By Prisoners; Conditions Some Better

PANMUNJOM, Korea (Reuters) Veterans of a hopeless last-ditch battle that has already taken its place with Britain's greatest military epics emerged smiling with "thumbs up" signs, from Communist hands into freedom here today.

Three members of the "Glorious Gloucesters" were among the 12 Britons liberated in the first prisoner exchange. They had been in Communist hands almost two years since their battalion was overwhelmed on April 26, 1951, after blunting the all-out Communist spring drive on Seoul.

Two of the three Gloucesters immediately faced newspapermen and hastily described their life in prison camps before being whisked off by helicopter for a hospital in Seoul.

The third, Cpl. L. A. Manley, was considered too ill to face the press.

Cpl. W. Greenaway of Stramore, Northern Ireland, told correspondents at Munsan he was captured at the end of the Gloucester's three-day battle.

HAD BAD FOOD

"For the first few months the Communists gave us very bad food —sorghum beans and later on potatoes and rice," he said.

"But the Communists did not make any particular attempt to indoctrinate us.

"Living conditions improved in the camps later on and we eventually had a library filled with English classics and other serious reading matter," the 22-year-old soldier said.

L. Cpl. A. A. Hunt, another veteran of the Gloucesters, said "conditions improved as we went along and they now are just about cleaned up."

"Prisoners' mail was censored, but we were not forced to write anything against our will," he said.

PLENTY OF SPORT

He said that prisoners at his camp had opportunity for "plenty of sport" and were allowed to swim in a nearby river. "The only work we did was for our own benefit."

The men, in their first interviews, gave no word of the fate of other members of their shattered outfit. Between 500 and 600 members of the Gloucestershire Regiment were either killed or wounded in the Imjin river battle, when they refused to withdraw or surrender after being surrounded by a Communist army. Only about 40 regained the safety of Allied lines.

Other returned Britons voiced few complaints over their treatment and said little attempt had been made to feed them Communst propaganda.

Other Allied soldiers freed today by the Communists brought with them fears acquired during captivity and the knowledge that close friends remain behind.

On the surface the men appeared well. There were few litter cases among the 50 non-Koreans returned.

Many had amazingly minor ailments and some wondered why they had been selected when more seriously wounded men remained behind—perhaps to come south later.

Their burdens were starkly outlined more by what was left unsaid. One man was near tears with happiness. But when he was asked if felt any bitterness toward the men who held him prisoner for more than two years he would say only:

"I would rather not answer that."

Some involuntarily kept referring to the Chinese Peoples Volunteers and the Korean Peoples Army rather than the natural way of calling them simply the Chinese and North Koreans.

Some told of indoctrination and others of propaganda and inadequate housing, clothing, and medical care. Only a small handful were outspoken in their criticism of the Reds.

At the exchange point of Panmunjom, where the Communists were still present, there was little jubilation.

At Freedom Village, with the communists far behind, some men emerged from the ambulances with laughter, broad smiles and obvious joy.

None displayed obvious leaning toward communism. Yet almost all told of Communist indoctrination classes and lectures that they believed had swayed "a few" United Nations soldiers.

The picture added up to this: The Communists tried hard before the armistice talks started to indoctrinate Allied personnel but shifted to more indirect methods once the peace talks started.

In the first year of the war Communist prison camps and facilities were cruelly inadequate but since improved, although in the last year the camps have sometimes "toughened" when the armistice talks at Panmunjom slowed.

The United Nations soldier is unlikely to be swayed by Red propaganda.

Danish Luxury Liner Burns

Believe Electric Fault Sparked Blaze . . . . .

HARWICH, England (AP)—The Danish luxury passenger ship Kronprins Frederik rolled over on its side today after being swept by fire.

Flames still shot from the forward upper deck and a fire official said the 3,895-ton ship, even though half-submerged, might go on burning for two or three days.

At high tide only three feet of the vessel was above water.

Firemen had been forced to run for safety earlier when the ship listed sharply.

The Kronprins Frederik, on the Harwich-Esbjerg run, was discharging a cargo when it caught fire Sunday. Most of its crew of 80 had gone ashore.

There were no passengers aboard.

As the flames, believed caused by an electrical fault, raced through the lower deck the few crew members on board dashed for the dock. Two crew members, however, were burned in an attempt to beat out the flames.

The twin-screw, oil-burning liner was built in 1941. She has been making twice-weekly voyages between Danish and English ports.

U.K. Supports Declaration

Churchill Backs Eisenhower Speech On Cold War

LONDON (AP)—Prime Minister Churchill today officially associated the British government with President Eisenhower's declaration of April 16 calling on the Soviet Union to end the cold war.

The Prime Minister told the House of Commons:

"The government and probably all the countries of the free world will be glad to associate themselves with his (Eisenhower's) sincere expression of these ideals and aims to which we all subscribe."

Eisenhower asked Russia to show evidence of peaceful intentions and to allow the whole world to turn from the production of arms to fighting poverty.

Churchill made his statement today in answer to a question from Herbert Morrison, deputy Labor party leader.

Aneurin Bevan, leader of the left-wing faction of the labor party, has criticized Eisenhower's bid to Russia as "demanding everything and giving nothing."

The Bevan view, however, was not accepted by the moderate wing of the party.

Morrison himself welcomed Churchill's statement and said:

"In the meantime let us hope that all the statesmen of all the western democracies will be equally co-operative and forthcoming and let us hope that nobody will say anything which is liable to discourage the somewhat improved atmosphere of the international situation."

Party Branded Soviet Puppet

WASHINGTON (AP)—A government board today branded the U. S. Communist party as "a subsidiatry and puppet of the Soviet Union" and ordered the party to bare its membership lists and give a financial accounting.

The order is subject to review by the courts.

The four present members of the subversive activities control board agreed unanimously that the party "is substantially directed, dominated and controlled" by Moscow.

The party, the board said, "operates primarily to advance the objectives" of a Russian-directed world Communist movement.

Indications are that it will be a year or more before the Supreme Court has the final say on constitutionality of the 1950 Internal Security (McCarran) Act under which the board acted.

Lawyers for the Communist party served notice in advance of the decision that they would ask the courts to declare the law illegal. They have called it "a lawless law."

COMMUNISM TAUGHT

One prisoner said "they showed us photos" on germ warfare, Red charges which have been vigorously denied by the United Nations command and Washington.

"Some believed it," added another.

Cpl. Kenyon Wagner of Detroit, a tuberculosis patient, said Allied soldiers were "exposed to Communist literature and study was encouraged."

Asked if any had turned Communist, Wagner replied: "I could not say."

Wagner said he was given "the whole works" in medical treatment including modern drugs.

Some prisoners said they had seen Russians in North Korea, but others said they had seen none.

"We saw plenty of girls," said another.

From Panmunjom, the prisoners were rushed by helicopter and ambulance to Munsan's "Freedom Village" for medical care and interviews, then on to hospital at Seoul.

FORWARD REPORT

Capt. George Ganner, 25, of Toronto reported to Freedom Village and joined the international medical team handling the Allied prisoners. He examined Dugal and said a thorough medical report was being forwarded today to Ottawa.

Some prisoners were expected to leave Tuesday for Japan on the next leg of a trip back to the United States.

The Allied men came down from their North Korean prison camps in trucks, Russian jeeps and ambulances. The Reds were moved up from South Korea by train to Munsan and then here in ambulances.

First American across the line was Pte. Carl W. Kirchenhausern of New York. He limped from frostbite on his feet.

As the men checked out of the reception tent they boarded helicopters and ambulances for Freedom Village.

One had a bottle of Chinese beer in his hip pocket. Another had a bottle of wine.

All wore new, blue Chinese uniforms, peaked caps and black tennis shoes the Communists gave them at Kaesong, six miles up the road.

TEAR NEW UNIFORMS

In contrast, some Chinese who went back had soiled and torn the new uniforms given them by the UN.

A large number of the Reds refused breakfast in a haughty manner before they started for the Communist side.

There was laughter from several of the returning Allied soldiers.

Others stumbled from the ambulances a bit bewildered, as if they could not believe they were at last out of the hands of the Reds.

As quickly as the Allied prisoners could be sent south, they started moving.

Gen. Mark Clark, UN Commander, met them at Freedom Village and shook hands with nearly all.

To Pte. Donald K. Legay of Leominister, Mass., a prisoner of the Reds for 29 months, Clark said:

"Do you feel good?"

Legay answered: "Damn right."

IN TWO GROUPS

The 100 Allied soldiers came back in two groups. The second group of 50 seemed a bit more cheerful than the rest. Most waved through windows of the ambulances as they drove up to the Allied receiving tents.

At the Communist tent, where the Allied command delivered the 100 Chinese and 400 North Korean disabled, everything seemed to move smoothly.

UN correspondents who went to the Red receiving centre were asked to leave the scene. Communist correspondents were permitted to stay.

The UN command said today 500 Chinese sick and wounded were on their way from Pusan by train for Tuesday's exchange.

Discrepancies Noted On List

OTTAWA (CP)—All 15 Canadians listed by Paul Dugal, released Canadian prisoner of war in Korea, as men he knows to be prisoners of war, appeared as missing in action in an army list issued April 9. However, there were several slight discrepancies.

The April 9 list, a recapitulation of previously-announced casualties, listed a Pte. R. T. Eakins, of the Royal Canadian Regiment, whose next of kin, his wife, lives at (34A Crok St.,) Guelph, Ont. Pte. Dugal's list had a Pte. R. T. Eakin of Guelph.

The army listed Pte. T. E. Rothwell's next-of-kin as his wife, Mrs. Marion Ina Rothwell, of (16 Queen St. N.,) Dundas, Ont. Pte. Dugal's list gave Rothwell's home town as Stewiacke, N. S.

In two cases the initials differed. The army listed Cpl. F. J. Jollymore of Toronto, and Pte. E. J. McInnis of Little Bras d'Or, Cape Breton, N. S., while Pte. Dugal's list named Cpl. P. J. Jollymore of Toronto and Pte. J. E. McInnis of George River, N. S.

In all other cases, spelling initials and home towns tallied exactly in the two lists.

Prices Drop Sharply On Market Trading

TORONTO (CP)—Prices dropped sharply in early afternoon stock market trading today.

Base metals reached their lowest point since late 1950 with a drop of more than three points on the exchange index.

Industrials also lost almost three points to reach a 1952-53 low. Western oils and golds were weak. Volume for the first three hours totalled 1,882,000 shares.

Uraniums continued weak and New Brunswick base metals traded lower. Northern Ontario rare metals slipped.

Steels, utilities and miscellaneous issues led the losses in industrials. Papers, constructions, refining oils, banks and foods slipped.

Higher-priced base metals weakened. Holding companies were weakest in golds. Seniors traded lower and juniors weakened.

Few gains were recorded in western oils. Husky, New Superior and Anglo-Canadian slipped.

Russia Says Formosa Backing Guerrillas

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)—Russia told the United Nations today the presence of Chinese Nationalist guerrillas in Burma threatens the peace and security of the Far East.

The Soviet declaration was made by Georgi N. Zarubin before the general assembly's 60-nation political committee which is debating a Burmese complaint against the Chiang Kai-shek government.

Zarubin disputed assertions of the Chinese Nationalists that the forces in Burma were an independent unit over which Chiang Kai-shek had no control.

"There is no question," he said, 'that the Kuomintang group in Formosa directly operates the forces in Burma."

than 1,200 prisoners of war in Red camps had watched television programs and listened to the radio. Their hopes were dashed for the time being, at least.

Some 90 more North Americans are to be returned by the Communists in the historic exchange at Freedom Village in Korea within the next 10 days.

From all over the continent came stories of aging, greying mothers who took new hope when they heard their sons had been released and would come home. For them the months and years of waiting had been long and trying.

MOST DRAMATIC

Probably the most dramatic of all was Mrs. Yvonne Dugal of Quebec. She had been advised by the Canadian department of defence last June that her son was believed killed.

Sunday L. Cpl. Paul Dugal of the Royal 22nd Regiment was the first Commonwealth soldier to reach freedom and the first Canadian repatriate.

"Things happened so fast, I don't know what to say," Mrs. Dugal, a widow, said.

"I'm so excited and tired that I just can't think properly I've been sick for a couple of days now, but this wonderful news has given me a bigger lift than anything else possibly could.

"I'm going to pray that when he comes back he won't ever go away again."

The last time Mrs. Dugal heard from her son was June 19, 1952. Badly wounded by a mortar shell, he was taken prisoner a few days later.

Another was Mrs. Inocencio Medina, 52-year-old Puerto Rican-born woman who lives in New York's Bronx. She went not to her radio to listen but to her church to pray that her boy might be sent home. After hours in prayer she returned late Sunday night to find her prayers answered and a joyful, shouting celebration in her home The son, Pte. Raymond Medina, 26, enlisted in Puerto Rico, although he is American born. He was reported a prisoner 28 months ago.

Brings Messages

good tidings not only for the families of the 15 Canadians whose names it contained. Also in it were the names of 20 United States soldiers and two French troops who are prisoners. The notebook, tucked into a pocket of the padded blue prisoner's coat he wore when he was brought by helicopter from the Panmunjom exchange site to Munsan, held messages from the 12 men of the Royal Canadian Regiment.

HIT IN HEAD

Dugal was hit in the head by the mortar fragment and his left arm and leg paralyzed. Medical officers said he is "in pretty good shape generally but it is a toss up how much function he will recover."

A thorough medical report was being forwarded today to Ottawa by Capt. George Vanner, 25, of Toronto, who reported at Freedom Village during the day to join the international medical team ready to handle prisoners of war returned by the Communists. Vanner examined Dugal at Munsan.

Doctors refused reporters permission to interview the first returned Canadian prisoner They said this was partly because of his condition—although cheerful, he is nervous and his resistance still is low—and partly to enable word that he is still alive to reach his parents through official channels first.

UNCONSCIOUS 10 WEEKS

The tough, stocky little French-speaking Canadian told Brig. Jean Allard, commander-designate of the Canadian 25th brigade, that for 10 weeks after his capture he lay unconscious in a North Korea field hospital.

Allard was at Munsan to represent Brig. M. P. Bogert, who now commands the Canadian brigade, as a result of a conference late Sunday night when both commanders intuitively felt that a Van Doo would figure in the exchange. Bystanders said it was a dramatic moment when during preliminary questioning Dugal gave his name and Allard identified himself in French.

Dugal told questioners that the last thing he remembered after his wounding was a comrade saying: "We are going to take you back to the battalion."

He was vagely conscious of being alone, then of a Chinese soldier finding him. He next became conscious briefly in hospital when he thought he was in Japanese hands.

Only more than 2½ months after his capture did Dugal realize that he was a prisoner.

"He hadn't very many kicks about his treatment and is obviously well nourished," said Vanner. "He doesn't look as though he was operated on but he says the Communists did an x-ray.

"For the last four months he has been out of hospital since he is able to walk around a bit."

LEARNS ALL OVER

Dugal is left-handed and because the wound affected his left side he is still learning to write and do other things with his right hand.

"But he sat up to eat his dinner of steak, potatoes and beans, with peaches and ice cream for dessert, getting everything do capably," the medical officer continued.

Allard stayed near Dugal for nearly 3½ hours while the freed prisoner was at Munsan.

"When I spoke to him in French you should have seen his face—it just lit up," said Allard. "And when I told him I was an old Van Doo he nearly kissed me."

For the helicopter trip Dugal was stowed in a U. S. Army sleeping bag for warmth.

Inside the tent where the processing took place Dugal asked permission to keep his prisoner clothing.

TRYING TO ARRANGE IT

Allard said: "I am trying to arrange it. If I succeed, I will look after sending his kit myself."

Allard quoted Dugal as saying the only French-language reading material in the prison camp was the Paris Communist newspaper, L'Humanite, and Communist propaganda literature.

Dugal said there were lectures on communism as the only other distraction apart from organized sports in which he was unable to participate.

Dugal's particular buddies were two French soldiers who were captured last Oct. 6.

HEARD RUMOR

The Van Doo lance- corporal told Allard that the prisoners first heard of the possibilities of repatriation by rumor just a month ago. Subsequent improvements in the food they were given seemed to confirm the report.

When Dugal handed Allard his list of other Canadians in Communist hands, the brigadier summoned a typist to copy Dugal's information for speedy forwarding to Ottawa.

(The only previous report showing a Canadian PoW was the one the Reds handed to the U.S. in November, 1951. It named Gnr. Orval Jenkins of Hamilton, Ont., as a PoW.)

Medical officers said indications were that Dugal would remain in the Commonwealth hospital at Kure only long enough to build up his strength to travel home for an operation.

Murray St. Starts Renovation

A renovation project estimated to cost $15,000 started today at Murray St. Baptist Church.

The Rev. Ivan C. Morgan of Murray St. Church said today that the project includes redecoration of the church auditorium, the installation of new light fixtures throughout the church and complete re-wiring of the building.

The new fixtures in the church auditorium will be of the cathedral lantern type.

Services will be carried on as usual during the renovation which is expected to be completed in a month.

Learn Son Alive Pair Speechless

WINDSOR (CP)—Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Eugene Fields were speechless today when they heard reports that their son, whom they had believed dead since last October, is alive in a Communist prison camp in North Korea.

The couple could only gasp: "He's alive! He's alive." Pte. Eugene Fields had been reported missing in action last October after a fight on Little Gibraltar hill in Korea.

Mr. Fields' eyes filled with tears when he heard the news.

"After he was reported missing, we got a few letters written before the battle," he said. "We got a parcel from him, a fishing outfit for me and a Japanese kimona for his mother.

"Then we didn't hear again, except for a letter from Ottawa saying they thought he had gone too far behind enemy lines."

The news that Fields is a prisoner of war came from a wounded Canadian who was released in the prisoner exchange of sick and wounded troops at Freedom Village in Korea.

No Great Progress In Freeing Oatis

NEW YORK (AP)—The board of directors of The Associated Press said today there has been no "substantial, discernible progress" toward obtaining the release of William N. Oatis from a Czechoslovakian jail.

Oatis, chief of the AP bureau in Prague, was jailed two years ago on charges of espionage. He is under a 10-year sentence.

The board noted also, in its report for the annual membership meeting, that another AP employee, photographer Frank Noel, is still a prisoner of war in Korea.

The board said the last year was one of "continuing accomplishment" by the AP. The scope and content of the news report won repeated praise from the membership; news and newsphoto services were extended to distant parts of the world, and operation of teletypesetter service became country-wide.

Sees No Fear Of Depression For United States

NEW YORK (AP)—Treasury Secretary George M. Humphrey said today the United States is "not headed for depression" whether there is a truce in Korea or even a real peace.

"There is no reason to fear peace," he said.

In his first address since he took office in the Eisenhower administration, Humphrey outlined a fiscal policy that called for a reduction in taxes when governmental expenses "are under control."

His address was for more than 1,000 editors and publishers attending the annual luncheon of members of The Associated Press, worldwide news gathering co-operative.

"Taxes must come down," he said. "It's simply a matter of timing geared to reduction of expense. Both are too high and both must by reduced.

"The reduction of taxes, however, is one of the best guarantees we have against the fear of depression, in the event that peace makes possible curtailment of government defence spending."

Humphrey said any fear of a depression if defence spending is reduced is unjustified. He said the country's industrial plant "is already geared to increased civilian production."

Tax Rate Same As 1952 Levy In Campbellford

CAMPBELLFORD (ENS) — Town council held a special meeting Saturday morning to pass the bylaw setting the tax rate for 1953.

Mayor R. J. Locke brought up the matter of planting shade trees along the bank of the canal at the approach to town along Highway 30. The Mayor said he believed silver maples could be used, rather than poplars, as had previously been decided on, without much increase in cost. A motion was passed that the matter be left in the hands of the Mayor, with power to act.

Tenders were received and filed for a supply of fill for the proposed Canal Park and the clerk was instructed to send a copy to T. J. Ryan, superintendent of the Trent Canal.

Ladies of the Hospital Auxiliary were granted permission to hold a tag day on May 23.

Councillor G. H. Free gave a complete verbal report on the meeting of the local deputation with the Department of Municipal Affairs, regarding the high school area. A motion was then passed that the mayor arrange a meeting of representatives of the town and the townships of Percy and Seymour, as soon as a report is received from the Minister of Education.

A resolution passed at a joint meeting of the industrial committee of council and the industrial committee of the Chamber of Commerce, regarding the appointment of Alex P. Wales, industrial consultant, to act on behalf of the town in England, was adopted. The clerk was instructed to notify Mr. Wales that the town would pay him a $600 retainer for one year, with a bonus of $1,000 should he place an industry here employing 50-200 employees, and $1,500 for one employing more than 200 employees.

Sid Happing, of the Public School Board, addressed the council, explaining the increase in the public school budget for this year.

350 Arrive From Ireland Seeking Jobs

By KINGSLEY BROWN Jr.

HALIFAX (CP)—A group of 350 Irish immigrants arrived here Saturday aboard the Cunard liner Georgic with money and jobs on their minds.

David Corbett, a 35-year-old Belfaster, wanted to know if Canadians are a "saving" people.

"I mean, do they make enough money to put some in the bank?" He wanted to know if all he was told about Canada was true. His reason for coming was the same as those who left Northern Ireland in the lean late 20s; unemployment, low wages and high living costs.

"Most of us made enough to live, but we couldn't save anything, not a quid," said Corbett who earned about £7 ($19.60) weekly as a furniture store salesman and paid £5 for lodging and food.

"Could I make enough money to support myself and my wife when she comes to Canada? She now makes £4 a week as a tailoress but I've heard she could make £15 over here."

HOPES FOR JOB

He hopes to find a job in Toronto.

Majority of the immigrants, largest such group to leave the country in 25 years, are farmers coming under an assistance scheme whereby the Canadian government loans them $196 each and finds them a job. Most are bound for Alberta, like Joseph Laverty, 21, of County Armagh, who often worked a 70-hour week for $16.

Bill White, 27, who worked as an aero fitter at the royal navy yard in Belfast for £7 11s weekly, hopes to land a job at an aircraft factory in Ontario.

White, who "couldn't save anything" after providing for his wife and infant daughter, said about six workers leave the Belfast plant every month for Canada.

He said 50,000 persons were unemployed in Northern Ireland.

FRANKFURT (AP)—An occasion in Germany which used to call out bands, flags, stiff-armed salutes and marching feet passed unnoticed today. It was the 64th anniversary of Hitler's birth.

Dr. Malan Will See It Through

By electing supporters of Dr. Malan's party to a majority of seats a minority of the voters of South Africa have decided that the racial segregation policies which Dr. Malan has introduced will be continued to their bitter end. And a bitter end it is likely to be. There have already been violence and bloodshed, and more not less can be expected to follow as the hard hand of white supremacy is laid on the vast majority of the people—the Indians, the negroes, the half-castes. The policy of apartheid is altogether likely to tear the country apart, unless the severest form of dictatorship is imposed. Which is preferable, we do not know. Perhaps South Africa is seeking to earn the title Darkest Africa.

* * *

What the status of the Union will be in the Commonwealth depends entirely on Dr. Malan's party. Dr. Malan himself is considered more moderate than a couple of his leading henchmen. He is old and ailing. Dr. Malan himself feels no great tie with the Commonwealth, his possible successors feel none at all. Considering the shape which South Africa is taking internally, many Commonwealth people outside the Union of South Africa would not be further saddened if the Union decided to become a Republic.

* * *

As we have said before in these columns, the racial problems of South Africa are very complex, very acute. We think however, that the Malan Government has taken a backward turn in dealing with them and that the voters who cast their ballots for the Malan candidates in last week's elections have compounded his mistakes by their errors in judgement. The most distressful land in the Commonwealth today is South Africa, as a consequence of blind prejudice, distorted intelligence, and blundering fear, and, of course, the basic fact of a fringe of white people around an explosive bulk of coloured people.

An Election In Nova Scotia

Premier Angus L. Macdonald has called for a provincial election in Nova Scotia on May 26, and already a few papers have suggested that its outcome may give some hint as to what may happen in the approaching Dominion contest. We shall be surprised if it does so. Time and again provinces have shown that they are entirely ready to vote one way provincially and quite another way federally; indeed, many voters think that such a course is politically astute, and keeps the affairs of the country well balanced. Certainly we cannot regard a contest in Nova Scotia as indicative of the temper of the country as a whole.

For one thing, Premier Macdonald is immensely popular on a personal plane; he appeals to the electorate not only as a party leader but as a man very widely known and liked; he is that unusual figure in Canadian public affairs, the scholar-politician, and there is about him also that touch of the Scottish laird which must have a strong appeal in a province with strangely Scottish antecedents. It is true that he faces, in Robert Stanfield, an opponent who comes of a highly-regarded Nova Scotia family with a political tradition; Mr. Stanfield has brought the Conservative party in his province back, literally, from the tomb. Our own prediction, based upon the most careful possible study of all the material available to us—that is to say, our guess—is that Mr. Stanfield will make some further gains, but that he will not defeat Mr. Macdonald. (And like all political prophets, we shall now hastily add that a last-minute change of temper could upset this careful forecast.)

We shall watch the Nova Scotia contest with keen interest, but not because we expect it to throw any light on the Dominion election. We watch Nova Scotia because it is important in itself, and because it has as interesting a political life as any province in Canada.

How The British Government Spends Its Money

The Chancellor of the Exchequer told the British House of Commons in his budget address last week that total government expenditure for 1953-54 will be £4,259 million, apart from special items "below the line"—like loans for housing. The broad division of this expenditure is interesting. Defence will take £1,497 million—an increase of £120 over last year. Civil expenditure is estimated at £2,089 million—£60 million less than last year. The rest is for debt charges and other consolidated fund services.

Defence expenditures totalling £1,497 million—about 4,145,000,000 Canadian dollars—are heavy, considering Britain's difficult financial position in world markets. Canada is spending about a billion and a half dollars on defence this year. This is slightly more than Britain's proposed expenditures, reckoned according to comparative populations. We wonder which is getting better value for its defence money: Britain with all her far-flung ships, planes and men in uniform, or Canada, spending about a third of what Britain is spending, but certainly having much less than a third to show for it?

Britain's civil supply expenditure of £2,089 million includes £1,264 million for social service—sixty per cent. of that total. This is an increase of £80 million over last year. It is interesting, however, that more millions are being spent on defence than on all Britain's expanded civil services and social benefits. The National Health Service, including civil defence, will cost £411 million. Education, including grants to universities, will cost £286 million. Both these are an increase over last year. The remainder of the provision for social services includes £128 million for national assistance (pensions and the like), national insurance and family allowance £183 million, war pensions £89 million, housing grants £70 million, and exchequer contributions to local revenues £68 million.

It is difficult to equate these British terms with Canadian, because the exchange dollar rate on the pound is not an exact representation of comparative values. The British pound may be only $2.77 in Canada, but it is worth far more in Britain in terms of goods and services. But however the calculation may be made, the provision of £220 million for food subsidies shows that Britain is far from having a free economy.

Caribbean Federation Discussed

An interesting current project in federation has been discussed in London, England, last week. It is the proposed Caribbean Federation, and this meeting could only be regarded as a preliminary, although some optimism has been expressed regarding the eventual union of the islands and areas of the Caribbean Sea. Some spokesmen have gone so far as to express confidence that federation of these units will actually take place within the next five years.

A glance at the map could leave one with the impression that the component units of the Caribbean area are not far apart. That is far from being the case: Kingston, Jamaica, for instance, is as far from Port of Spain, on Trinidad, as London is from Moscow. Still farther apart are the two mainland areas, British Honduras and British Guiana. The sweep of the islands goes outward, into the Leeward and Windward groups, to Barbados and Trinidad.

Conditions in the component units vary greatly. The island of Jamaica alone has more than half of the three million population of the entire group, while Honduras is very little settled. The oil refineries of Trinidad make it the only economically self-supporting unit. There are inter-island jealousies to contend with, as well as a rooted insularity. These, and the manoeuverings of political leaders, make some observers dubious about the possibility of confederation, yet the idea has moved steadily forward since the end of World War II.

The Caribbean Federation is attractive in theory. The great problem is to devise a workable plan, and then convince the people of its desirability. There are obvious advantages, and the problem may be solved in the predicted time.

Why Not Revive Henty?

We join our contemporary, the Brantford Expositor, in wishing that some adventurous publisher would bring out a selection of the books of George Alfred Henty. Recently a memorial plaque was placed on Henty's house in the Battersea district of London; it is fitting that he should be remembered. Since his death in 1902 he has gone down into oblivion, but many an author has done that and risen again to a joyful resurrection in the public libraries. Henty deserves not only to be remembered, but also to be read.

He was an interesting man, well-born and well-educated, who tried the Civil Service and journalism (as a war correspondent) until, when he was already middle-aged, he found his real work in writing stories for boys. He took most of his subjects from history, and as he had a good historical training, and was a stickler for correctness of detail, his books were history lessons of the most palatable kind. He wrote eighty books, at a rough estimate, and he made a considerable fortune.

Would modern boys like his books? Not all of them, perhaps. We have not read a Henty book in twenty-five years, and cannot judge of their quality by modern standards, but we recall With Wolfe in Canada and A Jacobite in Exile with special affection. But so far as we can recall there were no women in Henty's books, and the modern boy seems to like a spice of sex—quite harmless and legitimate, but still a spice—in his books. Henty wrote for young men who desired, when they took up a book, to enter an exclusively masculine world.

A flyer in Henty—say a reprint of four of the most attractive titles—would show a publisher what the climate was for this fine and neglected boys' writer. Our guess is that the time is ripe for a Henty revival.

A movie star is in court disputing a masseur's bill for $700. Obviously he rubbed her the wrong way.

Musical Notes

By PETER PIPER

I WAS very interested in a series of pictures of Sir Ernest Macmillan rehearsing with the Toronto Symphony Orchestra which appeared recently in the Weekend Magazine. As this publication comes with the Saturday edition of this newspaper I imagine that most of my readers have seen the pictures of the dishevelled Toronto musician in an open-necked shirt worn Russian style and "registering", as they say in the film world, a number of emotions. By contrast one of the photographs showed him "in faultless evening dress" during the intermission of a performance and it was hinted broadly that the improvement in his attire on state occasions was due to Lady Macmillan. Be that as it may the pictures and their captions served to confirm a long-held idea amongst the general public that great musicians are careless about their appearance. Of course it does not follow that everyone who is sloppily dressed is a great musician.

✧ ✧ ✧

AS A matter of fact it is by no means established that great figures in the musical world care little for the facade that they present to the outside world. Much of the evidence conflicts with this hypothesis. It must be remembered that musicians, like other people who appear a good deal in public, are scrutinized by innumerable pairs of eyes, and certain sartorial imperfections that would go unnoticed in a night watchman or a carpenter would instantly set tongues wagging if observed in a musician. Added to this musicians have from time immemorial been economically depressed, to use a loathsome but useful modern phrase. Yet in spite of this many of them have achieved a certain elegance in their turn-out. Chopin was quite a dandy in his day, Mendelssohn was always scrupulously neat, Mozart too took great pains to offset his lack of inches by being well-dressed, and there are doubtless many other names that I could add to this list. Admittedly Beethoven was almost always very slovenly in appearance, and I remember an uncle of mine who met Brahms telling me that the old man had egg-stains down his front! Yet these are the exceptions rather than the general rule.

✧ ✧ ✧

IN MORE recent times musicians of such dissimilar outlook as Elgar and Ravel were always impeccably got up, while Sir Thomas Beecham is the acme of distinction. Sir Henry Wood devotes over two pages of his manual "About Conducting" to the topic of dress. I cannot quote all his remarks, but here are some of the things that he says. "I cannot stress too much that care and thought should be given to the matter of clothing, both from the health point of view as well as finding it always possible under any conditions to appear well-groomed and suitably attired. . . I make a point of wearing woollen undergarments always. . . . I have all garments numbered on each piece, Suit No. 1, No. 2, No. 3, and so on. . . In keeping a definite wardrobe for your professional work, you are ready at any moment to face your orchestra smartly and properly attired, which in itself gives a personal sense of well-being, as well as offering a compliment to your orchestra in appearing before them in trim, disciplined fashion. . . Studio work is answerable for a great deal of short-comings in this matter, and I deplore so much the growing tendency of players to strip even down to an undervest when rehearsing, and to remain so before an invited audience during a broadcast concert." So you can see that leaders of the musical world certainly do not present an united front on this question. On the whole conductors seem to favour greater emphasis on grooming, though Sir Ernest is a notable example to the contrary in this field. Some years ago I remember how scandalized an audience of schoolboys was to see Edward Mitchell, the pianist who specialized in Scriabin, appear on the platform in dinner jacket and boots. It never occurred to us little snobs that he might perhaps suffer from weak ankles.

✧ ✧ ✧

HOW does one become a musician? The only answer to this question is that one becomes a musician by practising music, just as a shoemaker becomes a shoemaker by mending shoes. Of course some are more gifted than others, and musicianship in the highest sense of the word is comparatively rare. I have known professional musicians who lacked that vital spark of artistry which can transmute an ordinary diatonic scale into a thing of beauty. Yet even this priceless gift would be unable to manifest itself without long hours, days, weeks, months and years of assiduous practice. We live in a push-button age; we expect quick results and look around for short cuts. We have our classics served up for us in easy pre-digested form, and we are only too ready to shirk the necessary effort to attain perfection. We are too easily discouraged when we do not appear to show signs of progress. I do not wish to infer that the hardest way is always the best way and to pour scorn on modern methods simply because they are modern. Some of the older methods involved a great amount of senseless drudgery calculated to kill any real interest stone dead. But are we not going to the other extreme in these enlightened days?

✧ ✧ ✧

IN OUR demands for continued progress in a straight, upward line we forget the real nature of the human mind, treating it as though it were a machine. The road to perfection is never a broad and unobstructed highway, reaching up in a continuous steady gradient. Rather it is a matter of sudden spurts followed by breathing periods of relatively little progress, known to psychologists as "plateaus". It is these plateaus that test the students' character, for they can be exceedingly discouraging, yet it is in these periods that he can by continued study consolidate his forces for yet another spurt upwards. So my advice to all those living on artistic plateaus is to continue to practise, practise, practise, even though you may appear to be just running your head against a brick wall. If you persevere you will eventually find your difficulties suddenly dissolve before your eyes.

Rabelais, A Medieval Master

By PHILIP TOYNBEE

IT HAS probably been no surprise to us to learn that Rabelais died four hundred years ago. Whereas his younger contemporary, Michel De Montaigne, died only forty years later, we thing of Montaigne (the earliest self-examiner in literature) as the first of the moderns, while Rabelais is effectively hidden from our view by the dense mists of the Middle Ages. There is no biography of him because too little is known about his life to provide the necessary material.

His masterpiece, Gargantua and Pantagruel, is one of the great unread books of our time. And this is all the odder in that Rabelais has added a new word to our vocabulary. "Rabelaisian" is freely, perhaps too freely, used to suggest a certain hearty and healthy robustness of language. It is a favourable word, often used to cover a multitude of tittering sins of which Rabelais himself was never guilty.

It is a pity that he should have acquired this particular reputation, for his indecency is a comparatively unimportant element of his genius, and, in his own more outspoken time, it was not remarkable. His great merits as a writer lie in quite different directions.

Francois Rabelais was born in 1495, but nothing is known of his life until he entered the Franciscan monastery of Fontenay Le Comte some time before April of 1519. By then he already held a sufficiently important position in this community to be signing deeds on its benalf. At this time, probably the nadir of monastic and ecclesiastical life in Europe, the Franciscans were the most learned and reputable of all the religious orders, and, as a consequence, they were treated with great suspicion by a thoroughly debased Papacy. We know that Rabelais did not remain with this order for very long, and in 1524 he became, with papal permission, a Benedictine. By 1530 he had contracted out of all his monastic obligations, and had begun to practise and teach medicine at the university of Montpellier.

WE know, too, that the first volume of Pantagruel appeared in 1532, and that it was followed by the first Gargantua three years later. The Sorbonne, at that time a purely ecclesiastical institution, was quick off the mark, for they had condemned the earlier work within a year of its appearance. And for the rest of his life Rabelais was fighting a running action against the Church, sometimes compelled by the severity of its measures against him to exile himself to Lorraine. This little which is definitely known about his life does give us certain hints about the man and his period. As a conscientious scholar it was natural that he should join a monastic order; to that extent he belonged to the Middle Ages. As a humanist, touched by the first waves of the Italian Renaissance to reach his country, it was natural that he should liberate himself from the monastic toils and become a student and teacher of medicine. It is true that his subject had made little perceptible advance during the preceding fifteen hundred years, and Rabelais expounded the classical medicine of Galen and Hippocrates. But he was respected as a clever and learned exponent of all that was known in his own time.

But what matters to us about his life is that he continued to add books to his great work at least until the middle forties of his century. The complete work is a difficult book to describe, or, since there have been so many interpretations of it, perhaps it is all too easy to describe it in the particular terms which suit the describer. Certainly there are long passages of deliberate satire on the evils and follies of the contemporary Church (Rabelais was, after all, a product of the age which produced the Protestant Reformation). There are earnest and reformist passages which recommend new methods of education. But it would be wrong to suppose that this writer was a pioneering free-thinker, in the manner of several Italian humanists of his time. Probably he was a devout Christian, and therefore all the more distressed by the ecclesiastical abuses which he had witnessed.

BUT most of Garantua and Pantagruel is neither satirical nor reformist. This picaresque fantasy about giants and monsters and imaginary countries is the ancestor of Edward Lear and Lewis Carroll rather than of Swift and George Orwell. It is the work of an arbitrary and fertile imagination. Too fertile, perhaps, for modern readers who have been led to demand a certain cogency and strictness in the books which they admire. We may be offended for more reasons than one at having to read three pages devoted to discussing the relative merits of substitutes for toilet paper. But if we miss Rabelais we are missing a lot. In literature ours is a dry and careful period, and this lively freedom of the imagination might well refresh us.

As Roy Campbell wrote, in disrespect for modern writers,

"They use the snaffle and bit all right,
"But where's the bloody horse?"
Rabelais is a horse.

Butter Shortage

(Saint Cedix Courier, St. Stephen, N.B.)

Canada has a greater surplus of butter per person than has the United States. About a month ago the Canadian Government still held 30 million of the 40 million pounds it bought to keep the price above 58 cents per pound, and private business held an additional 15 million pounds; Uncle Sam holds only about 80 million pounds, also bought and held off the market to keep up prices.

Actually the Canadian Government has about two pounds of butter for every man, woman and child in the country—but the men, women and children are not using it because they cannot afford to buy as much as they need and want. The government, in other words, is using public funds to buy butter, not so that we can eat more of it but so that it can be kept in storage and create an artificial scarcity in order to hold the price up.

This amounts to paying a subsidy to dairy farmers and butter producers. The subsidy has in fact already been paid. That being the case the people might as well be given the benefit. It could be done by dropping the fixed price for butter and letting it sell at what it will bring. Ten cents a pound off butter would clean up that surplus in short order.

If everybody could only see it, this holding of surplus stocks is a shabby deal for the farmer, and will eventually react against him.

Bible Message

(From the Authorized Version)

The same day went Jesus out of the house, and sat by the sea side. And great multitudes were gathered unto him, so that he went into a ship, and sat; and the whole multitude stood on the shore . . .

Another parable put he forth unto them, saying, The kingdom of heaven is likened unto a man which sowed good seed in his field: but while men slept, his enemy came and sowed tares among the wheat, and went his way. But when the blade was sprung up, and brought forth fruit, then appeared the tares also.

So the servants of the householder came and said unto him, Sir, didst not thou sow good seed in thy field? from whence then hath it tares? He said unto them, An enemy hath done this. The servants said unto him, Wilt thou then that we go and gather them up? But he said, Nay; lest while ye gather up the tares, ye root up also the wheat with them. Let both grow together unto the harvest: and in the time of harvest I will say to the reapers, Gather ye together first the tares, and bind them in bundles to burn them: but gather the wheat into my barn. (Matt. 13: 1,2,24-30.)

✧ ✧ ✧

The way of the wicked is as darkness: they know not at what they stumble . . . Keep thy heart with all diligence; for out of it are the issues of life. Put away from thee a forward mouth, and perverse lips put far from thee . . . Ponder the path of thy feet, and let all thy ways be established. (Prov. 4: 19, 23, 24,26.)

They Got It At Last!

(Winnipeg Tribune.)

We hear of a boy in the hospital for an appendectomy who developed an illness which baffled his surgeon, an obstetrician who happened to be passing in the hall, a brain specialist who dropped in and an orthopedist who was in the next room. It turned out the kid had measles.

A BRITISH OPINION

Duplessis Has 63rd Birthday, Stays On Job

QUEBEC (CP)—Premier Duplessis of Quebec likes to tell how he was born on the stroke of noon on a sunny day and that his father, receiving the news while making a political speech in rural St. Maurice riding, decided immediately to call him Maurice.

Mr. Duplessis, 63 today, was to celebrate the event in his usual way—by walking to his Parliament offices at 9 a. m. and settling down to a long day's work.

At the peak of a 26-year political career that saw him rise from Conservative party ranks to party leadership and then to government as the head of a party grouping Liberals, Conservatives and Nationalists—the Union Nationale—Mr. Duplessis still displays the energy of a younger man.

A man who likes to get things cleaned up, he habitually remains at his office until 1 p. m. and then takes two hours or so for lunch. At about 3 p. m. he works another four hours, taking any unfinished business to the uptown hotel where he lives.

ONLY PART OF JOB

Being premier and attorney-general of Quebec is only part of Mr. Duplessis' job. As leader of the Union Nationale party he founded in 1935, he keeps in touch daily with political problems in the 67 ridings which his party represents in the 92-seat Quebec legislature. It is also kept informed on developments in other ridings by his efficient party machine.

Premier since 1936, except for five years of Liberal administration during the Second World War, Mr. Duplessis still shows only a few grey hairs.

Mr. Duplessis' barber in Trois-Rivieres was once asked if he thought the premier was thinking of retiring.

"I once asked him that myself," he said, "But he asked me if I liked my job. I said yes. He said 'well so do I'."

Havelock Group Plans Coronation Festivity

HAVELOCK — (ENS)— Havelock will celebrate the coronation of Queen Elizabeth on June 2, festivities to commence at 7.30 p.m.

This was decided at a meeting held in the Veteran's hall on Thursday evening. B. M. Bell, president of the Havelock-Belmont Branch No. 389 of the Canadian Legion, presided.

As the project had been assured of financial support from the town council and the Belmont and Methuen council at a previous meeting an outline was made of the form the celebration would take.

A parade will form at the town hall and march to the town park where a service and band concert will be held. It will be decided later whether this will be in the open air or in the arena. A splendid display of fireworks will bring the festivities to a close.

Another meeting is to be held on April 24 where more complete arrangmements will be made.

ST. GEORGE'S ANGLICAN CHURCH'S parish hall was officially opened Sunday night by The Very Rev. A. T. Briarly Browne, rector of St. George's Cathedral, Kingston, and Dean of the Diocese of Ontario. The parish hopes to build a new church above the hall in the near future. Dean Browne (second from left, front) cuts the ribbon. Others assisting in the ceremony were (back, left to right): Warden Walter Bannon, attendant Brian Reid, Warden Clarence Harloff; (front, left to right): attendant Wayne Ferguson, attendant William Kokesh and the Rev. Harvey J. Scuse, rector of St. George's Church.—(Examiner Staff Photo).

Civil Defence Training Taken Too Seriously

WINDSOR, Ont. (CP)—A series of events Sunday led some residents to believe officials take their civil defence training a little too seriously.

Weeks of planning went into Sunday's first all-out practice session. Some 300 persons were recruited to represent the homeless. Another 50 acted as casualties.

Of the actors, 15-year-old Karl Ilk stole the show.

To make the whole thing more realistic, members of the Windsor Theatre Guild volunteered to put their make-up kits to work.

They painted scars and bruise marks on the boy's face and arms. Wearing a tattered and soiled shirt which was splattered with blood-red paint, he was instructed to lie at the side of a street.

Like other such "victims" he was told to act as though he were unconscious.

AMBULANCE CALLED

While waiting for civil defence trainees to arrive on the scene to treat his "wounds," he was spotted by a passer-by who called an ambulance.

The ambulance driver and attendant placed him into the ambulance and sped him to Metropolitan Hospital.

At the hospital Karl was whisked to the emergency room. When he was on the operating table, Karl suddenly sat up and explained to the amazed internees and nurses that he had simply been the victim of an atomic bomb explosion.

Many residents, unaware of the scheduled operation, swamped police and newspaper office with telephone calls when the sirens sounded throughout the city at 3 p.m.

13 Fatalities Over Weekend

BY THE CANADIAN PRESS

Two Nova Scotian youths who went on a fishing trip in a flat-bottomed dory did not return during the weekend and are believed to have been drowned. Their presumed deaths bring to 13 the toll for Eastern Canada during the weekend.

There were five traffic deaths and three—probably five—drownings. Ontario's total was six, Quebec's three and Nova Scotia and Prince Edward Island two each.

Marshall Trim, 17, and James Wadden, 18, both of Scatarie Island set out in their dory in stormy weather. The dory later drifted ashore bottom up and searchers found a jacket belonging to one of the boys and an oar.

Thomas John Batty, 17, of Ottawa, on his first date with 15-year-old Christine Carol Decary, was fatally injured when his car crashed through the concrete railing of a bridge, four miles south of Ottawa. His body was found in a creek 50 feet from the wrecked car. The girl managed to keep her head above water for nine hours before being rescued, but suffered serious injuries.

Other Ontario deaths: Donald Langis, 3, of Toronto, struck by a car while crossing a street; Warren Rose, about 20, of Stratford, apparently of carbon monoxide poisoning after being found in a parked car, its engine still running; Harry Morrison, 75, was drowned in Lake Penage, 30 miles southwest of Sudbury, when he fell off a slipper dock; Clement Coughlin, 22, of Toledo, Ont., when a car went out of control and rolled over six miles south of Smiths Falls, and Alexander Milne, 22, of Ottawa when a train struck his car near Kemptville.

Dean Browne Cuts Ribbon To Open St. George's Hall

The Very Rev. A. T. Briarly Browne, dean of the Diocese of Ontario, and rector of St. George's Cathedral, Kingston, cut the ribbon to officially open the new St. George's Church parish hall in Peterborough Sunday night.

The ceremony was held in the new parish hall following the evensong at which Dean Browne was the guest speaker.

"This is another red letter day for St. George's," the Dean said. "Two years ago when I was here you had dreams, which have now become facts. This has been accomplished because you have learned to stick together."

The guest preacher told a capacity congregation this mark of progress showed the characteristic of all people under the banner of St. George—the characteristic of never accepting defeat and carrying out duty by sticking together.

TEST OF TIME

"This characteristic has stood the test of time and will go on and on in this congregation," he said.

Dean Browne asked the congregation to look down, "the corridor of time" for 1900 years and see Jesus Christ.

"Christ came to show people how to live and because he was not understood he paid the penalty, but his friends started out boldly and spoke in his name. You can see them coming up the corridor until they landed in Britain in the 4th century."

He explained that St. Augustine did not introduce Christianity into Britain in the 6th century. By 314 the church was established in Britain with its own bishops, priests and deacons. He also denied that the Church of England was started by Henry VIII, because in the Magna Carta, 1215, it was stated that the "Church of England shall be free."

BROUGHT CHURCH

In 1785 pioneers brought the church to Canada. They stood the test and overcame trial and difficulty.

"And finally there was the founding of your own St. George's and you have a connection with the church of ages—a living link with that which has come to us from the very beginning," Dean Browne concluded. "The spirit of our age now is working together. See that we ourselves can enter into the spirit of the age."

Following the service the congregation proceeded to the new parish hall where the official opening was held with Dean Browne officiating, assisted by the Rev. H. J. Scuse, rector of St. George's.

Members of the Sidemen's Association served refreshments after the opening.

St. George's Church originated in the Old Crawford's Grove School. A chancel was added. The parish hall which has just been completed is the basement of a new church which is planned.

Royal Wills Family Secret

LONDON (CP)—The will of the late Queen Mary will remain a family secret.

It will be admitted to probate and kept in a special strong room at Somerset House, but will not be published.

Royal wills are kept under the probate seal and cannot be opened except on instructions. In the case of a reigning monarch, the will is not even admitted to probate.

This is a break with tradition. Until about 300 years ago, royal wills were made known to the public. Some can still be inspected, including those of Henry VIII, William the Conqueror and Alfred the Great.

William the Conqueror left countries to his sons as freely as money. He left £5,000 in silver to his youngest son, Henry, the province of Normandy in France to Robert and England to William.

Uncover Critical Gaps In Europe's Civil Defence

By MICHAEL NEWMARCH

LONDON (AP)—There are some critical holes in West Europe's civil defence umbrella.

Although about 1,500,000 civilians have donned uniforms part-time to learn how to help in an atomic war, nearly 60 per cent of this total is concentrated in security-conscious Sweden.

Across the strategic heart of West Europe is a broad area where little has been done. In some cases filibustering Communist legislators and empty cash boxes are the answer.

Of the big powers, Britain has marched farthest toward the goal of civil defence preparation. There nearly 330,000 men and women volunteers are training hard to cope with the possible casualties and effect of a sudden atomic attack. Many more volunteers are needed, however, to man fully the big $47,600,000 program.

REALISTIC EXERCISES

Britain holds regular, realistic exercises to let the emergency services stretch their muscles and study technical problems.

In France, however, only a dribble of cash has been spent on civil defence. Except for firefighters, needed in peacetime anyway, no volunteers have been raised to train against atom raids. The French government has plans—but chiefly on paper.

The ministry of the interior has drawn up a big four-year program calling for about $196,000,000. The health ministry estimates it would need a similar amount. Thus far Parliament has voted only about $5,500,000 for the current year to be spent on warning systems, shelters and the like. But for administrative reasons not even all of his amount will be available.

Like France, Italy has little except her fire and police forces to swing into action if war should strike the civilian population. In West Germany, where Allied occupation laws blocked development of civil defence, the federal government now is trying to make up lost time. Its one civil defence unit is expected to expand to at least 100,000 men.

After the three game draw, a Peterborough rink skipped by H. Baptie and Rev. Jack Pereyma's Oshawa rink were tied with 30 each. After three extra ends, the Peterborough rink won by the odd shot.

A Kingston rink skipped by R. Allain, was the two game winner while C. MacKenzie's RCAF Station, Trenton rink was the one game winner.

Following the bonspiel, Belleville Curling Club president Bill Gault presented the trophy to the winners.

Athletics Drop Five Players

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Philadelphia Athletics Sunday lopped five players off their roster. They were pitchers Billy Harrington, Walter Kellner and Ed Hrabczak, catcher Neal Watlington and infielder Hal Bevan.

Watlington has been returned to Ottawa Athletics of the International League where he played last year.

Bevan goes to Ottawa on a 24-hour option. He hasn't completely recovered from a broken leg and dislocated right ankle he suffered in a game last summer.

Hrabczak has been sold outright to Ottawa while Kellner was optioned to Williamsport of the Eastern League. Harrington goes to Ottawa on 24-hour recall.

Games To Stay In Melbourne

MEXICO CITY (AP)—The International Olympic Committee decided Saturday that the 1956 Olympic Games will be held in Melbourne after all.

Despite the still-unsolved problem of the equestrian events, the committee decided after a closed 2½-hour session that the games would stay in Melbourne. The announcement by Otto Mayer of Switzerland, secretary-general of the committee, halted speculation that the games might be taken away from the Australians because of insufficient preparations.

W. A. Coles, chairman of the Melbourne organizing committee, said his group will continue to work with Australian government officials in an effort to gain relaxation of the quarantine laws.

The rules require that only horses from New Zealand, the United Kingdom and the Republic of Ireland be allowed into Australia without delay. Horses from other countries must spend six months in one of these four countries first.

Coles said, however, that the IOC seemed satisfied with Melbourne's progress in preparing for other sports.

Melbourne Residents Given Good News

MELBOURNE (AP)—Residents of Melbourne had to wait until this morning to read the gleeful front-page headlines that the International Olympic Committee had decided to keep the 1956 Olympics in their city.

Some, however, heard the news from radio broadcasts on Sunday.

W. S. Kent Hughes, chairman of the Olympic organizing committee, said a real community effort now is necessary to make the games a splendid success.

Said Premier John Cain of Victoria: "Now it is up to everyone to do his utmost to ensure the success of the games."

Toronto Loses To UEW In Soccer Tilt

Peterborough UEW soccer team pulled out a 4-3 exhibition victory over Toronto Nationals to open their season Saturday afternoon in Morrow Park. Considering the fact that they had to stand around waiting for three-quarters of an hour for the late Toronto team, and then start off in a blinding snow-storm, the UE team made an auspicious start.

Playing with the wind and snow at their backs, Nationals were quick to take an early advantage to bang in three goals in just 20 minutes. Settling down after this initial shock, the UE players began neat pattern playing and Strong opened scoring for them on his second attempt. He brought UE closer with another neat one five minutes before halftime

UE TOOK OVER

Turning around in the second half, UEW showed a goodly crowd, who were masters, with Hoyle fastening onto a loose ball early to give the Toronto goaler no chance as he evened the count. Ryan, acting as captain for this game, crowned a good display by putting UE in the lead later to end the scoring by 4-3 for the home team.

Every man on the side gave a solid disply for a early in the season and gave indication that UE would be strong again in district and Ontario play. The local team included: R. Titshall, B. Croll, L. Allen, J. Murray, G. Davies, G. Smith, J. Holt, B. Hoyle, R. Strong, J. Ryan, W. Holroyd with J. Kynoston sub-goalie.

The host squad captured 15 of the 26 events in five divisions and set three records in the process. Dr. Paul Hauch's and Bill Chipperfield's well-balanced team also won four of the five relay events.

In all the competitors broke nine records.

Hockey is pretty nearly over for the season, though there are a few amateur playoffs still hanging on. Montreal Canadiens earned the Stanley Cup against the battling Bruins, while Cleveland Barons had a hard fight ere annexing the Calder Cup against Pittsburgh. Final game in both cases saw 1-0 scores with the winning marker each tilt coming in overtime. Furthermore, both were in the nature of fluke tallies, but those kind count, also. Elmer Lach didn't know his screened shot was in till his whooping mates knocked him to the ice. And Bob Chrystal of the Barons just took a routine time-killing swish at the puck and was amazed when it bounced crazily and caught a net corner. That's hockey for you. So now, Red Sullivan and Ike Hildebrand will be back to Peterborough any day for the summer.

All fellows hoping to catch a senior lacrosse berth here this year are advised to be a Miller Bowl at seven tonight. Bob Thorpe will hold nightly drills down there under the arcs this week unless the weather is too bad, in which case they'll exercise at the "Y." But all must meet at the Bowl this eve. Several good players from outside points want to play for the Petes in '53, but it is unlikely that the locals will do much importing as they have a good list available now. Player lists will be passed at the next meeting of the OLA senior clubs, probably this coming weekend. At that time, the argument over whether West Yorks can combine with Orillia or not will come up.

Ken K. a Vice-Prexy

Ken Kingston of the Petes' executive and head of the local minor lacrosse setup was elected third vice-president of the OLA at the annual meeting Saturday. Fine work, as he is a very capable official and it is proper recognition for him and for this good lacrosse city. Previously he had been an appointed member of the Ontario executive but this is quite a step up. Few amendments of any great interest down this way, though players taking part in 10 games for a club this season cannot transfer to another. In other words, a club can't bolster late in the season when another club appears out of the race and is willing to loan players. Senior schedule will be out in a week and will probably open about May 6 in indoor arenas.

There are a lot of villains in the pro wrestling business, and it must sometimes strain the loyalty of mat fans when forced to cheer for a rough guy. For instance, a rousing tag team bout headlines next Wednesday's card at the Bock, but it has Dick Raines and Lou Plummer in against Bobo Brazil and Hans Hermann. Which team to cheer for? Bobo is the only one of the four who generally plays it clean, the other three being hard characters. But it should be a wild session when they tangle. Pat Flanagan meets Firpo Szybsko in the semi-final, while big Bill Stack tackles Jan Gotch in the prelim of this program.

Soon Be "Play Ball"

Howie Dalton will drill his junior baseball prospects — the Liftlocs — nightly this week at Riverside, weather being okay. They open their schedule here against Cobourg in less than four week, on May 16. Daylight saving will be in effect next week, allowing more practise time in the evenings. Liftlocs are the only junior "A" entry in the OBA-affiliated Lakeshore League, an eight-club circuit this year. Oshawa has a senior squad in, Lindsay and Whitby taking an intermediate "A" rating, while Cobourg, Port Hope and Colborne go ntermediate "B." Bowmanville hasn't yet decided on "A" or "B" rating. If they use imports, they must go "A"—and Lindsay plans on four or five ex-seniors from Peterborough.

Eastern Ontario Soccer League opens its schedule this coming Saturday when Kingston Uniteds play UEW here, while the local Merchants trek to Trenton the next day in loop play. With nine teams in this year, soccer in the eastern and central parts of the province should have a real boost, and two teams from Peterborough will provide plenty of keen rivalry. UE uses Morrow Park and the Merchants play at King Edward Park. In an exhibition match Saturday in the flying snow at Morrow Park, the UE team took a neat 4-3 victory over Toronto Nationals when Strong scored twice, and Hoyle and Ryan once each.

OLA ADVANCES SEASON

TORONTO (CP)—The Ontario Lacrosse Association decided at its annual meeting Saturday to start its seasonal operations earlier and approved a two-month advancement in the residence rule.

Effective in 1954 the residence deadline will be March 1, replacing the former May 1 date. The decision was one of 13 amendments to the constitution considered by some 200 delegates.

The last day for signing players was also advanced from Aug. 15 to Aug. 1 and no player may be released after he has played 10 games for any one club, or after July 15.

An amendment that would require unanimous approval of operating senior clubs to admit a new team to the major loop was defeated. Bonds for senior clubs were raised from $100 to $500, payable in yearly instalments of $100 each beginning this season. Bond money will be returned if a club drops out at the end of a playing season.

The Rev. Wesley A. Hare of London and Fred J. Sandford of Mimico were granted life membership. Hare, a former St. Catharines player, has been connected with lacrosse for 63 years and has spent many years helping minor leagues and teams in Port Dover and London. Sandford is a former OLA president and current head of the Mimico Senior Club.

A request from the Eastern Lacrosse Association that OLA senior clubs play exhibition games at Cornwall was referred to the senior clubs committee.

A. E. Brown of St. Catharines was re-elected president by acclamation. Other officers include: third vice-president, Ken Kingston, Peterborough; secretary-treasurer, Charles W. Rowan, Mimico; executive council: Joseph Baker, Port Dalhousie; Arnold Irvine, Fergus; James Brock, Sarnia.

VIRGINIA BEACH, Va. (AP)—Doug Ford of Harrison, N.Y., became professional golf's second leading money winner for 1953 here Sunday when he shot his fourth successive sub-par round to win the $12,500 Virginia Beach open tournament.

Posting a 67 for a 72-hole total of 262, Ford got the scare of his golf life before he finally won out by two strokes over Ansel Snow of Jamestown, N.C., who trailed the 30-year-old champion by seven strokes when they started the final round.

Snow sprinkled a barrage of birdies and an eagle over the par-69 Cavalier Yacht and Country Club course and finally overhauled Ford on the 13th hole.

Then Saturday night they came alive with a surprising show of power that all but humiliated Smiths Falls Rideaus, considering what the Ottawa Valley champions had done to them in previous games.

The Dutchmen trounced the Rideaus 9-1 to put themselves back in the running for the Eastern Canada senior hockey crown The win cut the Rideaus' edge in the best-of-seven series to 3-2.

The Dutchmen outskated and outsmarted the Rideaus all the way. It was an amazing reversal from Friday night when they stumbled all over their own ice surface.

A 2-0 first period lead by the Dutchmen started them off on a scoring spree that wasn't interrupted until late in the second period when Dusty Blair picked the Rideaus' lone counter.

KITCHENER SCORERS

Handling the scoring for the Dutchmen were Maurice Leveque and Don Bauer who picked up two goals each; Bobby Schnurr, Al Buchanan, Craig Hicks, Don Rope and Jack McKenzie.

Ten minor penalties were handed out, six of them to Smiths Falls.

The Rideaus' defence, a key factor in the series thus far, was lost under the pressure put on by the Dutchmen in the latter part of the third period.

Right winger Ed Mulligan left a sick bed to take his place in the Rideaus' line-up. Defenceman Don Thompson, ill all last week, is expected to rejoin the club for the sixth game on home ice Tuesday night.

LINE-UP SWITCH

The Dutchmen made a line-up switch Saturday and dressed junior star Hicks to replace Harvey Jacklin at centre. They got full value out of him too. He scored a goal and an assist.

It was the best Kitchener showing since they eliminated Owen Sound in a stirring Ontario Hockey Association final.

Rideau coach Hal Dewey had no excuses.

"We just didn't have it," Dewey said. "They outskated us, outplayed us at every turn. These things are hard to explain but we'll be riggin' again on Tuesday."

The jubilant Dutchmen, on the other hand, couldn't do anything wrong during the session.

Rideau goalie Johnny Craig had a rough evening, 44 shots being pelted at his net. The Dutchmen's Keith Woodall handled only 19 shots.

DO YOU OWN A CAR?

If you own a car, we would like to tell you about a discovery.

About five years ago, the Manager of Bardahl Manufacturing Corporation had been driving a '39 model car. Noticing a leak in the radiator he took the car to a garage for repairs. At the time the Bardahl Manager had been working on a rust preventative for the cooling system. When he received his car back, he put some of this into his radiator. After driving the car for several weeks he noticed the radiator still leaked. Returning the car to the garage he reported the trouble. Later that day the garage operator phoned to ask Mr. Tennant what on earth he had put in the radiator. The garage owner went on to explain that when he drained the radiator the water was so thick with dirt it would hardly pour. The rust preventative prepared by Mr. Tennant had removed rust, scale and dirt untouched by the popular brand of chemical cleaner used by the garage owner.

The garage owner immediately placed an order for their own use. Since then hundreds of thousands of motorists across Canada and the United States have tried this Bardahl Rad Conditioner.

If you own a car you should try it, for if your car is old you'll be positively amazed at the dirt, rust and scale it will remove; if your car is new, Bardahl will keep the radiator in new, tip-top condition.

Bardahl keeps radiators clean . . . eliminates rust formation which can insulate a motor causing harmful overheating, and it also lubricates and stops squeaky water pumps. And when you think most of us spend about $25.00 every year washing our cars and yet neglect a more important part of the car—that is, the radiator—well, it's really worth it to buy a can of Bardahl Rad Conditioner at 80c.

Kellner Shuts Out Yankees Twice Within Six Days

By JOE REICHLER
Associated Press Sports Writer

The 1953 major league baseball season is going to be full of surprises, if the first week is any criterion. Just look what happened Sunday, the first of the campaign, and only the seventh playing day. (1) Alex Kellner, who dropped six of seven decisions to New York Yankees last year, shut out the world champions for the second time within six days. The tall Philadelphia Athletics' left-hander became the first pitcher in 19 years to blank the Yankees twice in a row, two-hitting them 3-0 in the second game of Sunday's double-header. He turned them back 5-0 on five hits opening day last Tuesday.

2. Bobby Shantz, who didn't lose two in a row last year until early in September, dropped his second straight to the Yankees 5-2 in the first game. The Yankees beat him 4-1 last Wednesday.

3. St. Louis Browns, generally picked to finish in the second division, are leading the American League with five triumphs in six games. An 11-inning 6-3 victory over the Tigers Sunday gave the Browns a sweep of the three-game series in Detroit.

SHUTS OUT SOX

4. Walter Masterson, discarded by the Red Sox last summer as washed up, shut out his former mates 4-0 with a five-hitter for Washington Senators.

5. Brooklyn Dodgers were recipients of 14 walks and stole four bases to overwhelm the Pirates 12-4. The result boosted the Dodgers' first-place lead in the National League to one game over St. Louis.

Stan Musial's fifth-inning homer was enough to give St. Louis Cardinals a 4-3 victory over Milwaukee Braves in a game that was delayed because of snow.

Snow, rain and cold forced postponements of scheduled doubleheaders between Cleveland and the White Sox in Chicago, and Chicago Cubs and the Redlegs in Cincinnati. Unplayable weather conditions also wiped out a scheduled game between Philadelphia Phillies and New York Giants at the Polo Grounds.

HIGHLIGHTS DAY

Kellner's performance highlighted Sunday's diamond activities. He faced only 28 batters The Athletics collected 10 hits off loser Jim McDonald and Whitey Ford, but Gus Zernial's home run was all Kellner needed. Two-run singles by veteran Johnny Mize and rookie Bill Renna helped Ewell Blackwell to his first-game victory.

The last pitcher to shut out the Yankees in successive starts was Schoolboy Rowe of the Tigers in 1934.

A three-run outburst in the 11th, highlighted by Bobby Young's clutch single and daring baserunning, gave the Browns their uphill win over Detroit. Relief pitcher Marlin Stuart gained his second victory in two days. Satchel Paige, the ageless wonder, saved Stuart's win with a neat relief job, his third in the last four games. Ned Garver, traded by St. Louis to Detroit last August, lost his second straight to his former teammates.

FIRST VICTORY

Jackie Jensen's double and triple paced the Senators to their first victory of the year. The Washington outfielder scored a run and drove in another.

Roy Campanella and Duke Snider drove in four runs apiece, Jackie Robinson reached base for the eighth straight time and rookie Junior Gilliam stole three bases as the Dodgers made it three in a row over the Pirates. Gilliam scored four times without getting a base hit.

Rain and cold cut most of Saturday's major league action The National League's four scheduled games were postponed and in the American two games were washed out.

The Browns tripped the Tigers twice, 8-7 in 11 innings and 3-2. In the other Saturday game Chicago edged Cleveland 7-6.

St. Boniface Edges Lethbridge Sons 4-3

WINNIPEG (CP)—Defenceman Syd White's goal with only six seconds remaining in regulation time Saturday night gave St. Boniface Canadiens a 4-3 victory over Lethbridge Native Sons and moved them within one point of a final berth in Memorial Cup playoffs.

St. Boniface now leads the best-of-seven western finals 3-1, with one game tied. Sixth game is here tonight.

Cece Hoekstra, Gary Blaine and Al Johnson bagged the other St. Boniface goals. Captain Billy Dea was the big gun for Lethbridge, scoring twice and setting up the other goal by Dave Magee.

Flyers Romp To Easy 8-3 Win Over Quebec

QUEBEC (CP)—Barrie Flyers today have Quebec Citadelles hanging on the boards after three straight wins in their Eastern Canada Memorial Cup hockey final.

After winning games in Toronto and Barrie last week, Flyers romped to an 8-3 victory over Citadelles here Saturday night before a crowd of about 8,000 to take a 3-0 lead in the best-of-seven series.

Flyers will attempt to deliver the knockout blow tonight when both teams meet here in the fourth game. Winners of the series will meet St. Boniface Canadiens or Lethbridge Native Sons in the East-West junior final.

Captain Don McKenney and Orv Tessier paced the winners Saturday with two goals each. Tessier also picked up three assists and McKenney two.

OTHER SCORERS

The other Barrie scorers in the third rout Citadelles have suffered in the series were Skip Teal, Doug Mohns, Fred Pletsch and Ralph Willis.

Captain Camille Henri, Roland Leclerc and Ray Cyr scored for Quebec.

Coach Hap Emms of Barrie indicated he still had some respect for Citadelles who have lost 9-1, 8-2 and 8-3 so far.

"They're a better hockey team than they've shown," he said. "But they haven't been able to get out of the slump they are in."

Emms said his Flyers, apparently a better-balanced and stronger team than his 1950-51 squad which won the Memorial Cup for Barrie, "want to get it over with" in the fourth game.

Barrie eliminated Quebec 4-3 in games two years ago in the eastern final.

SAME LINE-UP

Emms will go with the same line-up he dressed Saturday night.

Coach Phil Watson of the Citadelles had little comment after his team suffered its third stinging defeat other than to say he plans no changes in his line-up for the next game.

Both teams played wide open hockey in the first period when Barrie took a 2-1 lead. Checking was closer in the second period, but Flyers jumped to a 6-1 lead, two goals coming while they had a man advantage.

Barrie played it cosy and waited for the breaks in the last period when Citadelles sandwiched two more Barrie goals, again while Citadelles were short-handed.

The game was rough and short-lived fights flared. Twenty-four penalties were handed out, including two majors and a 10-minute misconduct to each team.

SEAL HUNTER—Michael Hickey (left) and William Everson caught these two young seals when the worst ice jam since 1938 crushed along Newfoundland's east shore this spring. Seals moving in with the ice came right into the harbors of Little Newfoundland settlements. The young seals, called whitecats, reach the ideal weight for killing, about 45 pounds, soon after birth. The pelts sell for $3 to $4 each. The spring seal hunt is on off the coasts of Newfoundland with 18 stubby little vessels bucking the ice floes in the Gulf of St. Lawrence and the Strait of Belle Isle.

Sealers Missed Main Herd Ice Conditions Delay Hunt

ST. JOHN'S, Nfld. (CP)—There are no "bumper trips" this year, but Newfoundland seal hunters are still finding adventure and financial returns in the anual spring trip to the ice.

Even with slightly reduced prices for the fatty pelts, 18 stubby little vessels bucked the floes in the Gulf of St. Lawrence and the Strait of Belle Isle. That's about par for recent years, although nothing like the scores of flag-bedecked craft a few decades back whose departure was this old eastern port's most colorful winter event.

The 1952 voyage netted more than $260,000 and indications are that this year's figure will be about the same.

The catch might have been bigger except for a combination of unkind elements and hard luck.

A spotting plane, jointly financed by the sealing operators, didn't pinpoint the big southern patch until most of the ships had passed farther to the north. Before they could return southward, a northeast gale "stripped" the patch and dispersed the seals around the Funk Islands off the north coast.

Capt. Ken Barbour, official observer, feels that if the ships had reached the southern patch in time they would have been "into the fat"—which is to a sealer what a bonanza is to a prospector.

The veteran skipper said ice conditions didn't help either. In his six years of winging over the vast white wastes in search of the herds, he had never seen such dense ice or as many icebergs.

It was part of an unusual spring movement which had blockaded this port for the first time since 1938. The seals were so scattered that many vessels continued to pick them up on the homeward trip right up to the harbor entrance.

Crew members' wages are on a share basis of the total take, and might range from $200 to considerably less. To a good many Newfoundlanders the pay is secondary —sealing is a way of life and the springtime urge to feel ice underfoot is not to be denied.

This year's prices range from 50 cents to $1 lower than last year's. Pelts brought anywhere from $4 to $9 depending on the age and specimen of the seal.

U.S. Farmers Producing More Than Can Be Sold

By OVID A. MARTIN

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States is heading toward a showdown on its farm-aid program. The weather may exert more influence on deciding the issue than politicians and farm leaders.

The present farm program is running into trouble. Encouraged by favorable government price guarantees, farmers are producing more than can be sold. Foreign markets for farm products are falling off because buyers can get supplies cheaper elsewhere The unsold portion of farm production is being acquired by the agriculture department to carry out price promises.

Unless there is a drastic change in the international situation the department faces heavy losses on its farm stocks.

Congress has put off until next year the question of what to do about future farm programs. But battle lines are being drawn for a hot legislature fight.

HOW TO SUPPORT PRICES

The point at issue is: How high should the government support farm prices?

One side says that the present high, rigid supports for basic crops like corn, wheat, cotton, rice, tobacco and peanuts should be made permanent rather than be allowed to expire at the end of the 1954 crop marketing year. Some in this group would add cattle, hogs, milk, pultry and eggs.

In this group are several Democrats and Republicans, members of the House of Representatives agriculture committee, and President James Patton of the National Farmers Union.

The opposing group has leaders of both major parties, including Agriculture Secretary Ezra Benson.

This group favors flexible price supports. It would lower the supports when supplies were plentiful and raise supports when a shortage threatened.

It is the theory of this group that farmers would cut down on commodities already available in large supply and produce more products in short supply.

Those fighting for retention of the rigid supports argue that flexible supports would bring lower farm prices and possible farm recessions.

But, usually not very articulate on farm legislation, the U.S. public may well rise and demand a say in the price support question

If weather conditions are favorable this year, farm output would be the largest on record. The government would have to take over the extra supplies and add them to an already heavy stockpile.

The public would witness losses through spoilage, dumping abroad and diversion of foods into non-food uses.

The agriculture department is already getting evidence of public dissatisfaction with the situation. Recent heavy government buying of butter to support prices has brought criticism.

Those favoring high price supports contend that production controls can be used to prevent overproduction and the consequent piling up of surpluses in government hands. A public exerting pressure for a change probably would pass over this argument.

In this connection, the Eisenhower administration has promised farmers fewer controls over their operations.

PRESENTATION MADE

Friends and neighbors gathered last Tuesday night for a presentation to Mrs. Walter Pugh and her son Andrew, who are leaving the Otonabee township. They were presented with a writing desk, a tablecloth, a wallet and a sum of money.

CHOIRS EXCHANGE

Choirs, organists and ministers of St. Andrew's United Church and the Park Street Baptist Church exchanged on Sunday evening. Following the services both groups met at St. Andrew's where lunch was served.

DRILL FOR INSPECTION

Members of the 50th HAA Regiment paraded Sunday at the Armories in a full-dress preparation for the annual inspection May 5 by the area commander, Brig. Michael S. Dunn, OBE, ED, of Kingston.

CHURCH RECORD

A record was established at Trinity United Church Sunday morning when 69 new members were received into the church by the Rev. Gordon S. Maxwell before the quarterly communion service. A reception for the new members was held in the evening at Trinity Hall.

SMOKE AT WESTCLOX

There was a fire scare at the Western Clock Co. plant early Saturday night when smoke was detected in the building coming from an unknown source. The fire department were called and came up with a simple explanation: children had started a fire in the ventilator pipe that comes up through the ground behind the plant, and the smoke had reversed into the building proper.

RENTS IN PETERBOROUGH

Figures on rents, as found by census-takers in 1951, have just been released. They show that in the city of Peterborough at that time, 3,650 dwellings of all kinds were rented. Rents on them were as follows: 105 at $1-$14 a month; 250 at $15-$19 a month, 335 at $20-$24, 520 at $25-$29; 1,100 at $30-$39 a month; 575 at $40-$49; 355 at $50-$59; 200 at $60-$69 and 125 rented at $70 and over a month. All these are June, 1951 figures.

FIRESIDE HOUR

A fireside hour followed the evening service in Murray Street Baptist Church on Sunday night when more than 150 attended. For the evening service the congregation of St. Paul's joined with Murray St. to celebrate the 107th anniversary. The church was filled at the evening service to hear the Rev. W. A. Cameron of Toronto. Mrs. Jeanne Pengelly, Toronto, soloist for the day sang two groups at the fireside hour and the ladies of the WA served lunch.

"TREE DAY" MAY 4

Planting of the 15,000 red pines at Nassau by Lakefield District 4-H Forestry Club has been set for Monday, May 4th, K. E. Best of the Department of Agriculture reported today. Hon. H. R. Scott, former Minister of Lands and Forests, will lift the sod for the first seedling This is a ten-year project on property of the Canadian General Electric Co., setting out 15,000 a year for a total of 150,000 trees.

100th Anniversary

Peterborough's first fire department was organized April 13, 1854, a date which the city's Fire Fighters' Union may readily confirm, if they are interested in records. Possibly they might wish to make some event of this 100th anniversary of their own institution.

That volunteer department of a century ago assumed the name Peterborough Brittania Fire Company. They carried on for about 15 years in their original form, and then in May 1868 the department was re-organized on a basis that was only slightly changed during the succeeding years of the volunteer system.

Killed As Car Careens Off Highway

GANANOQUE—A former Fraserville man was killed near here Sunday in an auto accident that sent three men to hospital.

Ivan Hall of Gananoque and formerly of Fraserville, died en route to hospital. Two other Gananoque men, Robert Mills and Irvin Sheets, are in hospital today with their injuries.

Ivan Hall is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Chester Hall, who farm not far west of Fraserville. There are two brothers, George of 582 Rose Ave., Peterborough; and Chester, Jr., of Norwood. There are two sisters Mrs. Victor Decker (Cora) Omemee and Mrs. Orville Kidd (Winnie) Peterborough.

Cause of the accident is not known, but it occurred when the men's car careened off the highway and turned on its side three miles east of Gananoque.

Snow Storm Hits West Of City

A quick, but heavy, snow storm hit the district west of Peterborough late Sunday afternoon, blanketing the ground with a half to two inches of snow.

Coming up quickly from the northwest, snow at first fell in flurries, then heavier, for about an hour, starting about 5 p.m. It concentrated more on the Omemee, Bailieboro and Peterborough district.

About three miles west of the city on Highway 28 the storm was so heavy at times that drivers were forced to use headlights to see. Others pulled to the side of the highway and waited until the fall became lighter.

COVERED GROUND

In the Bailieboro - Millbrook district the fall was lighter than near Peterborough and melted as it touched the ground. In Omemee the snow covered the ground and lasted over night, melting early today leaving only a few patches on the hills.

The storm drew a sharp line down Monaghan Road in Peterborough. It just covered the grass and trees, giving a Christmas-card scene effect. But east of Monaghan Road, there was little snow, if any.

Most Peterborough residents, those living in the central, eastern and northern districts, didn't know the storm existed.

LEAFAGE IS LATE

The Water St. arch of trees north of Brock St. proclaims that spring is late with its foliage this year. On April 12, 1945, the day President Roosevelt died, the branches were a delicate shade of green although not more than one-third their full spread. Today they are still brown, their buds only beginning to open. Spring on Water St. will be two to three weeks later than 1945.

Postmen Ask For Rights To Bargain

Convention Decides To Seek Increase of $500

A resolution calling for collective bargaining rights, similar to those enjoyed by workers in outside industry, was adopted at the provincial convention of the Canadian Postal Employees' Association that was held here this weekend. They also want a $500 salary increase.

Delegates from 20 CPE branches throughout Ontario, representing 3,500 mail handlers and postal clerks, met to consider resolutions that will be forwarded to the national convention being held this September in Calgary. Thirty delegates attended the convention in the Empress Hotel.

Nearly 100 resolutions were considered by the delegates, many of them dealing with purely local problems.

The most important ones that are being passed for consideration at the national convention were outlined by Norman Smart of Toronto, vice-president of the Ontario region:

1. Collective bargaining rights for postal employees represented by CPE (mainly mail handlers and postal clerks; mail carriers have their own organization).

2. A $500 a year salary increase.

3. The Rand Formula for union security (all employees pay dues to the collective bargaining agent but actual membership is left on a voluntary basis).

OVERTIME

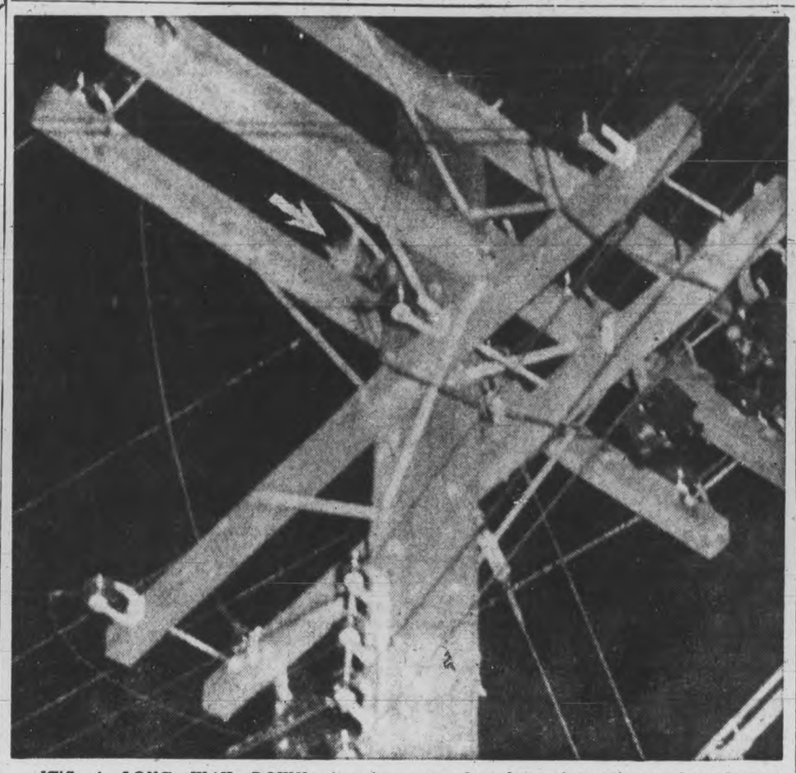
4. Time and a half for overtime. Double time for statutory holidays and Sundays.

5. A five-day, forty-hour week with the night differential maintained. The night differential consists of a reduction in working time. Normally the work week is 44 hours but it is reduced to 38½ on nights.

At present the "inside" postal staffs work five and a half days. In Toronto this is staggered on the basis of a six-day week for one week and five days the next. In Peterborough the staff work a straight five and a half days.

The two-day provincial convention ended late Sunday. Among those present were: Dan Cross of Kingston, national president; Fred W. Whitehouse of Ottawa, national secretary-treasurer; and Mr. Smart of Toronto.

The Peterborough branch of the CPE, under their president, George Moore, were hosts to Ontario delegates.



Gordon Staples Wins Judging

Gordon Staples of Cavan township placed correctly two classes of Jerseys, seniors and three year olds, to win top prize at the Peterborough District Jersey Breeders' Association Saturday afternoon at the Bamforth and Kelly farm in North Monaghan.

The other winners were: Carl Sargent of Springville and Charles Bent of Omemee. In a second Class: Howard Bent, Jack Sargent, Perry Coons of Lakefield. Janet and Grant Larmer.

The entire program turned out as interestingly as was expected, headed by Bill Raine of Brampton and Herb Armstrong, field man.

The date had been set with an eye to spring weather but conditions required a literal barn meeting. It was a day for preferring the shelter of indoors. As noted recently the K-B Jerseys came through the winter in top shape and appearance.

IT'S A LONG WAY DOWN—A cat, perched 55 feet up in hydro pole on north George St., waited four days to build up her nerve to climb down. Finally Saturday night a Utilities employee, Murray Todd, had to help her out. He battled the cat amid the high tension wires, hoping to carry her down, but after a claw slashed through his rubber gloves, Todd had to drop the cat. She flew through the air and landed on her feet. After a few seconds she ran off home. Pussy (above, arrow pointing at her) was up the pole from Wednesday until Saturday.—(Examiner Staff Photo)

Four Injured As Car Turns Over On Roof

Four Toronto People were injured late Sunday night when their car overturned in the ditch on Highway 28, six miles south of Peterborough.

Mrs. Boris Mather, 21, of 269 Sherbourne Ave, was the most seriously injured. She is in Civic Hospital with facial abrasion and head injuries, including slight concussion. Her condition today is satisfactory.

Also in Civic is the driver of the car, 29-year-old John Gallagher of 5 Cardiff Rd., recovering from injuries. His condition today is also satisfactory.

Two others received outpatient treatment:

Henry Payne, 19, of 467 Birchmount Road, a small cut on his left hand, bruises and a shaking up.

Donald Crosby, 32, of 189 Arlington Ave. two small cuts on his right eye and body bruises.

They were given medical treatment by Dr. Ralph Clark.

The accident occurred shortly after 10 p.m. as the car, containing six passengers, was going south on Highway 28. Gallagher was returning to Toronto.

OUT OF CONTROL

He rounded a curve in the highway and then the 1949-model car went out of control. It ran along the shoulder of the highway for about 50 feet and then turned over on its roof in the north ditch, causing about $500 damage.

Passing motorists took Mrs. Mather and Crosby and Payne to hospital. Gallagher thought at first he was only shaken up but went to hospital about midnight with undetermined chest injuries.

OPP Constable John Gray investigated.

Car Fails Turn Three Injured

Three men received minor injuries late Saturday night when the car they were riding in leaped a Hunter St. curb and hit a lamp post. The car was totally wrecked.

Frank Coughlin of Ennismore, driving east, had crossed the Hunter St. bridge when he failed to negotiate the curve leading from the structure. His car climbed the sidewalk and ended up against a lamp post, 100 feet west of Burnham St.

Coughlin was badly cut on his forehead while passengers Kelvin Scott of Douro and Paul Guerin of 110 Sophia St. were treated for scrapes and cuts. Coughlin and Scott were also treated for shock.

PC Robert Menzies investigated the crash.

Gets Cold Dip In Stony Lake

Honors—if you can call them that—for the first dip of the year go to Jack Daly, 278 McKellar St. Just after he pulled away from his Stony Lake cottage Sunday for a short canoe trip, the canoe overturned, flipping him into the water. Reports have it that Mr. Daly made no comment when he came out of the water—he was so cold he couldn't talk. To top it off, on the way home he had a flat tire and changed it, wet clothes and all, with a little protection offered by his wife's topcoat.

Persian Cat Perches 4 Days Atop 55-Foot Hydro Pole

Cleveland and Toronto have their long-time flag-pole sitters, but a Peterborough cat may have set a record for a cat perched atop a hydro pole. A grey Persian cat, whose owner is believed to live on Argyle St., probably hunting a bird or chased by a dog, climbed a 55-foot hydro pole early Wednesday. That's when the possible record started.

Perhaps it was the staggering heights, perhaps the food, namely birds, was plentiful atop the pole, but the cat stayed up there Wednesday night.

WHOSE JOB?

Nearby residents, attracted by the loud mewing, first noticed the cat on his high perch late Wednesday. After several telephone calls, there was some doubt just whose duty it was to take pussy down. Was it a job for a fireman, Humane Society inspector or Peterborough Utilities workman?

There are quite a few dangers in helping a cat down from a lofty perch. First there's the height, then the high tension wires and probably worst, the thoroughly frightened cat. In the past serious injuries and even death have been mar reward for assisting cats from poles and trees.

Throughout Thursday and Friday, the neighbors hoped that perhaps the feline would venture down of her own accord. But the cat remained high up, pussy-footing carefully from one cross-bar to another. All the time she kept mewing for help.

STILL ALOFT

Saturday kitty was still resting aloft, still mewing. All day she sat; all day she mewed. The residents finally late Saturday evening decided upon a Utilities' workman to end the four-day stand.

Murray Todd, who's had several experiences with cats at high levels, slipped on his spurs, safety belt and a good pair of thick, rubber gloves.

He went quickly up the pole, then edged carefully through the network of high tension wires, finally reaching the cat's level.

But she didn't want to go down. With her paws lashing out, she tried to fight Todd away. But Todd won out, even though pussy was squirming and fighting in his arms.

Hoping to carry the cat down, Todd changed his mind when pussy sank a claw through the rubber glove. Todd had to drop pussy; there was no other way. He couldn't hold the cat and come down the pole at the same time.

So pussy sailed through the air, twisting, flipping and mewing. With a thud she hit the ground—feet first. A little shaken she waited a moment then scurried off home, none the worse for her time atop the pole or the fall.

Mayor's Last Meeting Before Coronation

Mayor H. F. Waddell will be presiding this evening at the last meeting of the council until his return from attending the coronation of Queen Elizabeth June 2.

That is the prospect at the City Hall this morning. It was reported that he was leaving about the middle of next week, accompanied by Mrs. Waddell, as Peterborough's representatives at the event of international interest which inaugurates the new Elizabethan reign.

It may be that a special meeting of the council will be held prior to the departure of Mayor Waddell, but there was nothing definite in that respect today.

Members of the council and department heads are arranging for a farewell to His Worship at the close of Tuesday afternoon, April 28. It will be held in the Mayor's parlor to wish him and Mrs. Waddell "bon voyage" and a safe return.

Presumably it is the custom and prerogative of the Mayor to appoint some member of the council to be acting Mayor during his absence. So, it rests with Mayor Waddell to designate one of the aldermen to be his deputy while he is away.

Jr. Glad Growers Provincial Show

First Ontario junior gladiolus show in Peterborough will be held in the market hall August 13-14. City florists and merchants have already donated more than $100 in prizes.

Invitations have been sent the national board of seedling judges of the Canadian Gladiolus Society, who will judge the seedling class the first day of the show. Show manager will be Harvey Jackson and master of ceremonies is to be James Weyer.

Interest among junior growers has been stimulated by gifts of hundreds of bulbs from the Peterborough and District Gladiolus Society. Last year the junior section had more than 80 entries at the society's show.

350 Workers At Quaker Vote To Give Union Heads Authority To Call Strike

96% Cast Ballots For Strike Action Dissatisfied With Majority Report Of Conciliation Board; Seek Meeting

More than 350 Quaker Oats Co. production workers crowded into the Peterborough Labor Centre hall Sunday afternoon and voted overwhelmingly for strike action against the company. Union officials said today that 87 per cent of the eligible workers were present and they voted 96 per cent in favor of strike action. (This does not automatically mean a strike at the plant but it empowers the union executive to call for a walkout whenever they see fit.)

The Quaker production workers, members of Local 293, United Packinghouse Workers of America (CIO-CCL), are dissatisfied with the recommendations for a contract settlement that were contained in the majority report of a conciliation board.

Last Thursday night the membership voted to have a strike vote on Sunday if negotiations remained deadlocked. There was a meeting Friday between company and union officials but apparently no progress was made. So the workers balloted Sunday afternoon in favor of striking whenever their executive gave the word.

Last Friday was the deadline for a legal strike. Seven days must elapse between the filing of the conciliation board's report and strike action. A walkout would now be legal.

FURTHER MEETING

Union officials indicated today that they were trying to have a further meeting with the company before taking strike action. At press time there was no news of any change in the tense situation.

Belief that a strike is pending at Quaker Oats has started wholesalers and retailers laying in a heavy supply of the company's products. Apparently they fear a lengthy tie-up.

Lewis H. Ingram, vice-president of the company, would not comment today on the company-union deadlock. He said it might aggravate the situation.

Chief recommendations in the majority report, signed by Judge J. C. Reynolds of Kingston and E. Macaulay Dillon, QC, of Toronto were:

(a) An increase of 7½ per cent retroactive to Jan. 1, 1953, but payable only to employees in the employ of the company when the contract is signed;

(b) A further increase of 2½ per cent effective Sept. 1, 1953;

(c) A further increase of 2½ per cent effective Jan. 1, 1954, bringing the base rate to $1.33½ an hour;

(d) Company permitted to bring in swing shifts if necessary;

(e) Contract ends May 1, 1954;

(f) Hours to work to be reduced to 40 hours as soon as possible after the agreement is signed, and, in any case, by August 1, 1953;

INCREASED RATES

The board said they were satisfied that in the wage negotiations in 1952 the company increased rates to compensate for a reduction of two hours (from 44 to 42 per cent), which never went into effect.

"Consequently," says the majority report, "the above wage increases include all compensation for the reduction to a 40-hour week."

The minority report, signed by Murray Cotterill, union nominee on the conciliation board, made the following recommendations:

(a) An immediate increase of 10 per cent on all rates in effect Aug. 31, 1952, and the 10 per cent increase should be retroactive to Sept. 1, 1952, when the old contract ended;

(b) Reduction of the work week from 44 to 40 hours as soon as the schedule will allow, and, in any case by Aug. 1, 1953.

(c) When this is done a general wage increase that will bring the basic rate up to $1.39½ an hour, the same as two top mills in Port Colborne.

(d) Maintenance of a five-day week on a three-shift basis Monday to Friday; no swing shift.

APSLEY—(ENS)—On Thursday afternoon the members of the Women's Association of Trinity United Church sponsored an Afternoon Tea in the Legion Hall. Messrs. Max Smith, Earl Trotter and Theobald Post, the judges, had a difficult task to award the 5 prizes. They were placed:

1 Duet, Carol Bullied and Joan Post; 2 Piano Solo, Murray McColl, 3 Piano Solo, Jeanne McCauley, 4 Step Dancing, Deanna Wilson, 5 Highland Fling, Mary Jean Wilson and Joan Wagner.

Arthur Wilson did a splendid job as chairman and he with Sue McCauley both with violins and Mrs. Ralph Fitzgerald playing the piano, supplied accompaniments and music for step dancing.

An unique thing of the evening was the fact that while Deanne Wilson was on the program step dancing, her grandfather, Ray Peters, was asked to come to the platform to step dance also. E. Lloyd also did a short step dance.

The WA wishes to thank the committee for their untiring efforts, the chairman, the judges and everyone who took part in the evening entertainment.

The members of the CGIT sold candy during the intermission and lunches were sold and hot tea provided during the period the judges were making their decisions. Proceeds were $47.00.

The evening closed by singing the National Anthem.

Inattenion Biggest Cause Of Factory Accidents

By FORBES RHUDE
Canadian Press Business Editor

Two graphic statements regarding safety were made at today's opening session in Toronto of the annual conference of the Industrial Accident Prevention Associations (of Ontario).

One statement pointed to people walking around who would otherwise be dead if the accident rate were as high as it used to be; and the other said, in effect, that the rate would decrease still further if people weren't so careless.

Said R. G. D. Anderson, general manager of IAPA, speaking of Ontario manufacturing industries alone:

"Had the rate of fatal and permanent disability accidents in effect in 1921 continued through the years to 1951, we estimate that 1,621 workers now enjoying their full regular livelihood would have been killed, and nearly 28,000 more people would have suffered injuries causing permanent disability."

And N. E. Russell, president of IAPA, stated:

"The great majority of injuries sustained are due to the individual's inattention to or ignorance of the hazards of his job.

MUST BE EDUCATED

"More and more does the problem of accident prevention become one of educating the individual in the peculiar hazards of his own job and in his personal attitude and behavior.

"The guarding of the equipment and reliability of the machine remain very important factors, but it seems evident that improvement in the reliability of the machine and the guarding of it has outstripped improvement in education of the person and in his attitude toward his own personal reliability and safe conduct."

The IAPA operates in nearly 18,000 manufacturing plants (virtually all manufacturing plants except pulp and paper) which make up 17 of the 25 classes of industry, and which employ about half the 1,300,000 employees, to which the Ontario Workmen's Compensation Act applies.

The present two-day conference, which opened today, is attended by some 4,000 representatives of manufacturing industries from all parts of Ontario.

Giving detail on the decreased accident rate over the last 30 years, Mr. Anderson said:

"Between 1921-51, death cases in IAPA classes have been reduced from one in every 3,000 employees to one in every 10,000; and permanent disabilities from five per 1,000, to 1.5 per 1,000."

In 1952, however, claims dealt with increased over 1951. Contributing factors included addition of an estimated 40,000 new employees in manufacturing industries, and reduction from seven to five days of the waiting period before an injured workman qualifies for compensation.

Claims dealt with finally by the compensation board in 1952 were, with 1951 figures in brackets:

Medical aid 72,801 (69,612); temporary disability 20,343 (17,231); permanent disability 1,137 (973); death 68 (51); total 94,349 (87,867). Compensation benefits and medical aid awarded in 1952 totalled $10,813,742.

Death cases reported during 1952 totalled 65, compared with 48 in 1951, which Mr. Anderson termed "the most serious part of the record." Of the 65 deaths, 15 were in traffic accidents, and five in a grain-elevator explosion at the Lakehead.

Britten Putting Final Touches To New Opera

ALDBOROUGH, Eng. (AP)—British composer Benjamin Britten is putting the finishing touches on an opera to celebrate the Coronation.

The 39-year-old Britten already has placed the first two acts of the three-act opera "Gloriana" in the hands of Joan Cross, dramatic soprano, and Peter Pears, tenor, who will sing the principal roles.

"Gloriana" will have its world premiere at the Covent Garden Royal Opera House in London June 8, six days after the Coronation.

Britten, who has been reading Strachey's "Elizabeth and Essex," at first was doubtful he could finish it in time.

BEGAN IN SEPTEMBER

In September Britten began writing the first notes. By January the opera needed only the trimmings and the orchestration.

The Sadler's Wells ballet will perform the stately Elizabethan dances in Gloriana on the gala evening of June 8 when the Queen and the Duke of Edinburgh will be in attendance.

Gloriana may well add another honor to Britten who already has to his credit the successful operas "Peter Gimes" and "Billy Budd" and the little opera "Let's Make an Opera."

FREDERICTON (CP) — Winter struck a belated blow during the weekend when up to 24 inches of heavy, wet snow fell in northern and central New Brunswick. The clinging snow forced down telegraph and telephone wires in some sections.

Japanese Prince Enjoys Sightseeing In Capital

OTTAWA (CP)—Japan's crown Prince Akihito, in a restful interlude from his cross-country tour of Canada, goes sightseeing today around Canada's capital.

Visits to a paper mill and the Ottawa Golf Club were scheduled for the shy, serious, 19-year-old heir-apparent to the Japanese throne who is guest of Governor-General Vincent Massey during his two-day stay here en route to the Coronation.

Prime Minister St. Laurent and Lionel Massey, son of the governor-general, gave the prince a warm welcome when he arrived by train Sunday from a visit to Niagara Falls.

The prince stood hatless in the railway station while the band of the Governor-General's Foot Guards played the Japanese national anthem. Then a crowd of about 2,000—many of them Nisei—applauded and crowded in close as he inspected the guard of honor.

MEETS MASSEY

He was driven to Government House to meet Mr. Massey, and then changed from his formal morning coat and striped pants into sports clothes for a drive down the sunlit Ottawa valley to Montebello, Que.

But before he left for a quiet afternoon at the Seigniory Club there, Prince Akihito read a statement—most of it in Japanese—to newspapermen. A translation was provided.

He said he had been "deeply touched by the warm reception extended to me wherever I have stopped," and impressed "by the wonders wrought by the resourcefulness and industry of the Canadian people in the development of their bountiful natural resources which are contributing so much to the strength of the free, peace-loving nations of the world."

WORK TOGETHER

Completing his statement in English without a stumble, he said: "We sincerely hope that Canada and Japan may ever work together in close co-operation not only for their own mutual interests but also for the greater common cause of peace and goodwill throughout the entire world."

His visit to Montebello provided a rest after nine days of crowds and ceremony. The prince had lunch and a nap. But a horseback ride—one of his favorite sports—was delayed for two hours while a fast limousine sped to Ottawa to fetch his riding breeches which had been left behind.

The prince and his retinue leave tonight for Montreal, where they will spend Tuesday. They will travel to New York Tuesday night and sail Wednesday on board the Queen Elizabeth for England.

Murray St. Baptist Observes Its 107th Anniversary

Belief in God has been the source of some of the most tragic happenings in history, the Rev. W. A. Cameron told the congregation of Murray St. Baptist Church, Sunday.

Mr. Cameron, until recently minister at Yorkminster Baptist Church, was guest preacher at Murray Street's 107th anniversary.

He emphasized that it was too rigid a belief in God that had proved tragic in history. "The harder a man believes, the more is his own life distorted in the way in which he believes," Mr. Cameron said.

Taking his text from the story of Peter on the rooftop, he showed how Peter had been able to accept new things into his religion after a dream of a visitation from God.

So it was all through religion, which must be expansive. Too often, when God came with new truths and new duties, men fell back on the usual, the customary and did not accept the things that were new and true.

"The mind walks as uneasily in new ideas as feet do in new shoes," said Mr. Cameron.

In Peter's case, the new was true, but it was not always so with new ideas. And in considering new ideas, man could be thankful for old habits and old ideas on which he could fall back. Mr. Cameron urged the congregation to build the habits of fine taste, reverence and honesty "into your souls."

The time would come when they would be needed and fortunate would be the person bulwarked by them.

"Some people imagine that being progressive is to believe in every new thing," he said. There was a difference between being a weathervane and being progressive.

Mr. Cameron advised the congregation that a little religion is a dangerous thing, for it was restraint and could be a dead weight upon a person. On the other hand, a real religion was not a weight, but wings.

The Rev. Ivan C. Morgan of Murray St. introduced Mr. Cameron, and led in prayer. Soloist was Mrs. Jean Pengelly of Toronto.

Believe Russia's Peace Moves Do Not Justify Arms Slackening

By STANLEY PRIDDLE

LONDON (Reuters) — The Atlantic council, supreme directing body of the 14-country North Atlantic Treaty, which meets in Paris April 23, will make the conciliatory gestures Moscow has made since Stalin died last month one of the first items on its agenda.

They will be debated in the general political discussion of what the West's cold war headquarters calls "the threat."

There is already broad agreement among the 14 governments that though the Communists' moves are a welcome sign of relaxed tension they do not justify a slackening in Western rearmament.

The Atlantic council comprises the foreign, defence and finance ministers of Canada, the United States, Britain, France, Belgium, Holland, Luxembourg, Porgugal, Norway, Denmark, Italy, Greece and Turkey.

MEET IN NATO BUILDING

They will meet for their first session this year in the temporary NATO in the giant prefabricated building at the Palais de Chaillot, former European seat of the United Nations.

The meeting is expected to be a short one, probably lasting three days.

Approval of the pact's military goals up to June, 1953, will be the council's main task. These are embodied in the organization's annual review.

The ministers, at their last meeting in December, decided that the force targets set in Lisbon the previous February were too ambitious if economic stability was to be maintained in the member countries.

BUILDING UP RESERVES

Emphasis now is on the training and building up of reserves.

Also before the ministers will be a new construction program for additional airfields, port facilities and headquarters organizations needed by the forces in the next two or three years.

This is expected to cost up to $840,000,000. The immediate building program—to next June—will cost more than $140,000,000.

The provisional report submitted last December said the Lisbon target of 50 divisions, half of them in reserve, had been "substantially met" though many of the formations were deficient in personnel and weapons. The combined air force for Western defence also is due for discussion.

By GEORGE BOULTWOOD

BAD OEYNHAUSEN (AP)—A ruddy-faced giant who quotes poetry on the battlefield is the new commander of NATO's northern army group.

Britain's Gen. Sir Richard Gale commands the international army group of British, Belgian and Netherlands divisions assigned the task of stopping any Russian advance on the North German plain.

Gale is an amazing mixture of physical toughness and intellect.

A towering six feet two inches, he is broad to match. He has a voice like a bull, beefy features, a bristly moustache and a big vocabularly of soldier expletives.

A Shakespeare lover, Gale is staging the bard's "Twelfth Night" in the grounds of his house next June as his share of the coronation celebrations. On D-Day in Normandy he was heard stumping around the battlefield reciting from "Henry Fifth" the immortal lines on the Battle of Agincourt:

"And gentlemen in England, now ahed.

"Shall think themselves accursed they were not here."

GOES TO TOP

Now 57, Gale was a major in 1939. Since then he has shot to the biggest British overseas command. He saw active service in the First World War in which he won the Military Cross.

A British pioneer in the use of airborne troops, Gale commanded the 6th British airborne division in the invasion of France. His force was landed before H-Hour across the River Orne on the extreme left flank of the Anglo-American landings in one of the most daring operations of the war. Part of the plan was for troop-laden gliders to crash land right on top of concrete defences of the German Atlantic wall.

In heavy fighting the 6th obtained the first Allied footing on the continent. Throughout this perilous operation Gale moved in an open jeep from one danger point to another, exhorting his troops with a rich flow of language.

Afterwards he became commander of British airborne forces and deputy commander of the Allied airborne army. Post-war jobs included commands in Palestine and Egypt and director-general of military training at the war office.

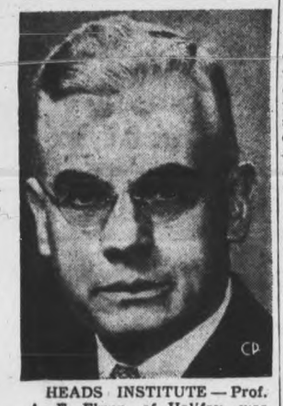
Brockville Ferry Has Been Sold

MORRISTOWN, N. Y. (AP)—The firm operating the Morristown-Brockville, Ont., ferry across the St. Lawrence river announced Sunday its diesel ferry had been sold to a St. John's, Nfld., transportation firm.



Frederick H. Kury, president of the Brockville and Morristown Ferry Company, said the vessel was purchased by C. F. MacClelland of Toronto, president of Capital Coach Lines of St. John's. Kury said the ferry would be used on a 26-mile run between St. John's and Belle Isle.

There has been no decision whether the Morristown-Brockville service will be continued by other interests.

The ferry, known as the Elmer W. Jones, was built in 1926 and has been on the St. Lawrence continuously since then, with the exception of 42 months during the Second World War when the U. S. Navy used it at Norfolk and Portsmouth, Va.

Field Of 158 Starts Marathon

BOSTON (CP)—A field of 158 out of 209 entries started at noon today in the 57th Boston Athletic Club marathon.

Gerard Cote of St. Hyacinthe, Que., four-time winner, was among the Canadians who started.

Notable absentee was Mateo G. Flores of Guatemala, last year's winner. Race officials were puzzled by the failure of Flores and two other Guatemalans to appear.

The starters included a strong field of non-Americans. No American has won the famed 26-mile, 385-yard run from suburban Hopkington to Boston's back bay since veteran Johnny Kelley of West Acton, Mass., led the pack in 1945.

Five former winners started: Sweden's Karl Gosta Leandersson (1949); Vote (1940, 1943, 1944, 1948); Kelley (1935, 1945); Les Pawson, Pawtucket, R. I. (1938, 1941), and Clarence de Mar, seven-time winner.

DOROTHY DIX:

Gifts to Children Cause Family Trouble

DEAR MISS DIX: I have five children, three girls and two boys, under 10. The godmothers of two girls are very thoughtful about remembering their godchildren at Christmas and on birthdays, but they never send gifts to the other youngsters. The other three are, apparently, completely forgotten by their godparents who never send gifts, or even cards. I would like to tell the two thoughtful godmothers that I prefer they send no gifts, rather than have them continue to neglect the three children. Naturally when two children receive gifts and three don't, there is bound to be a feeling of jealousy created among the youngsters.

MRS. T. J.

POSSIBLE IDEAL SITUATION

ANSWER: You have two alternatives in dealing with the problem. You could write the thoughtful godparents and state your problem, asking them either to discontinue sending gifts, or to send one present, such as a game that could be enjoyed by all the youngsters. Or you could let matters go on as they are, explaining the situation to your small fry, telling them of the special spiritual relationship existing between godparents and godchild, and expressing regret that all baptismal sponsors do not feel the same way about their obligation. I would prefer the latter solution. Children are more understanding than you probably realize.

It's inevitable that sooner or later they'll begin to be treated differently, and the sooner they are prepared for that day, the better. Many mothers of large families feel, as you do, that all the children should be treated alike. This would be an ideal situation that may only be possible while the siblings are very small. It is much more important to teach the children that they should share their godmother's largesse with the other youngsters, than it would be to continue striving for equality.

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR MISS DIX: Do you think a person can love another and at the same time be ashamed of her? I have been married nearly three years to a man old enough to be my father. He is a brilliant person, and I have only a grammar-school education. Consequently, he seems ashamed to have me meet his friends. I am an excellent housekeeper and am considered attractive. D.W.

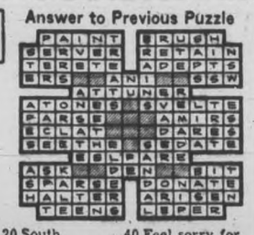
✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: Perchance you misinterpret your husband's desire to keep you hidden. He may be self-conscious over the fact that his wife is so many years his junior. This is one of the unfortunate consequences of a marriage between two people who are widely separated by age. If the husband is inclined to have an inferiority complex—and that is possible with persons of superior education—he may feel that the youth of his spouse emphasizes his own age. Your own education can be furthered with intelligent reading, and perhaps by attendance at lectures, or special courses. If you are a charming hostess, and an interested listener, your husband's friends will never hold your lack of education against you—and neither should he.

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR MISS DIX: We are two girls of 14 and our problem is a friend a little older. She has gotten into bad company and everyone seems to know about it except her mother. The girl won't liten to our advice, and we know she is being unfavorably discussed in school.

A. R.



✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: You say you have discussed this matter with your own mother, who is also unable to come up with a solution. A daughter's waywardness is a most delicate matter to bring to a parent's attention, but the person with courage enough to face the job may save the young lady—and her family—much heartache. If your own mother doesn't feel up to the task, ask her to take it up with the minister of the girl's family, or with a teacher or the principal in school. A word from them would carry considerable weight with the family of the erring child.

Coronation Preparations Three-Quarters Complete

By ALVIN STEINKOFF

LONDON (AP)—Preparations for the Coronation which will turn London upside down June 2 are 75 per cent complete.

Dressing up the old city for the great event has changed the appearance of London in a startling manner. And estimates of the cost go up and up.

Some months ago Britons were speaking of a £1,000,000 Coronation. Now there is a general belief that the pageantry, and all that goes with it, will cost closer to £1,500,000.

There is a smell of new lumber in the air, and along the five-mile route on which the Queen will ride in a glittering procession there are acres of tiered seats.

The Mall, stately roadway leading to Buckingham Palace, has taken on the appearance of bleachers at a baseball park. In some spots even the trees are hidden. In Parliament Square, the Gothic beauties of Westminster Abbey can be admired only from a distance, or by squinting through a few breaks in a thicket of scaffolding.

CURRENT JOKE

A current joke in London is that the cab drivers are getting lost constantly because the Coronation stands hide all the familiar landmarks.

Surveying the efforts of many hundreds of workmen, David Eccles, minister of works, estimated that the physical preparations for the Coronation are three-quarters complete.

There will be a final flurry of furious activity three or four days before the Coronation when hundreds of thousands of potted flowers will be brought from London parks to brighten the way of the Queen as she rides through the transformed streets of the capital.

Costs of the Coronation have raised a few protests. But they have not been loud and by and large the country seems to be in a mood for an emotional spree, and a spectacle.

MARY MOORE SAYS:

Fried Rice and Ham Supper Dish

About one hundred years ago when I was a cooking-school novice our teacher chose me—imagine me out of twenty-two other ignoramuses—to demonstrate how to make Rice Pilaf.

Ever since that red-letter day I have considered myself the author of the dish and whenever fried rice turns up I think I invented it.

I don't know how much you use rice in your meals. It must be a good idea for there are billions of people on this earth who use it every day of their lives. Since converted rice and brown rice have been easy to buy I think we nutrition-conscious cooks should take full advantage of them.

"Converted" rice has been treated so that it retains much of its vitamin content. Brown rice is unconverted rice which still retains its inner-outer coat naturally, so that the original vitamin and mineral content remains intact. Brown rice tastes better, is better for you but requires a little longer cooking. It is harder to find on the grocers' shelves too.

Converted rice satisfies our habitual desire for refined white foods and because of ingenious processing retains much of the precious vitamins—so it has two major counts in its favor besides its delicious flavor.

I have down-to-earth practical main course rice recipes that anybody and everybody likes. Of course you know they don't cost a fortune to serve, knowing Scotch Mary.

FRIED RICE AND HAM SUPPER DISH

This is a glorified pilaf and will serve 8.

Four tabiespoons butter or margarine or good drippings, ½ cup diced onion, 1 cup each uncooked rice and diced cooked ham, 1½ teaspoons salt, ⅛ teaspoon pepper, 3 cups water, 2 eggs, ½ cup milk. Melt butter or fat or oil in saucepan, add the onions and raw rice and gently cook them until rice absorbs the fat, is slightly browned and onions are limp and yellow colored. Add the ham, salt, pepper and water. Bring to boil, turn heat as low as possible, cover and cook over very low heat for 20 minutes, or until rice is barely tender. Beat the eggs, stir in the milk, and pour these over the rice-ham mixture and stir them in over low heat, until egg is set. Turn out onto hot platter and garnish with parsley and tomato wedges. This is a perfect dish for Sunday morning bunch or for a robust luncheon with a salad.

Rice-Salmon Porcupines which follow, have distinct character and make a good meat course for six people. They are very pretty and tasty and your whole family will like them.

RICE AND SALMON PORCUPINES

One-half cup raw rice, one 16-oz. tin of salmon and liquid, ½ cup grated raw carrot, 1 egg, 2 tablespoons finely chopped onions or chives, ¼ teaspoon curry powder, ½ teaspoon salt, ⅛ teaspoon pepper, one 10-oz. tin cream of mushroom soup, 1½ cups water. Mix together the rice, salmon, carrots, egg, onion, curry powder, salt and pepper. Press the mixture into 6 balls. Place in buttered large baking dish, allowing at least 1½ inches between them as they swell on cooking. Mix the soup with the water and heat through. Pour this over the rice and salmon balls. Dish should not be more than 2/3 full when soup is poured over. Cover dish and make at 350 deg. Fahr. for about 1¼ hours or until the visible rice is tender. This visible rice protrudes from the balls and gives the dish its name. You may want to serve your porcupines with additional mushroom soup sauce heated to boiling.

The minister said the order was passed Friday, April 17.

The move, he said, was being done along with Britain and the United States which have placed similar controls on their merchant shipping.

Police Seek Missing Teacher

WINDSOR, Ont. (CP)—A 35-year- old Windsor high school teacher, missing since Saturday and pos- sibly suffering from amnesia, is being sought on both sides of the border today.

Graydon Bell, English teacher at Kennedy Collegiate Institute, left the home of his mother about 7:45 p. m. Saturday and has not been seen since.

During service overseas in World War II he suffered severe head injuries and it is believed these may have brought on an attack of amnesia.

His mother, with whom he had been living, told police he had been complaining for several days of severe headaches.

Bell is described as being five feet, eight inches tall, weighing 135 pounds and with fair hair, blue eyes and a prominent scar behind his left ear. He wears glasses.

Canada To Take 165,000 Immigrants

GENEVA (AP)—Canada expects to settle approximately 165,000 European immigrants in 1953, in- cluding some of the "neo-refugees" from Eastern Germany, C. E. S. Smith, Canadian director of immi- gration, told the intergovernmental committee for European migration today.

This is about the same number of migrants settled in Canada in 1952, Smith said.

Give Final Reading To Shipping Changes

OTTAWA (CP)—The Commons today gave third and final reading to amendments to the Canada Shipping Act tightening up require- ments for ship-to-shore communi- cation facilities on Canadian ves- sels.

A series of changes in the act will give cabinet power to order radio-telephone facilities for ships over 500 tons generally and for any vessels on the Great Lakes Pas- senger ships already are obliged to carry radio-telegraph.

Howard Green (PC—Vancouver Quadra) commended the govern- ment measure, but he said he hopes the transport department will be very careful about granting exemptions to ships on the carry- ing of wireless operators.

Lives could be lost for lack of wireless telegraphy.

Angus MacInnis (CCF—Vancou- ver East) said radio-telegraph op- erators should be full-time employ- ees.

Justice Of Peace Has Salary Unchanged

WATERLOO (CP)—The Water- loo county police commission to- day decided to make no change in the $1,350 basic annual salary for Waterloo's justice of the peace. The gross salary is about $3,000.

Judge E. W. Clement said the justice of the peace is well paid. Magistrate J. R. H. Kirkpatrick agreed and said a recent increase in the police staff means more charges will be laid and therefore the gross salary will be increased.

Gernert's Two Homers Give Red Sox Win

BOSTON (AP)—Two home runs by Dick Gernert provided the vic- tory margin today as Boston Red Sox opened the 1953 home Amer- ican League baseball season with a 4-2 triumph over Washington Sen- ators in the first game of a morn- ing-afternoon doubleheader. Mel Parnell, who needed help from Ellis Kinder and Bill Kennedy, reg- istered his pitching triumph of the year.

Too Successful

CANBERRA (Reuters) — A new type geiger-counter, being demon- strated to a group of senators at Australia's Rum Jungle uranium field, worked too successfully — it detected "souvenirs" of uran- ium in the visitors' pockets. The story was told in the Senate by opposition member Sidney O'Fla- herty, one of the group. He did not say whether the "souvenirs" were handed back.

Trade Surplus

BONN (AP) — West Germany rolled up a $40,000,000 trade sur- plus during the first three months of this year. The federal press office said today that imports total- led 3,809,000,000 marks ($907,000,- 000) and exports 3,963,000,000 marks ($940,000,000) during this period.

Decides Reds Must Prove Peace Desire

OTTAWA (CP)—The leaders of Canada and West Germany agreed Saturday that the onus is on the Communist capitals to back their avowed desire for peace by 'prac- tical steps to reduce international tensions both in Europe and the Far East."

Chancellor Konrad Adenauer flew away to Boston and home late Saturday after talks with Prime Minister St. Laurent and other cabinet ministers which produced no major specific decisions but broad agreement on the reaction to recent Communist overtures and other matters.

The 77-year-old leader of 48,000,- 000 Germans left after a 22-hour visit with an honorary degree from the University of Ottawa and the gratification of having made a favorable impression on this capi- tal.

The one jarring note came in a picket line of eight Communists who paraded quietly around the main entrance of the Parliament Buildings bearing placards which protested "rearming the Nazis" and any "release of murderer (Maj.-Gen. Kurt) Meyer." Their Communist leanings were identi- fied by one placard tabbing them as Labor Progressive party mem- bers. Most of them wore war medals.

IGNORED PICKETS

But the Adenauer group ignored the pickets as the chancellor ar- rived for a press conference and the pickets held their peace, under the vigilant eye of a squad of mounties. There were no incidents.

A 500-word communique summed up the talks this way:

1. Dr. Adenauer and Mr. St. Laurent, who had an hour-long chat, "agreed that their two coun- tries were now engaged in the same struggle" for peace and freedom "and that renewed hope for suc- cess in this struggle lay in the growing strength and unity of the free world."

2. The two agreed that "the sin- cerity of recent Sino-Soviet over- tures would be tested by the wilingness of these Communist regimes" to ease tensions.

3. The Germans thanked Canada for taking in some 60,000 German immigrants in the last two years but stressed the "enormous diffi- culties" facing West Germany and West Berlin over the 10,000,000 refugees from communism now there and the new ones constantly flocking in.

Oaxaca Bookstore Owner Writes Books And Poetry

OAXACA—A little old gentleman who operates a tiny book shop around the corner from the Marques del Valle hotel is one of Oaxaca's interesting people. Felix Martinez Dois runs his store by day and by night turns to literature and poetry. He is an author.

* * * *

Since 1873 when he began to write at the age of 15, literature has been his first love. He has written three books of prose and nine books in verse. He has received prizes from many places and his work is done for the creative joy of writing. He never sells it. The University of Ohio and the University of California have published some of his works and he has been invited to visit many places in the United States but has never had time to go.

* * * *

For 15 years, Sr. Martinez was director of the Oaxaca Museum and for 43 years he has been a member of the Society of History and Geography of Mexico. He has also made translations of books of the old French poets and some Italian works. Sr. Martinez is proud of the fact that his name is in the Dictionary of Distinguished Mexicans by Peral.

* * * *

Since he has written some historical pieces, Sr. Martinez was able to tell me something of the university which was founded in 1826 when a Dominican priest was the first principal. Porfio Diaz (later president of Mexico) studied law here and was a professor and Juarez who also studied law here was principal of the university. He also served as director, governor of the states, senator and finally president of Mexico.

* * * *

HIGHLY HONORED

"Juarez was the only one to be honored by all the governments of Latin America for his opposition to the French (Maximilian) and the way he conducted the country during the invasion," Sr. Martinez recalled.

* * * *

The fifth principal of the school was Bishop Francisco Garcia Cantarines, a learned scholar, poet and writer. Today there are 600 students enrolled at the university which became autonomous 10 years ago.

* * * *

Like all Mexican people, Sr. Martinez is the soul of politeness and hospitality. The day before I left he took the trouble to come to my hotel to offer help and to bid me bon voyage.

* * * *

Another delightful friend I made in the state capital was Mrs. Mariela Morales, one of the sweetest persons I have known. Mrs. Morales enjoys being busy and manages to do half a dozen things at once. She runs her own coffee shop at the hotel, looks after the hotel books and acts as hostess. She always has time to help tourists and in between times she teaches English at the normal school and supervises the baking of cakes and pastries at her home for her shop and the hotel.

* * * *

BRINGS UP SON

Mrs. Morales has two interests in life—her 19-year-old son who has gone to Mexico City to continue his medical studies and her love of Oaxaca and its people. Left a widow with a small baby, this woman had to find a job to support herself and her baby. She was a tourist guide for a while, having learned English when she was at school in the United States, and then she worked as a stenographer in the Oaxaca state government. But she prefers the coffee shop and the hotel where she can have the fun of meeting and talking to people.

* * * *

Nothing pleases Mrs. Morales more than to recall her younger days when strict customs were observed. In those days boys and girls could not walk together. Instead the boys and girls used to parade around the Zocalo on Sunday, passing each other on opposite sides of the wide promenade. By little signs, notes in school, etc., the young people would strike up friendships despite the watchful eyes of mama. I first heard of her from friends in Taxco and she was as charming as she had been described.

* * * *

GOOD FRIEND

Then there was Jacob Robles who is studying to be a doctor and who like Mrs. Morales doesn't have many spare moments. In addition to his medical studies, he teaches a Spanish class in one school and has an English class in another. He also does extra studying in archaeology and French and has a passion for learning. Mr. Robles speaks almost perfect English and has a tremendous interest in his home state.

* * * *

"Mexico City would be a better place to continue my medical work, but I don't think I could bear to leave my beautiful state. I love my people and would miss them too much," he said whimsically.

* * * *

Through Jacob I saw more of Oaxaca and learned more about the people and made friendships that I could not have made by myself in months.

* * * *

Oaxaca was almost the only place I had any dealings with people who were not Mexicans. I had the good fortune on my first day there to meet Carl Schwieters of Fort Wayne, Ind. who has been in Mexico 14 times and knew Oaxaca well. He was kind enough to take me through the market, the pottery works and some of the churches. His experiences and knowledge were a great help.

MAKING SURVEY

Another interesting American was a University of Chicago man named Walker. He has spent several months up in the mountain villages making a survey. As soon as he decides on the one he likes best, he will bring his family and live there while he writes.

* * * *

"I think Chicago must have conditioned me for living in Mexico because I have had no trouble with the food and water, no matter how primitive the villages. When I am living there I can't be too fussy and they offer their hospitality so charmingly you can't refuse. Anyway I have never been sick a day," he declared.

Archbishop Of Canterbury Plays Double Role In Coronation Ceremonies

By ALVIN STEINKOPF

LONDON (AP)—When the Queen receives her crown June 2 from Dr. Geoffrey Francis Fisher, archbishop of Canterbury and primate of all England, it will be more than a formal ceremony enacted impersonally by high churchman and sovereign.

At the Coronation chair, archbishop and Queen will be two old friends.

The archbishop performed her marriage service in ancient Westminster Abbey. He baptized her first child, Prince Charles. He officiated at the funeral of her father, King George VI. They have conferred often on problems of church and state.

The 65-year-old archbishop is one of the most interesting of contemporary Englishmen, not only because he is the land's highest ecclesiastical authority, but because he is a man of erudition and lively wit.

He approves of the Queen, he has often said, because she presents an excellent example for British young women. He likes her especially because she had children so early in her marriage. The archbishop has six sons and likes children.

He is a priest who early showed a bent for administration. He never held a parish. Instead, after studies at Exeter College, Oxford, the was diverted into education.

In 1932 he became bishop of Chester, and in 1939 bishop of London.

In 1945 King George VI, on recommendation of Prime Minister Churchill, appointed him archbishop of Canterbury, at 58 the youngest man in modern times to be elevated to the post. He tackled church problems, made difficult by neglect of church properties during the war, with great zest and soon was commenting ruefully:

"When I was a school master I thought I worked hard. When a bishop I thought school masters lazy. When an archbishop I realized how lazy bishops really are."

A wrangle out of which the archbishop appeared to be getting a lot of sly amusement recently concerns his attitude toward television. He doesn't think much of it.

"It's another means of wasting time," he said.

A tidy manager of church affairs, the archbishop is sure to make the Coronation a smooth and well organized ceremony, but he once confessed a bit of untidiness gives life a little zip. Urged by reformers to use his high authority to do something about the date of Easter wandering all over the calendar, he commented:

"As an administrator I try to get rid of anomalies. As an individual I love them, because there is danger that life might become so systemized as to lose interest."

For relaxation, if any, the archbishop chooses detective stories.

Super-Speed Merry-Go-Rounds Help To Fight Heart Disease

By FRANK CAREY

CHARLOTTESVILLE, Va. (AP)—Super - speed "merry - go-rounds" that whirl 900 times a second are being used in a new attack on heart disease.

University of Virginia scientists say these small instruments, called "ultracentrifuges," may provide the basis for a relatively simple blood test that will detect unknowing victims threatened with one of the worst forms of heart disease—hardening of the blood vessels of the heart itself.

The idea is to place a sample of a person's blood in a little tube, attach the tube to the merry-go-round and give it a ride. Centrifugal force, about 250,000 times the force of gravity, separates the constituents of the blood. The heaviest constituents collect at the outer end of the tube, the lightest towards the inner end.

The Virginia scientists are principally interested in the lightest constituents. These are tiny globules of fat which researchers say may play an important role in causing hardening of blood vessels of the heart if present in large quantities.

The globules come from fats that people eat. They are present to a certain extent in everyone's blood, but it has been found that victims of heart disease show abnormal amounts.

The scientists are working on a theory that an apparently normal person who shows a tendency to retain such globules in his blood for lengthy periods may be a candidate for hardening of the coronary vessels.

If research leads to a definite means of linking these globules with actual development of the heart ailment it may be possible to prevent the onset of the disorder by dietary or other means.

The Virginia scientists said that if the fat globule test works out, a single laboratory technician could test at least 25 blood samples a day.

Medical phases of the work are in charge of Dr. William Parson, professor of internal medicine. The ultracentrifuge operations are directed by Dr. Jesse Beams, head of the physics department, a pioneer in the development of high-speed contrifuges.

Beams has made for other uses rotors which whirl 800,000 times a second, representing a centrifugal force 500,000,000 times greater than the force of gravity.

The rotors are brought to speed by a mechanical device and then are literally "launched" in a vacuum chamber where they whirl free of any friction, supported only by magnetic means. They would whirl for years without coming to a full stop unless an operator pulled a switch.

Hydro Tunnel Awes Prince

NIAGARA FALLS, Ont. (AP)—A weary crown prince of Japan fell asleep for 20 minutes saturday while being taken by automobile between sections of the giant Ontario hydro tunnel project.

Hydro chairman Robert Saunders who explained the workings of the project to 19-year-old Prince Akihito, said the prince was awed by the 300-foot depth of the valley through which the Niagara river flows. The prince was taken first to the new Chippawa development above the falls from which water will pass under the city at the rate of 15,000,000 cubic feet a second.

He slept while being taken from the development to the power generating station below the river, and to the new power station now under construction through which water from the tunnel will flow.

"We have nothing like this tunnel in Japan," Akihito was quoted as saying. "It is magnificent."

At lunch, the prince at a typical Canadian meal—roast beef and yorkshire pudding, pea soup, broccoli, fried egg plant and a strawberry shortcake. He asked for tea instead of coffee. A canape of Japanese shrimp preceded the meal.

Movie Column

Actor's Life Outdoes Movie Heroes

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Movie heroes, the kind who can clean out a barroom with a few blows of their fists, are dime-a-dozen in Hollywood. But here's an actor who is the real McCoy.

He is Peter Ortiz, former foreign legionnaire and underground fighter whose life could make a movie in itself. In fact, part of it did.

Last year, Warners took part of his life story and made "Operation Secret." That concerned his activities as a U. S. Marine officer in helping to organize French resistance. He wasn't too happy with the result.

"They did a lot of things I didn't particularly approve of," he remarked. "They had stipulated that I was to help in the screen play, but never consulated me."

DIDN'T WANT FACTS

It's possible that the scripters didn't want the facts to interfere. That's understandable, because Ortiz' life might appear unbelievable on the screen.

Ortiz lived in the U. S. until he was 12, then moved to France, where his father was in business. Being restless, he ran away to sea at 15. A few years later, he signed with the French Foreign Legion.

Ortiz stayed with the legion eight years and recalls the experience with fondness.

"The public has a false impression about the legion," he said. "It is supposed to be filled with criminals. There are some criminals, but there are many others with different reasons for escaping their past. Some had escaped from Hitler, others were White Russians and other political refugees.

"I found in the legion a spirit you don't see in any other fighting force. Since so many legionnaires have left their past behind them, they care little for the future They expect to live and die in the legion, and they will do brave things."

JOINS MARINES

War broke out while he was in the U. S. He shipped out of Canada to rejoin the legion, and his transport was torpedoed en route. That made him even angrier and he fought valiantly against the German blitz near Luxemburg. He was captured but escaped, later joining the U. S. Marines.

His linguistic ability suited him for underground work, so he was parachuted into Europe and operated with the U. S. secret service. After the war, he was discharged a lieutenant-colonel with 27 decorations and 156 parachute jumps to his credit.

McDowell, assisted by his wife Kathleen, responded with reminiscences out of his varied career.

Menu illustrations featured "The Champlain Road," McDowell's historical novel laid in Ontario's Huronia country.

Farewell Party For Bogert

By BILL BOSS

IN KOREA (CP)—Officers at Brig. M. P. Bogert's headquarters entertained Sunday for the departing commander of the 25th Canadian brigade, receiving representative officers from all Commonwealth division units.

Maj.-Gen. Bruce Clarke, United States 1st corps commander, came by helicopter to attend.

Maj.-Gen. W. H. S. Macklin, Canadian Army adjutant-general, spent the weekend with the brigade, making a whirlwind tour of all units.

During the luncheon party a Canadian Army signal arrived from Ottawa. It was word of the new increased subsistence allowance rates and provisions for paying the fare of service dependents to Europe and injected a popular note to the gathering.

Bogert is scheduled to turn over the 25th brigade to Brig. Jean Victor Allard Wednesday.

Fire Toll Now 34

Queen Will Be Kissed Nine Times During Coronation Ceremony

By ALVIN J. STEINKOPF

LONDON (AP)—In her Coronation ceremony at Westminster Abbey on June 2 the Queen will be kissed nine times. She will be anointed with holy oil on the breast on each hand and on the crown of the head.

The anointing will be done discreetly, probably without lowering the neckline, behind a canopy of rich silk or gold cloth so that the Queen is concealed from view. This is a part of the ceremony that will not be televised because of its sacred character.

The young Queen will hear the adulation of an empire and, from her husband, hear a promise of enduring devotion.

PROMISES DEVOTION

The Duke of Edinburgh will kneel before her in the bright light which will shine on the throne, and while the world listens he will say:

"I Philip, Duke of Edinburgh, do become your liege man of life and limb, and of earthly worship: And faith and truth I will bear unto you, to live and die, against all manner of folks."

She will be wearing the crown of St. Edward as he dedicates his life to her. Then he will rise, touch the crown, and kiss her left cheek.

The order of the Coronation service, a 32-page document which explains precisely how the Queen will move about, and what the Archbishop of Canterbury will say, was published today by the Oxford University Press.

To most of the Queen's subjects the Coronation, the placing of the crown upon the head, is the moment of highest drama. But the Church of England and its highest prelate, the Archbishop of Canterbury, Dr. Geoffrey Fisher, hold that the anointing is really the heart of the ceremony.

NINE KISSES

The nine kisses will be bestowed on the Queen during the ceremony of homage when, crowned, she sits upon the raised throne.

The first will be from the Archbishop of Canterbury, who will pledge loyalty, and kiss her on the right hand. It will be one kiss, but she is to regard it as kisses from all the spiritual lords.

Then will come the homage by the Duke of Edinburgh, followed by kisses on the cheek by the other Royal Dukes present, Gloucester and Kent, the Queen's uncle and cousin.

Then one representative of each of the five degrees of the peerage—non-royal dukes, marquesses, earls, viscounts and barons—will kiss the Queen's hand, and again she is to consider that she has had a kiss betokening loyalty from every person of the nobility.

PM To Meet President On Trade Ban

Report New Barriers To Be Raised Against Grain Import

OTTAWA (CP)—Trade Minister Howe said today Prime Minister St. Laurent will follow up steady Canadian representations about United States trade barriers by discussing the situation with President Eisenhower in Washington early next month. He said Mr. St. Laurent will also discuss world trade problems there.

Mr. Howe told John Diefenbaker (PC—Lake Centre) in the Commons that Canada's Ambassador Hume Wrong and other officials are in almost daily touch with Washington officials about restrictions that strike at imports of Canadian dairy products, flaxseed and other goods.

Mr. Howe said there have been reports that new restrictions on imports of oats and feed grains are in the legislative mill in Washington, too, but to the best of his knowledge this was not true as yet. This being so, it was not appropriate for Canada to make any protest at this stage.

Mr. Howe said Canada has made various protests about the bans on dairy products but these are so worded that no formal reply was necessary from the U. S.

Mr. Diefenbaker had asked what replies Canada had received to her protests.

The minister said the protests referred to pending or current legislation before Congress and it was not customary to expect replies under such circumstances.

U.S. Senate Told Ridgway Quashed Attack

WASHINGTON (AP)—Senators have been told that Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway turned down Gen. James A. Van Fleet's plan for an Allied sea-borne strike against the Communists in Korea in June, 1951.

Van Fleet, then commander of the 8th army in Korea, recently told a Senate armed services subcommittee he was "crying to turn me loose" for such an assault, but that higher authority would not approve it.

Van Fleet, now retired, said he felt he could have destroyed the Chinese armies with the blow.

MADE NO COMMENT

At the time Van Fleet gave that testimony, Ridgway said in Paris he had "absolutely no comment." In June, 1951, he was Far Eastern commander; now he is commander of Western European defence forces.

Gen. J. Lawton Collins, army chief of staff, testified behind closed doors Monday to the Senate armed services sub-committee, which has been investigating reported ammunition shortages.

Later, a senator who asked that his name not be used told reporters:

"Collins said the Van Fleet recommendation never reached the joint chiefs of staff for a decision. He said Ridgway turned it down because he felt it was too much of a gamble."

TORONTO (CP)—Sheriff's officers used a crowbar to pry open the door of a west-central residence today to begin eviction of the family of Mrs. Anna Christopher, 67, whose home is being torn down to make way for a street extension.

Mrs. Christopher's sons who battled police March 19 over possession of the property, offered no resistance today beyond refusing to unlock the door.

TORONTO (CP)—Col. Headley Basher, deputy minister of reform institutions, told a special committee of the legislature Monday that his department is studying the possibility of paying inmates in reform institutions for their work at a daily rate with the money going to their families.

He said the United States pays as high as $1.25 a day depending on work done by prisoners. They are allowed to keep a small amount for candies and smokes and the like.

REPORTED ALIVE in Communist hands after being listed missing in action in Korea since last October was Pte. George E. Griffiths, 22, (right) of Orland, eight miles north of Brighton His 20-year-old wife (above) had been praying for her husband's safety ever since a company of the Royal Canadian Regiment was reported overrun at the battle of Little Gibraltar hill. "It's a miracle," she said when she received word that her husband was alive.

Soldier Husband Alive A Miracle Says Happy Wife

BRIGHTON—"It's a miracle." This was the reaction of Mrs. Barbara Griffiths, 20, of Orland, eight miles north of here, when told that her husband Pte. George E. Griffiths, 22, was alive in a Communist prison camp. Mrs. Griffiths had been praying that her husband was alive since he was reported missing in action in Korea on October 23 last year, just three weeks after he had gone to the front.

Pte. Griffiths was one of 15 Canadian soldiers, previously listed missing in action, reported alive by L.-Cpl. Paul Dugal of Quebec City, first Canadian prisoner of war exchanged by the Communists at Freedom Village in Korea.

Dugal carried a notebook containing messages from 12 soldiers of the Royal Canadian Regiment captured during the battle of Little Gibraltar hill last October 23 when a company of the unit was overrun. He also brought word from three members of the Royal 22nd Regiment.

HEARD MONDAY

Mrs. Griffiths first received the news that her husband was alive shortly after midnight Monday morning when she received a telephone message from Belleville radio station CJBQ. She later received a telegram from the Department of National Defence confirming the news.

Pte. Griffiths joined the RCR in Kingston, May 8, 1951, and went overseas last September. A brother, Vernon Griffiths, served 13 months in Korea with the Royal Canadian Horse Artillery, and came home the same day George left Wainwright, Alta., for overseas.

His parents are Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Griffiths, RR 1, Brighton.

Carrier Planes Hit Red Posts

SEOUL (AP) — U.S. carrier planes today smashed Communist positions less than a mile ahead of Allied lines in the Heartbreak and Sniper ridge sector of eastern Korea.

Ground - based Allied planes struck deep into North Korea, attacking a Red airfield and supply lines.

Only light patrol skirmishes were reported along the 155-mile ground front as another group of sick and wounded prisoners of war were exchanged at Panmunjom.

The navy said planes from the carriers Oriskany and Princeton struck Red positions near Sniper and Heartbreak ridges to break up a possible Communist attack.

Seaway Would Reduce Hydro Cost: Saunders

ST. CATHARINES (CP)—Development of St. Lawrence seaway power would give Ontario needed electricity at the low cost of 3-10ths of a cent per kilowatt hour, hydro chairman Robert Saunders said here Monday night.

Development was being held up by the "selfish interests of a few people" and this means an "unfortunate waste." Cost of power from steam plants was 7.5 cents per kilowatt hour. He spoke at the annual eeting of the Niagara Peninsula Sanatorium.

Queen Turns 27, Celebrates 2nd Birthday In Mourning

WINDSOR, England (CP)—The Queen turned 27 today and for the second year in succession observed the occasion in mourning. Last year it was for her father, King George VI; this time, for her grandmother, Queen Mary.

The young monarch invited her closest relatives to a quiet luncheon party here at Windsor Castle. Military and naval commanders all over the British Isles [illegible] the customary birthday salutes, including one of 41 guns in Hyde Park at noon and another of 62 guns at the Tower of London an hour later.

In keeping with tradition, the official pomp-and-ceremony celebration of the birthday will be June 11 this year nine days after Elizabeth's Coronation—when Britain's uncertain weather is supposed to be at its best.

The Queen's children, Prince Charles and Princess Anne, were given permission to join the grown-ups for their mother's birthday lunch for the first time this year.

Charles is going on five and Anne is nearly three.

Charles saved money to buy his mother's present and went shopping for it Monday in Windsor His choice of gift remained a secret.

Queen Elizabeth, the Queen's mother flew back to London from Scotland Monday to be among the first to wish her daughter "many happy returns."

Tonight the Queen and the Duke of Edinburgh, the Queen Mother and Princess Margaret, will leave by car for Badminton, Gloucestershire, to be the guests of the Duke and Duchess of Beaufort at the international horse trials.

They paraded in the grand quadrangle of Windsor Castle in sunny spring weather while the Queen and her family stood at an open window of the oak room.

Nationalist China To Withdraw Burma Guerrillas

TAIPEH, Formosa (AP)—Nationalist China tonight announced it will co-operate with other interested governments in effecting the withdrawal of Chinese guerrilla troops commanded by Gen. Li Mi from northern Burma.

Foreign Minister George Yeh's statement implied that if attacks on Li's forces by Burmese troops and "Communist elements" cease, Free China's "persuasive power" might succeed in effecting the withdrawal.

Burma's complaint to the United Nations condemning Chiang Kai-shek's government on Formosa as an aggressor is before the 60-nation UN political committee.

Yeh's statement said discussions between Nationalist China and the United States have been under way for weeks.

Most observers here have said for some time that if the nationalists wanted to withdraw Li's troops from Burma they could do so, even though official spokesmen have disclaimed all responsibility for the guerrillas.

It has been estimated that 12,000 Nationalist troops who fled into north Burma from south China in 1950 have been operating as guerrillas.

The Burmese government complained to the UN that the guerrilla troops were ravaging the countryside and it called the Nationalist government on Formosa an aggressor since it allegedly controlled them.

RANGOON, Burma (Reuters)—Chinese Nationalist guerrillas who have opened a new front in Burma on the Siam border, southeast of Rangoon, were reported today to have cut the direct road link between Moulmein and Kawkareik.

They were said to have infiltrated to a depth of 25 miles in the Tenassrim belt.

FIGHTING HEAVY

Front-line reports indicated heavy fighting at Kyonda, 10 miles west of Kawkareik, and at Myawaddy, 16 miles to the northeast of Kawkareik, on the Burma-Thailand border when it was reported that more than 1,000 guerrillas of Gen. Li Mi's remnant Nationalist Army moved into the area.

Burmese planes droned over Rangoon today in intense activity.

Fighters made constant strafing runs to relieve pressure on the ground forces while transports flew supplies and reinforcements to the front.

Gen. Li's troops have been holed up in Burmese territory ever since they were driven out of China by the Communists at the end of the Chinese civil war.

Vietminh Hold Most Of Island

HANOI, Indo-CHINA (AP)—Communist-led Vietminh troops in a nine-day invasion of little Laos have already overrun almost one third of the country's total area without running into a serious fight.

The enemy divisions moving from the northwest, north and east into Laos each have covered an estimated 100 miles through the thick jungle and forest covered mountains, wading swift streams.

French-Laotian forces have evacuated one after another of their originally planned defence spots, leaving the way clear for the Vietminh to advance.

But now the French and Laotians are entrenched on the Plain des Jarres, nearly 200 miles southeast of Hanoi.

The enemy can easily skirt the plain and move on the royal Laotian capital at Luang Prabang and the government seat at Vientiane.

Second Unit Of PoWs Back, Happy

Ex-Prisoners Tell Of Others More Seriously Ill

PANMUNJOM, Korea (AP)—A second group of 100 disabled but jubilant Allied prisoners came back from North Korean prison stockades today as some of the British Commonwealth and American soldiers exchanged Monday landed in Japan on their way home.

Many of the UN prisoners who rolled through Freedom Gate today were laughing and joking, in sharp contrast to the solemn air of those freed as the exchange of sick and wounded began Monday

But today's group of 12 Britons, 35 Americans, three Turks and 50 South Koreans told also of seriously sick and wounded comrades still in Red prison camps and of death marches over frozen highways during the bitter winters of 1950, 1951 and 1952.

PARENTS IN GUELPH

Among the Americans in the second group was Pte. Charles Sacco of Lorain, O. His parents live in Guelph, Ont.

Pte. Sacco, a native of Guelph, went to the United States four years ago, and settled in Lorain. He later enlisted in the U.S. Army.

(In Guelph, Sacco's father, Rosario, couldn't believe the news his son had been released. "Is it true?" he asked.)

The Reds have said they would exchange 100 South Koreans for 350 North Koreans and 150 Chinese Communists Wednesday.

All of the 605 disabled United Nations and South Korean captives to be freed by the Reds are to be exchanged by Saturday, the day full-scale armistice negotiations are to be resumed. The first Canadian repatriate, L. Cpl. Paul Dugal of Quebec City, arrived Monday.

Some 5,800 North Korean and Chinese sick and wounded will be back in Communist hands by May 1.

Allied reconnaissance planes today spotted a convoy of Communist trucks and ambulances carrying more sick and wounded prisoners toward Panmunjom. Shortly after noon it was moving between Sariwon and Sohung, 50 to 75 miles north of Kaesong.

A plane carrying 36 Allied sick and wounded from Korea landed Tuesday at Tachikawa air base, near Tokyo. Air force officials said there will be daily flights until all Allied prisoners are in Japan on their way home.

Save Three Men As Ship Sinks

QUEBEC (CP)—The 90-foot St. Lawrence river schooner Noel du Nord was wrecked Monday night in a collision with an ocean-bound freighter near Yamachiche, about 70 miles down-river from Montreal.

Only three men were aboard the wooden coastal vessel when it was struck amidships by the 3,000-ton freighter Sallust bound for South American ports via Baltimore.

All three, including Capt. Edouard Bouliane, escaped from the smashed Noe du Nord in a small boat and were picked up by the Sallust and brought to Quebec.

Marine signals service reported the hulk of the schooner was adrift during the night and a hazard to other St. Lawrence river shipping. This morning the wreck was reported to have drifted ashore at Yamachiche.

The Sallust is owned by the Lamport and Holt line, a British company. Canadian Pacific Steamships acts as Canadian agents.

Extent of the damage to the freighter was not known immediately but she is expected to be examined here.

The collision was reported to have occurred in murky weather, outside the main navigation channel. The Noel du Nord was proceeding to Montreal without cargo.

CBC Plans $2 Million Expansion In Toronto

TORONTO (CP)—Revenue Minister McCann told the parliamentary committee on broadcasting Monday that a $2,000,000 expansion of CBC radio facilities in Toronto, including a new building, is planned within the next two or three years. The committee came here for an inspection tour of CBC radio and television studios.

Dr. McCann said the new building and equipment is needed to replace the old Havergal Ladies' College building taken over by the CBC 10 years ago.

Saskatoon Plant Of Quaker Ready To Strike

SASKATOON (CP)—Employees of the Saskatoon plant of the Quaker Oats Company, members of the United Packinghouse Workers of American (CIO), voted Monday night to strike to back demands for wage increases and shorter hours.

A strike, which would start only with approval of the union's national office, would coincide with similar action at the company's Peterborough, Ont., plant.

Clarence Loyons, UPWA international representative who has been in the city aiding in contract negotiations, said permission for the strike has been requested.

Quaker Oats employees are asking for a 40-hour week and a general 10 per cent increase in wages.

NEGOTIATE HERE

Quaker Oats management has offered a 40-hour week effective Sept. 1, and the union has been informed further negotiations will have to be carried on through head office at Peterborough.

Fringe benefits demanded by the employees include a hike in shift differentials of from three to six cents an hour on the 4 p. m. to 12 midnight shift and from five to 10 cents on the 12 to 8 a.m. shift.

They have asked also three weeks holidays after 10 years and four weeks after 20 years service. Quaker Oats presently gives three weeks after 25 years service.

File Trust Suit On U.S. Oil Firms

WASHINGTON (AP)—Attorney-General Herbert Brownell today filed a civil anti-trust suit against five major American oil companies, charging they had participated in an international oil cartel.

The action, filed in the federal district court here, is designed to substitute for the criminal anti-trust investigation involving these five companies and others which former attorney-general James P. McGranery put before a grand jury here last fall.

Brownell proposes to drop the criminal inquiry for "national security" reasons.

The grand jury proceeding involved more than a score of companies here and abroad.

Today's civil action named as defendants: Standard Oil Company of New Jersey, Standard Oil Company of California, Socony-Vacuum Oil Company Inc., the Texas Company, and the Gulf Oil Corporation.

The attorney-general said, however, that the defendant list may be expanded at some later date to include other oil corporations, both domestic and foreign. Such action, he said, will depend on what the government discovers in records of the five original defendants, which Brownell today asked the district court to order produced for inspection.

Boats Sink, 15 Drown

MANILA (AP)—Fifteen persons drowned Monday in two boat mishaps, the Philippine News Service reported today.

Semi-Starvation, Brutality Common In Camps

FREEDOM VILLAGE, Korea (AP)—Accounts of death marches, semi-starvation, and calculated brutality came today from the second handful of Allied soldiers returned from Communist prison camps. Stories of more dangerously ill Allied soldiers still in Red captivity indicated the Communists do not plan to free all sick and wounded as they had agreed to do. Today's reports recalled the shocked words "incredibly small" uttered two weeks ago by Rear-Admiral John C. Daniel, the UN truce delegate, when the Reds told him 600 sick and wounded would be repatriated.

The new development suggested that the Communists were failing once again on a solemn agreement.

Sgt. Walter H. Mitchell of Greenville, Tenn., said "there were quite a few left in the hospital at the Pyoktong camp . . . I would rather they had come than me . . . They needed medical attention more."

TREATMENT VARIED

The returned prisoners said treatment improved after the truce talks started in July, 1951, but varied since the ups and downs of the negotiations.

Death marches over frozen highways in bitter winter weather were reported by two American soldiers. Pte. Roger Herndon of Jacksonville, Fla., and Cpl. Orville R. Mullins of Covington, Ky., told of separate agonies in 1950 and 1951.

Herndon was captured in the winter of 1950. He said some 40 American and Turkish soldiers died in a nine-day forced march north from Kunu, where the U.S. 2nd division met disaster in November, 1950.

"We were not allowed to stop for any cause—not even to go to the latrine," he said. "If you did, you would have to look out for yourself.

TWO LIVE OF 17

"One night 17 of us were put in a small room. Next morning when I woke up there were only two living."

Herndon, who had a wounded hand amputated by Chinese doctors eight days before the march, said many died from pneumonia.

He said all they had to eat on the march was "millet and cracked corn . . . one bowl a day."

Herndon laughed when asked if attempts to indoctrinate him in communism had worked.

"I've never been so happy as to reach freedom today," he said.

Mullins told of a march north from Pyongyang in August, 1951, just as the truce talks were beginning. He recounted an incredible tale of cold-blooded brutality.

RUSSIAN BRUTALITY

"We passed two jeep-loads of Russian soldiers," he said. They stopped us on the road and tried to get our guards drunk so they would shoot us.

Mullins said the Russians were armed and in uniform. He said he knew the Russians wanted the guards to shoot because "they made motions."

Mitchell said about 20 serious hospital cases were left behind: "Medical attention was no good at all. Very few guys got any."

His story was confirmed by Pte. Louis Kerkstra of Byron Center, Mich., who contracted tuberculosis.

"Some of the TB patients in my hospital were in worse condition than I was," he said.

Pile Of Logs Slips, Boy Crushed To Death

BELLEVILLE (CP)—Five-year-old Keith George Hurley was crushed to death Monday when a log rolled on him at a sawmill at Bannockburn, 40 miles north of here.

The son of Mr. and Mrs. George Hurley of Eldorado, the child was climbing a log pile when the accident happened.

Search Aircraft Crashes, Six Fliers Die

HALIFAX—(CP)—Six airmen returning to base after a fruitless seven-hour search for a lost civilian aircraft died Monday when their Lancaster bomber crashed and exploded near Centreville, in Nova Scotia's Annapolis valley.

A seventh, found propped against a tree in a semi-conscious condition, was taken to hospital in Kentville where he is suffering from a fractured skull and multiple internal injuries. Hospital authorities gave him a fair chance of survival.

The air force identified five of the victims as: FO. Eric T. Lewis of Ottawa, whose widow lives at RR No. 3, Middleton, N. S.; FO. Douglas A. Hamilton, Yarmouth, N. S.; FO. John D. Curzon, Toronto; Sgt. Neil McCarroll, Toronto, whose widow lives at Greenwood, N. S., air base, and LAC. William D. Fifield, Halifax.

The survivor was listed as FO. Kenneth Benson, Brantford, Ont. The air force said the name of the remaining victim would not be released until today.

SIXTH IN CRASH

The bomber, which belonged to 103 rescue unit at Greenwood, was the sixth plane involved in crashes over Nova Scotia in less than two weeks. Two navy fliers were killed in a spectacular head-on collision near Halifax April 10, and the same day four others walked away from their burning craft in the Annapolis valley.

Three days before, two navy planes brushed wings a few miles off Halifax but both pilots returned to base uninjured.

It was also the second crash of aircraft engaged in a mass search for a twin-engine Ventura owned by Spartan Air Services, which has been missing since Saturday on a flight from Gander, Nfld., to Ottawa. A P-38 Lockheed Lightning crashed on landing at Sept Iles, Que., Sunday but the two-man crew escaped.

The Lancaster came down in a farmer's field and sliced through a quarter-mile of thick brush.

It was the first crash for the rescue unit in nearly six years of flying. Four of its personnel have received air force crosses for mercy missions in the far north.

Teachers Score Ont. Education

TORONTO (CP)—The Ontario Secondary School Teachers' Federation, representing 7,000 high school teachers throughout Ontario, has passed two resolutions criticizing the Ontario department of education.

Basis of the resolutions, made public Monday, is the department's decision to abolish its financial help for construction of auditoriums, gymnasiums, shop-work and home economics rooms in high schools.

The federation, in one resolution, expressed disapproval of the department's no-grant policy and said physical education is a required subject in secondary schools.

"Got Any Tea?"

British POWs Fed Up With Chinese Brew

MUNSAN, Korea (Reuters)—First question asked by returning British prisoners as they rode up to the Panmunjom exchange centre was "Got any tea?"

Chinese tea held no appeal for them, they said.

"We had tea only on holidays and special occasions," said Pte. William J. Cox. And, he added resentfully, "it was Chinese tea—not like ours."

Pte. Enoch Hartland felt almost the same way about Chinese tobacco. "It tasted good to us because we had nothing else," he said. They got about 10 ounces a month, he added.

Pte. George Chambers, captured in the Gloucestershire Regiment"s Imjin river stand two years ago, said men at his camp had to serve as their own butchers.

"They would drive herds of pigs in and we'd kill them ourselves," he told reporters.

Cox, held almost two years at Congson camp on the North Korea-Manchurian border, added that his 600 fellow prisoners still at the camp had not heard of the death of King George VI, and didn't know that England had a new queen.

He said that about 400 survivors of the Gloucesters' last stand were held at Congson. Previously between 500 and 600 members of the regiment's 1st battalion which blunted the Communist spring drive on Seoul in 1951, had been reported killed or captured, with only 40 reaching safety.

Nine members of the Gloucesters were in today's batch of returnees. They told how they were captured after running out of food and ammunition and being surrounded by Chinese.

Sgt. Wilfred Lucas, 33 said he had been marched north [illegible] the Manchurian border after the battle. The captives marched from dusk to dawn every night for over a month, he said, with little food.

Pte. Donald Large said the returning prisoners were cheered by North Koreans as they rode through battered villages on their journey south to freedom.

"The towns were flattened, but the people came out and cheered and waved to us," he said. "We had Chinese guards who wouldn't let the North Koreans come too near to us."

Families Rejoice Over News 15 Still Alive

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Relatives in Canada are jubilant over news from Korea that 15 Canadian soldiers previously listed as missing in action are alive.

L. Cpl. Paul Dugal of Quebec City, first Canadian prisoner of war exchanged by the Communists at Freedom Village in Korea, brought word that the Canadians are in Red hands.

A Canadian Press survey showed these reactions to the news among kin in Canada:

Mrs. Peter A. Baker of Montreal, mother of Pte. Arthur Baker: "When they announced the prisoner exchange, I knew we would find he was among them."

"A KIND OF FEELING"

Archie M. Dawe of Grand Bend, Ont., father of Pte. Kenneth Dawe: "I had a kind of feeling he would turn up."

Mrs. Maria Blondin of Hull, Que., sister of Pte. J. A. Bellefeuille: "We thought he was dead, we thought he was dead."

Mrs. J. B. Jollymore, Toronto, mother of Cpl. F. J. Jollymore: "We never gave up hope and now we know we'll see him again. It's wonderful."

Mrs. Ethel Cranston of Hamilton, mother of Pte. J. W. Cranston: "I'm so excited I haven't been able to do a thing."

Mrs. Winnifred Watson of Toronto, wife of Pte. R. B. Watson: "I knew he'd come back to me some day."

"WONDERFUL"

Mrs. Hiram Bell of Toronto, mother of L. Cpl. W. Bell: "A letter from one of his buddies said he just didn't come back from a patrol action. It's wonderful to know he is a prisoner."

Joseph E. Fields of Windsor, father of Pte. Eugene J. R. Fields: "A letter from Ottawa told us they thought he had got too far behind the enemy lines in the battle."

Philip Orson of Ridgetown, Ont., father of Pte. Donald Orson: "I never lost faith. I thought he'd come back with God's help."

Mrs. T. E. Rothwell of Hamilton, wife of Pte. Thomas Rothwell, 26: "It's the best news I've ever heard."

Air Enthusiast Dies In Crash

TORONTO (CP)—FO. John D. Curzon of Toronto, an aircraft enthusiast ever since he began building model planes at the age of seven, was one of six airmen killed Monday when an RCAF Lancaster bomber crashed near Centreville, N. S.

The plane was returning to its base after searching with other Canadian and United States aircraft for a twin-engined private plane missing since Saturday on a flight from Gander to Ottawa.

FO. Curzon, who was born in St. Catharines, took part in another search for an aircraft a few weeks ago. Several months ago, he was navigator of a crew of seven who flew a spinal meningitis victim from a remote part of Labrador to Goose Bay, a distance of 400 miles.

Golds, Industrials Up, Western Oils Firm

TORONTO (CP)—An early recovery in stock market prices slacked in early afternoon trading today but prices generally held firm.

Industrials and golds showed minor gains and base metals dropped slightly. Western oils were firm. Volume for the first three hours totalled 2,578,000 shares.

Uraniums and New Brunswick base metals gained.

Western oils gains outnumbered losses about two to one as Canadian Atlantic, Genera, A, Sapphire and Sweet Grass rose.

Higher-priced base metals weakened. Eastern Metals and Sherritt-Gordon gained.

Most industrial groups were mixed but papers, foods and banks gained. Steels and manufacturing companies slipped.

Senior golds were mixed and juniors slipped but strength in holding companies buoyed the list.

Study Air Speed Of 6,000 MPH

VICTORIA (CP)—Canadian manufacturers are doing research on flight speeds of 3,000 to 6,000 miles an hour.

President C. H. Dickens of Toronto, addressing the semi-final general meeting of the Air Industries and Transport Association Monday, said:

"There are a number of projects under development in the hands of our manufacturer members. . . about which I am not at liberty to speak. I think I can say that Canada is keeping up with its research with such things as super speeds. . .which means 3,000 to 6,000 miles per hour, and of course, on missiles of different kinds."

The association is a conference of aircraft operators and manufacturers to encourage development of civil aviation.

Mr. Dickens said "the latest version of the CF-100 fighter now is in production and will be accelerated in the next six months now that the pattern has been set.

"From the Canadian Car and Foundry aircraft plant at Fort William, the Harvard AT-6 trainer is steadily flowing for both the RCAF and the United States Air Force."

Woman MP Says Martin Doesn't Know Dressing

OTTAWA (CP)—Mrs. Ellen Fairclough, the Commons' only woman member, told Health Minister Martin today that he and his department don't know what they're talking about when it comes to mayonnaise.

The Progressive Conservative member for Hamilton West protested in the Commons against a health department ruling that a Hamilton firm selling a product called "oiless mayonnaise" must stop using the word mayonnaise.

The department, under its pure foods law, ruled that a dressing must contain oil before it can qualify as mayonnaise.

Speaking as a "woman and a cook" Mrs. Fairclough shook her finger at the minister in his seat across the aisle and said "that's absolute nonsense." Mayonnaise was a popularly-accepted term among housewives for a dressing whether or not it contained oil.

It was entirely wrong to force the company to change a designation it had been using for 16 years.

Tom Goode (L—Burnaby Richmond) a wholesale grocer, said he'd sold millions of bottles of mayonnaise and knew that housewives didn't read the fine print detailing the contents of the product. But the department was right in laying down the regulations.

Mr. Martin defended the department and himself.

He said that under the technical and dictionary definition dressing was not mayonnaise unless it had oil in it. To market something without oil was not to market mayonnaise and to advertise it as such was contrary to the law. He said the Women's Consumers Association of Canada agreed with the department's definition of mayonnaise.

Mrs. Fairclough said the minister could bring out all the dictionaries he wanted. But she had been making mayonnaise for years. The word had a popular acceptance and should be allowed whether or not it contained oil. To ban it now was "discrimination of the highest order."

The exchange came during discussion of revisions to Canada's Pure Food and Drugs Act which the minister said would consolidate and strengthen the act. The House gave final reading to the bill.

Police Claim Slaying Solved

MONTREAL (CP)—The gangland slaying of Charles (The Kid) Waggoner was reported solved today—but Quebec provincial police said they are still on the hunt for evidence, necessary before they can bring the case to court.

Waggoner, described by police as a "muscleman" for rackets here, and also known as Wagoner was slain several weeks ago. His body, a bullet wound through the head, was found in a creek at nearby Laprairie, weighed down with a 340-pound rock.

Det. Lieut. Ubald Legault, head of the homicide squad, said he is "satisfied we have the killers in custody now. Ye're still picking up people but it is strictly for information."

Queen Cuts Jail Sentences For Prisoners In Canada

OTTAWA (CP)—The Queen is reducing the sentences of prisoners in Canadian penitentiaries and jails as an act of mercy linked with the "historic importance" of the Coronation, an official proclamation disclosed Monday. Broadly speaking, it will cut 30 days off each year of sentence as of May 29—four days before the Coronation—thus freeing some and hastening the day of freedom for others.

The proclamation was issued in the form of a special edition of the Canada Gazette dated April 15 but not issued to the press until Monday.

There are various qualifications to the general rule. It won't apply to people serving six months or less or to those serving life terms or indeterminate sentences. Anyone serving less than a year but more than six months will have one-twelfth of his sentence remitted.

A prisoner who has forfeited normal days of remission since Jan. 1, 1949, for bad behavior will lose that much time from the Coronation remission.

The penitentiaries commission said there are 4,800 prisoners in federal penitentiaries and it is asking the officials to indicate how many prisoners will get their release because of the action. In addition, it will apply to others in provincial prisons and jails.

A man with a good record who is serving, say, a 15-year sentence will get roughly 15 months off. If he was a year from the end of his term, he would be a free man.

The remission will apply to persons sentenced up to May 29.

12 ON LITTERS

Twelve of the Americans flown to Japan Tuesday were carried from the big transport on litters. Reporters at the air base were not permitted to interview them.

The second batch of 500 disabled Chinese and North Koreans appeared a little less grumpy than Monday's 500 as they headed north through a new arch erected by the Reds to match the Allies' Freedom Gate.

The Communist arch was emblazoned with Chinese characters proclaiming "long live the Chinese peoples' republic! Long live the Korean peoples democratic government!"

The smaller UN gate bears the simple slogan:

"Welcome—gate to freedom."

TELL OF SUFFERING

UN prisoners who came back today, while jubilant over their release, told soberly of pain and suffering among comrades left behind.

Several told of friends who died on 50-day marches . . . of men who died of disease and hunger.

Another told of uniformed Russian soldiers who tried to get Communist guards drunk so they would shoot American prisoners.

The first ambulance to pull into the neutral zone Tuesday was loaded with Allied prisoners shouting and wisecracking.

The sun broke through the clouds as Pte. George Chambers of Newcastle, England, stepped out and started to clown.

"Any Limeys out there," he called.

CALLS FOR SCOTCH

Another member of the almost decimated Gloucestershire Regiment yelled:

"Any scotch out there?"

There was no burr in his voice, so his meaning was plain.

Many of the returning prisoners showed few signs of wounds or illness. Some spoke bitterly of friends left behind who, they said, were hurt far worse but for some reason did not make the Communist repatriation list.

Allied officers reported the Reds were carrying out a strange procedure at their receiving point. Chinese and North Korean prisoners returned from Allied camps were dusted with insecticide—even their rations and personal possessions were sprayed.

The Allied officers said Red spokesmen explained that it was all a precaution against Allied germ warfare.

Sunday News, second vice-President; Lloyd Stratton, secretary, and Robert Booth, treasurer. Harry T. Montgomery, AP traffic executive, was elected assistant secretary.

Free Enterprise Best AFL Leader Declares

MONTREAL (CP) — George Meany, president of the American Federation of Labor, told a press conference today free enterprise still is the best economic system for the welfare of the working populace.

At the same time, he expressed cautious optimism that the AFL and Congress of Industrial Organizations might achieve a merger.

In Montreal to "discuss one or two internal problems" with leaders of AFL-affiliates and to be honored at a banquet tonight, he said the standard of living of workers in Canada and the United States is sufficient testimony to the merits of the profit-motivated economic system.

"The way I see it, they took me because I was in a little better shape and knew we would hit the press first."

His statement tended to confirm a growing suspicion that the first Allied troops, at least, are only "showcase samples" of better Communist treatment.

Airliner Crash Near 'Frisco Claims 4 Lives

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—A huge plane unloaded 44 passengers near here Monday night and moments later crashed into the bay on the short flight to Oakland with 10 persons aboard.

Eight were killed. Four bodies were still missing today, but two survived the crash of the Western Airlines DC-6B.

Members of the civil aeronautics board questioned the two survivors Stewardess Beverlee Nelson 27, of Playa del Rey, Calif., and Jerry Adams, 21, of Fairbanks, Alaska, a passenger.

Miss Nelson said she had no idea what happened, but Adams said the plane crew had been watching the far left engine before the crash.

"The crew had been shining a spotlight on the engine from time to time," Adams told reporters.

Stewardess Nelson said most of the passengers had been put off at the San Francisco airport. Then the plane took off for the flight of about seven miles across the bay to the Oakland airport.

Four bodies were recovered.

The dead:

David B. Petty, San Bernardino, Calif., passenger.

Nancy Turner, Oakland, passenger.

Charles H. Graves, Oakland, passenger.

Co-pilot Robert Jacobsen, 31, Whittier, Calif.

FOUR MISSING

The missing:

Pilot, Capt. Robert Clark, 35, Torrance, Calif.

Flight engineer Robert League, 35, Los Angeles.

Stewardess Barbara Brew, 26, Hollywood.

Stanley J. Newman, Richmond, Calif.

The giant plane—one of the largest types of passenger craft—crashed at 11:08 p. m. in 15 feet of water in the southern part of the bay, about four miles from San Francisco.

It was almost the same spot where a United Airline plane crashed in 1937, killing 11, and exactly a month after the crash of a Transocean Air Lines transport that killed 35 in a landing attempt near Oakland.

SEAMAN SAVES TWO

Seaman Devon C. Peterson, 23, of the Aameda naval air station plunged into the debris-littered, oily water with a line from a crash boat and rescued Miss Nelson and Adams.

Peterson said Petty went under just as he reached him and the crash boat was unable to revive Petty.

Peterson said he swam for 15 minutes in the oil-slicked water among floating bits of plywood, pillows, clothing and plane seats—all that remained of the giant plane on the surface.

"We were lucky," he said. "We found them right away."

Search for the missing four continued through the night under the light of 1,000,000-candlepower flares dropped through an overcast from coast guard helicopters.

C. W. Hollingworth, Western Air Lines station manager at Oakland, said the DC6B was making a "routine approach" and had given no indication of trouble. He said cause of the crash was unknown.

U.S. Train Hurtles Off Rails, 5 Dead, 125 Hurt

DILLON, S.C. (CP)—At least five persons were killed and 125 including two Montreal women were injured when a 17-car streamliner, bound from Miami to New York, hurtled off the rails near here Monday night and piled up a mass of twisted wreckage

The injured were taken to hospitals in nearby towns. The Canadians ere identified as Ethel Love and her sister, Mrs. E. Morrison, both of Montreal.

They were reported to have suffered only slight cuts on the legs and were in "good shape," doctors said.

Rescue workers continued to probe the wreckage and officials said more bodies may be found.

Some of the injured lay for hours pinned in the shattered cars of the Atlantic Coast Line's fast passenger train, the East Coast Champion.

Skilled rescue workers used acetylene torches to reach the victims. Doctors crawled after them, sometimes operating on the spot to free the injured.

TRAIN ON FIRE

Part of the train caught fire and the burning oil, emergency lights and cutting torches cast a weird glow over the tragic scene.

The wreck occurred shortly before midnight, 2½ miles south of Dillon, 12 miles south of the North Carolina line and only about 25 miles from Rennert, N.C., where two ACL passenger trains crashed Dec. 16, 1943, killing 72 persons and injuring 187.

Roaring northward, the train carried an estimated 300 passengers, many of them vacationers returning from a winter in Florida. The train left Miami at 9:45 a.m. EST Monday and was scheduled to reach New York at 10:50 a.m. today.

The engineer, B.B. Sweeney injured seriously, told sheriff Pete Rogers he didn't know what happened. He said a freight train covered the same stretch only 10 minutes before the Champion derailed.

The train's fireman, Charlie Hus died in his flaming locomotive. His body was cut out with torches.

Five coaches, seven pullmans, two diners, two lounge cars and a baggage car comprised the streamliner. Eleven overturned and six remained upright.

Dozens of passengers were trapped in the overturned cars Joe Dabney of the Florence Morning News, one of the first reporters at the scene, said the five day coaches on their sides "apparently are full of passengers unable to get out."

All ultimately were released.

Mrs. Frank Hicken of Springfield, Mass., lay pinned in the wreckage for nearly five hours. She joked with her rescuers until a doctor reached her with a hypodermic. She was dug out from beneath a car at 4:12 a. m., and taken to hospital.

A surgeon was lowered into one of the telescoped coaches to cut off the left leg of a woman in an effort to free her.

Darwin Gardner of Boston was in the last car. He said: "There were three bumps and then it sounded like an earthquake just before we left the track."

Mr. A. J. Meyers, chairman of the Building Committee of the Memorial Hospital board was present to accept the donation on behalf of the board.

1,915 Japs Return

TOKYO (Reuters) — A party of 1,915 Japanese, once given up as lost on the Chinese mainland, arrived at Maizuru, Western Japan, today aboard the 10,347-ton Japanese ship Takasago Maru. This group brought the total of repatriates in the last month to nearly 10,000. A private Japanese organization visiting Peiping in December arranged for 30,000 Japanese to be returned home.

OAC Man To Talk To Local Society

John A. Weall of the Ontario Agricultural College will speak at the meeting of the Horticultural Society in the YWCA Monday, April 27.

Will C. Wilks, secretary writes: "Mr. Weall is a great favorite with our members. We are fortunate in getting him for this date. He has turned down several large centres to visit this society.

For Coronation year several classes have been added to the prize list for flowers show, and there will be special lawn and garden contests. It should be of interest and help from the visit of Mr. Weall that he has chosen Coronation colors as his subject. Admission is free, collection to defray expenses. Our memberships from the rural areas is most encouraging. From the country we are receiving grand support. Recent new members from outside of Peterborough were all the way from Vancouver to Indian River, Keene and Burleigh Falls."

Community Concert Assoc. Begins Campaign For Funds

Peterborough's Community Concert Association opened its campaign week for renewals and new members at a dinner Monday night at the YWCA. On hand to explain the function of community concerts was the New York representative of the organization, Mrs. Benita Shields. Sixty members and directors attended the dinner.

Miss Musa Cox, president of the Peterborough association, presided and introduced the head table and new workers. Mrs. H. A. Mitchell, campaign chairman, explained the rules and regulations of the campaign. Renewals of membership will be given priority until Wednesday, and thereafter new subscribers will be enrolled.

In view of the limited capacity of the hall and the high popularity of the concerts, a sell-out is expected again this season, as for the last ten years. Last season's concerts included the famous Boyd Neel orchestra from London, England; Leopold Simoneau, Canadian tenor with the Paris opera; Odnoposoff, virtuoso violinist; and the duo-piano team of Whittemore and Lowe.

Artists for the next season will be selected at a directors' meeting Saturday following the conclusion of the campaign.

A campaign office has been opened on George Street south of Sherbrooke, and a telephone has been installed. Mrs. Ross Williamson, secretary of the subscription campaign, is in general charge of membership cards. She emphasizes that no new subscriptions can be received after the campaign closes, and that the concerts are open only by membership card.

Driving Charge Evidence Heard

COBOURG (ENS)—Hearing of a charge of failing to give enough room on the highway was heard against Roy Foster of Peterborough Monday. Magistrate R. B. Baxter reserved judgment.

Harry Deyman appeared for the Crown and W. J. Arthur Fair of Peterborough for the accused. The charge followed a collision on March 8 near Highways 28 and 106, north of Port Hope, involving a truck driven by Roy Ezard of Long Branch and a car driven by the accused.

Ezard gave evidence that the accident occurred about two a.m. after he had turned off Highway 28 on to 106. He said he had straightened out on Highway 106 when an oncoming car driven by Foster swerved on to his side of the highway and struck the rear duals of the semi.

Alvin Warren of Oshawa said he was proceeding behind Foster's car and saw it swerve into the side of the transport. He saw two empty beer bottles thrown from the car.

OPP Constable Frank Clough said that the Foster car stopped on the north shoulder against a stop sign. The left side of the car was badly damaged. The tractor-trailer was pulled up on the north side of the highway, partly on the shoulder of the road. Foster, Harold Newman, Foster's father, William Foster, who were in the car, all appeared to have been drinking, he said. He found two empty beer bottles on the shoulder of the road and some bottle caps in Foster's car.

The accused said that all three had been riding in the front seat. As they neared the intersection they were blinded by the lights of the transport and the car hit the rear of the truck which failed to make the corner sharply enough and had angled across in front of him.

Foster said that after the accident the transport pulled up until it was in a straight line and clear of the south side of the road. He denied that there had been any beer in the car but said he had had some beer early in the evening. Newnam and Foster, Sr., both of Peterborough, asserted that the semi was on the wrong side of the road and later straightened out to the proper side.

"I haven't had a drink in 15 years. My doctor can tell you that," said William Foster.

Car Transport Driver Has Bail Set At $500

COBOURG (ENS)—G. H. Sword of Gananoque, driver of a car transport which was involved in a collision with two cars on Saturday north of Port Hope, was charged with drunk driving and dangerous driving Monday and remanded until Friday. Bail was fixed at $500.

A charge of failing to see that the highway was clear before turning against George Isaac of Haldimand Township was dismissed by Magistrate R. B. Baxter. Mr. Isaac's car was in collision with one driven by Kenneth Archer of Toronto in Haldimand Township on March 30. The court found that miscalculation of each other's intentions had resulted in the motorists colliding.

Publishers Shown Photographic Type-Setter

NEW YORK (AP)—Publishers took a look Monday at production models of a photographic type-composing machine heralded as the symbol of a new age in printing.

The new machine, photon, made by Photon, Inc., of Cambridge, Mass., was unveiled last winter when Dr. Vannevar Bush president of the Carnegie Institution of Washington, said it was a milestone in civilization.

Bush is a director of the Graphic Arts Research Foundation, also of Cambridge, a non-profit organization founded in 1949 to advance graphic arts through the application of modern technology.

Hundreds of publishers and executives attending the 67th annual convention of the American Newspaper Publishers Association at the Hotel Waldorf-Astoria inspected two machines on view.

The machine, which has a standard electric typewriter mechanism mounted on what looks like an organ console 54 inches wide, can be operated by an otherwise untrained typist.

The keyboard controls a complex electrical network.

Push-button controls select type faces, size of type, positioning, justification and so forth. Typing errors can be corrected with simple correction keys.

William W. Garth, president of both Photon, Inc., and the research foundation, claims the 2,000-pound machine will revolutionize typesetting and halve the costs, eliminating expensive and time-consuming composing rooms.

The machine photographs the letters from a glass matrix disk and delivers the image to photo film.

The film, 100 feet long, can be developed either as a positive or negative galley. When developed, it is ready for proofs for make-up or engraving on metal plates.

The First Prisoners Return

The exchange of wounded prisoners of war now in progress in Korea is a humanitarian act which gladdens the hearts of people observing it from afar; it must be a great relief to the men themselves, as to their relatives. First accounts reaching us show that the Chinese and North Koreans attended to our wounded well, using some of the newest drugs and otherwise indicating that their medical practice is not as antiquated as might have been expected. The returned men seem to have been adequately fed and clothed, and not maltreated.

* * *

One detail of their treatment seems to have worried the American high command inordinately. While the prisoners were convalescing they were treated to Communist pamphlets and books, and given as thorough (and one-sided) an indoctrination of Communist thought and practice as they would take. American commanders obviously feel that some of their men being returned have swallowed the Communist bait. Before the exchange began there were warnings from Japan and the States that few of the prisoners of the Reds might themselves have become Red, or at least less democratic (in the American sense of the word) than they were when captured. If one judges from advance warnings and the way the first of the returned men have been sheltered from interviewers, the Allied converts to Communism have been more than a few. That is the only explanation we can give for the elaborate arrangements made to shield the American public from the shock. There have even been inspired rumours that the Western prisoners of war have been subjected to mind-beating and special serums to change their personalities from true-blue to red. So far not one word of evidence has been adduced to prove that the Communists used special, cruel or inhuman methods to indoctrinate the prisoners with Communism.

* * *

As far as we can see, if many converts have been made to Communism, it is due entirely to superior Red propaganda. We use the word 'superior' advisedly. Compare the attitude of the Red prisoners who were being exchanged, with that of our own men being returned. The Reds were bold, brassy and obstreporous right to the last. Some refused to eat a last breakfast provided by their western captors. If they were given new and neat clothing in which to return and make a good impression on their Red comrades on the other side of the line, they deliberately made it look ragged and messy. Our own men returned with new outfits, and not all of them seemed as overjoyed at their return as one might have expected. Direct reports from the mouths of the men themselves were few, but the cautiously-worded despatches yesterday included such sentences as these: "The 100 Allied soldiers came back in two groups. The second group of 50 seemed a bit more cheerful than the rest." We are reassured to note in today's reports that the next arrivals were positively joyous.

* * *

We are, we hope, making mountains out of mole-hills. On the other hand, the U.N. command is certainly making a pother which leads people to magnify the condition. If the Western way of life and the U.N. cause in Korea are demonstrably superior to the Red way and the Red cause, why worry because a few weak-minded Allied prisoners may have been tinged with Communism during their incarceration? It seems, actually, that despite the superiority of the western system and the American "know-how" in advertising and salesmanship, Red propaganda has been better than the Allied propaganda. Perhaps that is why the High Command in Korea and Japan, and the Pentagon and State Department are worried: in the propaganda war they may have been bested by the Reds, both in infusing ideals in their own men and indoctrinating their prisoners of war.

The Barometer Has Risen A Couple of Millimetres

A careful observer of the Soviet scene, W. N. Ewer, has made a steady assessment of all the wonderful sounds of peace since Stalin died on March 5th and Malenkov became premier of the Soviet Union on March 7th. Weighing the items meticulously, he does not find very much to cheer over. He thinks that the barometer has perhaps risen a couple of millimetres, "but that hardly justifies confident forecasting of fine weather or thoughts of being able to scrap mackintoshes and umbrellas".

Certainly the Soviet manner has improved. Insulting phrases like "imperialist warmongers" are no longer loud in Russian spokesmen's mouths. Mr. Vyshinsky, permanent delegate to U.N. has been unaggressive and bland. All very good. Politeness costs nothing.

Soviet words have changed somewhat, although Russian insistence that the Soviet Union is the "great bulwark of peace" has been a prominent Soviet propaganda theme since the Cold War emerged. Mr. Malenkov has added a new version: "In the field of foreign policy our main preoccupation consists in preventing the outbreak of another war and living at peace with all countries". At the same time, Malenkov said he was only following the lead of Stalin, "the great standard-bearer of peace".

What about Soviet deeds? "Have there not," Mr. Vyshinsky asked, "been a few deeds in the past month? Has there not been a whole host of instances of the readiness of the Soviet Union to reach agreement by deeds? Where are yours?" But when you begin to count the Soviet array of deeds, you find them really few. There has been the Communist acceptance of the U.N. proposal—first made more than two years ago—for the exchange of sick and wounded prisoners of war. There has been the release of the British and French civilians who have been held in North Korea since they were captured in 1950. (The U.S. and U.N. could not match this deed because no such civilians were held by the U.N. forces.) Are these Soviet deeds? The concessions were made by the Chinese and North Koreans. A further Soviet deed has been the acceptance of Mr. Hammerskjold as the new Secretary-General of U.N. (as the West accepted him). There has been a relaxation of some of the barriers of communication between Berlin and Western Germany. The Russians are ready to discuss ways of preventing further unfortunate air incidents in Germany.

This is the total of Russian good deeds to date. One is inclined to agree with Mr. Ewer that the barometer has risen only a couple of millimetres. On the other hand, after years of foul international weather, even a stop to the barometer's fall is encouraging; few points can spell the dawn of a really brighter day. We should certainly not throw away the umbrella, but we may be permitted to think of rolling it into a tidy walking-stick. It is not unreasonable to hope that a Big Swap may follow the "Little Swap."

Ottawa's Sights Unseen

"Japanese Prince Enjoys Sightseeing in Capital" a headline read yesterday. Perhaps he did, despite the wintry weather. The Prince is, however, one of the few persons who can really enjoy sight-seeing in Ottawa; in fact, your visit has to be princely in order to find anything to see, apart from the Houses of Parliament. Not that there is nothing to see; the trouble is that an ordinary stranger cannot find what there is to see.

He cannot escape the Parliament Buildings. Every Canadian knows from pictures what the tower looks like, and when a stranger gets out at the station, or drives into the centre of Ottawa, the tower and Houses of Parliament are inescapably his to observe. The Government provides very well for him, too. Guides are at hand. The visitor is courteously escorted through the buildings and told as much of their story and use as he wants to know. After this magnificent tour the visitor finds himself on the steps of the Parliament Buildings, not knowing where to go next.

Try to find the Museum. Try to find the Mint. Try to find Rideau Hall. Try to find the Observatory. Try to find the Prime Minister's residence, or the Russian Embassy, or the French embassy or anything else at all in Ottawa interesting to visitors, and you will run yourself ragged and never see them. You might just as well look for the City Hall. The stranger in Ottawa, unless he is a Japanese Prince or a cousin of an M.P. who happens to know his way around the town, must be content with seeing what he can recognize for himself within a block of the station.

He can know the station; the name is on it. He can, after a few minute's inspection, realize that the vast pile across the way is the Chateau Laurier. He has already seen the Parliament Buildings. He can recognize the American Embassy across the street by the Stars and Stripes over it. As for the rest—well, he might as well go down into Sparks Street and start boning up on the dime stores and restaurants.

Recently an M.P. urged Canadians to go to Ottawa and visit their capital. Why bother when, after you arrive, you don't know where you are or what you are looking at? Civic Ottawa does not seem to give a tinker's dam whether any tourists come to Ottawa. Is there no Chamber of Commerce interested in tourist dollars? Does the City Council do anything to help a stranger find his way around? Is Mayor Whitton interested only in displaying Ottawa outside Ottawa by her own colourful presence, and not in showing Ottawa to people who arrive there to see it?

If civic Ottawa continues to be as callously indifferent to its visitors as it now apparently is, the most courteous thing the guides in the Parliament Buildings could do for strangers as they end their tour there, is to take them to the door and point the direction to the station or the nearest road leading out of town.

Malenkov's Amnesty

By EDWARD CRANKSHAW

SINCE THE dramatic announcement of the most generous and wholesale amnesty in the history of the Soviet Union, the Moscow Press has not had a word to say about it. There has been a complete blackout of news, and we still know no more than the bare text of the decree of a fortnight ago. Why?

✧ ✧ ✧

NOBODY would expect the Soviet Press to treat the tremendous consequences of this decree as it would be treated in every newspaper in the world outside the Iron Curtain. Nobody would expect eyewitness descriptions of the scenes when tens of thousands of prisoners, dazed and uncomprehending, stumble into totally unexpected freedom—or interviews with individual prisoners to discover what their freedom meant to them and what they hoped to do with it. The Communist Press does not work like that. But when, after the first editorial comments hailing the amnesty as an event of first-rate political importance, not another word is said, it is only reasonable to ask why. Is it because the promised amnesty is not in fact being properly fulfilled? Or is it that the numbers involved are so huge that to publish them to the outside world would reveal once and for all the full extent of the police terror under which the Soviet people have suffered for so long? Or is it simply the inevitable outcome of habitual secrecy?—that secrecy which denies all news of human interest to the outside world and at the same time shuts off from every town and village in the Soviet Union news of what is happening in the next town. . . .

✧ ✧ ✧

THE ANSWER is probably a mixture of all three reasons—plus a fourth; namely, that the men in the Kremlin themselves do not know how many are involved.

We know that the amnesty is in fact working; at least in part: unofficial reports from Moscow speak of releases from the Moscow prisons beginning almost immediately. These prisoners would be men and women sentenced to less than three years, or waiting sentence. Once sentenced to three years or more the prisoners are sent off to the notorious labour-camps which have turned the vast landscape of the Soviet Union into a living nightmare. What we still do not know is whether the labour camps are being emptied, and what happens to prisoners whose homes are in Moscow or Odessa, when they find themselves free citizens in the remote settlements of Siberia.

✧ ✧ ✧

BOTH those are big questions. The very fact that they have to be asked shows what a long way the Soviet Government under Malenkov has to go before it can begin to live down the iniquities of the Soviet Government under Stalin. It will take more than a decree or two for Malenkov as prime minister to atone for the iniquities he connived at when he was only a deputy prime minster.

The key to the first question lies largely in the interpretation of the term "counter-revolutionary." The key to the second question lies in the interpretation of freedom.

✧ ✧ ✧

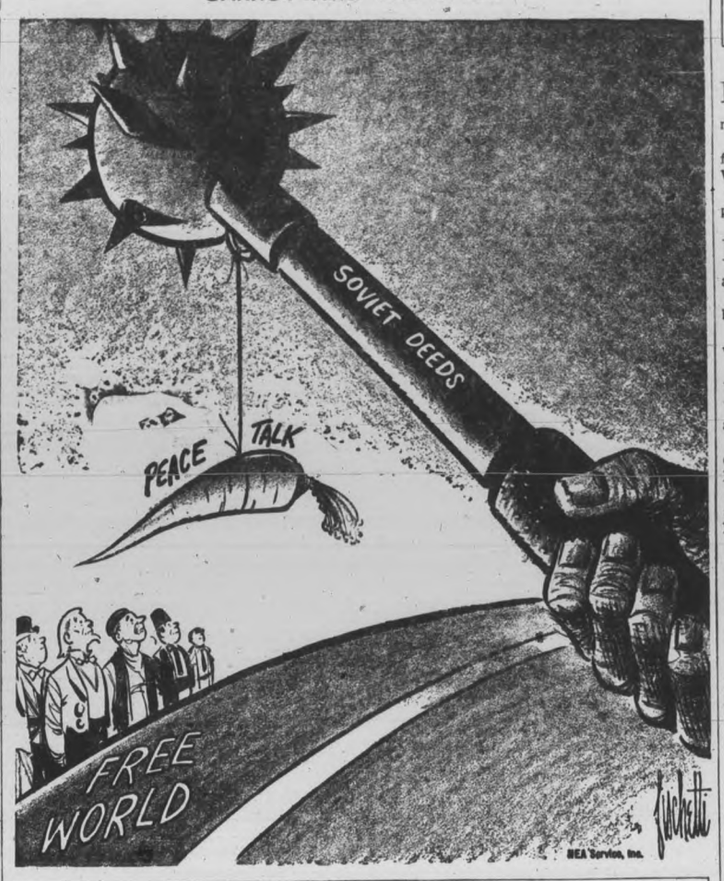
ARTICLE VII of the amensty decree says that the amnesty shall not apply to persons sentenced for more than five years for counter-revolutionary offences. There seems to be little doubt that the majority of prisoners in the harsher labour camps are "politicals" — i.e., men and women who have been arrested on real or trumped-up charges of counter-revolutionary speech or action. These, presumably, would include all those tens of thousands of deportees from the East European satellites, whose very mode of life was deemed counter-revolutionary—i.e., inimical to Stalism. Five years in a "corrective labour" camp has always been a favourite sentence for these unfortunates, from the small farmers, denounce as kulaks, to the white collar workers, denounced as bourgeois nationalists. According to the amnesty, all those not sentenced to more than five years should be freed. Those with longer sentences will not be freed, nor will their sentences be halved, as will the sentences of non-political offenders when these run to more than five years. On the other hand, almost any offence in the Soviet Union can, at will, be designated counter-revolutionary; and we have no means of knowing what proportion of those sentenced for sabotage, careless talk, embezzlement of state and communal property, and the rest, are described in their papers as counter-revolutionaries.

✧ ✧ ✧

THE OTHER big question is where the released prisoners will go. The decree says nothing about this. It does say that their electoral rights will be restored and the record of their convictions deleted from their papers. It does not say they may return straight home. One day, even if the Soviet newspapers continue to preserve their silence, we shall have some idea of the numbers affected by the great amnesty: that will be when the next election for the Supreme Soviet takes place, and the voting figures are published. But nothing but the slow leaking of small facts and rumours will tell us what sort of freedom the liberated prisoners have found.

✧ ✧ ✧

UNTIL NOW forced labour in the Soviet Union has been distinguished by two peculiarities. In the first place prisoners expecting release at the end of their sentences have found those sentences arbitrarily prolonged. In the second place, even when they have been released, tens of thousands of prisoners have found, after surviving years of killing hardship, that their only future lay in continuing to work, as nominally free men and women, for the enterprises which until the moment of release had exploited them as prisoners.



For a high proportion of prisoners there was no question of ever going home. For many, indeed, home no longer existed—since for years it has been common form in the Soviet Union for the relatives and dependents of arrested men to cut themselves off entirely from the unfortunate, and in effect disown him — in sheer self-defence.

✧ ✧ ✧

THE NEW amnesty says nothing about such details. We do not know whether the prisoners promised freedom have really been given what we should call freedom, or whether the mass of them have simply exchanged work under the M.V.D. (secret police) for work, in the same remote settlements, for the M.V.D. We do not know, in a word, whether the slaves of the labour camps have truly been released, or whether they have simply exchanged their existence from the existence of guarded prisoners to the existence of prisoners "without bar." Until the Soviet Press tells us more, we have every reason to doubt whether the amnesty is in fact as generous as it looks.

CARROT AND THE STICK

Why Import These Canned Vegs?

(KINGSTON WHIG-STANDARD)

THIS is an excellent growing country for tomatoes, in season. Ontario, in fact, has customarily produced a crop large enough to can a huge surplus. It is also good growing country for corn and peas in season, and these crops have also been canned in large quantities in the past. Now we learn that Canada is importing large quantities of these products from the United States each year.

There has been admitted very competition from fresh tomatoes coming from the United States when supplies of fresh tomatoes are not available in this country, and there is negligible competition in the matter of fresh peas and corn. What we are most concerned about, however, is the report that twenty-one million pounds of canned tomatoes were imported from the United States last year, along with 45,000 pounds of canned corn and 544,000 pounds of canned peas. And there is the possibility that this development may get worse before it gets better.

This development, it would seem, is due in part at least to strike action by Ontario tomato growers and cannery workers. The growers went on strike against the canneries two years ago for a demanded thirty dollars a ton for ungraded tomatoes. A government arbitration board recommended twenty-seven dollars, which was rejected, and settlement was finally on the basis of $28.50 per ton. R. W. Neal, secretary of the Ontario Canned Goods Association, warned at the time that "this action might boomerang, and that high retail prices, by causing consumer resistance," could affect the growers quickly and seriously. The warning was disregarded. [illegible] next year one thousand workers [illegible] out of H. J. Heinz plants in Kent and Essex counties, when tomatoes were ripe for harvesting. They refused to return until the company offered a "package increase" of nineteen cents. There were warnings at the time, that this would mean higher prices to consumers, but no attention was paid to these warnings either. The United Packinghouse Workers seemed quite pleased with their victory.

Now things look differently. A dispatch from Cobourg says that the four Canadian Canners' plants in that district will not operate this year, because of the slow movement of the 1952 pack. And, judging from the figures of imports released above, additional factories may fail to open. It would appear to be a clear case of growers and workers pricing themselves out of the market and therefore out of jobs. The development may satisfy them, but we cannot believe that it is satisfactory for the Canadian agricultural industry as a whole.

Welfare Abandoned

(St. Catharines Standard)

The abandonment of the welfare program by the Ontario C.C.F. in recent convention is being widely discussed and by some observers is being taken as evidence of the great decline of that party, which came into being in the period of the black depression in Canada, and in the world at large for that matter. The C.C.F. holds only one seat in the House of Commons east of the Ottawa River. In representation in the Ontario Legislature it has declined to infinitesimal proportions. In British Columbia, its leader for 20 years has resigned on the eve of a provincial election. The C.C.F. hold Saskatchewan, where it abandoned socialism and government has been administered fairly well on orthodox lines. It is said there is no longer the least fear on Parliament Hill at Ottawa of domination by socialism. The Ontario C.C.F. has only a tepid program as compared to the old crusaders like J. S. Woodsworth, and the federal party has lost all semblance of national appeal.

Unconsidered Trifles

In a cocktail bar a customer asked for a large whiskey, remarking to the barman that he was trying to recover from a late night.

"Soda, sir?" asked the barman, as he served the drink and pushed forward a siphon.

"Heavens, no," said the customer. "I couldn't stand the sound of it hissing."

Inquisitive Fellow Passenger—I see you have your arm in a sling. Broken, isn't it?

Man—Yes, sir, it's broken.

Passenger—Met with an accident, I presume?

Man—No. Broke it trying to pat myself on the back.

Passenger—Great Scott! What for?

Man—For minding my own business.

✧ ✧ ✧

For the first time in his life he had been asked to make an after-dinner speech, and for days he rehearsed before his wife.

Finally the great day arrived, and on his return home his wife inquired how his speech had been received.

"Evidently I was moving, soothing and and satisfying," was the reply. "Moving, because after the first few minutes, half my audience went out; soothing, because the other half then went to sleep; and satisfying because, when I sat down, the man opposite me woke up and said, 'Well, we've had enough of that old fool!' "

Bible Message

(From the Authorized Version)

And God spake all these words, saying, I am the Lord thy God, which have brought thee out of the land of Egypt, out of the house of bondage.

Thou shalt have no other gods before me. (Ex. 20:1-3.)

✧ ✧ ✧

Now Peter and John went up together into the temple at the hour of prayer, being the ninth hour. And a certain man lame from his mother's womb was carried, whom they laid daily at the gate of the temple which is called Beautiful, to ask alms of them that entered into the temple; who seeing Peter and John about to go into the temple asked an alms.

And Peter, fastening his eyes upon him with John, said, Look on us. And he gave heed unto them, expecting to receive something of them. Then Peter said, Silver and gold have I none; but such as I have give I thee: In the name of Jesus Christ of Nazareth rise up and walk.

And he took him by the right hand, and lifted him up: and immediately his feet and ankle bones received strength. And he leaping up stood, and walked, and entered with them into the temple, walking, and leaping, and praising God. [illegible]

All nations whom thou hast made shall come and worship before thee, O Lord; and shall glorify thy name. For thou art great, and doest wondrous things: thou art God alone. (Ps. 86: 9, 10.)

Lace Makers' Difficulties

(B. B. C. Bulletin).

The men and women making white lace in Britain may end their day's work looking as black as any coal miner, reported the B. B. C.'s industrial correspondent, Bertram Mycock. He noticed this when recently visiting Nottingham, one of the most famous centres of the British lace-making industry, and found the factories there trying out an experiment to make the job cleaner.

Few machines depend so much on smoothness and accuracy as those for making lace, and where the cotton loom has one shuttle the lace machine may have fifteen hundred, each running in a narrow groove. These grooves all have to be lubricated and as oil would ruin the lace and clog the machines with fluff, graphite, "black lead to you and me" said Mycock, is dusted on to the bobbins. The black powder gets over everything, lace and operatives included, and the twist hand or weaver comes off his shift looking and feeling so dirty that young people are disinclined to follow the trade.

The black powder has to be scoured off the lace, and the difficulty is aggravated by the fact that about five per cent of the thread used is nylon, which has the property of charging itself with electricity as it runs through the machinery and so picks up all the dirt and fluff that is flying about. Research on the problem of finding some lubricant that is cleaner than graphite is top priority in Nottingham research laboratories and a new secret preparation is already on trial.

Mycock saw curtain lace being made on huge machines that create a piece of fabric twelve yards wide. A feature of them is the great mass of strings, thousands of them in some cases, that come from machinery high in the roof and pull the warp threads to make the pattern.

Another bit of research is going on there, to find a string that will not tighten in wet weather and throw the whole mechanism out of gear. "They think they've solved that problem, too," said Mycock, who came away from the factory with a healthy respect for the ingenious and painstaking research workers of Nottingham.

The prince's train was due here from Ottawa at 7 a. m. His official functions were slated to start two hours later.

He will leave tonight for New York to embark for Britain and Queen Elizabeth's Coronation

His schedule called for a trip to the chalet atop Mount Royal for a view of the city; a visit to the Canadair plant where jet fighters are in mass production; a tour of the harbor; inspection of a grain elevator, and a reception for Montreal Japanese-Canadians.

The prince and his party will lunch on the national harbors board ship—Sir Hugh Allan.

A western menu has been prepared for the luncheon—hot consomme, filet mignon, parsley, new potatoes, hot asparagus with hollandaise sauce, chef salad, rolls, ice cream and fresh strawberry sauce, cup cake, cheese and biscuits, coffee. Wines will be served during the meal.

The party will disembark in the eastern section of the harbor for the visit to a grain elevator during which Prince Akihito will wear cap and duster.

In Ottawa Monday, the prince visited the Parliament Buildings, inspected a paper mill and dined with Governor-General Vincent Massey.

The prince sat in the Commons' diplomatic gallery and heard Prime Minister St. Laurent tell the House that the royal visit is a "happy omen" of better relations between Canada and Japan.

George Drew, Progressive Conservative leader, said: "It is part of the genius of our free system, which now is represented in the parliamentary system of Japan, as well as that of Canada, that out of conflict we seek friendship in the years afterwards."

FIRST THRESHING — Three months ahead of the normal season, threshing of oats gets under way on Harvey Trachsel's farm, near Stratford. The grain had been stored in the sheaf all winter. There was ice on the puddles and the ground stiff with frost as Melvin Schmidt (left) wheeled in his threshing machine soon after dawn and set up to thresh. At right are Harvey Trachsel, Robert Wilhelm and Leslie Nau.

Grizzly Bears Not Wanted

By J. C. GRAHAM
Canadian Press Correspondent

AUCKLAND, N.Z. (CP)—New Zealand wants no part of Canada's grizzly bears.

Australian-born N. Hudson, editor of Field and Stream, has sponsored a scheme to introduce grizzlies to this Dominion from Canada to aid to the country's attractions for hunters.

The editor of the New York magazine, who has hunted bears in North America recently made a trip to New Zealand's Fiordland, the great area of mountains and forest in the extreme southwest corner of the country. It is almost uninhabited and large arms of the sea wind inland for many miles between steep cliffs.

GOOD HUNTING GROUND

Fiordland is a growing attraction to sportsmen because of herds of red deer and wapiti, brought from overseas, which have become established there. Hudson believes bears would thrive in the area and hunters from all over the world would be attracted.

New Zealand has turned thumbs down on the proposal in no uncertain terms.

Said R. W. Roach, director of the Auckland zoo and a leading authority on wild life:

"New Zealand has already had costly experience of the dangers of introducing animals. Whenever an animal has been brought in, another has had to be imported to keep it in check. The result is an abundance of pests and nuisances. Bears would do well here, but there is not a wide range of food for them in Fiordland. Before long they might move into the sheep and cattle country. I think people would be sorry after a few years."

Fishermen would soon be crying out for the destruction of the bears, declared Mrs. O. Sansom, curator of the Southland Museum.

Only hunters favored the idea, and they were not unanimous. A member of the National Deerstalkers' Association, Arthur Hamilton, declared that it would be an excellent idea to introduce a really high-class game animal to Fiordland. It would double its value as a sporting asset.

But K. W. Dalrymple, who has hunted bears in the Rockies, said: "Bears build up on wild blueberries, raspberries, cranberries, also like salmon. We have no food like that for bears. After all, the grizzly is not much of an animal to hunt. The main thing is to catch up with him."

Another sportsman suggested that Hudson should advocate the importation of lions and tigers to Australia—the climate would suit them.

The last word came from Internal Affairs Minister Bodkin, who said: "The government has absolutely no intention of liberating grizzly bears in Fiordland."

ROME (Reuters) — Rome celebrated its 2,706th birthday today. Municipal buildings flew Italy's tricolor flag and the city's yellow-purple flag fluttered from flagpoles all over town. Schools were closed and 1,000 children gave a choir concert.

Commons Reaches Deep In Barrel In Drive To Prorogue Present Session Early In May

OTTAWA (CP)—The Commons is reaching deep into the government's legislative barrel these days in an obvious spurt to finish the present session early next month—target date is May 8.

In morning, afternoon and night sittings Monday the House gave final approval to five items of government legislation and wiped them from the order paper. Second reading—approval in principle—was given another bill and committee study was completed on part of a seventh.

The main job now is consideration of estimates for the 1953-54 fiscal year. The projected spending program for the departments of national defence and public works already have been approved and the House may get into some of the others.

Legislation given final Monday included:

1. Abolition of the annual $2.50 radio licence fee.

2. Amendments to the Canadian Shipping Act tightening requirements for Canadian ships carrying ship-to-shore communication facilities.

3. Extension of the Veterans' Benefit Act according Korean war soldiers the same benefits as those of the Second World War. It will stay in force until the end of the 1954 parliamentary session.

4. A wide series of amendments to the Citizenship Act.

5. Amendments to the Indian Act, chiefly to provide government loans to Indians for clearing and breaking new land.

A bill to provide university education for children of Canadian servicemen who lost their lives in service — described by Veterans Minister Lapointe as the first legislation of its kind in the world—was given second reading.

Under it such children who are high school graduates and want to attend university will get their university tuition fees paid plus a $25-a-month subsistence allowance.

Clause-by-clause study was completed of one amendment to the Canadian Forces Act by which Canadian troops charged with offences against the laws of countries where they serve may be tried by Canadian service tribunals. The tribunals would operate in countries that agree to the arrangements by treaty or other means.

Another section of the bill proposes to extend the time allowed for completion of residence-declaration forms by servicemen for federal election vote-counting purposes but study of this bill was not completed.

Associate Defence Minister Campney said 20,000 Canadian servicemen had not completed the forms by the last deadline in September, 1952. It now was proposed to extend the time so they would not be disfranchised.

During the day Transport Minister Chevrier tabled a copy of an order-in-council barring Canadian ships from calling at ports on the Red China mainland and North Korea except under licence.

The action was taken in conjunction with Britain and the United States, but an official said as far as Canada is concerned it is mainly an insurance move. No Canadian ships have visited these areas for two years.

In debate on the measure to help children of deceased servicemen through university, many members including a Liberal pressed Mr. Lapointe to include vocational training which did not require high school qualification. The minister replied most courses of that nature could be obtained in provincially-operated schools.

J. L. MacDougall (L—Vancouver Burrard) said commercial and vocational schools should be included along with university courses eligible for the aid. The universities had been stressed and secondary and vocational schools neglected

Mrs. Ellen Fairclough (PC—Hamilton West), labor specialist for her party, differed with a party colleague, G. C. Nowlan (PC—Annapolis-Royal) on the matter. Mr. Nowlan agreed with the high-school graduation qualification, but Mrs. Fairclough said many students left high school of necessity to help earn the family living. They should be helped together with those who had an opportunity to finish high school.

Mr. Lapointe said the legislation did not discriminate against vocational schools. The aid would be provided for courses in vocational schools such as teaching and nursing schools where a complete high school education was a necessity for entry.

Other members including Howard Green (PC-Vancouver-Quadra) and H. W. Herridge (CCF—Kootenay West) said the $25-a-month subsistence allowance was too small.

Aces Take Lead Over Trojans In Floor Finals

Aces jumped ahead by a game Monday night for the YMCA floor hockey championship when they won the first game of the finals from Trojans 15-9.

Trojans were playing under a handicap. Their goalie, Red Hill, hobbled around on his game leg, suffering a painful injured knee. Although Trojans tried hard to keep the Aces away from the goal, they worked in close for several cheap goals which proved the margin.

Aces went ahead early in the first period when Johnny Longo and Pat Belsey each rapped two past Hill while singles went to Dutch Noble and John Rose. The best the Trojans could answer with was a single by Jim Heffernan.

But in the second period, Trojans started to stage a comeback, with Bob Payne taking the lead. They outscored the Aces 4-3 but were still down 9-5.

NEARLY TIED IT

With Payne still leading the pack, Trojans kept pressing in the third period and nearly tied the score. Payne with three and Heffernan with one, and the Trojans were within two goals, 11-9, of tying the game at the midway mark. But Belsey scored two quick goals, providing Aces with too great a margin for a Trojans' rally to overcome.

Belsey, playing his season's best game, led the scoring with six goals for the Aces, closely followed by Bob Payne, of Trojans, with five. Reg Seabrooke was strong on defence for the Aces while goalie Joe Perason shone when pressed by Trojans in the third.

The night's best goal went to Jim Heffernan in the third when he combined neatly with Mick Magee. Belsey made solo rushes for his goals in the second and third.

Lineups:

Aces—Goal, Perason; defence, Seabrooke, Rose; centre, Longo; wings, Belsey, Noble; alternate, Mongraw.

Trojans—Goal, Hill; defence, Magee, Wyatt; centre, Sheehan; wings, Payne, Heffernan.

Toronto had won the first three games and Detroit took the next three. The seventh and deciding game at Detroit was a 2-1 victory for Leafs.

Brazil And Hermann Seek Tag Team Title

Lou Plummer and Dick Raines Canadian Tag Team Champions

That's some combination the team of Dick Raines and Lou Plummer will meet in the tag team wrestling headliner at the Brock Arena on Wednesday night. The terrible Texans will defend their Canadian Open team championship against the alliance of Bobo Brazil and Hans Hermann.

Bobo Brazil, the Negro champion, is one of the fastest, most aggressive and, with his ko-ko bump specialty, one of the most dangerous wrestlers in sport. Hermann, the rugged, huge German, with his Prussian Squeeze climaxer, is a powerful mat force. This twosome figures to give even the wild and woolly Raines-Plummer outfit a rough time of it.

Pat Flanagan will wrestle Firpo Szybsko of Poland in the semi-final. First bout will be Bill Stack against Jan Gotch.

Another bumper crowd is assured for this sparkling card.

SPORTS SHOW WINDOW

By CEC. PERDUE, Sports Editor

Some odd items appear at times for sale in the Show Window, and perhaps some readers will say the alfalfa plant might better show in a farm column. Nevertheless, when said plant goes in for boxing with bees we maintain 'tis a sporting thing. Yes, sir, a plant that punches a bee in the nose earns our admiration as we occasionally have been on the business end of the honey-producer's stinger and had to lump it. Recently we noted this paragraph: "In the alfalfa plant the column that carriers the nectar and pollen is held under tension by two lower petals. These petals part under the pressure of the bee's nose. Up springs the column, socking the bee on the beezer. Our domesticated bees won't stand for such uncouth behaviour."

* * * * * *

This, it follows that the bees — who are not generally stupid — are refusing to work the alfalfa fields. Too many sore schnozzles. It further follows that the alfalfa seed yield has dropped quite a few bushels an acre, threatening this whole big crop, as the bees bring pollen from one plant to another to produce the blossom. No bee, no blossoms, no seed — and no alfalfa. It has agricultural scientists worried (though this must have been going on for some time) and they're anxiously seeking an alfalfa strain which will stop punching bees on the nose. We can sympathize with farmers, but we also admire any long-suffering plant for smacking back at the bees.

Insurance By OASA

Following the pioneering footsteps of the OMHA along the path of cheap group insurance for athletes, the OASA submits a plan whereby all softball players may be insured for the season at $1.00 each. Those taking it, through the OASA secretary, are insured from the date of signing an OASA certificate if the application is received within seven days. It covers play at games, practices or travel to and from same under supervision of the team manager, and is paid regardless of other coverage in group policies or hospitalization schemes. We imagine the local men's loop will go for it just as our minor hockey setup did last winter.

* * * * * *

Those participating are insured for $250 for expenses for hospital, medical, chiropractic, etc., for injuries playing, practising or travelling to and from these; $20 maximum for injuries to sound teeth at contests or drills when supervised by the team manager; $500 indemnity in the event of accidental death to any insured softballer, coach or manager, through injuries in games, workouts or travel for same, when these are supervised. Heavens, is softball than dangerous new? To apply, forward OASA players' and coaches' certificates to the secretary, along with a buck a person, forwarding a team's list at a time. Claim forms may be had by writing the OASA secretary at 526 Maple Ave., Hamilton. No, we're no insurance agent.

Ye Olde Tyme Daze

Bobbie Rosenfeld of the Globe today had a para taken from from a Kingston paper of 1924. It says: "The Kingston publication reports such items as a double exhibition beating given Toronto Hillcrests by Kingston Ponies, coached by the prominent Knotty Lee. Hillcrests had Tweedle Walker, Art Lancaster, Harry Samuels, Latimer, the late Pete Irwin, Richards, Lang, McCue and Greer. Kingston paraded Batstone, Nickle, Compeau, Gallagher, Somerville, Cherry, Rice, Purvis and Kelly. Apparently, Peterborough was a power in amateur ball then, too. The Petes are reported as sweeping a series from the same Ponies. The Petes' lineup reads Holyman, Legon, Swanston, Harrison, Heckman, Johnston, Collins, Hall and Turner."

Local senior lacrosse prospects work out nightly now at Miller Bowl, weather permitting. If they can't drill outdoors, they'll adjourn to the "Y" for setting-up exercises. As the schedule is expected to open in less than three weeks, plenty of conditioning is required from here in, since games won at season's start don't have to be taken later. Some of the hockey-playing lacrossers are in fine shape now, but other prospects are by no means in the pink. Not too many season reserved seat tickets left, in case you fans are thinking the matter over. Moon Wootton told Bunny Morganson the other day that he had not intention of playing for anyone but the Petes. Russ Slater also turned down a bid to go to Nanaimo with Jim Heffernan and Arn Dugan.

Kingstons Nip Woodstock 5-3

WOODSTOCK (CP) — Kingston Goodyears defeated the Woodstock Athletics 5-3 here Monday night to take a three-games-to-one lead in their OHA Senior B championship series.

Woodstock made a strong bid to tie the game up in the third period, pulling Dolson from the nets to play an extra man up. However Murray of Kingston broke away and slid the puck into the open net.

It was 3-2 for Kingston going into the third period.

Jackie Luckman put Woodstock back in the game when he scored but Clint Tinkess again put Kingston ahead and Murray's tally ended the game.

Watts, McGregor and Deluca were the other Kingston marksmen while Iannarelli and Evans scored for Woodstock.

Li'l Arthur Sole Canadian In NBA Ratings

WASHINGTON (AP)—Roland La Starza and Dan Bucceroni jumped into the heavyweight title picture today on the strength of the National Boxing Association's spring ratings.

La Starza, a slick boxer who lost a much-disputed split decision to champion Rocky Marciano three years ago, hopped into the No. 3 challenger spot on the basis of his victory over Rex Layne during the winter.

Bucceroni climbed from nowhere into the No. 4 challenger position, and he claims he's ready to take on all comers.

Former champions Jersey Joe Walcott and Ezzard Charles are rated one-two behind Marciano. Walcott gets a shot at the title May 15.

Col. Harvey Miller, NBA secretary, said "the natural assumption" is that Charles will take on La Starza, with the winner getting the next crack at the title.

NO SURPRISES

There were no major surprises in the NBA's spring ratings, which contain only one Canadian. Four men were lumped in the top middleweight bracket, where a champion still is to be crowned to replace the retired Sugar Ray Robinson.

Randy Turpin of England who took the title from Robinson once only to lose it again, is listed at the top, followed in order by Bobo Olson of Hawaii, Charles Humez of France and Paddy Young.

The NBA said the eventual champion is expected to come from a meeting of the winners in semi-final bouts between Turpin and Humez, Olson and Young.

Jimmy Carter, the lightweight champion, is the first of the current titlists to defend his championship. He takes on Tommy Collins of Massachusetts in a 15-round fight at Boston Friday

Collins is rated the No. 4 challenger. Ahead of him come George Araujo, Henry Davis and Johnny Gonzalves.

LONE CANADIAN

The lone Canadian in the rankings is Arthur King of Toronto, British Empire lightweight champion. King received honorable mention.

King outpointed third-ranked Davis in a 10-round bout in Toronto Monday night.

Harold Johnson and Joey Maxim are listed as logical contenders for Archie Moore's light heavyweight title.

Billy Graham, Johnny Bratton, Johnny Saxton and Gil Turner are listed as logical contenders for Kid Gavilan's welterweight championship; Percy Bassett is the interim featherweight champion and logical contender in the absence of champion Sandy Saddler who is serving in the U.S. Army.

Robert Conn of Algiers and Pap Gault are logical contenders for the bantamweight crown of Australia's Jimmy Carruthers.

Yoshio Shirai of Japan is the flyweight champion with Jake Tuli of South Africa and Terry Allen of England as contenders.

Selke Sees Few Changes In Habs

MONTREAL (CP)—Frank Selke, managing director of Montreal Canadiens, indicated plainly Monday night there will be no startling changes next season in the team, a mixture of veterans and young players, which last week won the Stanley Cup, emblematic of the world hockey championship.

Selke spoke at a victory banquet, attended by club officials, players, newspaper, radio and television representatives and their wives. D. C. Coleman, vice-president of the Canadian Arena Company, was toastmaster.

Selke said the management has planned for next season and seasons to come and added: "But none of these plans is aimed at disintegrating a team that has just won the Stanley Cup."

He paid tribute to the players and said he wanted to thank publicly captain Butch Bouchard, "who has never played better than he did against Chicago and Boston in the cup series."

Siskins Thump Dukes To Lead Series 2-1

TORONTO (CP)—Waterloo Siskins Monday night thumped Weston Dukes 6-3 in the fourth game of the Ontario Hockey Association Junior B best-of-seven finals. Waterloo now leads the series 2-1.

Siskin scorers were Harry Noble with two, and Laverne Schnarr, Bill Oberle, Fred Lacey and Larry Rutz with one apiece.

The Dukes' scorers were Sneddon, MacNeil and Butler.

The next game will be at Waterloo Thursday.

OBA Would Return Ball To Old Status

HAMILTON (CP)—Senior and intermediate baseball in Ontario returned to its former status Monday as a result of a meeting of the Ontario Baseball Association held here.

The gathering voted to abolish the Senior A series which was adopted at the OBA annual meeting at Simcoe last month. However, intermediate clubs may still elect to enter senior playoffs providing they notify the OBA by July 15.

The affiliation of the Toronto senior series was accepted by the OBA while the Senior Intercounty group which had elected to remain outside the association stated it may also make a token affiliation.

Filly Lives Up To Raves As "Best Horse"

By JIM BASTABLE

TORONTO (CP)—Canadiana is living up to her press notices as the best race horse in the country.

The three-year-old filly is reeling off the furlongs in such impressive fashion these days that she probably will go into the Queen's Plate at the shortest odds in the history of the classic.

If there was any doubt as to Canadiana's right to the role of Queen's Plate choice for 1953, it was dismissed during her spring training. The quiet bay, owned by E. P. Taylor of Toronto, covered five furlongs in 1:01¾ over a good track and showed a lot of early footing in doing it.

Canadiana's performance stole the spotlight at workouts of some of the other 72 plate candidates at Toronto's Woodbine track for the 74th running of the race June 2—Coronation Day.

RANKS THIRD

In other workouts she showed some of the speed which made her third ranking filly in North America and the most likely horse to beat Kingarvie's all-time money-winning record of $100,000.

Apparently fully recovered from a leg injury that forced her out of training earlier in the year, Canadiana went the first quarter in :23 3-5, the three-eighths in :33 3-5 and the half in :48 3-5 last weekend. In that workout, jockey Joe Stanton eased her up and finished the six furlongs in 1:17.

That was enough to convince Stantan that Canadiana is "as good as ever."

Voted the horse of the year in 1952, Canadiana was listed in the early winter-book at 8-to-5 odds. But some railbirds figure she'll go to the post in the 1⅛-mile plate at even money.

Also working out at Woodbine is the second choice in winter bookings, Avella, owned by Jack Addison of Toronto, at 8-to-1, and Jack McIntyre's Blue Scooter and James Cowan's Teddy Brook, third choices at 10-1.

Not considered strong on looks but with powerful driving quarters, Canadiana won nine of her 10 starts in Canada as a two-year-old and collected $40,762 in purses.

She has won such Canadian stakes as the Princess Elizabeth, the Coronation and the Cup and Saucer.

Queen Alex Victors To Open Loop Play

The Public School Softball League got under way on Monday. In the northend, Queen Alexandra seniors won their opener with Grove by a score of 17 to 11. A four-run homer by Macklin in the third gave Queen Alex a comfortable lead which Grove could not overcome. Johnston for Queen Alex struck out six, walked four, and gave up 13 hits. Casey for Grove struck out five, walked five and allowed 16 hits.

The teams:

Grove— Davy, Patterson, Copping, Griffin, Warner, Wood, Simmons, Merrett, Casey, Godfrey.

Queen Alexandra—Lech, Nelson Macklin, Tucker, Kilborn, Druce, Hamilton, Stewart, Johnston, and Downer.

Umpires — Hagerman and Druery.

Lindsay Soccer Offiers Criticize PDFA Report Of Local Spring Meeting

Three Lindsay soccer officials have objected to the report recently of a re-organization soccer football meeting in Peterborough when a new slate of officers was installed. The Lindsay men are: Reginald A. Cox, George E. Anderson and Harold Breaw. Mr. Cox is a former commission president of the Peterborough and District Football Association. Mr. Cox states that the meeting alledgedly held two weeks ago in reality was held on March 14, and the reason given for declaring the 1951-52 commission null and void was lack of enthusiasm.

"THE TRUE FACTS"

He says the true facts are: "During 1951 the commission operated successfully and in complete harmony, cleaning up chaotic conditions, drawing a new constitution and finishing the year with a good surplus. The president also placed on record his appreciation of the commission's support and the excellent work of Mr. Featherstone as secretary-treasurer.

"Following Mr. Featherstone's withdrawal, several former associates, including Messrs. Leith, Gracie, Foster, J. Adams, etc., (communications to Mr. Adams being returned to us as unknown) all declined. Finally, Mr. Chamberlain volunteered to act as secretary and was appointed and confirmed in office by the OFA on June 3, 1952. Following Mr. Chamberlain's performance of his duties as secretary and his subsequent resignation on Aug. 26, 1952, which we accepted, we requested him to turn over all property of the commission, which he refused to do."

Apparently he wrote the OFA, according to the Messrs. Cox, Anderson and Greaw, who added: "But we have no knowledge of cntents of the letter, since the commission's request for copy of same was ignored.

DECLINED TO ACCEPT

"On Oct. 8, 1952, the OFA reappointed him, which appointment we declined to accept. Mr. Chamberlain then declared it was useless to attempt re-organization or do anything till the spring of '53. Following the president's report to the OFA at the end of 1952, he was advised by the OFA they would deal with recommendations in the report. Nothing was done."

Mr. Cox continued: "Mr. Simpson, OFA secertary, then undertook to pack the annual OFA meeting in February, 1953, by selecting his own supporters to represent both Peterborough and Kingston district associations, a procedure which was violently protested by us, and we informed the OFA accordingly. The meeting held March 14, 1953, in Peterborough was also known to only a few and we were not advised till late on March 13 and, due to earlier commitments, we were unable to attend. During Mr. Chamberlain's term of office never once was any communication financial or otherwise, reported to the commission.

"The excuse for abolishing the commission hardly jibes with the fact the ex-president has been connected with soccer football for a period of over 50 years, and the fact that the Lindsay commission members travelled a distance of approximately 1,500 miles in 1952 at their own expense and loss of time in the interests of the Peterborough and District Football Association commission. Anyone interested in truth can see written proof of all statements contained in these remarks by contacting ex-president Reg. A. Cox."

Bears Ring Bells 81-72, Tie Set

EDMONTON (CP)—University of Alberta Golden Bears rattled in 12 points in a five-minute overtime period Monday night to defeat Toronto Nortown Tri-Bells 81-72 and tie their best-of-five series for the Canadian senior men's basketball crown at two games each.

Final game will be played here tonight.

Don Macintosh was almost a one-man team, scoring 27 points for Alberta. Ed Lucht, six-foot-seven-inch Alberta centre, counted 14 points.

Ed Maynerick played a tremendous two-way game for Tri-Bells, scoring 20 points. Captain Glen Pettinger potted 12 points and George Wearring netted 11.

Golden Bears led 37-33 at the halfway mark.

Cits Snap Out Of Slump, Jolt Flyers 6-3

QUEBEC (CP)—Quebec Citadelles snapped out of a three-game slump Monday night to jolt Barrie Flyers 6-3 and stave off elimination from the Eastern Canada Memorial Cup hockey final. Flyers hold a 3-1 lead in games as the best-of-seven serjes moves to Toronto Wednesday night.

"We were on our way West for the Dominion final but got sidetracked," said Barrie coach Hap Emms, whose Flyers walloped Citadelles 9-1, 8-2 and 8-3 in the first three games.

Now that they have their foot in the door, the surging Citadelles hoped to delay once more the favored Flyers' departure for the East-West final against Lethbridge Native Sons or St. Boniface Canadiens.

After John McKenney gave Flyers a 1-0 lead in the second minute of play, Citadelles roared back with Michel Labadie and Aggie Kukulowicz scoring half-way through the first period. Butch Houle extended Quebec's lead to 3-1 late in the stanza.

CITS CINCH WIN

John Martan scored twice in the second period to tie the count, but three third-period goals by Roland Leclerc, Ray Cyr and Camille Henri clinched the win for Citadelles before about 2,500 fans.

Play was about even throughout the game, but the big difference appeared to be between the two goalies.

Quebec's Marcel Paille, while turning aside 22 shots to Marv Edwards' 21, saved the Quebecers' cause a number of times as he pulled in hard drives from the sticks of McKenney, Doug Mohns, Orv Tessier and Larry Thibault.

Paille got fine support from his three defencemen, Leo Amadio, Bob Chevalier and Houle.

Eight minor penalties and a 10-minute misconduct — the latter against Ralph Willis—were called on Flyers while only one Citadelle got a minor.

THE Calvert SPORTS COLUMN

by Elmer Ferguson

It came into being only three years ago, as winter's answer to Little League baseball, but today, Biddy Basketball has grown with giant strides as another development calculated to interest the kids of our nation in clean competitive sport, and thereby combat the inroads of juvenile delinquency.

Canada hasn't quite kept step with the United States, even comparatively, in the growth of Biddy Basketball. Nor, in fact, has the game grown in Canada to the same extent as Little League Baseball. But it is making rapid headway. For there are about twenty-seven Canadian cities with Biddy Basketball fairly well organized. There are probably twelve to fifteen hundred participants whose ages according to regulations range from thirteen years down to nine. Most of these cities are in Quebec, Ontario and the Western Provinces.

Most of the Canadian Biddy Basketball Clubs are organized and sponsored by Social Centres, Boys' Associations and the odd Community project. The schools have not as yet taken it up in any official way. The physical welfare of the boy is taken into consideration and a careful check is made so that they do not strain themselves, either physically or emotionally.

In the United States, the growth of the game has been almost fantastic. From the original 16 teams in one state it has spread, until now it has more than 10,000 small fry playing on 1,200 teams in 44 states. And it is being played in 11 foreign countries.

The program is regulation basketball in miniature, designed specifically for the younger set. The rules are tailored to their measurements and immature strength, such as lowering hoops a foot and a half, shortening the foul line three feet, and using a smaller ball.

The appeal of this youth movement is almost irresistible. And it has received great impetus from Jay Archer, former State Teachers College star, who tours the country spreading the gospel of sport. Canada has gone along without such inspirational help carried on the wave of Little League baseball success, but as in baseball, Canadian teams will soon by ready to compete in the national tournaments held annually across the line, just as did our champion Little Leaguers compete with distinction in the Little League baseball play-offs last autumn.

These juvenile leagues are great things for the youngsters. They cut across race, creed, and other beliefs and social distinctions in a fashion that is more truly democratic than prevails in anything outside sport. They start our kids on truly democratic lines, something that only sport, the great leveller, can accomplish.

Red Sox Win Doubleheader Cardinals Crush Braves 9-4

By ED CORRIGAN, Associated Press Sports Writer

How often during the spring do you hear the plaint of major league managers: "Just give me one only ball hitter. Then we'd show them." Manager Lou Boudreau of Boston Red Sox doesn't have to worry on that count—he's got the long ball hitter.

Young Dick Gernert, his first baseman, is just what the doctor ordered for clean-up man. He may not get many hits, but that inviting left field fence in Fenway Park is a fair target for his big blows.

The "Bobby Sox," as they're beginning to call Boudreau's kid outfit around the circuit, won a double header from Washington Senators Monday 4-2 and 11-4, with Gernert clouting two home runs in the first game and one in the second. He almost had a fourth in the afterpiece, but it went for a double, barely missing the centrefield bleachers. He batted in six runs.

Gernert, who has played pro ball for Kentville, N.S., is an interesting case. He batted only .243 after he was brought up from Louisville in the American Association last season, but he had 19 home runs to lead the club. He collected 89 hits and 41 of them—almost half—were for extra bases.

FOR EXTRA BASES

Now he has picked up where he left off in '52. In 21 times at the plate, he has made six hits—three home runs, two doubles and one single.

St. Louis Cardinals crushed Milwaukee Braves under a 13-hit barrage 9-4. Steve Bilko, Card first-baseman, knocked in four runs with a home run and a single to spearhead the attack.

Joe Presko went until the ninth for the winners, but when he yielded a single by Jack Dittmer, who had tapped him for a home run earlier, Al Brazle came on and retired the side.

The Braves used four pitchers. Starter Warren Spahn, who whipped the Cards on opening day, was tagged with the defeat.

In the only other action in the majors, Robin Roberts of Philadelphia Phillies evened the score with New York Giants' Larry Jansen by setting the Giants down with three hits 2-1. The Phillies could do little with Jansen's offerings until Johnny Wyrostek hit a home run in the sixth. Granny Hamner broke it up with another homer in the ninth.

Jansen beat Roberts in Philadelphia on opening day.

The Brooklyn-Pittsburgh game was called off because of cold weather. All other teams had the day off.

Sees Close Race As IL Opens Wednesday

MONTREAL (CP)—A close race was predicted in the International Baseball League this year as the teams prepared for the league openers Wednesday.

Frank J. Shaughnessy, league president, said in a statement that "we have a well-balanced circuit and last year's weaker clubs have been considerably strengthened."

"All we ask for is good weather. We have the teams to give our fans a great show."

Looking the teams over, Shaughnessy could find little weakness in any of them.

Ottawa Athletics, who finished in last place in the 1952 season, were a "spring-training standout," Shaughnessy remarked. He considered Baltimore Orioles, Springfield Cubs and Buffalo Bisons "much improved."

Strong teams would again be fielded by Syracuse Chiefs, Rochester Red Wings, Montreal Royals and Toronto Maple Leafs.

Shaughnessy was mildly pleased that the IL had waited a week after the major league season opened before beginning its 70th season.

All eight teams will be playing Wednesday. Montreal, which finished ahead of the pack last season, will meet Rochester, which succeeded in knocking the Royals out of the Governor's Cup finals.

Ottawa is at Syracuse, Toronto at Springfield and Buffalo meets Baltimore in the other openers.

WINNIPEG (CP)—The best-of-seven Western Memorial Cup final was forced to the limit here Monday night when Lethbridge Native Sons walloped St. Boniface Canadiens 6-1 in the sixth game.

Canadiens still hold a 3-2 lead in games, with one game tied. The clubs meet again in the seventh contest here Wednesday night, and if Butch McDonald's Native Sons come up with another performance similar to Monday's, the fans can look for an extra game.

Lethbridge's high-scoring first string of Harold Jones, captain Billy Dea and Steve Arisman, accounted for five of the six goals and a total of seven scoring points. Arisman bagged two goals and an assist, Dea two goals and Jones a goal and an assist.

Larry Winder connected for the other Lethbridge goal.

Hard-working Cece Hoekstra scored St. Boniface's goal in the first period on a play with linemates Leo Konyk and Abbie McDonald.

Saw Queen's Plate In 1903 Around Tracks Ever Since

By JOHN PATERSON
Canadian Press Staff Writer

TORONTO (CP) — Norman (Dude) Foden, ageless youngster of North American tracks, would "shrivel up and die" if owners decided he was too old to exercise horses. That's the way it is with Dude and it isn't surprising.

The 63-year-old jockey turned exercise boy—the racing records say he is 66—has been a part of the turf game since he was big enough to put a high-heeled boot in a stirrup. He hasn't grown any taller in 50-odd years but he is known as one of Canada's all-time greats of racing.

Smartly dressed in line with his internationally - known nickname, the sun-browned Dude worked out a three-year-old gelding a fast half-mile at fashionable, east-end Woodbine Park the other day. Later he talked about the game that has been his life since the turn of the century.

He talked about the spring of 1903 when he watched his first Queen's Plate; of the time he broke his "maiden" at Windsor, Ont., racetrack in 1906 on a horse called Denham and his thousands of mounts until he hung up his tack in 1944. He has seen every Queen's Plate since Norman Dyment's Thessalon won it 50 years ago and he plans to be around June 2 for the running of the $15,000-added race at Woodbine.

The happiest guy in the park would be "ol' Dude" if North of Seven won the 94th running of the classic. Dude is the gelding's exercise "boy" and the three-year-old, owned by Toronto millionaire Lou Chesler, is considered a promising contender for the oldest continuously-run stake on the North American continent. Foden has never won a plate and he has "lost track of the mounts I've had in the race."

Probably the oldest active horseback on the continent, Dude is a bit hazy sometimes on names and dates. He has ridden on practically every track in Eastern Canada; in New York, Maryland, Florida, California, Virginia and Mexico

TOP INNOVATION

Foden considers the photo-finish camera the greatest innovation of the half-century.

"Many's the time I felt I had won a race and been placed second. Often I've been second and as far back as third and been given the nod.

"Rain, early darkness and close finishes all were against placing judges in the early days."

When he announced his retirement in the spring of 1944 he had ridden more than 1,000 winners. For years he didn't bother to ride at winter tracks, preferring to stay in Canada breaking yearlings or conditioning horses for his friend W. G. (Bill) Campbell, for whom he rode more than 25 years.

Records from 1912 to 1943 list him with 6,692 mounts. He had 1,044 winners, 895 seconds and 837 thirds. Earlier records are not available and Dude didn't bother to keep track.

BEST IN 1927

In 1927 he led North America in percentage of winning mounts with 32. The next year he was second, two points behind Laverne Fator.

One of his longest shots was aboard Rare Jewel, a two-year-old filly owned by Conn Smythe, managing director of the Toronto Maple Leafs hockey team, then racing a stable. Rare Jewel won the 1930 Coronation Stakes at Woodbine and paid $214.40.

Dude's windbreaker carries the Leafs' colors, blue and white, and a Leaf crest.

He hesitates to name the best plater he ever saw. Times change, he said, and "you can hardly bring the horses together."

"My favorites were Inferno who won in 1905; Horometer in 1934; Bunty Lawless in 1938 and Jim Fair's great horse Last Mark in 1948, which still holds the plate record of 1.52 for the 1⅛ miles."

Conditions of the race have changed through the years. His favorite Canadian-bred, Hallucination, owned by the late J. K. L. Ross of Montreal, was not eligible because the race was restricted at the time to Ontario-bred maiden three-year-olds and upwards.

For years his age intrigued sports writers. The Racing Manual lists his birth date as Dec. 6, 1887, in Toronto. Foden insisted it was 1890.

"Keep fit and plenty of fresh air," is his recipe for longevity. In 1903 he weighed 100 pounds. Today, he's 112.

DUDE STILL RIDING—One of the all-time greats of Canadian racing, Norman (Dude) Foden continues to ride though now in his mid-60's. He exercises North of Seven, owned by millionaire Lou Chesler, and a promising contender for the 94th running of the Queen's Plate to be run June 2 at Toronto. This will be the 51st Plate for Dude, who has seen them all since 1903.

Ex-Gold Miner Finds Mammoth's Body

EDMONTON (CP)—A former gold miner told Monday of finding in Alaska of a mammoth's body just as it was 50,000 years ago with flesh and hide intact.

Frank Kelly, now a gas station operator at Fort Nelson, B.C., said in an interview he was on an open-pit mining crew which uncovered the body along with those of a mammoth calf and a tiny horse in the Chatiniki river country near Fairbanks.

"The animal appeared just like it was in real life," said Kelly who is in Edmonton on a visit.

He brought here an 11-pound tooth from the mammoth, somewhat similar in apearance but twice the size of a present-day elephant. The tooth was nine inches long with a seven-inch grinding surface.

New Westminster, where the Fraser River is a mile wide, is the only freshwater port in Western Canada.

Lawyer Scores HEPC Policy On Information

TORONTO (CP)—Miss J. V. La Marsh, Niagara Falls lawyer, said Monday night the Ontario hydro commission expends millions of dollars of public funds annually but information about the expenditures is almost impossible to come by.

"Strangely enough, the public, the opposition, and, indeed, the government, have no access to figures and statements on power development and management," she said in a free-time political broadcast over a CBC Ontario network on behalf of the Liberal party. "Hydro costs and estimates are never included in the public accounts and, therefore, are not subject to the checkrein of the loyal opposition."

Information about hydro was given by hydro chairman Robert Saunders, who said last week he was personally responsible for each item of publicity released.

"I would like to ask Mr. Saunders, as a resident of the Niagara area in which the new Sir Adam Beck generating station is being built, where he has listed the expenditures of the hundreds of guided tours of privileged persons who daily go through the project and are wined and dined for cocktails, lunch and banquets at public expense."

$75,000 Blaze Guts Woodstock Woodyard

WOODSTOCK (CP)—Fire of unknown origin Monday gutted the plant and offices of the Crown Lumber, Coal and Supply Company on Oxford street and destroyed the adjoining home of an elderly couple.

Loss was estimated at more than $75,000. It was the third fire at the plant since December, 1952, although the previous fires did not cause heavy damage.

Large quantities of supplies went up in smoke in the fire to which all Woodstock fire equipment responded.

Mr. and Mrs. William R. Cassler, whose house adjoins the plant, were rescued by firemen when flames engulfed their home.

Guelph Private's Folk Happy Over Release

GUELPH (CP)—Rosario Sacco, whose son, Pte. Charles Sacco of the United States Army, was released by the Communists in Korea today, couldn't believe the news.

"Everybody's been phoning. We got some word from New York, we got a call from Ohio, now we get this call.

"Is it true?" he asked.

Pte. Sacco volunteered to serve with the U.S. Army. His home is in Lorain, O., but his parents have lived here for 31 years. He was born here and went to the U.S. four years ago.

Mr. Sacco said: "He'll have to go to a hospital, I suppose. I guess three weeks, maybe a month and Charlie will be coming home. It's good news."

He said he knew his son was a prisoner.

Windsor Tax Rate 60, Increases 3 Mills

WINDSOR, Ont. (CP)—Board of control Monday struck the 1953 tax rate at 60 mills, three mills above the 1952 rate.

The budget will be presented to council for ratification at a meeting called by Mayor Arthur J. Reaume for next Monday.

This year the city is budgeting for $11,000,000, which is $800,000 more than in 1952. Included in the budget is $200,000 for development of the proposed civic auditorium site.

March Traffic Deaths

TORONTO (CP)—Ontario had 53 traffic fatalities during March, the Ontario department of highways announces. This was six less than February and four less than for the same month last year. Fatality figures show 19 pedestrians and 17 passengers killed. The number of child victims under 10 increased to 12 from February's eight.

Flee From Fire

MARKHAM (CP)—Mr. and Mrs. John Offen fought their way through smoke and flames in a stairway Monday night to carry their two children to safety. The four fled from a $15,000 blaze that gutted a combination home and egg-grading station at Cedar Grove, three miles south of this community 15 miles northeast of Toronto.

Farmers Battle Towns '53 Levy

LONDON, Ont. (CP)—An involved court battle between the town of St. Marys and some 30 farmers owning property within town limits appears in prospect this year when council strikes the 1953 tax rate.

The farmers claim the town is bound by provisions of a 58-year-old by-law to impose a tax rate of not more nor less than 3.5 mills for all farmland of 25 acres or more.

Town council, on the other hand, has taken preliminary steps to figure out tax exemptions for farmland under provisions of the Assessment Act which may mean a rate of more than 3.5 mills for some farm lands.

First round of a pending legal fight over the matter began in weekly court here Monday when Mr. Justice D. C. Wells heard a motion to have a town by-law quashed.

He adjourned the hearing to the first weekly court to be held 10 days after St. Marys strikes its tax rate.

Plan Ceremony To Unveil Kenner Portrait

When the new Collegiate in the south ward of the city was planned, the Board of Education decided to name it in honor of the late Dr. H. R. H. Kenner, teacher and principal of the Peterborough Collegiate for fifty years. Former students of Dr. Kenner determined to give further their identity to the new school and honor to their respected Principal, by opening a memorial fund. On Saturday the results of this endeavour will be made public.

The fund committee commissioned the celebrated Canadian painter Kenneth Forbes, RCA, to do a posthumous portrait of Dr. Kenner. This portrait, now completed and framed, will be unveiled Saturday evening at eight o'clock at the new Kenner Collegiate in a public ceremony.

At the same time the residue of the fund will be handed to the Board of Education to establish Kenner Scholarships for pupils of the new school.

PAINTER TO ATTEND

In announcing the presentations, chairman of the fund, W. Howard Macdonald, said that the artist, Mr. Forbes, will himself be present on the platform.

Chief speaker will be L. W. Copp, Principal of the Peterborough Normal School. Other members of the fund committee will speak briefly.

The PCVS band will play and a choral group of the new Kenner Collegiate will sing.

The portrait will be the only Forbes painting in Peterborough. Those who have seen it comment on its remarkable likeness and its rich and elegant quality.

The public is invited to the presentation and program.

OPEN HOUSE

Principal Eldon P. Ray of Kenner Collegiate says that the entire new school will be open for inspection Saturday evening. Those persons who missed the previous open house will be able to visit its classrooms, shops and other facilities, as well as attend the unveiling ceremony.

Blasting Rocks On North Monaghan Farm Stirs Up Alarm In Wide Area Of West End

Was it sewer gas that caused the two explosions and the rumbling? Propane gas? Oil furnaces on the blink, maybe? Or—perish the thought!—could it be a fake air-raid like the one now progressing in Steve Canyon?

Whatever they thought, city west-end residents in the vicinity of St. Alphonsus Church were plenty excited after two explosions rocked the district, shortly after 5 p.m. Monday.

Telephone calls began to flood into the fire department, city police, provincial police and Board of Works. There is no record, however, of anybody trying to contact Alderman J. A. Dewart's civil defence organization.

But to cut it short: the sole cause of the confusion was a couple of rocks being dynamited in a farmer's field in nearby North Monaghan township.

Unable to figure out what caused all the fuss is Eugene Hurtubise, of 254 Stewart St., who was doing the blasting in a 10-acre field owned by Robert Simpson, of Sherbrooke St. W.

"We put in three dynamite caps for each of the two charges," said Mr. Hurtubise. "I was standing up about 100 feet away when they went off. I didn't feel any shock at all.

"It was 'poof'!—just like a shotgun shell."

Others, however, took a more serious view of the "poof." They felt the ground shake and their windows rattle. When it happened again, a few minutes later, there was a degree of mild alarm.

The rock-blasting was some 400 yards from the city boundary near Sherbrooke St. W., but calls from curious and anxious householders came from more than a mile away. A strong vibration shook the St. Alphonsus rectory and complaints came from Brunswick, Hayes and Devon Sts.

Street Commissioner James Burgess, who went personally to investigate the trouble, had complaints from Adeline and Brown Sts.

"People were coming out of their houses and wanting to know what it was all about," he said. "Some thought it was exploding sewer gas and I thought there was a possibility of oil furnaces blowing up."

The innocent blasting operation was finally tracked down by OPP Constable Douglas K. Ross. Nobody could have been more surprised than Mr. Hurtubise when he learned of the consternation he had caused.

Ross St. Residents Petition Against Oil Distribution

Permission to Douglas MacPherson to operate a fuel oil distribution plant at the property that is being vacated by McColl-Frontenac Oil Co. was turned back to the committee of the whole council in board of works for further consideration next Monday night.

The motion by Aldermen Graham and Burrows deleted a permissive clause from the report of the finance committee in response to a petition and supporting delegation from the residents of the depot locality in Ashburnham.

Several of the names signed to the petition were: George Bennett, W. J. O'Toole, R. A. Ford, M. L. Laidley, D. J. Delong, and D. W. Hull. Total number of signatures was about 25.

They asked the council "to have the tanks (on Ross St.) removed rather than be put to further use".

"We feel that they present a definite fire hazard, and their general appearance is a detriment to this residential area."

Finance committee proposal was: "That Douglas MacPherson be informed that the city council has no objection to him operating at the site of the McColl-Frontenac Co., providing that the facilities now there are used for the storage of fuel oil only".

SPOKE FOR DEPUTATION

Archie W. Townsend, 691 Ross St., spoke for the deputation attending the council in support of the petition.

He said the gasoline and oil tanks have been 25 years on Ross St. and have been there long enough. Most of the houses in the vicinity on Ross, Hazlitt and Dufferin Streets have been built since then. The outgoing of McColl-Frontenac as an effect of the laying of the Texaco Petroleum pipe line through Port Hope was an opportunity to direct their removal and restore the property to residential use.

Mr. Townsend said it was understood that the tanks were ordered out by the end of January this year, but they had been granted an extension of stay to April 30.

Restriction to oil storage was of no advantage to the neighborhood residents, Mr. Townsend said. Oil fumes were heavier than gasoline, hung closer to the ground and in summer floated into the homes when windows were more generally open to the air.

SMELLY FUMES

The fumes of the oil were highly objectionable and could be called a stench, Mr. Townsend said, the depot was a fire hazard, and the place was otherwise a nuisance, A loud call bell rang any time during the day and into the night to 2 a.m. Gasoline and fuel oil had been seen flowing out of the top of the tanks. The buildings through the years had become saturated, accentuating the fire risk.

The residents were asking the council, Mr. Townsend said, to clear the property of the tanks and let it revert to building purpose. Texaco Petroleum was a million dollar concern, and it was of little interest to them who leased the place or what became of it.

"And we have no axe to grind against Mr. MacPherson", Mr. Townsend said. "There is nothing in the bylaw that says they cannot by ordered underground. That was done with Deeth and White (McDonnel St.)."

The least that could be done with Texaco was to have their tanks put underground. Drums on the property indicated that a gas service was to be provided for farmers.

If the business is as good as it appears to be Mr. MacPherson could have them removed to the outskirts of the city where they would annoy no one, and not be detrimental to a residential neighborhood.

PCVS Student Wins Trip To See Ottawa

Bryce Larke, a Grade 12 student at PCVS, and son of the Rev. A. E. Larke of Springville, has been awarded the 1953 Adventure in Citizenship scholarship by the Peterborough Rotary Club.

The award winner was announced at the Rotary luncheon meeting Monday.

The scholarship is a four-day trip to Ottawa, where the Peterborough student will visit the Parliament buildings, universities in the city, attend luncheons and lectures by Cabinet ministers and university professors, and be taken on a tour of the city.

The students' transportation costs are paid by their home Rotary clubs, but while in Ottawa they are the guests of the Ottawa Rotary Club.

Approximately 300 clubs across Canada participate in this scholarship project which will take place this year May 4-7.

BASIS OF CHOICE

The Peterborough scholarship winner is picked by the Youth Committee from a list of Grade 12 students recommended by the principal. The award is based on leadership shown inextra-curricular activities plus a good academic standing, particularly in the field of Canadian citizenship.

The secondary schools in the city rotate according to their Grade 13 enrolment for the honor of having a student picked as a scholarship winner.

ALD. T. D. MILLER

Ald. T. D. Miller Acting Mayor

Ald. T. D. Miller, chairman of the finance committee, will be acting Mayor during the absence of Mayor Waddell, who is leaving next week to represent Peterborough at the Coronation of Queen Elizabeth.

His Worship told the members in committee after the council's meeting Monday night that he preferred to assign to them the appointment of one of their members as his deputy and presiding officer of the council while he was away. He suggested that as Ald. P. J. Anglesey was a six-year term member, the same length of service as Ald. Miller, the council might appoint them successively for three weeks each.

Discussion took place during the requested absence of Ald. Miller and Ald. Anglesey. Finally the course of the council was influenced by the fact that Ald. Miller had been for some years chairman of the finance committee and in that position somewhat closer to the internal affairs of the administration.

Ald. Sid Black's motion naming Ald. Miller was unanimously adopted.

Special Meeting Of County To Decide How To Finance Gannon's Narrows Bridge

County Council To Meet Monday
Cost Of Spanning 1,500-Foot Gap
Estimated To Total About $206,000

A special meeting of the Peterborough County Council has been called for April 27 to draw up an agreement for financing the Gannon's Narrows bridge and causeway. Other council matters will also be discussed. Actual construction costs of the overhead bridge and causeway which will span the 1,500-foot-wide neck of water at Gannon's Narrows is estimated at $203,000. Another $3,000 will be spent on legal fees, interest on borrowed money from the bank and other incidentals, making $206,000 in all.

The county council have already signed an agreement with the Department of Transport in Ottawa, who are interested in the bridge section of the project under which boats must pass. The 200-foot-long overhead bridge, to be built 22 feet above the high water mark, is approved for Trent Canal traffic. So the Department of Transport have already handed over their cheque for $99,000 and it has been deposited in the bank by the county

NEED $20,800

This leaves a balance of $104,000 that must be raised.

The Ontario Department of Highways have promised an 80 per cent subsidy on the $104,000 which leaves $20,800 to be raised. By agreement this will be divided 8/11ths and 3/11ths between the County of Peterborough and the Township of Harvey, respectively.

The City of Peterborough have not been asked for a contribution. They gave $10,000 on the completion of the Chemong Causeway.

Besides drawing up the agreement at the special session the council will have to draw up a supplementary appropriation bylaw for the $83,200 they expect to get from the Department of Highways.

Another matter that will likely be dealt with at the session is the application of Douro township to join the Lakefield High School District and the Peterborough High School District. Only the townships of Ennismore and Galway-Cavendish will then be outside high school areas.

City To Plant 400 Trees During Spring

Approximately 400 trees—maples and red maples— will be planted in the city this spring by Parks' Department employees.

Armar Butcher, parks' superintendent said today that the tree planting will start this week. The trees will be planted on the new streets in the city and in front of new homes.

On May 1 the department's employees will also start putting annuals in the 30 flower beds under the department's care.

The first blooms have already made their appearance in the rock garden in Riverside Park. Botanical tulips and hyacinths are already out here. Tulips in other beds are expected to bloom as soon as the weather warms up a little.

Studying Cases Of Sailors Jailed In East

OTTAWA (CP)—Ralph Campney, associate defence minister, said in the Commons Monday night that representations are being made concerning the sentencing of two Canadian sailors in Hong Kong for possessing firearms illegally.

However, he told C. E. Johnston (SC—Bow River) that their case could not be covered by unilateral Canadian legislation. Mr. Johnston brought up the case as the House considered a government bill to provide that Canadian tribunals try Canadian servicemen for offences committed in other countries where they are serving.

The sailors, members of the crew of HMCS Crusader, were sentenced in January. Norman Robbins of Welland received 18 months—later shortened to 16 months—and Stephen Hlasny of Drumheller, Alta., was given 12 months.

Mr. Campney said the proposed legislation is meant to apply to such countries as Germany and the NATO countries, where Canada may arrange for Canadian trials by treaty or by special arrangement.

CANSO CAUSEWAY—Rock fill for the 7,000-foot Canso causeway, to connect mainland Nova Scotia and Cape Breton Island, already has reached about 1,800 feet out from the mainland shore into the Strait of Canso. Trucks are shown hauling in the fill. Packed ice, one of the factors which prevented building a previously planned bridge, can be seen in the Strait.

UWO Grants Are $240,000 For Research In Sciences

LONDON, Ont. (CP)—Grants and fellowships totalling $240,000 to further research studies in medicine, physics botany, chemistry and zoology by faculty scientists were announced Monday by the University of Western Ontario

The awards are made by the National research council, the national cancer institute and the defence research board. One grant comes from the J. P. Bickell Foundation.

In announcing the grants Western officials said the money is used to finance technicians, purchase apparatus, experimental animals. None is paid as salary to the person to whom the grant is made.

The largest portion of the money will finance medical research. More than $50,000 is devoted to a study of the body's reaction to stresses: cold, blood loss, wounds and the like.

The majority of the grants are renewals to permit continuation of research projects already underway. Only $32,105 of the total is financing new research programs.

The largest single grant is of $27,000 to Dr. J. B. Collip, director of the Collip research laboratory, to finance a general medical research program.

Two large grants have been made by the national cancer institute to permit further study of cancer investigations which have been continuing for some time. Dr. R. L. Noble, assistant director of medical research, has been granted $13,840. Assisted by Dr. J. H. Walter, R. C. B. Graham and Jean Millar, Dr. Noble is studying breast cancer and the effect of lithosperm on malignant growths.

Dr. R. W. Begg, associate professor of medical research, who is studying the relationship of tumor and host, has received a renewal of his research grant amounting to $14,300.

Some researchers have been awarded more than one grant Dr. J. A. F. Stevenson, head of the department of physiology, receives a total of almost $30,000.

One grant, totalling $17,000 from the defence research board, will further research on metabolic reactions to stresses produced by diet, temperature and wounds.

Another DRB grant, valued at $10,000, finances a study of drugs on the body's blood with reference to shock. The third project being directed by Dr. Stevenson is a study of water exchange in the body. The grant totalling $2,500 was made by the national research council.

Dreams Come True For Couple, 65

Retire on $200 A Month for Life!

A popular Halifax grocer and his wife recently retired on $200 a month for life. Their dreams of security and comfort have come true, thanks to a decision the grocer made in 1923.

It was then he took out a Confederation Life Insurance Pension Plan which included $20,000 insurance protection. He had just opened his store . . . and with the baby and the payments on his home, he had only so much left for retirement plans. It was a pleasant surprise when his Confederation Man told him how easily his dreams could come true—without risks or investment worries.

You'll be pleasantly surprised too at how easily you can make your dreams come true — and protect your loved ones at the same time—with a Confederation Life Pension Plan with Insurance.

WINNIPEG (CP)—Joseph Arthur Proulx, 27, sentenced to 15 years imprisonment for a sex crime, was told by Manitoba court of Appeal Monday a parole might be considered if he voluntarily underwent an emasculation operation The five-man appeal board unanimously dismissed Proulx' appeal against his sentence.

New roofs for old

A NUMBER of ancient English churches are replacing their equally ancient roofs with aluminum. One of these is the Chapel of St. James in the village of Nether Warton, Oxfordshire. Its lead roof, originally laid in 1665, brought £478 as scrap — enough to pay the whole cost of installing the new roof.

It is a neat example of how, while most metals have been getting more expensive through the centuries, the cost of aluminum has been going down. Aluminum Company of Canada, Ltd. (Alcan)

Massive Canso Causeway Matched By Only Two Others

By IRVING C. WHYNOT
Canadian Press Staff Writer

HALIFAX (CP)—Work on the Canso causeway, Nova Scotia's "road to the isles," is ahead of schedule and traffic is expected to start rolling across late in 1954.

The massive causeway, matched only by two others in the world, will provide a direct link between the Nova Scotia mainland and the highly-industrialized but beautiful island of Cape Breton.

Being built by the federal and provincial governments at an estimated cost of $22,750,000, the causeway will span 4,200 feet of water but, with its two approaches, actually will be about 7,000 feet long.

BRIDGE IMPRACTICABLE

A bridge, to cost $13,500,000, was first planned but was scrapped when engineers said it would not withstand the strong tides and ice jams of the Strait of Canso, the deep and swift channel that connects the Gulf of St. Lawrence with Chedabucto bay. Even now there are some engineers who say the causeway is not the best answer—that a tunnel would be better.

Eighty feet wide at the top, the causeway will have a six-foot sidewalk, a single-track railway and a 24-foot highway, part of the Trans-Canada route.

Shipping will be able to pass through a navigation lock being constructed on the Cape Breton shore, through a neck of land rather than at a spot in the causeway itself. The lock is 80 feet wide and 850 feet long.

The foundation of the causeway will be 650 feet wide at the deepest spot in the strait—about 180 feet—and the complete fill job will take an estimated 9,000,000 tons of rock.

This fill, being blasted from Porcupine mountain on the Nova Scotia mainland, will take about 40 per cent of the total cost of the causeway. The navigation lock will cost about $4,817,777.

RISING COSTS

Final cost of the project is expected to be higher than the estimate because of rising labor and material rates but the Nova Scotia share is fixed at a maximum of $5,500,000.

Once completed, the causeway will cut about an hour from the time it now takes ferries to move railway cars and automobiles across the strait. Users probably will have to pay a toll charge.

First fill for the job was dumped Sept. 16 last. All will be dumped from the mainland shore and the causeway now is out in the strait more than 1,800 feet.

Premier Angus L. Macdonald, long an advocate of a Canso crossing, said as he watched the first rock being dumped into the water:

"I am sure it will have a great economic effect on the future of Nova Scotia. . . I am sure it will have a psychological effect."

Because the causeway is being constructed away from the terminals of the present ferries—Port Hawkesbury and Mulgrave—new highways and railway lines have to be constructed.

MODERN COSTS

An interesting sidelight is that the causeway—actually the "last mile" of the old Intercolonial Railway—will cost more than the entire railway when it was built in the late 1800s.

The Intercolonial line from Riviere du Loup, Que., to Truro, N.S., cost $21,000,000, almost $2,000,000 less than the causeway estimate. The last link of the Intercolonial, from Sydney to Point Tupper, was completed in 1891.

Re-location of the rail line will bring some economic changes in the area.

Mulgrave, the mainland ferry terminal will be one of the towns hardest hit. With a population of 1,200, Mulgrave's business centred almost entirely around the Canadian National Railways. About two-thirds of the town's working force is employed by the railway which has to have a big force to handle the across-the-strait transfer.

The town, however, has not bucked the causeway. Instead it has suggested the railway run in a spur line and asked the provincial government to take steps to bring the town more industrial activity.

When completed the causeway will be matched as an engineering feat only by one at Scapa Flow, Scotland, and another in India.

KING DECISIONS DAVIS

TORONTO (CP)—L'il Arthur King of Toronto and Philadelphia Monday night scored an upset unanimous decision over Henry Davis of Hawaii.

King weighed 138 pounds and Davis 137.

There were no knockdowns in the bruising contest but King, British Empire lightweight champion, whipped Davis in the lightning-fast 10th round.

Davis, ahead slightly on points until the final round, was belted all over the ring in the final three minutes.

He uncorked a tough body attack early in the fight and was ahead in the early rounds. But King came back with a sharp, stinging left and it was anybody's fight going into the last round.

Li'l Arthur opened the 10th with a looping left that caught Davis flush on the mouth. He followed with three or four lefts and rights that sent the Hawaiian against the ropes, where he continued to belt him.

With about one minute remaining, Davis took the offensive and plastered King with a hard right to the stomach and two jolting lefts to the jaw at the bell.

The Bather management expressed hope that other members of the Cotton States loop would change their attitude so that Hot Springs could recall the Negroes.

Montgomery Amazed At Avro's "Saucer"

TORONTO (CP)—Field Marshal Viscount Montgomery, touring some of Canada's defence program centres, visited the Avro aircraft plant at nearby Malton Monday.

The deputy commander of North Atlantic Treaty Organization forces was accompanied on the tour by Crawford Gordon, Jr., president and general manager of Avro, and Sir Roy Dobson, managing director of Avro in Manchester, England.

One of the things shown Lord Montgomery was what has been termed the flying saucer model, a creation of wood, metal and plastic. Elaborate security arrangements were made for his visit to this part of the plant.

One of the specially screened guides said later Lord Montgomery was "amazed" at the saucer.

CPGA To Choose Turney Team

MONTREAL (CP)—The Canadian Professional Golfers Association has formed a committee to pick the Canadian team for the international golf tournament between Canada and the United States, to be held at Montreal Beaconsfield June 2-7.

At the annual spring meeting Monday of CPGA executives, it was decided that, because of the early date of the tournament, it would be impossible to judge player eligibility from tournament play.

The executive also discussed the annual CPGA tournament, to be held this year July 3-5 at Royal Quebec. It was decided to hold an amateur-pro match on July 2, with the 54-hole CPGA tournament and the 36-hole seniors match July 4-5.

Blame Boy For Fire Leaving 46 Homeless

OTTAWA (CP)—An 11-year-old boy was blamed Monday for a two-alarm fire that left 46 persons homeless in a row of seven connected homes in centre town Ottawa.

Fred Cooksey, chief of the fire prevention bureau, said the boy confessed to touching matches to rags which had been stuffed around a damaged window.

"We lectured him, but there's nothing much we can do," Cooksey said. It was the third Ottawa fire since Saturday, he said, where firemen believed children playing with matches were to blame.

Damage in Monday's fire was estimated at $75,000 and Cooksey said the loss in the three fires was about $100,000.

IODE Representatives To Girl Guides Named

MARMORA (ENS)—The IODE meeting in the Masonic Hall was well attended.

Mrs. G. H. Rennie, regent, was in the chair. The meeting opened with the prayer of the order and one minutes silence in memory of the late Queen Mary. Mrs. C. R. Whittemore presented the treasurer's report.

The educational secretary Mrs. R. G. Walsh stated that her committee had met principal Leonard Begley of the high school and agreement had been reached on students' awards for the ensuing year. A letter was read from Beverley Young, daughter of the Rev. and Mrs. G. D. Young of Taber, Alta., a former student, thanking the chapter for the award she had received.

Miss M. Savage, welfare convener, read a letter from provincial headquarters mentioning that nursery and personal comfort bags, baby needs and men's clothing were most needed articles for overseas parcels. Comfort bags will be made and filled by members.

Mrs. J. H. McCrodan, wool convener, advised the members of having ordered wool. Several members spoke in favor of making woollen articles as planned. The membership convener, Mrs. E. Brady reported having written to a Kingston chapter notifying them of the membership of Mrs. J. Appleton who had recently moved to that city.

The I.O.D.E. scrap book is to be entered in provincial competition and is being sent to Hamilton where the convention is to be held in May.

It was decided to hold an Empire tea and bake sale in the Masonic Hall on Friday, May 22. Mrs. A. J. Maynes was appointed general convener and her assistants were named. There will be an apron table with Mrs. M. Borland in charge.

It was decided to send a donation to the provincial treasurer towards the Coronation gift to the Queen.

Capt. Mrs. S. York then addressed the meeting on the duties of the Chapter and of the local organization sponsoring the Girl Guides. Representatives of the chapter on the joint ruling body of the Marmora company of Girl Guides were tentatively appointed to be confirmed at the May meeting of the chapter.

An appeal for assistance from the artificial ice committee was laid over until the next meeting. Mrs. W. D. Lavender was received into the chapter.

The meeting closed with the presentation of the flag and the singing of God Save the Queen. Refreshments were served.

Law Committee To Clarify Ban On Crime Comics

OTTAWA (CP)—The Commons criminal law committee Monday held up a section of the proposed Criminal Code revision to clarify the ban on crime comics.

Justice Minister Garson suggested that the committee frame an amendment to the section "to offset the extremely narrow interpretation given it by an Alberta magistrate."

Mr. Garson said the magistrate acquitted a publisher of a charge of publishing, distributing or selling crime comics because the comic did not depict the actual commission of the crime.

FIRM ACQUITTED

(Later, Mr. Garson said he referred to a 1951 case in Calgary in which the Alberta News Company was acquitted.)

He noted that the proposed new code repeats the wording of the present law about crime comics. They are defined as "a magazine, periodical or book that exclusively or substantially comprises matter depicting pictorially the commission of crimes, real or fictitious."

Mr. Garson said an amendment will be framed to make it clear that the prohibition against publishing, selling or distributing crime comics is aimed at books picturing the circumstances of crimes as well as the commission of crimes.

Jap Runner Sets Record Running Boston Marathon

BOSTON (AP) — Japan's tiny Keizo Yamada, a 25-year-old mining engineer who weighs 108 pounds shaved six minutes, 48 seconds off the historic Boston A.A. Marathon record Monday with a smashing 2:18:51 performance against a brilliant international field of 158.

Yamada, whose first and last names literally mean "Respect Mountain Field," clinched his triumph over his only serious challengers, Finland's Veikko Karvonen and Sweden's Earl Gosta Leandersson, by running their hearts out on killing "Heartbreak Hill," the last of the course's three steep grades, located about six miles from the finish.

Karvonen completed the 26 mile 385-yard course in 2.19:19 and Leandersson, the race's 1949 victor, was timed in 2.19:36. Japanese champion Katsuo Nishida finished fourth in 2.21:35. All four were under the record.

The old mark was 2.25:39, set by Korean Yun Bok Suh in 1947.

Gerard Cote, four-time winner from St. Hyacinthe, Que., led the Canadian contingent home with a 16th place in 2.42:40. Seven-time winner, 65-year-old Clarence Demar of Boston was 82nd in 3.36:32.

Young Johnny Kelley, heretofore regarded as a Boston University star miler, snapped the foreigners' string by finishing fifth in 2.28:19. The others in the first 10, in order, were Hideo Hamamura of Japan, oldster Johnny Kelley, the last American victor (1945), another Japanese, Kurao Hiroshima, John Lafferty of the host Boston A.A. and Hawaii's Norman Tamanaha, who placed fifth here a year ago.

Cote was the only member of the big Canadian delegation to be regarded seriously. But that four-time victor never was able to get very far up in the pack. Barry Lush of Hamilton, Ont., turned in the second best Canadian performance by finishing 27th and his home townsman, Bill Husband, wound up 38th.

Sweet-Toothed Girl Arrested

OTTAWA (CP)—An 11-year-old Ottawa girl with a sweet tooth was arrested Monday following a man-sized crime wave that lasted two weeks.

Police said that in nearly a dozen thefts she took loot totalling about $100. Almost all was spent on a bubble-gum and chocolate-candy binge.

During the two weeks she opened a bank account, made regular deposits and withdrawals, and had $22 left on deposit Monday.

Police said her method was to knock on doors, asking for old newspapers. If no one answered and the door was unlocked, she helped herself to purses and loose change in the house.

The girl is to appear in juvenile court to face theft charges.

States Supports Burma Demand For Withdrawal

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (AP)—The U. S. today threw its support behind Burma's demand that Chinese Nationalist guerrillas get off its soil and said it was actively working to bring this about.

Chief U. S. delegate Henry Cabot Lodge, Jr., told the 60-nation political committee the U. S. was hard at work on a three-point plan. It would:

1. Require the active support of the Chinese Nationalist government to persuade the 12,000 guerrillas in Burma to give up.

2. Stop military operations between the Burmese Army and Chinese guerrillas.

DISARM CHINESE

3. Disarm the Chinese and remove them to Formosa via Thailand. Lodge said Thailand had agreed to this.

The American representative said the U. S. feels Burma had the right to demand the removal of the Chinese, whom he accused of "depredations" against the Burmese people. He said many of the guerrillas were "common bandits posing as Chinese Nationalists" and that the removal of the genuine guerrillas would leave Burma able to control the others.

Lodge said the U. S. took steps to mediate at the request of the Burmese government which has no diplomatic relations with Chiang Kai-shek's government on Formosa.

New Bid Made To End Strike

OTTAWA (CP)—Transport controller R. W. Milner has joined labor department officers on the West coast in attempts to settle Vancouver's grain-elevator strike, Labor Minister Gregg said in the Commons today.

The minister said discussions are continuing and he hopes to have a specific report soon.

One of the transport controller's main functions is to see that facilities are provided for the movement of Prairie grain to market, and he has wide powers in requisitioning transport and storage facilities for grain.

Prime Minister St. Laurent hinted last week at the possibility of the government taking over the elevators if no settlement is reached, but a cabinet informant said today this intention is not behind Mr. Milner's appearance in Vancouver.

The West coast strike, now about nine weeks old, has blocked all grain shipments through the port of Vancouver. The 250 striking grain handlers, seeking higher pay and other concessions, have tied up five elevator companies.

Plastic Workers Out On Strike

ELMIRA (CP)—Some 140 employees at the Naugatuck Chemical Company here went on strike today after last-minute wage negotiations broke down.

Although the United Mine Workers of America (Ind.), representing the workers, set up a picket line, 70 salaried employees and 10 watchmen and boiler room employees are permitted to enter the office and factory.

The union is seeking a 15-cent-an-hour wage increase. The company countered with an offer of eight cents, retroactive to Jan. 2.

Negotiations have been going on for nine months and Sunday the employees voted 68-17 to strike unless their demands had been met by today.

The Naugatuck chemicals plant is a division of the Dominion Rubber Company Limited. Elmire is 10 miles north of Kitchener.

Charge Unionist With Perjury

SILVER CITY, N. M. (AP)—Union leader Clinton Jencks, arrested Monday night by the federal bureau of investigation, has been charged by a federal grand jury with swearing falsely he was not a Communist.

District-Attorney Holvey Williams at El Paso said today Jencks was indicted under the 1947 Labor Relations Act, commonly known as the Taft-Hartley law.

Williams said the two count-indictment charges Jencks violated the law when he filed a required affidavit for labor union leaders April 28, 1950, swearing he was not then a Communist and not then affiliated with the Communist party.

Jencks is an international representative here for the International Union of Mine, Mill and Smelter Workers, which was expelled by the CIO in 1950 on charges of Communist domination.

Monty Confesses Buffalo Error

BUFFALO, N. Y. (AP)When Viscount Montgomery of Alamein makes an error, he admits it.

The Viscount's error was in asking: "Where's Buffalo?"

Business and civic leaders here took a rather dim view of the Viscount's question, asked last week during a press conference in Ottawa. The point arose in a discussion of the chances of North American cities being subjected to atomic attack.

Linwood B. Law, secretary of the international affairs committee of the Buffalo Chamber of Commerce, sent a long, detailed telegram to Montgomery, telling him about this city of nearly 700,000 people.

Today, Law got his reply—a note in Montgomery's handwriting. It said:

"Thank you for your telegram... I am sorry I was not clear where the city of Buffalo was located. But I know now and I am grateful for your information about it.

"Also, I have now seen the city from the air. On my flight from Kingston to Hamilton, I asked my pilot to fly over Buffalo. He did so, and I got a fine view of your city. Next time I visit the U. S. A. I will try and fit in a visit to Buffalo."

Couper, City Treasurer, and listed for the recommendation of the finance committee. The debentures pay 4½ per cent.

This issue provides for the following expenditures of the council: sidewalks $64,106.68 debentures for 10 years.

Sewers—$92,393.27, debentures for 15 years. Street pavement by Warren Bituminous Paving Co. $118,801.51, ten year debentures.

Welland Man, 22 4,000th Wise Owl

TORONTO (CP)—Albert Duncan, 22, of Welland, Ont., today was inducted as the 4,000th member of the Wise Owl Club.

A "wise owl," in the club's view, is a person who survived an industrial accident with his sight intact because he wore eye protection.

Duncan qualified last March 18 when a large piece of grindstone on which he was working at Welland Electric Steel Foundry, Ltd., broke off and totally shattered the right lens of his safety glasses, but left his eye unhurt.

The club is sponsored by the National Society for the Prevention of Blindness, of New York, and has chapters in 83 Canadian plants, and 453 Canadian members.

Duncan, who came to Canada from Scotland two years ago, is also a soccer player and amateur boxer.

James E. O'Neill, director of industrial activities for the National Society for the Prevention of Blindness, in making the presentation, said:

"We know from what happens on the field and in the ring that this young man has two good hands and two good feet. More to the point, however, is that he is here today with good eyes is evidence that he has a good head on his shoulders too."

Major Hounsell worked as a compositor for some time for the Review and the Peterborough Examiner and was a charter member of the Typographical Union and was an adherent to George St. United Church. He was 33 years with the Prince of Wales 57th Regiment and was a major when he retired.

Careless Bosses Deserve To Lose Money

TORONTO (CP)—Employers who are careless about the safety of their employees should be hit where it will hurt—"in the pocketbook," G. K. Sheils, president of the Canadian Manufacturers' Association, said today.

Addressing the annual conference of industrial accident prevention associations, which represent some 18,000 Ontario manufacturing plants, Mr. Sheils said CMA is trying to work out with the Ontario workmen's compensation board an "experience rating plan" under which the employer "whose plant produces more than its fair share of accidents," would pay a larger proportion of compensation costs.

Reviewing the decline in accident rates, Mr. Sheils said IAPA "has undoubtedly developed a realization on the part of the vast majority of employers that, apart entirely from the basic humanitarian motive for it, accident prevention is good business. Employee morale is improved, operating efficiency increased, production costs lowered.

"Unfortunately there are still some employers—even some manufacturers—who have not yet seen the light."

He urged IAPA to call on CMA if there is anything CMA can do to help. "Or, if you need money for the carrying on of the work of your associations, we will support you in any reasonable request."

City Gives Mayor $1,000 For Trip

City council directed City Treasurer Couper Monday night to write a cheque to Mayor Waddell in the amount of $1,000 "toward defraying His Worship's expenses in representing the Corporation of the City of Peterborough at the Coronation of Queen Elizabeth."

The proposal came from the whole council in committee, with the exception of Mayor Waddell, prior to Monday night's sitting.

"I thank the council for the thought that is in this motion," said Mayor Waddell as he held the form on which it was written. "At the outset it was my intention not to approach the council in any way regarding this matter. Now that it is before me, it puts me in a rather embarrassing position. However, I do appreciate the sentiment of the committee of the whole."

His Worship in the usual procedure submitted the motion to the council. It was unanimously adopted.

"I'd like to consider this," Mayor Waddell quietly commented, "because it was not my policy to approach the council."

Ald. Miller, who presented the motion, with Ald. Black's name also on it, said: "This was discussed by the committee of the whole with the exclusion of yourself, and it was their unanimous decision that this resolution be presented."

Veterans' Children Get Free College Training

OTTAWA (CP)—Legislation to provide free university education for the children of members of the armed forces who died in service was given third and final reading today in the Commons.

Under the measure, the treasury will pay tuition and an allowance of $25 a month. Veterans Minister Lapointe estimated Monday the average cost per student at $500 a scholastic year.

About 12,000 will be eligible the minister said. They will receive the same treatment as Second World War veterans getting university training, except that the monthly allowance is smaller—it was $60 for a single veteran.

Jailed 45 Days On Assault, Driving Counts

WELLAND (CP)—Arthur James Braniff, 22, of St. Catharines was sentenced to 45 days in jail and fined $200 today when he appeared before Magistrate H. D. Hallett on charges of dangerous driving and assaulting a police officer.

Provincial constable Grant Kerr testified he halted Braniff's car April 17 on Highway 20 when he observed it weaving along the road. However, when he walked back toward the car, Braniff started up and after striking Kerr, roared off down the highway.

Constable Kerr pursued Braniff at speeds of 90 miles an hour and finally halted him a second time. However, Braniff stopped so suddenly that Kerr ran into the rear of the car.

Kerr then ordered Braniff out of his car at gun point. Braniff then made a grab for the gun which went off. The constable tossed the pistol away and struggled with Braniff.

In addition to the fine and jail sentence, Braniff's licence was suspended for one year.

Oil In Turkey

ANKARA (CP)—The standard Oil Company of New Jersey is sending geologists to search for new oil fields in Turkey. The Turkish government last November denationalized its oil industry to permit foreign as well as domestic capital to participate in development of existing and potential oil resources.

Protests Unfairness Of Determinate Term

TORONTO (CP)—W. J. Grummett (CCF—Cochrane South) criticized the "unfairness" of the indeterminate sentence when the legislature's special committee on reform institutions met Monday.

"The indeterminate sentence is the only ground on which a parole can be granted," Mr. Grummett said. "Some magistrates give it and some won't."

Col. Hedley Basher, deputy minister of reform institutions, said some magistrates give the definite and indeterminate sentence, and then recommend on copies sent the parole board that parole be not given.

Asks Decision On 'Rum' Claim

OTTAWA (CP)—Gordon Higgins (PC—St. John's East) asked today in the Commons if a rum manufacturer would be breaking the law if he labelled his product as "good for chills and the circulation of the blood."

Speaking in the Commons during discussion of amendments to the Pure Food Act which prevent advertising of medicinal products as cures, Mr. Higgins said there is a fine Newfoundland navy rum which carries such a comment on the label of each bottle.

It also contained the statement that the contents were "approved by the faculty," though he had never been able to identify the faculty.

The Newfoundland member also wanted to know if Health Minister Martin would be competent to comment on a Newfoundland concoction called "screech."

Mr. Martin said he was not competent to comment on "screech." As for the labelling on the fine old navy rum, a certain "sense of humor" must be retained.

3,500 Affected In Building Canso Causeway

PORT HAWKESBURY, N.S (CP)—Every scoop of the huge shovels clawing rock for the Canso causeway also tears at the roots of three neighboring communities whose main industry is built around the transportation bottleneck that is the Strait of Canso.

A good guess is that about 3,500 persons will be affected by economic troubles when the $22,750,000 link between mainland Nova Scotia and Cape Breton Island is completed. Most work in the terminals for the present cross-strait ferries at Point Tupper and Port Hawkesbury on the Cape Breton shore, and Mulgrave, on the mainland.

Two-thirds of the full-time working force of Mulgrave is employed by the Canadian National Railways and the squat car ferries. At Port Hawkesbury and Point Tupper, 129 men are directly employed. Scores more who are transferable railway employees and others who find seasonable employment will be out of jobs when the crossing is opened for traffic, expected to be about December of 1954.

In small towns the size of these three this loss of income is serious. The provincial government has been approached and promised a commission to investigate the economic situation of the towns.

The three centres, meanwhile, are pressing for new industries to take up the slack.

MUST ACT SOON

Mayor Leo O'Neil of Mulgrave says there is "very little time" for the transition and any new industry should be opened about the same time as the causeway is completed. The town is willing to help train men for new jobs, and has reserved the school house for night classes if necessary.

Suggestions have included construction of a rail spur line into Mulgrave, a provincial government power plant to utilize coal for production and a pulp and paper mill.

Mayor Arthur Langley of Port Hawkesbury says his town has great possibilities if proper steps are taken to develop them.

"Port Hawkesbury, Point Tupper and Mulgrave are communities of home owners and that's a big factor for the future," he said.

For possible development the town has mentioned nearby gypsum and coal deposits, ideal sites for a naval base or shipbuilding plant, and more harbor business.

Small Explosion Starts Fire Quickly Snuffed By Men

A small explosion during a welding operation started a fire at 4 p.m. Monday at the Fisher Gauge Works, 194 Sophia Street.

Flames leaped six feet to a quantity of oil lying on the floor in a mixture of aluminum chips around a milling machine. Almost instantly the milling machine, still in operation, was enveloped by flames and gave off thick black smoke and a quantity of chlorine gas.

Workmen on the second floor of the Fisher Gauge building put out the flash blaze with extinguishers. Minor damage was caused to the milling machine and the ceiling was blackened.

Jack Davies of Juliet Rd. was doing a welding job on a melting pot when a pocket of gas formed in the metal causing a small explosion. A streak of flame jumped across to the oil-covered aluminum shaving around the milling machine and the flareup occurred.

Nobody was injured and the workmen had the blaze out before the firemen arrived.

Allowed To Drive Charge Quashed

KITCHENER (CP)—A charge of being intoxicated while in charge of a car collapsed in court today when an officer testified the accused had been allowed to drive his car to a police station.

Accused was George A. Auld.

Constable Alfred Herchenrader told the court how he followed, then stopped a car driven by a Kitchener man on March 24. This man later pleaded guilty to driving while his ability was impaired.

Auld was the owner of the car, and was a passenger, Herchenrader said, adding that Auld was also impaired.

Defence counsel P. J. Morris learned, under questioning, that Auld had been allowed to drive the car to the police station. This made Crown attorney Harold Daufman ask for dismissal of the charge, the assumption being that a man who was allowed to drive showed he was in a fit condition.

The charge was dismissed.

Three Americans Win U.K. Suit

LONDON (AP)—Three young Americans today were awarded the largest grant for damages ever made by a British court—£32,500—for the death of their parents in an air crash.

The award was to satisfy a claim on behalf of the children of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Ettlinger Michaels, of Highland Park, Ill. They were among 14 passengers killed when an RAF trainer plane and a British European Airways DC-3 collided over Coventry, England, in February, 1949.

The children are Joseph, 25, and Barbara, 22, who will share £26,700, and Stephen, 16, for whom £5,000 was set aside.

The court order allocated the other £800 to the executors.

Their lawyer, Sir Hartley Shawcross, told the court Stephen is of arrested mental development, with "no hope of any cure, and will always have the mentality of a nice child of about eight."

He told the court the dead father was a director of a steel and scrap business and had he lived would by now have been a millionaire.

Sees Labor Take Over U.K. Football Pools

OXFORD, England (Reuters)—Britain's next Labor government will probably take over the huge privately-run football sweepstakes and possibly the whole of the liquor industry to help to pay for social services, John Parker, Labor member of Parliament, said today.

Labor's policy for the next election will be a moderate one, including maintenance of high taxation and an extension of public ownership, he forecast at a conference organized by a university international committee.

Parker said that while no one wanted all industry to be publicly owned, there was a feeling in Labor circles that all large-scale industries should be taken over by the state.

B&PW Club Delegate To UN Miss E. Thornton Reports

Miss Esther Thornton is the first Peterborough woman to attend a session of the General Assembly and a Commission meeting at the United Nations. This distinction was made possible to her through the Business and Professional Women's Club of Peterborough, which sent her to New York for the first three days of this month.

Purpose of the seminar was to inform the delegates, and through them the members of B and P Clubs of Ontario, of the work being done by the United Nations. Miss Thornton, who is employed as a statitician at the Quaker Oats Company, was an excellent choice for this role as proven by her report to her club members at the dinner meeting evening.

So much information had been gathered by this delegate that it could not be condensed enough to give in one evening. She began with a preamble to the charter of UN signed in 1945 to show just what it was intended to accomplish in the organization. There are now 60 member countries, 10 more than originally, she remarked. Two billion people are thus represented by the proceedings.

Miss Thornton was in a group with 74 other business women delegates from Ontario clubs. They attended a session of the general Assembly and the Commission on the Status of women, and were addressed by the directors of various United Nation departments so that they did receive a composite picture of the many and varied activities carried on by the UN and its agencies. Their agenda was planned by the Canadian Mission and non-governmental organizations.

One small item of public interest which she emphasizes is that the veto, which seems to get so much publicity, can be made in the Security Council only. Decisions are made by a two-third vote and each country has one vote only, though it may have five representatives and five alternates. In the General Assembly, she explained, voting is three-way—for against or abstain—but the voter must be prepared to give a reason for abstinence.

It was satisfying to hear that the interpreters at United Nations are so expert they are able to give practically letter-perfect translations from memory. A french-speaking member of the women's group confirmed this herself.

The Economic and Social Council covers many aspects of life, Miss Thornton explained, and has a number of commissions under it, and some sub-commissions. UNICEF is one. Canada has never been on the comittee for human rights or the status of women commission, is not a member of the Security Council or the Trusteeship Council. It is on the disarmament commission, elected for a period of one year.

About the status of women commission she advised, it consists of 18 members, elected six per year for three year terms. It has been engaged in securing for women in all the countries the right to education, the right to own property and also the right to vote for women of Cuba and Ecuador recently. It is also working on the point of women's nationality following mariage to a man of another country.

A highlight of the seminar was the address by Miss Julia Henderson, only woman in a director's post at UN. She outlined the social problems—on a world basis. Miss Thornton found that tactics have now been changed to lay stress on self help. An example from Greece in the planting of trees to make lumber provided the reason for this.

UN helps with financing, but insists that the work done be lasting. UN is also trying to provide trained leadership but is yet pitifully behind the needed number—Indonesia has two where 6,000 are needed.

From her brief on non-governmental organizations at UN, Miss Thornton reported that this includes three large trade unions and women's organizations. This group provides expert opinion, and mass opinion.

Miss Thornton recommended to the meeting that a United Nations committee be appointed within the Business and Professional Women's Club of Peterborough and expressed willingness to act on the committee. She also recommended that the Club take out subscriptions to two magazines published by UN so that the committee may keep up with current proceedings each month.

A vote of thanks for the splendid report so far, (it is to be continued at the next meeting), was moved by Miss Sara Eastwood.

Business Follows B&PW Club Dinner

Dinner for the regular meeting of the Business and Professional Women's Club on Monday evening was prepared and served by the south group at the YWCA. Through a group system, this club monthly enjoys most tempting menus of all home-made food which adds to the very homey atmosphere in the club. Pink snapdragon were lovely on the buffet serving table and lighted candles were on the quartette dining table.

President Miss Alice Hardwicke conducted the business. There were 23 of the members present. In answer to a request the president informed that there are 55 members at present and four associate members. It is hoped to secure 10 new members during this year.

The club expressed its opinion on the Edible Oils Bill No. 71 by sending a telegram to Harold Scott, MPP, and Miss Esther Thornton said the club is not satisfied with the action taken by the government, outlining this briefly.

Clubs of the district are holding a "workshop" at Belleville on May 2 and the president and seven members expressed an intention of attending if their business duties will allow. Thirty members are going by chartered bus to Lindsay on April 27 for a Canadian ballet revue sponsored by the Lindsay club. Miss Hardwicke and Mrs. Jean Watson will attend a meeting of the Children's Aid Society in Peterborough on May 7 and other members were invited also.

GOOD HOT OR COLD

WITH THAT FAMOUS NESTLE'S SWISS CHOCOLATE FLAVOUR

MARY MOORE SAYS:

Spaghetti And Macaroni Served As Supper Dishes

One of the many reasons for the popularity of Italian paste dishes is the readiness with which they absorb and take on the flavors of all of the ingredients added to them.

Take for instance spaghetti and meat balls with Italian Tomato Sauce. I think this dish is a nuisance to make, for first you have to chop onions and celery and saute them. Then you make your hands all gooey mixing the meat balls. Then you saute them. Then you go on adding tomatoes and seasonings to the pan. Then the spaghetti has to be cooked. After that cheese has to be grated unless you buy packaged grated Parmeson or ordinary cheese It's a pestiferous dish to make. But—oh how the family loves that superb blend of flavors. Their beaming faces make it worth all of the trouble.

Another good thing about it is this: I make up 2 pounds of meat into meat balls and I make an extra large amount of the sauce. For the first meal I cook only enough spaghetti for it. Then, about two days later I serve the leftover meat balls and sauce on a bed of hot fluffy rice. That meal is very easy to prepare

EMEM'S SPAGHETTI AND MEAT BALLS

(enough meat and sauce for 2 meals)

One cup each chopped onions and celery (include the leaves), 2 tablespoons drippings or cooking oil, 2 pounds ground beef, 2 eggs, 3 slices white bread, 2-3 cup boiling water, ½ chopped clove garlic, 1 teaspoon salt, ⅛ teaspoon pepper. Saute onions and the celery in the fat but do not brown them. In a large bowl add the eggs to the meat. Soak the bread in the boiling water and when water is soaked up break it up with hands and add to the meat. Add the chopped garlic, and salt and pepper. Form the meat into small 1½-inch balls and drop them into the frying pan with onions and celery pushed to one side and turn them until they are browned on all sides. Now you can add canned tomatoes (1 28-oz. tin) or 3 cups peeled chopped fresh tomatoes or 3 cups tomato juice, or 1 can (12-oz.) Italian tomato paste and 2½ cups water. If you like you can add ¼ cup finely chopped parsley and 1 teaspoon sugar and 1 teaspoon Worcestershire sauce I did. I used the can of tomatoes. Bring to boiling, reduce heat, cover and simmer about 45 minutes to 1 hour. Twenty-five minutes before serving time, boil ½ lb. spaghetti or noodles in plenty of salted water to (serve 4) until tender. Drain and serve right onto dinner plates. Give each plate about 3 meat balls, spoon some of the sauce over it and sprinkle with grated cheese. A big salad goes well with this.

As I suggested above put away the leftover meat balls and sauce and serve two or three days later on a bed of fluffy rice.

MACARONI AND CHEESE

(for meatless meal)

When I serve macaroni and cheese to boost the protein content of the meal because I am not serving meat I add 3 hard-cooked eggs to it. See if you like the sound of this. One-half of an 8-ounce package of macaroni, 4 tablespoon butter or margarine, 4 tablespoon flour, ⅛ teaspoon each dry mustard and pepper, ½ teaspoon salt, 1 teaspoon grated onion, 2 cups milk (reliquefied skim milk powder is fine in this), about ¼ to ½ lb. grated and sliced process cheese. Cook macaroni until tender in plenty of boiling salted water. Make sauce. With top of double boiler over direct heat melt butter in it, add onion and gently cook for 2 minutes, then stir in the flour, mustard, salt and pepper. Stir in the milk until thick. Add cheese and place over boiling water to keep hot and melt cheese. When macaroni is tender, drain it and add to the cheese sauce. Have ready 3 hard-cooked eggs, peeled. Put half the macaroni mixture into a large buttered casserole, slice the eggs over it. Cover with remaining macaroni. Top with ¾ cup fine buttered crumbs. Bake at about 400 deg. Fahr. for 30 minutes, or until bubbling and flecked with brown.

DOROTHY DIX:

Good Samaritan Finds Caught In Pile Of Bills

DEAR MISS DIX: A year ago a lady in her 30's moved into our neighborhood. She kept very much to herself, and no one knew anything about her. A few weeks ago, I noticed that her house was unusually quiet and, sensing trouble, went over with my husband to investigate. We found the woman unconscious on the floor. We called a doctor who said she had had a stroke. She is paralyzed on one side and has lost the power of speech. We have cared for her since, feeding her and making her comfortable. I have no objection to doing what nursing I can, but now we seem to be stuck with her bills. The gas and electric bills have come in, the doctor has sent us his bill and, in addition, we have been paying for her food. Since my husband's salary is small, I feel we can't attend to these things much longer. If we send her to a hospital, we're responsible for that bill, too. I spoke to our minister who said we were being wonderful and would be well repaid for what we are doing, but had no further advice.

The situation is making a nervous wreck of me.

JUST A NEIGHBOR.

❖ ❖ ❖

ANSWER: I am struck with the lack of sympathetic consideration given by the two professional men who should have been most helpful in your peculiar situation. Both your doctor and minister could, it seems to me, have offered a concrete solution to the problem. There is no reason why you should be responsible for the physical and financial care of a woman who is but a casual acquaintance. You've done a wonderful job for her so far, but shouldering her bills is more than could be expected. If her mind is clear, and she has the use of one hand at least, she could write out the names and addresses of any relatives. Apparently, however, she either has no family, or prefers to keep them out of the picture. Failing to find kinfolk, the next step is to appeal to a welfare agency. Find out what hospital will take the woman without charge. There are many of them; the doctor certainly should have offered this solution. I'm sure that you won't neglect the lady once the financial burden is lifted, and you will certainly be rewarded by God for the comfort you have given this woman. She is sorely in need of a friend and that role you have filled admirably.

❖ ❖ ❖

DEAR MISS DIX: For five years I have been taking piano lessons, which I enjoy very much. Last night my father told me that I must make an important decision: either I continue to work at the piano in an effort to make the stage my career, or stop piano and go out dancing, etc., with the kids my age. I am 16. I love the piano, but don't feel like slaving away at it to the exclusion of all other pleasure. It's a hard decision to make.

ANSWER: It's a hard decision, and a most unreasonable one to be forced upon you. There's no sense at all in plugging away in hopes of a stage career unless your piano teacher thinks you have unusual talent. Ask him frankly if he believe this to be the case, and make his decision known to your father. Its extremely unlikely that a musical career is your future; the talent for it is very rare and is usually discovered before 16.

If, even against the advice of an authority, your father persists in his conviction that you must work at music to the exclusion of everything else, I would suggest that you forego lessons, at least for the present, and set to work earning money to pay for them yourself.

DEAR MISS DIX: I've known a boy for two months. He's in service, comes to see me every week-end, and has asked me to marry him. He wants me to go to his base and be married in the chapel there.

ANSWER: Don't! Rushing headlong into marriage with a boy you scarcely know is the height of foolishness. Better break off with him before his importunate wooing leads you to a disastrous situation.

Liquor Store? No, Court Just Evidence

Magistrate's court took on a resemblance to a liquor outlet store today as Provincial Police ushered in 152 pints of beer and ale, assorted cartons, 15 quarts of liquor and nine quarts of wine; evidence in liquor charges against Ted Robert Rosebush of R.R. 1, Coe Hill.

By the time the crown case was presented, the courtroom floor and magistrates bench was littered with half-full bottles, half-empty cases and other containers of liquid evidence.

Provincial Police Constable John McKendry identified the exhibits. Three of the quart wine bottles were found in Rosebush's mail box; two half-full liquor bottles were discovered in the snow around his house; several mix and beer bottles were found around the first and second floors of the defendant's home.

TRAP DOOR

A trap door, concealed by cordwood eventually led a party of five police officers to the main supply, however. PC Gordon Gray descended stairs into a cellar and found two bags, one containing 12 pints and the second, eight pints of ale; a quart each of gin, whiskey and rum on the steps, and in the cellar proper, two quarts of rum, seven of rye, six of wine, two of gin, and 132 pints of beer and ale.

Rosebush had made two comments to PC McKendry before the liquor was discovered, said the constable. One was: "There's no liquor here; you know I'm not allowed to have it"; and the second: "There's no cellar in this house."

The charge on which Rosebush appeared in this morning was keeping liquor for sale. Only crown evidence was heard.

Residents of the area, Joseph Woods and Jarvis Campbell testified they had seen Rosebush March 1 while driving down the road. Woods had asked the accused if he had anything to drink; Rosebush said no.

They stopped briefly, turned around in Rosebush's yard and headed for Rosevere's store, a distance of three miles. After purchasing groceries, they continued on and soon both discovered a bottle of liquor on the car seat between them. Neither had any idea where it came from.

An incidental to their evidence was that they consumed some of the liquor, got stuck in the snow and were overcome by carbon monoxide gas, waking up in the hospital in the afternoon of the following day.

Brian Campbell of Rose Island who discovered the pair, was cleaning out the car and threw a bottle to the roadside. When as

Gov't Nursery School Cares For Small Children

OAXACA—The Federal and States governments operate a special nursery school in Oaxaca for the children of the very poor. Mothers who have to work bring their youngsters at 8 a.m. and call for them at 5 p.m. every day but Sunday.

* * * *

At present there are 50 children from 3 to 6 years in the school, There is no charge and the youngsters are given lunch, baths, haircuts, they study, are taught to play and sing and receive good rest and medical care.

* * * *

The school is housed in one of the most modern buildings in the city. There are plenty of big windows allowing light and air and many of the rooms open onto big grounds, bright with flowers and trees.

* * * *

The school which was opened in 1936 is now under the principalship of Mrs. Esther Diaz, who has been there about 4½ years. Originally the children were given other meals but high overhead costs forced them to curtail.

* * * *

GIVEN MEDICAL CARE

There are nice little cots in airy rooms for the children to have their rest periods. These naps last according to the child's needs. If a youngster is taken ill, he or she is given first aid and then they wait for the parents to take them home. There they are looked after by the Department of Health and receive medicines. There is no cost involved for the either. It is hoped before too long to establish another nursery school near the market to care for the vendors' children.

* * * *

The youngsters eat at 1:30 p.m. and their meals are carefully balanced. Usually the menus include a soup, salad, beans, fruit, vegetables and dessert. The day I was there I sampled an excellent chocolate dessert.

* * * *

Back of the dining room there are washrooms with little basins just the height of the toddlers. There is a special barbershop too. The girls wear attractive little red gingham dresses and the boys have beige shirts and long trousers. One little boy presented me with a corsage from their flowerbeds.

* * * *

PLAY AT WRESTLING

These small youngsters have had a lot of fun out of seeing the wrestlers and in their play periods they are busy making masks to imitate such characters as "The Masked Marvel". They also were quite amused at the Pan American races, their teachers said.

* * * *

Because she works for the State, Mrs. Diaz receives only 275 Pesos ($35) a month. But she gets her meals at the school. Other teachers who are employed by the Federal government receive about 400 pesos ($50) a month. This is a basic salary because like Canadians there are deductions for various things such as unions, pensions etc.

* * * *

The last I saw of these happy young charges was when they trotted off to the classroom with the piano and as I headed down the street a quavering song floated on the breeze.

* * * *

The Governor of the State of Oaxaca and I attended an impressive ceremony honoring the flag and the army, he in his official capacity and I as an interested onlooker.

* * * *

The occasion was a special day sponsored by the Lions Clubs in Mexico. In Oaxaca, a famous singer, Mercedes Caraza, was the guest of honor. She brought a flag from Mexico City to be presented to Oaxaca and it was paraded into the large theatre to a special tatoo on the army bugles.

* * * *

The stage was most colorful. Several children were ranged in a semi-circle, each with one of the bright red, green and white flags. On one side sentries stood rigidly at attention. There are five galleries in a horseshoe shape around the sides of the theatre. At the back top were the governor, the mayor and other officials. The sides glittered with army brass. Hundreds of school children and soldiers packed the galleries and the main floor.

* * * *

IMPORTANCE OF PATRIOTISM

In front of the theatre was the state band directed by Professor Diego Innes. They played several numbers opening with "The Light Brigade". The singer, Miss Caraza, was presented to the troops and the children and she spoke briefly paying tribute to the great deeds of the army in Mexican history. She urged the children to help their country and develop their patriotism to a high degree without hope of reward. Miss Caraza said that it was an important civic virtue to serve the country unselfishly.

* * * *

Four young soldiers presented her with a huge basket of flowers and a smaller bouquet. As each was kissed on both cheeks, their buddies and the youngsters let out a gleeful howl.

* * * *

The singer sang three numbers: "Ojes Tapatios", "Cielito Lindo," and "Rondalla". As an encore she sang the hauntingly beautiful "Mixteca Song". Mexicans tell me if they hear this song when they are out of their own country or even away from their home state or city, it always brings tears to their eyes.

Booklet Shows Comparative Costs Of Railway

Canadian National Railways has issued a booklet entitled "Compare, Compare" which with illustrations points up the cost of running a railway. Typical comparisons:

Urges Immediate Injury Reports

TORONTO (CP)—Workmen injured on the job who need quick compensation should let their employers and the workmen's compensation board of Ontario know at once, E. E. Sparrow, chairman of the board, said Monday.

In an address to the annual conference of the Industrial Accident Prevention Associations, he said a recent survey of 1,000 consecutive claims showed 460 injured workmen got initial payments of compensation more than two weeks after suffering injuries because they, or their employers, were slow in turning in accident reports.

Of the 1,000 claims 137 were delayed by workmen and another 142 by employers.

Referring to on-the-job injuries resulting in fatalities, Mr. Sparrow said newspapers have been printing reports that such fatalities had increased drastically in 1952 over 1951.

Actually, he said, only seven more such fatalities were reported to the board in 1951 than in 1952 although 40,000 additional men had come under the board's jurisdiction. The 1952 fatality figure was 428, the 1951 figure, 421.

The R. B. Morley Trophy for safety was awarded to Northern Electrical Company of Belleville. The company has had 2,600,000 accident-free man-hours.

Leafs' Scouting System Best In World—Sid Smith

"The Toronto Maple Leafs have one of the greatest scouting systems in the world," Sid Smith, a Leaf player for the past seven years, said during an address at the Rotary luncheon meeting on Monday.

The well-known Toronto-born hockey player named this scouting system and emphasis on teamwork play as the two major factors responsible for the Maple Leafs success in the past few years— Stanley Cup winners four times since 1948.

"It's true you don't find the league's high scorers on our team," Mr. Smith said, "but instead our play is based on teamwork. Each player is a cog in a machine and it has paid off."

OUTLINE SYSTEM

A left-winger with the Leafs for the past seven years, Mr. Smith is well-acquainted with the team's scouting system. He briefly outlined how it works.

A recent ruling prevents the National Hockey League signing up a young hockey player until he is 18. Formerly the age limit was 16. However this age limit doesn't prevent Leaf scouts, who are situated all over Canada and United States, from helping and watching promising youngsters.

Players picked by the scouts are sent to hockey school at the age of 13 or 14 years. They also go to the Leafs' training camp in St. Catharines. The development of the youngsters is carefully watched and if by the time they are 18 they show promise of good hockey material they are signed up. Their first step after this is usually to one of the Ontario Hockey Association teams, the Toronto Marlboros or the St. Michael's College team. From here they may play a year with the Ottawa Senators, a team with which the Leafs have a working agreement.

The next step is to the Leafs' farm team, Pittsburgh.

"This system means that a hockey player is 23 or 24 before he makes the big leagues," Mr. Smith said.

BIG BUSINESS

Another strong point, the speaker made in his speech, is the growth of professional hockey in the past few years to an extent where it compares with the largest commercial enterprises.

This growth is shown in the increase from 48 to 70 games a season in the past seven years; the doubling of players play-off cuts and the introduction of pension plans for players. Another major part of the development is the increasing use of moving pictures of games for the benefit of both players and management. This use of moving pictures has gone hand in hand with increased stress on the keeping of records—of the time spent on the ice by each player, the number of goals players score and the number of goals scored against them while on the ice.

Another interesting feature of Mr. Smith's address was his outline of a player's day in the Leaf's training camp in St. Catharines.

EARLY START

The players are awakened at 6.30 a.m. They have to be in the hotel lobby at 6.45 in gym clothes and then go for a 15-minute walk around the city. Breakfast is next and then a half hour to themselves. They then report to the park where they do stomach and leg exercises, followed by a workout from 10.30 to 12 at the rink. Lunch is served at 12.30.

The players are divided in half for the afternoon. One half spends another hour at the rink and the remainder often have free time which is usually spent playing golf. Supper is served at 6 p.m. and the players then have a free evening with lights out at 11.

In his concluding remarks Mr. Smith named hockey as a good career.

"Hockey holds a great future for a young lad," he said.

Mr. Smith was introduced by Dr. Donald Aitken and thanked by Dr. Ralph Smyth.

The Rotarians had two speakers at their Monday meeting. The second one was Mrs. Benita Shields of the Community Concerts Inc. of New York.

Mrs. Shields is in Peterborough to help with the Local Community Concert Series tickets sales campaign which is taking place this week.

She congratulated Peterborough on its support of the series for more than 10 years and said that there was hopes that Anna Russell, famed music comedienne, would be on the Peterborough 1953-54 series.

Mrs. Shields was introduced by Miss Musa Cox, supervisor of music in city public schools.

Plan New Course For PS Teachers

TORONTO (CP)—The Ontario department of education is planning a new course to train teachers for elementary schools.

The course, to start in the seven normal schools in September, is aimed at helping to overcome the teacher shortage without lowering standards.

The department plans to allow grade 12 graduates to cut out the final year in high school and go straight to a teachers' college for a two-year course in professional and general subjects.

In the new course, general education will consist of English, geography and child psychology and other courses will include, school organization and teaching methods. The second year includes English literature, social studies, religious education and history. Practice teaching will be on the curriculum in both years.

Oshawa May Hold Vote On Liquor

OSHAWA—No action will be taken on a Westmount district petition asking for a liquor vote until the petition is certified by City Solicitor John Hare.

The petition which bears 1,417 signatures, asks that a vote be taken on three questions: women's beverage rooms, men's beverage rooms and the sale of beer and wine with meals on licenced premises.

Referring to allegations that some signatures had been obtained by false representation, the solicitor pointed out "the signatures must be counted if they have the proper qualifications. No signatures may be withdrawn."

Mayor John Naylor termed it the petition because of misrepresentations "unfortunate" if names were on the petition.

Militant Religion Said West's Best Weapon

WINDSOR, Ont. (CP) — Hon. M. C. Davies, speaker of the Ontario legislature, said Monday a militant religion is the strongest weapon the free nations can employ in waging opposition to communism.

The Progressive Conservative member for Windsor-Walkerville who also is rector of St. George's Anglican church here was addressing the annual inter-city meeting of Windsor and Detroit Rotarians.

"Talk to a Communist," Mr. Davies said, "and you will soon learn he is not ashamed of what he believes."

"We seem never too sure of what our beliefs are."

Wallaceburg Workers Threaten To Walk Out

WALLACEBURG (CP)—As one strike here remained unsettled, nearly 50 workers of the Dominion Die Casting plant here have threatened to walk off their jobs at midnight Wednesday unless union and management reach a settlement in a contract dispute.

Workers continued to picket the National Pressure Cooker company of Canada plant with no indication of a settlement between company and union.

Members of the UAW-CIO local No. 251 at the die casting plant voted unanimously Saturday to walk out unless agreement was reached and notice went to the company the same day.

Accident Free Record

ST. THOMAS (CP)—Breaking all records established during recent years, this city Monday marked its 500th day without a fatal traffic accident. Statistics compiled by the traffic division of the St. Thomas police department show the last accident within the city limits resulting in death was on Dec. 7, 1951.

Never Stop Courting, Go To Bed Early You May Live To Be Married 60 Years

TORONTO (CP)—Never stop courting and always go to bed the same day you get up and you may some day achieve 60 years of wedded bliss.

That's the advice given by Mr. and Mrs. H. A. Talbot who recently celebrated their 60th wedding anniversary at their suburban Leaside home.

"An aunt told me that secret just before we were married," said Mrs. Talbot.

"So we never stopped courting and we know it works."

This year also marks half a century in Canada for the Talbots Mr. Talbot was born in Wales and raised in Worcestershire. His wife is a Staffordshire woman.

They met 62 years ago in Sunday School, when he was 18 and his wife, the former Emily Elizabeth Riley, 16.

Mr. Talbot was a glass-cutter both in England and Toronto until he retired 30 years ago.

They have two sons, H.H. Talbot, former mayor of Leaside, and Charles A. Talbot of Toronto; seven grandchildren and six great-grandchildren.

Boy Tossed From Car

BURLINGTON (CP) — A five-months-old boy was tossed from an automobile Monday when it crashed into a guard rail near here. The parents escaped unhurt. Douglas Slade suffered severe head injuries in the accident. Police said they chased the speeding car for several miles before it piled up on the guard rail on the Queen Elizabeth Way. They identified the car driver as F. Fox of Lakeview.

See Government Setting $1.40 Price On Wheat

OTTAWA (CP)—Within the next two weeks the government plans to announce initial prices for grains for the new crop year and indications are that the basic wheat price will be set at $1.40 a bushel for No. 1 northern—unchanged from a year ago.

The experts, pondering what preliminary price the Canadian wheat board should pay Western wheat farmers in the crop year opening Aug. 1, have decided there is no reason for a reduction even though Britain, Canada's biggest customer has walked out of the international wheat agreement and the range of her prospective purchases is still unknown.

However, there may be some change in the initial price on coarse grains. The market for oats in the new crop year is clouded by the fact that the United States government is considering placing restrictions on imports. Canada, in the 1952 calendar year, sold the U.S. some 73,000,000 bushels valued at $61,000,000.

American restrictions could, therefore, have a sharp impact on Canadian sales and prices.

Trade Minister Howe touched on the grain situation in the Commons Monday when he informed Hazen Argue (CCF-Assiniboia) that the matter of initial prices was under study and that an announcement will be made when the government's position was clarified.

Mr. Howe also told the House that an international wheat agreement will be definitely in effect for the next three years.

Dead Beside Car

LONDON, Ont. (CP)—William Henry Lyon, 65-year-old Thorndale man, was found by two boys lying dead beside his car on No. 2 Highway Monday at Forest Lawn Memorial Gardens about five miles east of here. He is believed to have pulled his car to the side of the road, stopped and got out before he collapsed.

ARGENTINE BLAST SITE—Workmen clear debris from a wrecked subway car at the Plaza de Mayo station in Buenos Aires, Argentina, where a bomb exploded as President Juan D. Peron spoke at a meeting less than 300 feet away. Five persons were killed by the blast and seven were injured. Peron vowed to capture the persons responsible and hang them.

French Municipal Elections Will Show Political Trends

By HAROLD KING

PARIS (Reuters)—French men and women will go to the polls next Sunday to elect some 466,800 municipal councillors in 30,000 "communes" — and at the same time give French politicians an inkling as to what way the political wind is blowing.

Only 425 of the towns and villages concerned, including Paris, have more than 9,000 inhabitants. But these may have a general political significance.

IMPORTANCE ATTACHED

French political parties attach much importance to the municipal elections, and by mutual consent all parties agreed to adjourn parliament at the end of March until May 12, to leave politicians free to campaign in the municipalities.

Chief prize is the mayor's chair in each municipality, since he has great political influence even though he is not always a member of the strongest party in the municipal council.

Municipal councillors, too, form part of the body of electors who help to choose the senators.

In the last municipal elections in October, 1947, the Gaullist movement was at he height of its popularity and polled nearly 40 per cent of the total vote.

This time, it is probable that the votes will be differently distributed, with the conservatives—Independents, Peasants, Dissident Gaullist—increasing their share of the vote at the expense of the Gaullists.

The Socialists were privileged in the distribution of the office of mayor in 1947, because they often played the party of arbitrators between Communists and Gaullists when it came to electing the mayor. They are expected to maintain their position this time.

The current Moscow peace moves may help them use their opposition to the European Army Treaty and German rearmament to argue that German rearmament would be a provocation towards Russia at a time when Moscow appears to want to talk "peace."

INTER-PARTY ALLIANCES

Outside the big towns, inter-party alliances are expected to go far this year. The Gaullists are linking hands with the Mouvement Republician Populaire, the Radicals or the Independents against the Communists.

As a result, observers expect the Communists to lose seats. But they wonder whether they will lose votes to any appreciable extent.

The total Communist vote has remained steady about 25 per cent of the total electorate since the end of the war.

Many observers ascribe the steady vote for Communists to the fact that many Frenchmen have felt that all other parties were "government" and voted for the "opposition."

With the Socialists an "opposition" party for the last two years there may be a shift of vote from the Communists to the Socialists.

Alex C. Givens, Newspaperman Dies In Toronto

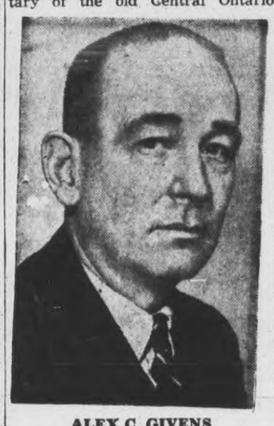
TORONTO (CP) — Alexander Charles Givens, 52, longtime newspaper man who, for the last 2½ years, has been executive administrator of the Atkinson Charitable Foundation died Monday. He was executive editor of the Toronto Star for two years prior to his appointment as administrator Oct. 30, 1950.

Mr. Givens joined the Star as a deskman in 1933. Prior to that he was, successively, reporter and editorial executive on the Kingston British Whig; editor of the Canadian Freeman, national Catholic weekly; manager of weekly newspapers in the Niagara district; and on the staff of Hugh C. MacLean Publications Limited in Toronto.

After several years in various Star editorial positions, including those of telegraph editor and news editor, he covered municipal politics for several years. He also worked on major assignments in Canada and the United States.

BOSSED COVERAGE

He was in charge of the Star's reporting and photographic staff at the first Quebec conference, supervised the Star's coverage of Quebec province in the last federal election, and headed the Star's staff at the Marian Congress in Ottawa and the Guay murder case in Quebec.



His appointment as executive administrator followed the acceptance by the provincial and federal governments of the Atkinson Charitable Foundation as a recognized charity.

His studies of the operation of similar charitable organizations in the U.S. enabled him to help plan the early grants undertaken by the foundation as pilot studies in that field.

KINGSTON HOME

Mr. Givens earned his way through Queen's University in his native city of Kingston by working in the shipyards. In later years he remained a card-carrying member of the Steel Shipbuilders' Union he joined in his student days.

While in Kingston he was secretary of the old Central Ontario

ALEX C. GIVENS

Baseball League, was active in the promotion and management of sports and in civic welfare organizations, an interest he maintained throughout his life.

He was a Roman Catholic, a member of the Knights of Columbus and of the Holy Name Society.

Surviving besides his widow, the former Mary Doyle of Portsmouth, Ont., are a daughter, Katherine, and a son, Alexander Desmond, at home; a sister, Mrs. C. J. Gordon of Kingston, and two brothers, Walter B. Givens of Oshawa and Dr. John McClure of Hartford, Conn.

Australian Farmer Starts Bottling Milk Of 100 Goats

SYDNEY, Australia (CP)—Gowan MacDonald has started a new business in this big dairying state of New South Wales by running a farm to provide bottled goats' milk.

Plenty of people keep goats as a hobby or sideline, especially in Australia's dry areas where there sometimes isn't enough grass to keep cows going, but Miss MacDonald says she is the only person here in the business as a dairy farmer.

She keeps nearly 100 goats, all pedigreed white Saanens, worth anything up to £70 each. Thirty of them are now milking and producing 15 gallons a day. The milk retails at almost twice the price of cows' milk.

Miss MacDonald says that although the price is higher, she had had letters from hundreds of mothers who say that they have found the milk a remedy for infantile eczema, undernourishment, whooping cough and other children's complaints.

Her leading milker — Brighton Snow White III—she calls her Snow—has produced 370 gallons of milk in 365 days. Miss MacDonald says that her goats are so gentle that she never has to tether them. In fact, she says: "They could show many human beings the real meaning of understanding and co-operation."

1,500 Died On Marches PoWs Report

Frozen On Highways Or Starved In Huts Wounded Declare

MUNSAN, Korea (AP)—Sick and wounded Allied soldiers who have come back from the Communist prison stockades of North Korea this week reported the death of perhaps 1,500 comrades on forced marches and in hunger-ridden camps.

Their grim tales of death beside a freezing highway or starvation in unheated Korean huts reminded Americans of the report of Col. James Hanley late in 1951. He said more than 6,000 Americans had died in captivity.

Many, the 8th army judge advocate said, were killed by their captors.

Less than a month later the United Nations issued a report from Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway placing the figure at closer to 8,000.

APPROXIMATELY 1,500

The first 65 Americans and 235 other Allies returned by the Reds in the first three days of the exchange of sick and wounded prisoners reported the deaths of approximately 1,500.

Another 55 Americans have been promised back in the exchange and 250 more from other Allied units.

Their tales may run the figure higher.

At the time the United Nations command exchanged prisoner lists with the Communists in December, 1951, approximately 12,000 American soldiers were listed as missing in action by the department of defence.

The Communists announced they held 3,100 American prisoners or roughly 25 per cent.

RESULTANT DEATHS

Death from wounds, starvation and exposure had accounted for most of the remaining 75 per cent.

UN losses—bodies ground under tanks, or vanishing in the thunder of cannon fire, have been comparatively less in this war than in others, mainly because that kind of warfare has been limited.

Probably less than 1,000 reported missing in action actually disappeared without anyone knowing what happened to them.

Fourteen more Americans—possibly including recently-wounded Marines—were promised by the Communists for delivery Thursday.

OTHERS PROMISED

In addition to the 14 Americans, the Reds said they would return five Australians and six Colombians, plus 75 South Koreans.

Observers said it was possible the Colombians were attached to the U.S. 7th division and were captured when Old Baldy hill on the western front was seized by the Reds a few weeks ago.

A Communist correspondent said both U.S. 1st marine division and 7th division sick and wounded would be among those exchanged this week.

MORE THAN FOUR HUNDRED EMPLOYEES of the Quaker Oats Company went on strike at 10:00 a.m. today and lined the front of the plant on Hunter Street Bridge, Top Photo. Picket Lines Formed At Factory

Meeting Called To Discuss Strike Procedure

Production employees of the Peterborough plant of the Quaker Oats Co. went out on strike at 10 a.m. today and within a few minutes had formed picket lines at the front and rear of the plant and at the end of the parking lot beneath the Hunter St. bridge.

William Triggs, president of local 293 of the United Packinghouse Workers of America (CIO-CCL) instructed the majority of the workers to go home and attend a meeting at 3 p.m. at the Peterborough Labor Centre hall to discuss strike procedure. Two men from each department were left on picket duty at the plant.

Lewis H. Ingram, vice-president of the company, announced at 12:45 p.m. today that a meeting had been held with the union's strike committee this morning. It was agreed that all salaried people may come and go through the picket lines without hindrance so that the office staff will continue to work at the offices as usual.

NO MANUFACTURING

Meanwhile there is to be no processing or manufacturing of any kind at the plant. Foremen and department managers are carrying out plant security.

Mr. Ingram said that Sam Hughes, Eastern director of the UPWA, had attended a meeting with management Tuesday and had asked that a further meeting be held next Monday with Fred Dowling, national head of UPWA, so that there will be no further negotiations until then.

Union officials announced that the strike committee would meet representatives of company management some time today to discuss safety measures including fire protection, the posting of men on duty at the power house and boiler room, an engineer and an electrician. They said the company would probably use its own foremen as night watchmen.

EXPECT NO TROUBLE

Mr. Triggs, who estimated that between 400 and 450, close to 99 per cent, of the production workers at the plant had gone on strike, said that no trouble was expected on the picket lines.

Late this afternoon Canadian Press reported that at Saskatoon where the other Canadian factory of the Quaker Oats Company is located the production workers were still at work. On Monday night the Saskatoon workers authorized their union to call a strike.

Alderman William Beggs, local staff representative of the UPWA, said pickets had been posted to prevent the company from loading trucks and there would be no trouble as long as the company didn't try to operate.

U.S. Must Make Concessions To Get Peace

PARIS (AP)—Top ranking ministers of the 14 North Atlantic Treaty countries arrived in Paris today for a NATO council meeting at which the United States will make a strong bid to bring German troops into the defence of Europe.

U. S. State Secretary John Foster Dulles led the Eisenhower administration's contingent into the French capital.

"Perhaps we have a few new ideas on how to make NATO a success," Dulles remarked as he got off the plane. He said he would "discuss them with our partners."

The European Defence Treaty, which would bring German troops into a 2,000,000-European Army, is scheduled to get lots of attention at the conference.

The United States government has thrown its full support behind the plan for the European Defence Community, which has encountered stiff opposition in some countries, particularly France.

While American officials publicly say that there is no alternative to EDC, they have let it be known privately that now they may be ready to look at other plans if it isn't ratified soon.

One plan mentioned here would bring West Germany directly into NATO itself.

UN May Demand More PoWs Back At Special Meeting

PANMUNJOM, Korea—(AP)—The UN command tonight called for a meeting with Communist liaison officers, Thursday, touching off speculation that the Allies might again ask the Reds to return more disabled captives. The UN prisoners already freed have told of many sick and injured Americans and other prisoners still in Communist prison stockades. The official announcement said only that the meeting was called "to discuss matters in connection with the current repatriation operations."

The session is set for 10 a. m. (8 p. m. Wednesday EST), an hour after the Reds start turning over 14 more Americans and 86 other UN and South Korean prisoners. The exchange began Monday.

BITTER ACCOUNTS

American and UN captives in Japan on their way home Wednesday added bitter new accounts to the stories of death in Communist stockades and on brutal marches. AP correspondent Robert Eunson said the figures add up to 1,500 dead.

The Reds, meanwhile, made propaganda capital of the sick and wounded exchange, describing prisoners returning from Allied camps as "mutilated, emaciated wrecks."

The request for Thursday's special liaison session was unexpected. Full-scale negotiations on over-all prisoner exchange, the last major barrier to a Korean armistice, are to resume Saturday.

VERY SMALL LIST

Observers here pointed out that when the Communists said they would return 605 UN prisoners, including about 120 Americans, the UN command called the figure "incredibly small." Since then there have been increasing indications that the Reds are not honoring their agreement to exchange all sick and wounded.

The UN command was believed to have about 200 additional Chinese sick and wounded at Pusan.

NO MERCY

In Tokyo a sergeant from Oklahoma said tonight U.S. soldiers were "punched with bayonets, clubbed with rifle buts and left to die," by their Communist captors on a bitter 13-day march through North Korea in sub-zero cold. "I saw men that looked like they couldn't go any further shoved over embankments and left to die," said Sgt. Odie Lawley of Medicine Park, Okla. "Lots of men just dropped while they were walking. The Communists shoved them off the road and left them to die."

Lawley's story and those of other men under teatment in army hospitals here added new horror to the accounts of brutal Red death marches which cost the lives of nearly 1,000 Allied soldiers.

Say Contractor Paid $71,800 To Liberal MP

TORONTO (CP)—The Telegram says today in a copyright story from Regina that in November, 1950, Austin E. Dewar, Liberal MP for Qu'Appelle, received cheques from the Harvey Lunam Construction Company totalling $71,800.

The Lunam company had received a number of government contracts to erect buildings in Saskatchewan and because of financial difficulty was unable to complete them. At the current session of the House of Commons John Diefenbaker, Progressive Conservative MP for Lake Centre, charged that building material suppliers had been defrauded of over $150,000.

The Telegram's Regina dispatch, by staff writer Judith Robinson who has been in Saskatchewan for some time investigating the case, says that sub-contractors claim their loss on these contracts is approximately $230,000. They have sought payment from the department of public works, and have been told by Works Minister Fournier that the government has met its obligations in paying the Lunam company.

Mr. Dewar is listed in the parliamentary guide as a contractor. The Telegram story does not say whether or not he acted as a subcontractor on construction work undertaken by the Lunam company.

The story says the cheques concerned, cancelled after being cashed, are held by a Regina lawyer, a Lunam creditor, who seized records of the Lunam company when it went into bankruptcy.

Hint McKenzie To Get Post

TORONTO (CP)—A Toronto paper says in a newspage story today that 32-year-old L. M. McKenzie, former factory inspector with the Ontario government, will be appointed athletic commissioner for the province.

The newspaper quotes a government spokesman as saying Mr. McKenzie was chosen from among 40-odd applicants for the post, left vacant by the death of A. W. (Fred) Steele.

Mr. McKenzie was appointed temporary commissioner when Mr. Steele died at the year end.

Howie Meeker, member of Parliament for Waterloo South and a rightwinger with Toronto Maple Leafs of the National Hockey League, was one of the applicants for the job, the story says.

4-Point Plan To Cut Defence Costs

LONDON (AP)—About 200 distinguished citizens of seven North Atlantic treaty countries Tuesday night issued a four-point plan intended to "give us better defence at less cost."

Gen. George C. Marshall, Henry Ford II, British philosopher Lord Russell (Bertrand Russell) and Edouard Herriot, president of the French National Assembly, were among the signers.

Their plea took the form of an open letter to fellow citizens in the United States, Britain, France, Canada, Belgium, Holland and Luxembourg—and to the men who will represent those countries at a meeting of the 14-power NATO council opening in Paris Thursday.

The letter proposed:

1. The ministers attending the Paris meeting issue a joint declaration calling for lower tariffs and elimination of trade and currency restrictions.

2. NATO take over the functions of all international agencies engaged in economic activities "wherever such actions would make for efficiency and good relations."

3. The Western nations set up a North Atlantic consultative assembly, with the job of encouraging economic collaboration between the NATO members.

4. The Western nations set up a central agency to co-ordinate Allied policy and planning "in all vital areas where imperialist Communist aggression threatens peace," including Europe, the Middle East and the Orient.

U.K. People Would Accept Peace Moves At Face Value

MONTREAL—(CP)—Edwin S. Johnson, well-known Canadian newspaperman, said today the British people are "solidly behind Eisenhower and Churchill in their view that all Russian conciliatory moves should be accepted at face value."

Mr. Johnson said there is no denying the fact the man in the street in Britain "sincerely yearns for a life free from the tensions of threatening war and the mounting burdens of armament.

"There is, however, no danger of Britons swallowing Russian peace bait hook, line and sinker."

The former war correspondent who has been Canadian Press chief of bureau in London for almost four years returned to Canada last night aboard the liner Empress of Scotland.

"There are many sceptics in the British Isles who are perplexed by what is happening, and many believe that the Reds cannot be trusted," he said.

ADEQUATE SAFEGUARDS

"But they are giving a commonsense appraisal to what appears to be real Communist peace overtures. Certainly with Churchill at the helm they are confident no commitments will be made without adequate safeguards."

"They realize of course that any halt in the country's defensive program may bring on some unemployment. They also know the United Kingdom faces the task of re-establishing and expanding its export markets and making a reality of the target: trade not aid.

"Above everything the people are determined to get back on their feet financially and restore the country's prestige in international affairs."

Mr. Johnson said there are certain elements in Britain hostile to the United States and resentful of Britain's continued acceptance of "handouts."

RISING NATION

"The more enlightened," he said, "are grateful for the helping hand extended by the United States and Commonwealth countries. They understand the very survival of the free world rests on the strength of the English-speaking nations and their allies. They are determined nothing should be allowed to undermine the safety of the alliance."

Mr. Johnson said that as a Canadian coming home he could say truthfully Canada is regarded abroad as the world's "rising nation."

"Britons in every walk of life are keenly interested in Canada's remarkable development and feel it will have more to offer in the future than any other country."

$3,500 Reward For Arsonists

VICTORIA (CP)—Attorney-General Robert Bonner Tuesday announced rewards totalling $3,500 for information leading to the arrest and conviction of dynamiters and arsonists in British Columbia's Doukhobor country.

He said the province will pay $2,500 for information leading to the arrest and conviction of a person using dynamite illegally and $1,000 for information leading to the arrest and conviction of an arsonist.

His anouncement follows a series of violent acts in the Doukhobor country. Houses have been burned and railway and power lines bombed.

Police Official's Body Located

NAIROBI, Kenya (Reuters)—The body of H. J. Chappell, white official of the Nairobi police traffic department, was found early today behind his house at Roysambu, seven miles north of Nairobi.

Police headquarters said Chappell had head injuries, but it has not yet been established whether the Mau Mau terror sect was responsible for his death.

British infantry and African trackers operating in a forest near Nakuru, 75 miles northwest of Nairobi, today discovered the bodies of four butchered Kikuyu tribesmen.

Police have so far unearthed the bodies of 19 Mau Mau victims in the Mathari "death valley," on the outskirts of Nairobi, here the work of flattening African shanty towns continued today.

Police cleared about 7,000 Africans out of the four-mile valley last week-end after discovering it was the headquarters of Mau Mau operations in the Nairobi area. They expect to find more bodies in the village of Maparani, claimed to be the site of Mau Mau executions.

Ceylon's Navy Stranded In U.K.

GRIMSBY, England (AP)—Ceylon's entire navy—the 1,040-ton minesweeper Vijaya—was stranded in port here today.

The ship, manned by 85 officers and men, arrived from Colombo for a refitting in the local shipyards.

Experts looked her over and told the skipper, Lt.-Cmdr. Raj Proctor, that it would take months get the Vijaya in shape.

Proctor gave the crew shore leave and permission to take civilian jobs in England until their ship is ready.

"I," he told reporters, "will stay on board, enjoy the peace and quiet, and write a book."

New Premier For Denmark

COPENHAGEN, Denmark (AP)—Returns today from Denmark's parliamentary election gave the Socialists two seats more than the last governing coalition of Conservatives and Agrarians, and King Frederik IX started looking around for a new premier.

Premier Erik Eriksen handed his cabinet's resignations to the monarch this morning. It was expected the king would ask the Socialists to form the new government.

One Socialist leader, former finance minister H. C. Hansen, said a change in government would not change Denmark's foreign policy. Eriksen commented that the voters had demonstrated they "stand behind us in our decision to join forces with other NATO powers for mutual security."

The Communists polled 99,024 of the 2,000,000 votes cast—a gain of 5,000 over their showing in 1950—but again only won seven seats in the 151-member Folketing, Parliament's lower house.

IN KOREA (CP)—The 3rd battalion, Royal Canadian Regiment, is in the line in Korea.

The battalion took up positions Monday, relieving the 1st battalion, Royal 22nd Regiment, which has completed its assignment in Korea.

The Van Doos will formally turn over their assignment to the newly-arrived 3rd Van Doos later this week and then will sail for Canada.

Two More Victims On Killer's Death List

TOULOUSE, France (Reuters)—A country-wide police manhunt was under way here today for a killer who chops his victims to death with a double-pronged hoe.

The unknown slayer claimed his ninth and 10th victims here this week.

Jacques Brassat, mayor of the village of Bessuejovis, and his wife were found horribly mutilated, in the blazing wreckage of their farm Monday night.

The tolling of the village church bell roused villagers who rushed out to see the Brassat farmhouse in flames with the mayor's youngest son Louis, 16, half-naked and screaming: "Don't go to the house. Everybody's been killed."

Eight other persons have been killed with a hoe in the area in the last seven years.

Midland Woman Has Triplets

MIDLAND (CP)—Midland's first triplets in more than 40 years arrived Tuesday.

They are the daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Livingston of nearby Wyebridge. The babies are the first triplets delivered by Dr. T. J. Johnston, veteran Midland doctor.

The Livingstons, who live on a farm near Wyebridge, have two other daughters, aged nine and five.

Two Boys Rescued On Makeshift Raft

LONG BRANCH (CP)—Two boys drifted out two miles in Lake Ontario on a makeshift raft today before they were rescued by a boatman who dared five-foot waves to save them.

Gordon Shane, 14, and Jack Peacock, 13, were rescued by Wally Finchman who used a small boat to reach them.

Bargaining Averts Strike

WINDSOR, Ont. (CP)—Direct, last-minute bargaining averted a strike at the Canadian Steel Corporation, Limited plant here when company and union (Local 195, UAW-CIO) reached agreement Tuesday on terms of work and wages.

The 154 employees concerned took a strike vote last week, with the strike set for 8 a. m. today.

Under terms of the agreement, a 10-cent hourly wage increase was awarded, retroactive to October 1, 1952, and another five cents will be given October 1, 1953.

The new wage adjustment provides wage of $1.42 an hour for the lowest paid, which will be increased to $1.47 next October 1.

Urges UK Ambassador To Senator McCarthy

LONDON (Reuters) — Britain should appoint an ambassador to Senator Joseph McCarthy (Rep. Wis.) the Liberal News-Chronicle says today.

An editorial points out that Britain's present ambassador in Washington is accredited only to the executive branch of the U. S. government. It says McCarthy has lately taken over some executive functions including negotiations with Greek shipowners in New York.

"Now, if the foreign office had an ambassador accredited to the senator, we should know in advance when he was contemplating war on the fuzzy-wuzzies or a separate peace with the red-cabbage pickers," the editorial says. "We should be up to date all the time."

$16,766 Judgment Stands

Father Of Three Ordered To Pay Damages

TORONTO (CP)—Walter Palach, 31, of Elmira, a $40-a-week furniture factory employee and father of three children, was unsuccessful today in getting a $16,766 judgment against his wife wiped out. He was ordered to pay the amount to Claude Gregg of Kitchener.

The debt resulted from an automobile accident in Kitchener two years ago in which Mr. Gregg suffered a back injury. Evidence was that Mrs. Palach was driving the old model car.

Unable to pay the damages, the couple sought a discharge in bankruptcy court. Justice P. E. F. Smiley dismissed the appeal.

Donald Wade, appearing for the couple, said they did not have insurance on the car although they understood they had.

An affidavit filed by Mr. Palach said he had been unable to save money and had no property other than furniture and clothing. "My wages are barely sufficient to maintain myself and my family."

Mr. Wade said Mr. Palach has received $5,000 from the Unsatisfied Judgments Fund and cannot get more.

Want To Get Details

Holding Secret Session On Atrocities

WASHINGTON (AP)—Chairman Styles Bridges (Rep. N. H.) today summoned top state and defence officials for a Senate appropriations committee investigation of atrocities against U. S. prisoners in Korea.

Bridges asked Gen. Walter Bedell Smith, under-secretary of state, and top-ranking defence officials to appear at a closed session.

"We want to get all the information they have about the Red atrocities against U. S. and UN prisoners, all the background we can get on such treatment and what they are doing about it now," Bridges told reporters.

"We have to find out the truth about reports that the Reds are releasing only a small part of the sick and wounded prisoners they are holding and see what can be done about getting more of our people out of Korea if this is to mean anything."

Bridges demanded sharp protests to the Communists.

"This nation cannot tolerate such carryings-on," Bridges said of reports brought back by exchanged Americans.

These include stories of "death marches" over frozen North Korea in which hundreds of captured men died, bayonettings and beatings, food shortages and poor medical treatment, and of seriously ill men left behind.

"We want to find out from the State Department whether adequate representation is being made to the Communists on the matter, Bridges told reporters.

Ask Housing Parley Be Called

Shortage of Homes Growing Worse, Worries Opposition

OTTAWA (CP)—A federal-provincial conference to plan means to beat Canada's housing shortage — estimated at 500,000 units— has been demanded by spokesmen from Parliament's opposition benches.

The Commons, engaging Tuesday in the first major debate on housing since Parliament opened last November, heard a series of suggestions on how the housing problem might be tackled. They included a federal-provincial meeting, smaller down payments, cheaper interest rates and longer payment periods.

The federal-provincial conference idea came from Donald Fleming (PC—Toronto Eglinton) and got support from spokesmen for other parties in opposition.

"WHITE ELEPHANT"

C. E. Johnston (SC—Bow River) said the government should rid itself of the "white elephant" financing agency, Central Mortgage and Housing Corporation, and get down payments on housing loans reduced to the $500 level so low-income men could build a home.

The debate was precipitated by a government resolution preparatory to a bill making a number of changes in the National Housing Act. The bill eventually was introduced and given first reading.

Resources Minister Winters said that the measure will increase the total of the home-ownership loan fund to $500,000,000 from $300,000,000 and the rental housing loan fund to $250,000,000 from $150,000,000. It also widens slum-clearance provisions.

Mr. Winters said the total funds already out on loan or committed for home-building are such that without the increases there would not be enough money for 1953 operations. Housing starts so far this year, he said, are running ahead of those for the same period of 1952.

NEED CONFERENCE

Mr. Fleming said a federal-provincial conference is necessary to work out an understanding on tax sources. Some municipalities now were so hard-pressed that they were discouraging house-building projects because they couldn't finance necessary services like sewers, sidewalks and electricity.

J. W. Noseworthy (CCF—York South) agreed there should be such a conference.

He said his party proposed making all loans through CMHC under a federal fund with interest at two per cent—the present rate is 5¼ per cent on joint loans by CMHC and the lending institutions.

The CCF further proposed increasing home loans to 9 per cent from the present 80 per cent of sale value; extending the 20-year average repayment period to 30 or 35 years; reducing rents through a "rental subsidy" fund and providing federal grants through the provinces to the municipalities for building schools and other public facilities.

REVOLVING FUND

Mr. Johnston suggested that the federal government provide a $500,000,000 revolving fund from which loans could be made to municipalities at not more than two-per-cent interest to prepare land for house-building. The municipalities then would oversee housing standards.

The Bow River member also said the down payment on a housing loan should be as low as $500 to give the low-income man a chance to build a home.

Replying to Mr. Johnston's criticisms of CMHC, Mr. Winters said he feels the government agency has "done a good job" in doing what federal housing program was supposed to do, create the right financial atmosphere to promote house-building. If it were not for CMHC guarantees, the lending institutions would be charging six per cent on housing loans.

George Hees (PC — Toronto Broadview) said Canada has a shortage of 500,000 homes. He said the government is following an obsolete and reactionary policy and he concurred in the idea of a federal-provincial housing conference. He said 10-per-cent down payments should be permitted on houses up to $10,000.

Begin Inquiry Into Crash Where 8 Killed

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — The Civil Aeronautics Board Tuesday began an investigation of Monday night's crash of a Western Airlines plane in which eight persons died and two survived, clinging to floating wreckage in a sea of burning oil.

Not yet recovered were the bodies of four persons lost when the big DC-6B airliner exploded and plunged into 15 feet of water and mud of San Francisco Bay on the short 12-mile hop from San Francisco Airport to Oakland.

The two who survived were Stewardess Beverlee Nelson, 27, of Playa Del Rey, Calif., and Jerry Adams, 21-year-old University of Alaska student from Fairbanks.

Two others, Stewardess Barbara Brew of Hollywood and Joseph B. Petty of San Bernardino, Calif., freed themselves from the wrecked cabin after the crash but did not survive until rescuers arrived.

From a hospital bed at the navy's Oak Knoll Hospital today, Stewardess Nelson recounted how the four had clung to floating wreckage in the midst of a bay of burning oil and chanted in unison —"One, two, three, four"—to pass the time waiting for rescue.

PLANE EXPLODES

The huge plane exploded only minutes after taking off from San Francisco, where 44 other passengers who had made the flight from Los Angeles had been unloaded. Five passengers and five crew members remained aboard for the final short flight across the bay to Oakland.

James Peyton, chief investigator for CAB, assumed charge of the investigation, but admittedly had little to work on so early. Peyton had just finished holding an inquiry into the crash of a Transocean Airlines plane which killed 35 person south of Oakland last month.

Cause of the crash has not yet been determined, although Adams, one of the survivors, said he had been watching the left outboard engine just before the crash because "the crew had been shining a spotlight on it from time to time."

Ex-Policeman Jailed 18 Months

TORONTO (CP)—Keith Knowles, 31, former suburban York county police officer, was sentenced Tuesday to 18 months by Magistrate E. Lovering when convicted of taking part in the November, 1952, break-in at a North York supermarket.

"His associates would not have been so free to break into this store if a policeman hadn't been with them," magistrate Lovering told the court. "That's why the role of a policeman as an accomplice in this case is so detestable."

Reds Blow Up Ammunition Dump

HANOI, Indo-China (AP)—Vietminh troops attacked and blew up a big French Union ammunition depot in the Red river delta at Kienan Tuesday, killing 30 Frencn soldiers. Possibly as many as 200 Union troops were taken prisoner.

The daring raid on the Kienan base, about six miles southwest of the port city of Haiphong, came as French concern centred primarily on an invasion of Laos by the Communist-led rebels.

French and Laotian defenders of that little kingdom, hard-pushed by the Vietminh, staked their hopes on a showdown battle on the broad Plain des Jarres. The plain is about 90 miles from prized Luangprabang, the royal capital city.

Five groups of Vietminh soldiers attacked Kienan and overpowered French and Viet Namese local guards. The raiders used dynamite charges to blow up the munitions storage piles, then fled with scores of captives. Bursting shells rocked Haiphong for hours.

MUCH DISAGREEMENT

"This strike has been brewing for the last five years," Mr. Beggs said. "Management has never tried to co-operate with the union. In May of last year, the company disregarded the wage re-opener in the contract and the disagreement has gradually built up to the boiling point.

"The conciliation board has handed down a decision containing less than the company offered in September. Also the company are trying to compel the employees to work Saturday without overtime pay and take one day off during the week in lieu of Saturday.

"We have established basic wages of $1.39½ an hour in the Robin Hood and Maple Leaf plants, this company's competitors at Port Colborne," Mr. Beggs said. "This company has always claimed it will keep up with its competitors or pay better wages. This year they haven't."

SUNDAY MEETING

The decision to go on strike was made following a meeting Sunday of an estimated 87 per cent of union members when union officials said 96 per cent of those present voted to give the executive authority to call a strike if they saw fit.

Reason for the strike is dissatisfaction with recommendations for a contract settlement contained in the majority report of a conciliation board.

Chief recommendations in the majority report, signed by Judge J. C. Reynolds of Kingston and E. Macauley Dillon, QC, of Toronto, were:

(a) An increase of 7½ per cent retroactive to January 1, 1953, but payable only to employees in the employ of the company when the contract is signed;

(b) A further increase of 2½ per cent effective September 1, 1953.

(c) A further increase of 2½ per cent effective January 1, 1954, bringing the base rate to $1.33½ an hour;

(d) Company permitted to bring in swing shifts if necessary;

(e) Contract ends May 1, 1954;

(f) Hours of work to be reduced to 40 hours as soon as possible after the agreement is signed and, in any case, by August 1, 1953.

The board said they were satisfied that in the wage negotiations in 1952 the company increased rates to compensate for a reduction of two hours (from 44 to 42) which never went into effect.

"Consequently," said the report, "the above wage increases include all compensation for the reduction to a 40-hour week.

MINORITY REPORT

The minority report, signed by Murray Cotterill, union nominee of the conciliation board, made the following recommendations:

(a) An immediate increase of 10 per cent on all rates in effect August 31, 1952, and the 10 per cent increase should be retroactive to September 1, 1952, when the old contract ended.

(b) Reduction of the work week from 44 to 40 hours as soon as the schedule will allow and, in any case, by August 1, 1953.

(c) When this is done a general increase that will bring the basic rate up to $1.39½ an hour.

(d) Maintenance of a five-day week on a three-shift basis, Monday to Friday; no swing shift.

The United Nations command will return 500 North Koreans to the Communists Thursday.

Today's exchange involved 100 Republic of Korea soldiers for 500 Communists, including 150 Chinese. It brought to 700 the Chinese returned to Red rule—all that the UN command said would be included in the return of 5,800 Reds for 605 Allied sick and wounded.

IN GOOD FORM

Groups of Chinese went along the dusty road toward the Bamboo Curtain figuratively beating propaganda cymbals of happiness. A UN interpreter said they had been coached carefully to sing and shout slogans to prove their happiness at returning to communism.

To show their feelings toward the Allies—real or staged—the Chinese ripped new uniforms given them only a few days ago, tousled their hair, threw away food rations and dropped propaganda leaflets in sight of their Communist welcome committees.

Then the Red prisoners, appearing unkempt, paraded before Communist newsreel and newspaper cameramen. One prisoner cast away his crutches and hopped on his one leg into the Communist reception centre.

Peiping radio screamed that Red repatriates "were war-worn and emaciated, shivering in thin shirts and trousers which the Americans issued three days ago."

SAME AS TROOPS

Actually, UN officials pointed out, all Communist prisoners received the same food and medical treatment as Allied troops. All were issued new U.S. army fatigues and overcoats for their trip home. But many ripped the clothing, smeared dirt on their faces and then threw away their overcoats as they stepped before Communist cameras.

The first Canadian repatriate, L. Cpl. Paul Dugal of Quebec City, partially paralyzed, was flown Tuesday to a Commonwealth hospital in Kure, southern Japan.

A Korean doctor said the South Koreans freed today were in the worst physical condition of any of the men repatriated so far. Many had tuberculosis.

Man Locked Up Too Late To Prevent Crime

LINDSAY (ENS)—Fast police work by Chief John Hunter of the Lindsay force, was an hour too late to prevent a crime Tuesday, but an hour soon enough to catch the offender, Ross Howell, of Lindsay, on charge of uttering a forged document.

Howell, who was released from reformatory on parole last month after serving six months on three charges of forgery, on which he was convicted last September, was arrested by the chief Tuesday afternoon for intoxication.

The move was intended to prevent Howell's forging any bad cheques, a weakness when he is under the influence of alcohol, according to the chief. Howell was placed in custody by Constable Bailey.

An hour later, J. Houser, a local men's wear merchant, reported to police his suspicions about a cheque one of his employees had cashed for Howell two hours earlier. Howell had received a pair of coveralls and $11 in cash for the cheque, which was made out in the name of his employer, Herb Hennessey a painter.

Hennessey, one of Howell's former victims had employed the man on his return to Lindsay. Investigation revealed he had not written the cheque. Howell appeared in court this morning and pleaded guilty to the charge.

Magistrate Gee commented that he had shown little concern for his employer, who had given him a second chance. Crown Attorney Lorne Jordan suggested a term of two years less a day for this offence, to run concurrently with the six months term Howell has yet to serve on his parole.

Magistrate Gee, however sentenced Howell to an extra year, consecutive to the term now being served. He warned Howell, however, that "I won't be on the bench when you get out again. Whoever replaces me may be harder on you if you don't straighten out."

UN May Demand

Another young American released from Communist captivity Monday at Panmunjom said Chinese Red guards hauled away to a labor camp, beat up and once bayoneted American prisoners who defied Red rule.

BETTER TREATMENT

But, said Cpl. Donald K. Legay of Leominster, Mass., prisoners who went along with the Communist line "got a little better treatment."

"We called them the No. 1 boys," he added at a press conference at Tokyo Army Hospital. He said about "25 to 30 men" in his company of 220 men got special treatment.

Lawley, who is suffering from malnutrition and other ailments, told correspondents "so many men died of sickness at the camps I was in that I haven't any idea how many died. So many died I lost all track of it."

Lawley, formerly of the U. S. 7th division, was captured six miles south of Chosin reservoir Nov 30, 1950. He is 45—but tonight looked far older—and weary.

RECALLS RIOT

Legay, who is 23, was a prisoner for 29 months at Pyoktong camp in North Korea where about 1,000 Americans were captives. Chinese Communists guarded the camp.

Legay said: "One time we had a little riot." He did not recall what started it, but said the prisoners occasionally "decided to refuse to work, wouldn't eat or fall out for roll call."

That night, he said, "they doubled the guards on us." The prisoner attended a motion picture. As it ended, the captives started to file out.

"The first three or four were bayoneted" by Chinese guards, Legay said. "They didn't kill them—just put them in the hospital." He said the rest of the prisoners stopped and refused to go out until an English-speaking guard led the way.

PICK AN INSTIGATOR

After such disturbances, Legay said, the Chinese usually "picked out an instigator." He said these men and others who "were against the way" were sent to a labor camp.

"We didn't see them again," he said, nor did he see any of these men while travelling to Panmunjom to be released.

Legay said: "A lot tried to escape. But they didn't get anywhere. They were brought back. The camp did not have barbed wire around it."

ANOTHER CHAPTER

The stories told here were another chapter in the series of atrocity stories told earlier at Freedom Village, where the prisoners were taken from Panmunjom.

One American said that of 700 men who started a forced march north only 287 arrived at their destination.

Allied officers have not added up the figures and official sources said no evaluation will be made of the reports until all of the 600 Allied sick and wounded are returned late this week.

U.S. Dollar At Discount

MONTREAL (CP)—The U. S. dollar was at a discount of 1½ per cent in terms of Canadian funds, the Bank of Canada reported at noon today. Tuesday's noon rate was 98 11-32 cents. Pound sterling $2.77½, against $2.77 1-16.

AFL President Supports Defence Plans

MONTREAL (CP) — George Meany, president of the American Federation of Labor, said Tuesday night the aims of labor in North America are to support the Western Allies in the cold war and to continue to improve living standards of workers on this continent.

He addressed a dinner tendered him on his first official visit to Canada.

Mr. Meany expressed his approval of President Eisenhower's recent statement that the door is always open to peaceful settlement with Russia but the Russians will have to demonstrate good faith by deeds.

HAS NO DOUBTS

There is "no question" of the intent of the rulers of the Kremlin, said Mr. Meany. "These men are out to rule the world by subversion, by military might, or by any other means which will accomplish their ends.

"And we might as well face the fact that we in the United States and Canada are the prime target. For they know they can never rule the rest of the world and allow Canada and the United States to remain free.

"At this time the danger is greater than ever before."

The Russians had opened a propaganda campaign and "now they are hitting us at the weakest point in our whole makeup—the fact that our people desire peace."

Prices Continue Lower On Toronto Exchange

TORONTO (CP)—Prices continued slowly lower in early afternoon stock market trading today.

Industrials led the losses. Base metals and western oils dropped smaller amounts. Golds also weakened but showed strength in a few leading issues. Volume for the first three hours totalled 2,343,000 shares.

Uraniums held firm with small gains. New Brunswick base metals were mixed.

Manufacturing companies led the losses in industrials and utilities, financial institutions and papers also slipped.

Senior golds and holding companies slipped in light trading while junior producers were mixed.

Higher-priced base metals led the list lower.

Western oils showed a majority of small losses.

WINNIPEG GRAIN

WINNIPEG (CP)—Further aggressive export demand in barley again highlighted trade early today on the Winnipeg grain exchange.

A large business was indicated but no estimates were available. The United Kingdom was mentioned as taking the largest quantities.

Oats prices also were firm on domestic shipper demand. Rye moved up slightly under light, local trade, while flax, although down, uncovered some export orders.

11 a. m. grain prices:

Oats: May ¼ higher 75⅛B; Jly ½ higher 72½; Oct ½ higher 73B.

Barley: May ¼ higher 1.20⅛B; Jly ⅞ higher 1.17¾A; Oct 1 higher 1.17¾A.

Rye: May ¼ higher 1.48⅝; Jly ¼ higher 1.51; Oct ¼ higher 1.54⅛.

Flax: May ¼ higher 3.08⅜B; Jly ¼ lower 3.11¼A; ¼ lower 3.14¼.

Use Committees For Recreation Will Experiment

Alex Sinclair, Recreation Director for Peterborough pointed out to the Recreation Commission Tuesday night the need for the city to be divided into recreatinal areas.

Mr. Sinclair went on to describe his trip to the Recreation Directors meeting in Oshawa where they discussed at some length the new system of dividing cities into areas and having each area run by a recreation committee. These in turn would report back to the Recreation Commission. This system can not be run by a one-man recreation system, which Peterborough now has said Mr. Sinclair.

Some of the larger cities in Ontario and Quebec are using this system and it is proving very effective. But a city must have a population of over 25,000 and this system could be easily applied to Peterborough, Mr. Sinclair went on to say.

TRY OUT PLAN

It was suggested by R. J. Bolton that such a recreation system be set up in the area south of Lansdowne St. and east of Park St., where there are no recreation facilities, to try it out. He suggested that the commission ask the home and school association in that area to sponsor the scheme. This suggestion was put before the policy committee to take action.

There was a request from the Peterborough Citizens Band that they receive in full by the 31st of August the rest of their $2,500 grant. It was suggested by Alderman Rehill that they be paid their April sum which would give them $1,400 and ask the band why they wanted their payments stepped up to August, when they usually have received their last payment in October.

The financial statement was given by the treasurer. The commission had spent $1,407 of their budget during the month of March and $2,595.66 of their $17,500 budget to date.

LEADERSHIP COURSE

It was reported that only 60 people had utrned out for the leadership course given by Ben Solomon and it was rather disappointing, since he is considered to be one of the best speakers in his field. It was suggested that there be far more exploratory work done ahead of time to assure a larger turn out and it was suggested that one of the men's clubs in the city could sponsor the course.

Mrs. Charles Pilon reported for the Arts and Craft committee, saying that the Travelling Leather Craft Show that appeared in Peterborough on April 1 was greatly appreciated by those that attended and that there would be a local show of the Leather Craft Guild on Wednesday, May 6, at Dixon House and there would be a showing of the four crafts.

There was another motion put forth by Mr. Bolton that a letter be sent to the city council informing them of the poor condition of Dixon House and telling them that there has never been any set policy on who would pay for reprais on the building. The motion asked for some decision on the matter.

It was reported that there would be no senior baseball club in Peterborough this summer. But the junior team had a large turnout reported Alex Sinclair and they were reported to be in good condition financially. The question of who would pay for the use of the lights for night games was brought up and it was thought that a delegation from the Commission should meet with the junior team executive at their next meeting and try to come to some agreement.

Montgomery Has Reservations About Weather

QUEBEC (CP)—Field Marshal Viscount Montgomery has reservations about Quebec weather.

During his visit to Valcartier army camp Tuesday he frequently commented on the cold and rain. As he stepped from his plane at Ancienne Lorette airport earlier his first comment was:

"It's cold here."

Later, as he left Valcartier camp, "If you live here in winter you must either die quickly or live forever!"

Lord Montgomery is to visit the Canadian armament, research and development establishment today before flying to Montreal for a visit.

CANCEL VISIT

A scheduled tour today of the Quebec Citadel, an ancient British fortress, was cancelled for lack of time.

At Valcartier, Lord Montgomery inspected 1,700 crack troops, 600 of them Korean war veterans, of the 2nd battalion of the Royal 22nd Regiment, under command of Lt.-Col. Gaston Vallee, himself a Korean veteran.

The deputy commander of Supreme Headquarters Allied Forces in Europe was accompanied by two aides, and by Maj.-Gen. P. E. Bernatchez, officer commanding Quebec command; Brig. Frank Fleury, commandant of the eastern Quebec area.

Addressing troops in English and French, Lord Montgomery said he was happy to see a unit which fought so well under his command in Italy, Sicily and northeast Europe during the Second World War.

STAND FOR HOUR

His tour of the camp was marred by rain, snowflurries and a cold wind. The troops, wearing only battle dress, stood for an hour during the review.

Lord Montgomery, dressed in a great coat, told the troops:

"I've come a long way to see you and I'm glad to see you, even if you aren't so glad to see me after being kept so long on parade in this cold weather."

Tough Training Before Climb

KATMANDU, Nepal (Reuters)—Thirteen hardy Britons have begun commando-like training in the giddy air below Khumbu glacier for next month's battle to climb Mt. Everest, the world's highest mountain.

A runner arrived here Tuesday with a message from the expedition saying that last week they had been all set to establish their 17,000-foot base camp.

For three weeks the 13 pioneers have been toughening their lungs and hardening their muscles in climbs to 21,000 feet—8,000 feet less than their goal on the pinnacle of Everest.

The final assault is due to start soon after May 15. Each of the 13 Britons hopes he will be able to inch himself onto that coveted 29,002-foot-high slab of icy rock. The best bet is that it would be 23-year-old George Band, a Cambridge University student who will lead the chain.

Send 20 Outfits For Canadian PoWs

FREEDOM VILLAGE (CP)—Twenty complete outfits for Canadian soldiers who may be repatriated have arrived here.

The clothing was sent to ensure that any Canadians who may be returned by the Reds will receive uniforms in their sizes.

So far only one Canadian, L. Cpl. Paul Dugal of Quebec City, has been exchanged but reports here are that at least one more will be repatriated.

Train Trip To Michoacan Turns Out Adventure

ON WAY TO MICHOACAN—I had my first train ride in Mexico when I travelled from the capital 300 miles east to Patzcuaro in the State of Michoacan, and it turned out to be something of an adventure and not quite what I had anticipated.

* * * *

I had a first class ticket and at 6.30 a.m. the porter put me into a pitch black coach. Eventually when the light went on, I found there were about 10 other passengers. The train was made up of one first class coach on the end of the train, two second class coaches and two express cars. I found out too late there was no diner and I wasn't due in Patzcuaro till 6:30 p.m. Before we left the station two musicians came aboard and serenaded us.

* * * *

When the conductor came through to check tickets and said "Patzcuaro" a railroad man sitting a head of me pricked up his ears and in a few moments began a conversation. He asked if I was a student going to the U.N. school there. When I explained where I was going we carried on quite a conversation via the dictionary till we hit a snag. Then Sr. R. Tellez Gomez, who is a National Railroads mechanic went in search of help.

* * * *

ALL IN FAMILY

In a few moments he returned with another man, Sr. Quesnel of Mexico who spent some years in the Niagara-Buffalo area 22 years ago. He remembered a little English and things went along nicely. When they found that my father worked for the railroad and that I had too, at one time, we were off to the races.

* * * *

The pair appointed themselves my guardians and made certain that I knew when the points of interest and best scenic views were coming. Sr. Quesnel had to get off after an hour, but my other friend was working the train from Toluca to th edivisional point of Alacambra (about half way). He kept coming back periodically to see if I was all right and to help where he could.

* * * *

Having had no breakfast I got hungrier as the miles sped by. At each station, women would walk by the train windows with the most luscious looking breads, tortillas, fruits etc. for sale. I was positively drooling after a couple of hours. But I was afraid to risk it. Finally in the middle of the morning I was able to get some chocolate bars and the day was saved.

* * * *

PLAY LITTLE GAME

The first class passengers and the trainmen played a little game all the way to Patzcuaro. Since this is the dry season the dust is bad at times and the crew were attempting to keep the windows shut. As fast as they closed them, the passengers opened them for food or a breeze since there was no air conditioning. In a matter of minutes everything was covered with a fine layer of dust.

* * * *

After the first 100 miles I was the only woman in the coach and of course the only one who spoke English. At Alacambra where my railroad friend left me, there was a 20-minutes stop but I felt my Spanish unequal to a battle in the restaurant in that short time despite the pleas of the railwaymen.

* * * *

My next trouble came with the washroom. They have peculiar handles on the doors and I couldn't operate them. Finally a nice, elderly peon came back and with a bow and "your permiision senorita", opened it for me.

* * * *

WELL LOOKED AFTER

The countryside down through Michoacan is beautiful. It is good farming and cattle country. Irrigation from Lerma onward kept the land very green for many miles. Then the mountains became steeper and after about a hundred miles you see only a few villages and towns till you reach Morelia. The track is built on terrain much like the Rockies. It is one continual "S" curve. The deeper you penetrate into the state, the more mountains. It is most impressive. One of the common sights is to see washings spread out to dry on small bushes. There are no clothes lines.

* * * *

Being very careless I hadn't bothered to find out when I was due in Patzcuaro because I felt sure they would call out the names of the towns. But they double crossed me. The trainman would put his head in the front of the coach, mutter something and people would pile out. I had visions of being carried on through since nothing sounded familiar. I finally located on a map approximately where I thought we should be and then I began to check each station. By that time the crew caught on to my trouble and the official would wait till he was opposite my seat to call the station. When we reached Patzcuaro they made sure the baggage and I both got off.

* * * *

While it was a long trip and rather tiring I wouldn't have missed it. Everyone was kind and extremely polite. I was better looked after than I would have been going from Montreal to Toronto.

Two Juveniles Remanded On Theft Charge

COBOURG (ENS) — Two juveniles were charged in court here with theft of four army blankets from a truckload being taken from a freighter in the harbor to the new ordnance depot.

They were remanded out of custody to appear May 25 next and in the meantime are to report daily to Chief of Police H. Pearse.

The two youths were engaged in loading trucks and on the last load from one of the freighters at night they rode up on the truck. When the load was inspected at the ordnance depot it was noted that one of the bundles of blankets had been broken into and a check showed that four were missing.

A police investigation revealed that the youths had opened the parcel of blankets on the way to the depot and threw them off where they were retrieved later. With the arrest of the pair, police recovered the blankets.

Crown Attorney Harry Deyman asked for a jail sentence for the two accused, stating that any thefts from the ordnance depot should be nipped in the bud at once.

Magistrate R. B. Baxter indicated that he was in sympathy with the suggestion, but decided to give them another chance as they were first offenders. He warned that no leniency would be shown next time and that any more thefts of ordnance depot supplies would be sternly dealt with.

Legion Auxiliary Plans Zone Rally

CAMPBELLFORD — (ENS) — Guests of the Ladies' Auxiliary, Branch 103, Canadian Legion, Monday were: Zone Commander Gwen Baker, Provincial Secretary Macmillan and Comrade Ewart, president of the Cobourg Ladies' Auxiliary.

Arrangements were made for the zone rally in Campbellford on Tuesday evening, May 20. Comrade Richards, provincial president, will be present.

Two new members, Comrade Jessie Robertson and Comrade Winnifred Sheridan were initiated.

Comrade Dianne Ferrill addressed the meeting, stating that she would be visiting Holland in June and would visit the graves of any local boys. A social hour was held.

Digby Forest Fire Believed Incendiary

LINDSAY (ENS)—District Forester A. B. Wheatley, in his report, released yesterday, states indications are that 500-acre brush and grass fires across the blueberry rockland of Digby Township last week was of incendiary origin.

The condition of the land was ideal for this type of fire, and "it appears to have started in several places." The OPP are investigating, which caused fire-fighters to be flown in from Haliburton County by Beaver aircraft and helicopter.

The helicopter was used for the first time in fighting a fire in this district.

Health Unit Reports

COBOURG (ENS)—Red measles led the list of communicable diseases reported by the Northumberland and Durham Health Unit for the week ending April 18. Forty-nine cases comprised the total, which included 13 cases of mumps, ten of chickenpox and one each of infectious jaundice, German measles and septic sore throat.

No Sign Of Red Diplomatic Thaw Towards Canadian Government

By DOUGLAS HOW

OTTAWA (CP)—The external affairs department has been keeping an ear cocked for signs and sounds of the Russian "peace" offensive on the Canadian diplomatic front, but it doesn't seem to be functioning in that area—as yet, anyway.

The Malenkov tactics show no sign of altering the most notable tangible thing about Russo-Canadian affairs—the fact that for the last seven years Russia has had an embassy here but no ambassador.

The Soviet withdrew ambassador Georgi Zarubin a few months before the 1946 spy probe broke and a succession of lesser lights have run the embassy since. This situation apparently signifies a continuing pique as a result of the trials.

Canada, in turn, withdrew her ambassador, Dana Wilgress, in 1947 and has engaged in a tit-for-tat game ever since. The current charge d'affaires at the Canadian embassy is Robert Ford of London, Ont.

The prevailing Canadian attitude appears to be that since Russia threw the first stone she should make the first overture towards restoring the embassies to their full stature. So far, Malenkov and Foreign Minister Molotov have been busy with larger adventures.

NO DIPLOMATIC THAW

So far, too, nothing has happened in the way of a diplomatic thaw in Moscow to prompt Mr. Ford and his staff to cable jubilant messages to Ottawa. Their reports indicate that things have been going along pretty well as they were in the Stalin era, which means that the embassy staff lives a life of relative isolation, befriended by other Westerners but seldom by Russians.

In Ottawa, on the other hand, there has been a more chummy attitude by Leonid Teplov, the charge d'affaires, and his Russian staff, but this appears to go back into the Stalin era and not to be particularly associated with the emergence of Malenkov.

The Russians for the last year or so have been doing more entertaining, not only at the traditional parties on such occasions as Red Army Day and the anniversary of the revolution, but also at luncheons and at parties at which films are shown.

Diplomats, government officials, newspapermen and others get invited to these parties and they have a pleasant evening. The Russians are good hosts, affable and hospitable, and they have quantities of fine food and Russian wines and vodka as well as Western drinks.

The movies are about Russia, but they keep off political subjects and so, by and large, do the guests and hosts.

U.S. Making Bid For Germans In NATO Defence

WASHINGTON (AP)—Senator John Sherman Cooper (Rep. Ky.) said today the Eisenhower administration must be prepared to risk adverse public opinion and make limited concessions in exchange for real peace with the Communists in Asia.

Cooper, a member of the Senate armed services committee and former delegate to the United Nations, said the Chinese Reds are likely to "call on us for a lot of things we can't do" in negotiations for a settlement in Korea.

But he insisted in an interview that if the new administration adopts a "strait-jacket attitude" and does not yield on some points, there can be little hope for any permanent settlement.

"The old Truman administration had reached the point where it could make no concession of any kind to the Communists without being charged with appeasement," Cooper said. "I hope that if the new administration becomes convinced there is a chance for a real peace it will have the courage—even against adverse public opinion—to do what is necessary to be done."

On the question of a permanent settlement in Korea, Cooper said the Chinese Communists will demand control of Formosa, held by the Chinese Nationalists, and seek entry to the UN as minimum demands.

He said he did not believe the U. S. ever could agree to "put the people of Formosa under Communist domination." But he intimated UN membership for the Chinese Reds might have to be considered.

Chairman Alexander Wiley (Rep. Wis.) of the Senate foreign relations committee said in a speech Tuesday night the U. S. must not "appease" the Communists. At the same time it must not be "unwilling to make reasonable concessions."

Senator Ralph flanders (Rep. Vt.) told the Senate Tuesday that steps to negotiate a Korean peace ought to be taken swiftly, even without waiting for any agreement coming out of truce talks due to start Saturday. State Secretary Dulles has insisted negotiations for a final settlement must await an armistice.

Record U.K. Court Award For Victims' 3 Children

LONDON (AP). — Three young Americans Tuesday were awarded the largest grant for damages ever made by a British court—£32,500—for the death of their parents in an air crash.

The award was to satisfy a claim on behalf of the children of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Ettlinger Michaels of Highland Park, Ill. They were among 14 passengers killed when an RAF trainer plane and a British European Airways DC-3 collided over Coventry in February of 1949.

The children are Joseph 25 and Barbara 22, who will share £26,700, and Stephen 16, for whom £5,000 was set aside.

The court order allocated the other £800 to the executors.

Their lawyer, Sir Hartley Shawcross, told the court Stephen is of arrested mental development, with "no hope of any cure, and will always have the mentality of a nice child of about eight."

He told the court the dead father was a director of a steel and scrap business, and had he lived would by now have been a millionaire.

Chimney Fire

CAMPBELLFORD — (ENS) — Campbellford firemen were called to the home of Harold Cochrane, Maple St., about 2:30 p.m. Tuesday to extinguish a chimney fire. There was no property damage.

Civic Employees Voted Increases

LINDSAY (ENS)—The Board of Water Commissioners brought in a schedule of wages for their employees at a meeting yesterday. Wage boosts for all men on the commission force were brought up to standard of the town works department. Engineer Robert Reynolds and two office workers were also given increases.

The schedule was introduced by Chairman Louis Gordon and was approved, to be retroactive to January 1.

The new schedule provides for a work week of 47 hours, a starting scale of 85 cents per hour for construction workers, and a top of $1 hour. A working foreman will have a maximum of $1.05 per hour, as will the metre and shopman. The employees of the tool room will be put on the same basis. Eight statutory holidays were approved by the board, New Year's, Good Friday, Victoria Day, Dominion Day, Civic Holiday, Labor Day, Thanksgiving Day and Christmas.

The new schedule will also provide for two per cent. holiday pay to be applied for every man, and overtime of time and one-quarter for work from 7 p.m. to 7 a.m. Also town pump house, increases were granted to all four employees, the foreman to receive $2,600 and his three assistants $2,400 per year.

An Act Of Mercy

It is interesting to read that, as a special act of mercy, the Queen will shorten the jail and penitentiary terms of Canadian prisoners on May 29, in celebration of her Coronation. Prisoners with terms of less than six months will not benefit, but others will have 30 days cut off each year of their sentence.

• • •

This is a very old custom which began in a time when the sovereign himself put a good many people in jail as political prisoners; when a new king came to the throne, or when there was a great victory, or when a royal heir was born, he might declare an "amnesty"—literally, an act of forgetfulness—and prisoners might be released altogether or their sentences might be appreciably shortened. We have never seen any record which suggested that an amnesty of this sort ever applied to people who were in prison for debt; it was always for the benefit of those who had broken the laws of the land or who had offended against the king personally.

• • •

The custom is a generous one—particularly so in our age when the King no longer throws his enemies into prison without trial and without a specified sentence, to await his pleasure. We wonder whether the prisoners who benefit from it will realize completely that it is an act of mercy, and not simply an extension of the very generous terms upon which they can shorten their own sentences by good conduct. We hope that some care will be taken in our jails and penitentiaries to make it clear to those who benefit from this act of royal generosity that it is the Queen, and no one else, who has done them this favour.

• • •

It was not uncommon, in the day when amnesties were more frequent than they are now, for the sovereign to forget a few taxes when he was in a forgiving mood. However, we are sure that any suggestion that this fine old custom be revived would be coldly received, not by the Queen, but by her ministers.

Peron's Dingy Brave New World

When Evita Peron died what little colour there was in Peronisto Argentina went out completely, in so far as the popular support of the regime is concerned. The "shirtless ones" still had no shirts, but they had their Little Eva the "friend of the poor" who distributed largesse once in a while from her special funds.

Disillusionment with the Peron state of affairs was already settling in when Peron's wife died. Now the dinginess of the Brave New World is too apparent to the workers to be missed. Their material benefits (from employers forced to grant wage-increase, paid holidays, pensions and other concessions) have disappeared in the winds of inflation. The Eva Peron Social Foundation means little but another deduction from the wage-earner's pay envelope.

Compounding the dissatisfactions caused by the falling value of the peso and the drabness of the regimented state have been purges within the party and Colonel Peron's increasing autocratic ways and a shift to old-style "caudillo" tactics. The former governor of the province of Buenos Aires and a close associate of the late Senora Peron has been ousted. Her brother Juan Duarte, formerly private secretary to Peron and a man of power, is dead, an alleged suicide.

The Army command is restless. The wage-earners and men in the street have come to suspect that the leaders of the regime have been living in luxury and fattening their own fortunes while everyone else becomes poorer. The bombs which exploded on the square of national independence when Peron was speaking, and the burning of the exclusive Jockey Club which housed a valuable art collection and one of the finest libraries on the American continent—these are outward manifestations of a seething state.

Whether the army will intervene to oust Peron or not, the condition of the country will be neither happy nor settled. The army put Peron into the saddle in 1943. It is not likely to hatch anything like a democracy should it again take charge, or indeed, to manage the state well or improve the lot of the workers. The seeds of the Peron regime are now bearing fruit, and we are not surprised by their quality.

A Strong And Handsome Dollar

Canadian banknotes, we observe, are to be revised and as well as the Queen's portrait they will bear new designs on the back. The new bills will begin to appear late in 1954. If the designs are to be changed, may we suggest that they might be improved?

Canadian money, like Canadian stamps, is somewhat undistinguished in appearance. We think that this is a pity, for we are proud of the distinguished figure which our dollar cuts in the money markets of the world, and we should like to see that dollar represented by a handsomer piece of paper. The present dollar is not too bad, but a first-class designer—and Canada has some designers whose work is praised everywhere in the world where such work is studied—could give us something much better, while still pleasing the engravers, whose job it is to see that any banknote is hard to counterfeit.

Our dollar looks more like an American dollar than anything else, but it is not such a good job of design. The U.S. dollar is smaller, and its general appearance is cleaner and more artistically forceful than ours. There is no reason to change the size of our dollar for there are obvious advantages in having it bigger than that of our neighbour; for one thing, it makes it easier to tell them apart. But without sacrificing any of the scroll-work or other "points" which make life hard for the counterfeiters, the proportions and the design itself could be greatly improved.

It is important that the outward symbols of our nation should be as fine as we can make them. And what is more important, more often handled, than our money? We have the men in Canada who could make our dollar look as good as, in the realm of international finance, it really is. They are not counterfeiters nor are they likely to become counterfeiters. Why not ask them to help with this important job of revision?

Community Concert

The Peterborough season of Community Concerts has ended with the excellent and exciting two-piano program of Whittemore and Lowe, and another season is beginning, with the campaign for membership this week. Persons interested in and fond of music need no urging to renew their membership, for how else, with such a small outlay of money, can so many distinguished artists and excellent concerts be heard? How else, for instance, could one have heard in Peterborough last fall, the Boyd Neel orchestra of London? All Community Concerts do not reach the surpassing excellence of the Boyd Neel orchestra, or of the virtuoso violinist Odnoposoff, yet all bring to this district good music and outstanding performance; three or four evening of special enjoyment and unusual entertainment each season. The local committees organizing these concert series are to be thanked by old members and new ones subscribing to them this week.

A Royal Wedding

As far as reports reaching Canada show, no British royalty or representatives of the Royal Family attended the wedding of Prince Jean of Luxembourg, heir to the Grand Duchy, and of Princess Josephine Charlotte, sister of King Badouin of Belgium. Three kings, three queens, forty princes and princesses and a score of lesser nobilities attended, representing families of Belgium, Luxembourg, the Netherlands, Norway, Sweden, Denmark, Leichtenstein, Austria, Italy, France and Germany. The absence of British royal representatives was conspicuous. We do not inquire the reason but only remark that honouring other princely families with their presence is one of the few active prerogatives left to the decision and inclination of the British Royal Family.

Rationalization

A press release has come to our office from Dusseldorf, notifying that a "Great Rationalization Exhibition" is being held in that Germany city in August. Are we to see a German Brains Trust performing? Have German logicians adopted western publicity methods and decided to display their mental gymnastics at side shows? No, it seems that the Great Rationalization Exhibition has a slogan and a section "A Higher Standard of Living", and it is radar, gas turbines and nuclear physics which will be demonstrated. "Research in the service of rationalization" and "Rationalization in the service of research", the publicity hand-out says. "It is surprising to see the rational methods with which applied mathematics works today". So the Grosse Rationalisierungs-Ausstellung is to come as a double surprise—"miracle brains" but no performing logicians.

NOTES AND COMMENT

The Prime Minister's official residence, completed only two years ago, needs renewals of china and glassware totalling $450 and we understand perfectly.

At a trial in Birmingham a doctor described a man as suffering from a "circumorbital haematoma"—this eventually turned out to be a black eye. The doctor was suffering from a common disease of his profession—obfuscatory sesquipedalianism.

The Island Of Sullen Men

By PATRICK O'DONOVAN
In Pusan

THE NAME Koje-do now makes an unhappy sound. Yet it is only a group of hills that rises suddenly out of the Korean seas. It is steep-sided and confused in outline. It is almost as big as the Isle of Wight. It is surrounded by other hills and by glassy water that is littered with motionless fishing boats. Its many sides are covered with coarse scrub now turning to episcopal purple and, all down one of its valleys, filling from side to side, there is a gigantic camp which from the air looks like a chicken farm. The ground is scarred and dead there; the living live behind wire; it has an unmistakeable, deadly pointlessness— chickens or prisoners.

Here are some fifty thousand soldiers from North Korea and all of them insist on repatriation. More than that, these are the prisoners of war who still continue to fight, who still by sporadic disobedience and violence and by the propaganda value of their performances, still aid and comfort our enemies in Korea. And these are the lay figures upon whose future depends the issue of peace or war.

❖ ❖ ❖

MOST of these prisoners have been fighting off and on behind wire for two years now. They have required an unnaturally large United Nations force to guard them. They represent a considerable expense in the U. N. budget. They have caused some dissension among the U. N. allies. The American counter-actions in dealing with these unprecedented prisoners have provided the Northern negotiators with some of their effective ammunition. It is clear that these prisoners work to orders which in the early days came via new prisoners for the North and were disseminated via the hospital. This contact has almost certainly been broken.

In the early days of Koje, the Americans appeared to believe that contact with democracy, the simple spectacle of American boys and of the (somewhat erratic) gentleness of occident soldiers would be enough to cure their Communism. In fact they were controlled by their own officers and last year they seized and held to ransom the American Brigadier Dodd who commanded the whole camp.

❖ ❖ ❖

TODAY the guards have an absolute control and could probably meet any prisoner-made emergency. It is control that is still contested and "incidents" will go on happening as long as the men stay behind wire. But for most of the time they are sullenly cooperative. They have built their own camp. They grow rice and vegetables at the end of their valley. They make roads and help to unload the little steamers that run like buses from the mainland. And every now and again a part of the camp explodes into violence and the prisoners sing, link arms, hurl rocks, invite death and there is at least a paragraph about them in every paper in the world.

The camps on the island are commanded by an American soldier. Colonel Taylor comes from Arkansas; he is a craggy yet nimble man who creeks with well-polished leather. He makes the drab shirt and pants of the United States Army somehow seem ceremonial and splendid. He is the antithesis of the conventional British soldier. He does not suggest that soldiering is only a part of his life; he has probably never understated anything in life. In war, in personal relations and in negotiation he is an apostle of the offensive. He sits at a semi-circular desk (made by prisoners) between two flags and in a pool of directed light and he would never leave it to go down and listen to prisoners' demands or terms.

❖ ❖ ❖

WHEN, for instance, Senior Colonel Lee Hak Koo, who engineered the capture of Brigadier Dodd, has a complaint, he must march into office and salute in a proper manner and state his complaint in a military fashion. Last time he got a military answer. He was told he was getting fat and should volunteer for work; but he didn't. When I asked about the clandestine control of prisoners, by prisoners, Colonel Taylor thumped his desk. "Look, there's only one boss on Koje." (thump). "And you are looking right at him." (thump).

Today the prisoners are kept in enclosures each surrounded by two walls of barbed wire and watched over by six towers, each of which points a machine gun like a finger at prisoners. These enclosures contain four thousand men and each is divided into eight compounds, each surrounded by two more walls of wire. The enclosures are commanded by junior American officers and the compounds by enlisted men who enter them only in twos and never carry arms. Each enclosure has a large athletic yard and each compound its own cookhouse (which supplies 2,800 calories and ten cigarettes per head a day), its washing place and laundry.

❖ ❖ ❖

THERE are separate enclosures for the men who lack legs, arms or eyes, for the aged, for the few Christians, for the women and their 23 children. There is also a small one for the Communist cell leaders, some four hundred of them, who are segregated when they are found; and there is a "Maximum Security" compound for people like Colonel Lee Hak Koo. There is also kept apart a number of murderers who cannot be tried since in international law this is no war and therefore the camp command cannot institute judicial proceedings. The most the commandant can award is a summary thirty days of close confinement..

Koje is now a stern but well-run place, and it is hardly possible now to blame the Americans for what happens there every now and again. In fact —and one's experience offers no precedent for it— the prisoners seem to insist on the beastlinesses for sound political and military reasons. But as in all prisons, the beastliness rubs off and even the most casual visitor is left a little guilty, a little ashamed. It is a miserable thing to walk through Koje and watch the prisoners watching you.

❖ ❖ ❖

THEY LIE about outside the long stone-built huts in the pale sunlight waiting for the next meal. They are dressed in odd army clothing, sufficient but shabby. They have made themselves little tin stars for their caps and painted them red and they are allowed to wear them. They do endless physical training, waving their arms and marching in circles, joylessly and without taking their jackets off. They play simple games that look like Postman's Knock but involve cruel blows across the buttocks with the brass ending of a leather belt.

Most of the day athletic yards are crowded. There are clusters of men squatting among the lines of men doing exercises, their heads close together, their eyes on the ground, talking slowly. Maybe they talk politics and organise their cells; maybe they talk of home. But most of them just seem to stand and look outwards across the wire, bored with the boredom that becomes a dull pain. Most of them are boys. All bored and bitter. All waiting on the talks between the careful delegates at Panmunjom and representing the single issue that keeps the delegates hostile. All of them, gaolers and gaoled, caught in the trap which none of them set.

NOW TO HATCH THE REAL, TOUGH EGG

Irish Characters Galore

By PAUL JENNINGS

EVERYONE KNOWS that Dublin is a city not only of character, but of characters. To see any contemporary Irish play, for instance, is to realise how difficult, and how easy, it is for an Irishman to be a dramatist. On the one hand all he has to do is to make his people talk exactly the way they do at any street corner or bar, and he will at once be sure of having written something beguiling to listen to; on the other hand, he can never be sure that he has not written, instead of a play, merely a piece of good observation.

When I was in Dublin for An Tostal, Ireland's three-week Festival of Welcome (April 5-26), a glorious hodge-podge of exhibitions, dances in the street, plays, concerts, bunting and general goodwill, I found characters all over the place. I came out of the airline terminal on a wet Sunday night. I got a taxi, but we could not get across O'Connel Street because of the surging crowds looking at the illuminations. My taxi-driver, instead of waiting in a side street, got out and said to the driver behind "Will ye stop blowin' yer horn while I turn round, for I'm going to get the hell out o' this and take the gentleman to his hotel round the back way, so he'll get there before An Tostal is a thing o' the past."

The Irish journalists, about the most hospitable I have ever met, in a hospitable profession, were always insisting that I should meet so-and-so, he's a marvellous character. ("He carries an Italian revolver, although he's no ammunition. He might be in here tonight, distributing his illegal pamphlets." And so on.) One night I was waiting for some friends in a bar. A craggy character about fifty years old came and set just in front of me. Presently he said out of the corner of his mouth: "You'd never guess, Superintendent of the Special Branch."

❖ ❖ ❖

I THOUGHT he was referring to a jolly little man with a moustache whom I'd been watching, going to one group after another and being greeted as though he's been in hospital for five years.

"No!" I said. "Is he?"

"No, I am," said the man. He was silent for a bit, then—

"How many languages can you speak?"

"Three and a half. How many can you?" (After all, I had to keep this going.)

"None."

"Well, you can speak English. That's one."

Silence.

"You seem disenchanted," I said.

"Yes, that's it. Disenchanted." Another silence. Then, "Well, I must get back to my duties. I bid you a very good evening." And he walked stiffly out.

Back in good old grey London after these stimulating encounters I was thinking sadly that the presence of industrial civilisation in England has rubbed out all this individuality, that we don't have characters like that. Driving down to Fleet Street I found myself held up at some traffic lights. Level with me in the queue was a marvellous old taxi, about 1930 vintage, being used, as is now rather fashionable in London, as a private car. It was painted brilliant yellow and blue. (I have seen one such in London painted like pink quilted satin, with gold-tasselled ropes, and medallions on the doors showing loves and cupids). The driver was a very well-dressed young man, with a high-class country cap surmounting a well-fed face. I grinned at him, and he grinned back. Then I noticed that his nearside headlamp was reversed, so that it would shine into the car.

"I love your headlamp," I said.

"Yes," said the young man seriously. "It's very useful. Sometimes, at night one quite forgets who is sitting up here beside one, and it's so useful to have a light so that one can have a look."

Over to you, Dublin.

Dug From The Deep

(Windsor Star)

A characteristic of most metals is that they always have a value. Gold can be buried for decades in vaults in Fort Knox, Kentucky, and then brought into use. Or it can lie at the bottom of the sea for years without deteriorating.

This value of metals is illustrated by a salvage ship which has just reached Sydney, Australia. It had on board most of the copper and lead cargo of the steamer Cumberland, sunk by a mine off the coast of New South Wales in 1917. The metals retrieved from the ocean floor probably are worth a lot more now than then.

The same salvage ship previously recovered 8½ tons of gold from the liner Niagara, likewise sunk by a mine in a more recent war — in 1940 off the coast of New Zealand. She is now returning to that wreck seeking the remainder of the gold, valued at $420,000.

Bible Message

(From the Authorized Version)

Come near, ye nations, to hear; and hearken, ye people: let the earth hear, and all that is therein, the world, and all things that come forth of it. (Isa. 34:1.)

❖ ❖ ❖

Say to them that are of a fearful heart, be strong, fear not: behold, your God will come with vengeance, even God with a recompence; he will come and save you . . . Then shall the lame man leap as an hart, and the tongue of the dumb sing: for in the wilderness shall waters break out, and streams in the desert.

And the parched ground shall become a pool, and the thirsty land springs of water: in the habitation of dragons, where each lay, shall be grass with reeds and rushes. And an highway shall be there, and a way, and it shall be called The way of holiness; the unclean shall not pass over it; but it shall be for those: the wayfaring men, though fools, Shall not err therein

No lion shall be there, nor any ravenous beast shall go up thereon, it shall not be found there; but the redeemed shall walk there; and the ransomed of the Lord shall return, and come to Zion with songs and everlasting joy upon their heads: they shall obtain joy and gladness, and sorrow and sighing shall flee away. (Isa. 35:4,6-10.)

❖ ❖ ❖

For the Lord shall comfort Zion: he will comfort all her waste places; and he will make her wilderness like Eden, and her desert like the garden of the Lord; joy and gladness shall be found therein, thanksgiving, and the voice of melody. (Isa. 51:3.)

Peron In Trouble

(Brantford Expositor)

President Peron of Argentina is a worried man. His immediate problems are the sky-high cost of living and growing unemployment, yet all he can think of, so far, to meet the crisis is to utter wild threats. He has warned shopkeepers that unless they stop charging more than the controlled prices he will place a soldier in each store to enforce the regulations "with the butt end of a rifle." Cattle raisers have been told that if they do not send more beasts to market troops will be ordered to storm the ranches. In another fiery public speech Peron has admitted for the first time that fewer people are in work and consequently more families are feeling the pressure of higher living costs.

The mounting economic crisis is largely of Peron's own making. Before he came to power Argentina, a preponderantly agricultural nation, exported huge quantities of meat and wheat. Her customers paid her in manufactured goods. Then came Peron with his policy of industrialization and extortionate export prices for meat and wheat. Export markets were reduced or lost, primary products piled up at home unsold, and the domestic price of meat fell so low that it did not pay the ranchers to send cattle to market. The resultant meat shortage then drove the price so high that working people who not many years ago could get a prime steak for ten cents, could not afford to buy.

The yes-men around Peron have been afraid to tell him the unpleasant truths of Argentina's plight.

Pianist Plans Switch Into Classics

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Can a jazz musician make the change to a classical artist?

English - born pianist George Shearing thinks so. He's planning to give up a successful career in theatres and night clubs and have a fling at the concert halls.

"It won't happen for another year or so," he said. "I would like to have six or seven concertos under my fingertips before I start in."

Each night after playing with his quintet before hep audiences, he studies classical compositions. He reads them in Braille, since he has been blind since he was a few weeks old.

"I'd like to go into semi-retirement," he told me. "I have a nice home in Englewood, N.J., but I only see it about two months a year. I would like to spend more time there, going out on concert dates for four or five months of the year.

"I plan to do the kind of program I have been doing at the Eastman School of Music at Rochester, N.Y., for the last two years. The school was kind enough to invite us to appear with symphony orchestra, even though we play a form of progressive jazz.

"The orchestra plays the first half of the program, and I join it in a concerto. Then the quintet and I take over for some fairly solid pieces like 'How High the Moon.' I was surprised to find the audiences highly appreciative."

Shearing would be returning to a love he left at the age of 16.

"I stopped studying the classics then to become a jazz musician," remarked the pianist, who now is 33. "I guess it was a form of laziness."

He became a top musician and arranger in England during the war years.

Shearing visited the United States in 1946, then came here in 1947. He has since taken out his first citizenship papers.

Benefit Dance Fracas Aired In Stratford Police Court

STRATFORD (CP)—A fracas at a benefit dance for the Kirkton Hockey Club was aired in court Tuesday.

The disturbance, at the community hall in Kirkton, 25 miles west of here, resulted in a charge of assault against Jack William, 78-year-old caretaker of the hall. He allegedly hit Harvey Wright of Kirkton on the nose with a poker.

Wright testified he had been asked to supply refreshments for the party. Then he was accosted at the hall by Lorne Marshall, chairman of the board of trustees administering the hall, and told he couldn't sell the merchandise in the building.

Other witnesses said Wright and Marshall came to blows after Marshall threatened to throw out the soft drinks. It was then that Williams allegedly assaulted Wright.

The case is continuing.

Taylor Pleads 3% Reduction On Betting Tax

TORONTO (CP)—E. P. Taylor of Toronto pleaded Tuesday for a reduction of the eight-per-cent betting tax on Ontario race tracks to five per cent and chided the Ontario government for what he termed its "short-sighted policy" in this respect.

In his presidential report to the 46th annual meeting of the Canadian Thoroughbred Horse Society, the Toronto millionaire sportsman declared:

"As soon as our provincial governments come to realize that through excessive taxation they are discouraging the largest spectator sport in North America, I am sure that the race tracks will do their part and provide adequate modern and up-to-date physical facilities, and better purses

"When all this comes about," he added, "provincial revenues will be very much larger at a five-per-cent tax than they are now at much higher rates."

TWO DEVELOPMENTS

Taylor said larger purse distributions depend on two developments.

"The first is that provincial governments must bring the rate of taxation down to five per cent on betting, and recognize that the imposition of a tax in excess of this is a short-sighted policy. The race tracks, under federal legislation now receive nine per cent plus breakage of the money bet, which is little enough under Canadian conditions. It can be demonstrated that all parties financially interested in racing, including governments, receive the maximum returns when the over-all 'take' out of the betting dollar does not exceed 15 per cent.

"The second requirement for better purse distribution is that racing associations must provide up-to-date and modern race tracks, which will provide comfort for the patrons, the horse men and last, but by no means least, the horses.

"Recognizing that breeders and owners throughout Canada look to Ontario for leadership, your society has made repeated representations to the Ontario government in regard to the handicap of unduly heavy taxation. So far our pleas have only met with scant success as the tax still stands at eight per cent."

APPROVE TRACK

Taylor said: "Your directors have taken note with satisfaction that the Ontario Jockey Club . . . is planning a new ultra-modern race track to eventually replace Woodbine Park in Toronto to serve the Toronto-Hamilton area, provided the Ontario government gives the necessary encouragement by making a further substantial reduction in its rate of tax."

Cost of the new plant to be situated northwest of Toronto is estimated about $10,000,000.

Taylor said that with the growth of racing the Canadian breeding industry "has been expanding in the quantity and quality of thoroughbreds produced" but "from the financial standpoint, the industry cannot be considered to be in a healthy state."

FEET AND HANDS — Jersey Joe Walcott further strengthens his legs skipping rope at Naomi Byrd's Gymnasium in Pleasantville, N.J. The 39-year-old challenger speeds up his hands punching the light bag. His 15-round match with Rocky Marciano at the Chicago Stadium was postponed until May 15.

Re-elect Taylor Society President

TORONTO (CP)—E. P. Taylor of Toronto Tuesday was re-elected president of the Canadian Thoroughbred Horse Society at its 46th annual meeting here.

Directors include F. G. Darlington, Oshawa; Howard E. Johnson, Unionville and Charles Robson, Oshawa.

J. A. Haines of Toronto was re-elected secretary-treasurer.

DO YOU OWN A CAR?

When the man who developed Bardahl Rad Conditioner brought his car to a garage for repairs, the garage owner phoned to ask him what on earth had he put in his radiator. He said that when they drained his radiator the water was so thick with dirt it would hardly pour. The Bardahl Rad Conditioner had removed rust, scale and dirt untouched by a popular brand chemical cleaner. The garage owner immediately placed an order for their own use. Since then hundreds of thousands of car owners in Canada and the United States have used Bardahl Rad Conditioner. If you own a car you should try it too . . . if your car is new it will keep your radiator in permanently new condition . . . if you have been running your car for a few years you'll be amazed at the dirt, rust and scale it will remove. Bardahl Rad Conditioner keeps radiators clean . . . eliminates rust formation which can insulate a mptor, causing harmful overheating . . . and it also lubricates and stops squeaky water pumps. Bardahl Rad Conditioner costs only 89c. Ask for it at your Service Station.

With the strong minor pro Intercounty Baseball League calmly ignoring the Ontario Baseball Association, the OBA has done an about-face on the senior situation. The idea of calling the I-C loop a major one and then listing the more amateur teams senior "A" and "B," followed by intermediate, etc., has been scrapped. So, the setup in the OBA is exactly as it was a year ago. More or less in a state of confusion. It doesn't particularly interest Peterborough this year as the Petes aren't operating. However, it does to some extent inasmuch as Oshawa Transporters are in the Lakeshore League, which also embraces our junior Liflocs.

* * * * * *

Oshawa Transporters now are applying to the Lakeshore Loop for an intermediate "A" rating on the grounds that Oshawa Merchants of the I-C cricuit is the big team in the Motor City. Thus, if granted that concession by the league, the Transporters could possibly win out and go into intermediate "A" playdowns. Or, if they felt strong enough, they could enter senior playdowns in late summer. Or they could sit on the fence for quite a spell without making up their minds. But we believe the league has a deadline date in which clubs must declare their category in the case of a club having a choice. Cobourg's Roy Dodge, perennial lakeshore president, rules that roost wisely and with a firm hand. Incidentally, play in this loop opens on May 16.

Painting The Players

There's a lot of fun and screwy happenings in baseball. The London, Ont., scribe had an item the other day on "an experiment made some years ago by Ray Dumont, head of the Sandlot Baseball Congress. An inventive type of guy, Dumont once tried to stage night baseball without lights. He painted the players, bats and balls with phosphorescent paint. It was hardly a glowing success. Then Dumont, trying to improve umpiring, invented an electric eye which recorded whether pitches were balls or strikes. It worked but he scrapped the gadget. Explaining his action, he said: 'Who wants to razz an electric eye?' "

Down in baffling Belleville, they plan a peculiar alley bowling tourney. Let George Carver describe it: "The new counting system goes like this: Gone is that old bowling nemesis, the four-pin. In its place we will have a two-pin. Not much improvement, though, for we must still knock this pin off to count. To balance things up, they've decided to put another two-pin at the other corner. And where they put the five? It now becomes the head-pin. Only the three-pin remains in its old spot, and just so this pin won't be lonely, another three-pin is to stand in for our old friend the two-pin. The one-pin will now be out of business and will join the four-pin in the discard." Hm, confusing and probably quite amusing.

Pats Play Junior OLA

Our junior "A" entry in the OLA this season is to be known as the Peterborough Pats, and still sponsored by Frank Patterson. Now, that's a nice, short name, one easily remembered. Their grouping hasn't been drawn up yet, but the club will probably have about 15 home games in the schedule. They'll play all home games here — none being transferred— and at Miller Bowl. Season ducats are only a dollar, and these allow one adult or two children in for each game. As the regular charge for each game is half a slug, this is quite a bargain. Doug Miller, Jr., is busy getting his squad selected at drills and in condition. His dad, Ald. Doug Miller, recently donated to the club the new dressing room built for them at the Bowl last year.

Men's City Softball League opens its schedule on May 21, playing double-headers each Tuesday and Thursday night at the Bowl. Four definite entries so far, East City, the TPT Truckers, UEW and Lakefield, under a city sponsor. Executive still hopes that Keene will come in to make it a five-club circuit, but George Hawkes is working nights and no one else has taken over yet. Buck Legrow will manager the Truckers (who will use many of the Petes' puckists) and George Bennett is coach. No increase in admission to loop games this year, the twin bills commencing at seven p.m., and they plan a big opening evening with a dozen or more prizes up. Some of the teams are nearly ready to commence training.

32 Russians Head Back For Home

NAPLES, Italy (AP)—Thirty-two Russians—16 wrestlers and one political commissar for each athlete—headed back for the Soviet today following last week's Greco-Roman championships.

They declined all requests for interviews. Their longest oration was delivered by I. I. Kotkas, their giant heavyweight, who asked:

"Why you ask questions? We came here to wrestle."

The Russians won the title, but Kotkas was defeated.

Trapped Goose

Tri-Bells Win Senior Cage Crown

EDMONTON (CP)—Toronto Nortown Tri-Bells won the Canadian senior men's basketball title by defeating University of Alberta Golden Bears 65-61 Tuesday night in the fifth and deciding game of their best-of-five final. Both teams had won two games previously.

It was the first Dominion senior title for Tri-Bells, won last year by Tillsonburg Livingstons. They were presented with the Montreal Sportsman Trophy after the game.

Tri-Bells were never in trouble after coming from behind to end the first quarter with a 17-17 tie. They led 32-26 at the half and 51-42 at three-quarter time.

Fred Thomas and Glen Pettinger of Tri-Bells were the top scorers with 17 points each. Ray Thomas netted nine for Toronto

Ed Lucht led the Alberta attack with 15 points and Norm Macintosh followed with 12.

OUTSHOT WEST

Tri-Bells out-shot the Western Canada champions 75-55 and had a shooting accuracy of 22 compared with 16 for the Golden Bears. Toronto passed well and never showed any lack of control. Golden Bears, on the other hand, at times were hesitant and slow

Toronto's big edge in the game came in the second and third quarters. They took a 25-17 lead in the second quarter before Arnold Ottenbreit netted a field goal for Golden Bears' first points in the quarter.

Tri-Bells took the six-point lead in the second quarter and doubled it on fine shooting. Fred Thomas netted nine points in the second quarter, eight of them on baskets.

Coach Paul Thomas of Tri-Bells changed his three giant centres frequently and kept them in action around the backboards where it counted. Rested often, they had plenty of drive to outjump Alberta's lone tall centre, Lucht who played almost the entire game before fouling out late in the third quarter.

Tri-Bells' close checking held the Golden Bears at a safe distance. Toronto broke up passing plays and moved in quickly to take possession, sometimes on interceptions, as the Golden Bears passed just a moment too late.

Longest Race Season Ends At Gulfstream

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—The longest and most prosperous horse racing season in Florida history ended Tuesday at Gulfstream Park.

Starting Nov. 27 at Tropical Park, the season ran for 174 days at Tropical, Hialeah, Sunshine and Gulfstream. Total attendance was 1,949,543 and pari-mutuel wagering hit $152,194,756.

This far exceeded the $141,513,832 bet during 171 days of the 1951-52 season and made the $108,173,554 bet in the free-spending post-war days of 1946-47 look puny.

Stave Off Elimination

Dutchmen Down Rideaus

KITCHENER (CP)—Kitchener-Waterloo Dutchmen staved off elimination in the Eastern Canada senior hockey finals Tuesday night by defeating Smiths Falls Rideaus 6-1.

The victory left the glittering Allan Cup semi-final tied at three games apiece with the seventh and deciding game scheduled for Ottawa Thursday. The winner advances to the Allan Cup finals which start Saturday.

The Dutchmen had their backs to the wall as they faced the Ottawa Valley champions. The home team made a shaky start but managed to grab a 1-0 lead on a goal by Don Rope and hold onto it for 40 minutes.

The Rideaus, who had opened up smartly and held the edge for most of the first period, gradually slowed down during the scoreless second in which the Dutchmen had the better of the territorial play.

GIVEN MISCONDUCT

Also in the second period, Rideau's Ray Trainor, called for an interference penalty on Don Bauer, lost his temper in a discussion with referee Jack Shropshire and talked himself into a misconduct. The overworked Rideau defence weakened rapidly from then on.

Dutchmen poured 20 shots at Rideaus' goalie Johnny Craig in the final frame and five of their shots went home.

Charlie Brooker drove in a rebound off Bauer's screened shot to make it 2-0. Fifty-five seconds later, Bauer backhanded an angle shot on Brooker's pass and scored. A three-way play which ended with Rope sinking a backhander at close range made it 4-0.

ADD, ANOTHER

Twenty seconds later, the Dutchmen added another when Harry Psutka fired a screened shot. Dutchman centre Greig Hicks eased the puck away from Ed Mulligan in front of the Smiths Falls goal and whistled it home to push the score to 6-0.

Rideaus scored their only goal and robbed Keith Woodall of a shutout when Dusty Blair snared a loose puck and scored at 14:35. Woodall kicked out 15 Rideau drives in the first period.

Eight Teams See Action As League Opens

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The International League opens its 70th season today with all eight teams scheduled to see action.

The triple-A circuit has been moving farther north in recent years to get away from big league television.

With Newark and Jersey City no longer in the league, Baltimore is the only city close to the majors. Baltimore is between Philadelphia and Washington.

But even the Orioles may not be around long. Bill Veeck tried to scotch St. Louis Browns there this year and there are some who predict that Baltimore will be in the majors in another year or two.

President Frank Shaughnessy said that while no sellouts are expected, crowds of from 5,000 to 15,000 should turn out for the four games.

OPENING SCHEDULE

The opening day schedule with starting times, probable attendance and probable pitchers (times are Eastern Standard):

Ottawa at Syracuse, 3 p.m., 8,000 Courtney Semple vs Duke Markell.

Montreal at Rochester, 2:30 p.m., 12,000-15,000, Tom LaSorda or Ken Lehman vs Ellis Deal.

Buffalo at Baltimore, 8:15 p.m., 10,000; Frank Larry vs. Jocka Thompson.

Toronto at Springfield, 8:15 p.m., 5,000; Don Johnson vs. George Long.

WEEK LATER

The league is opening a week later than usual, and Shaughnessy pointed out considerable bad weather was avoided. The prediction for all four cities was fair and warmer weather.

Montreal Royals, a farm club of Brooklyn Dodgers and last year's pennant winner, again are favored although Rochester Red Wings, who knocked them out of the playoffs, also will be strong.

There is one new manager, Bruce Edwards at Springfield. Burleigh Grimes will be starting his first full season as Toronto pilot after being hired last July.

Philadelphia Drops Dodgers Whips Old Buddy In 7-1 Tilt

By BEN PHLEGAR, Associated Press Staff Writer

Manager Steve O'Neill had a real good Chuckle today at the expense of Brooklyn Dodgers. His Philadelphia Phillies dumped the Dodgers 7-1 Tuesday night. To make the triumph sweeter, they beat their old buddy, Ross Meyer. The Phillies have been fighting a more or less losing battle in their efforts to convince the rest of the National League they didn't guarantee another pennant for Brooklyn when they traded Meyer last February.

But Tuesday night Meyer came back to Philadelphia for the first time in a Brooklyn uniform and the Phils needed less than five innings to make him wish he hadn't.

To the delight of a jeering crowd of 14,309, the Phils scored three runs in the first inning, then chased Meyer with an uprising in the fifth that included a home run by Del Ennis with one on. Lefty Curt Simmons struck out eight and gave up only five hits for his second straight victory.

Brooklyn held the league lead when Cincinnati defeated St. Louis Cards 5-4 at St. Louis in another night game, with Harry Perkowski gaining the nod over Harvey Haddix.

EDGE GIANTS 5-4

In the other National League game, also at night, Pittsburgh Pirates edged New York Giants 5-4 behind the seven-hit pitching of Bob Friend.

The Giants Sal Maglie, who had a lifetime record of 15-3 against Pittsburgh, lasted only four innings and departed trailing by three runs.

A home run by Joe Collins and Allie Reynolds' six-hit pitching gave New York Yankees a 1-0 verdict over Boston Red Sox; Cleveland snapped St. Louis Browns' four-game winning streak with a 4-3 decision; Chicago outlasted Detroit 7-5 and Washington whipped Philadelphia 5-1 at night in American League contests.

Milwaukee and Chicago in the National League weren't scheduled.

HAD TO BEAR DOWN

Bob Lemon had to bear down all the way against the hustling Browns and finally cut them off with the bases loaded in the ninth. The loss left the Browns in a first-place tie with the Yankees.

Billy Pierce, like Lemon the author of a one-hitter in his first appearance, needed help from Harry Dorish as the White Sox took the measure of the Tigers in Detroit.

Lefthander Chuck Stobbs of Washington pitched 5 2-3 innings of hitless ball against the Athletics until Dave Philley singled.

They'll Do It Every Time — By Jimmy Hatlo

Young Boxer Dies In Fight

WORCESTER, Mass. (AP)—Dick Miller of Warren, undefeated young professional welterweight boxer, died Tuesday night in his dressing room minutes after failing to answer the bell for the fifth round of a scheduled six-rounder in Mechanics Hall.

Miller seemed to be well ahead of Jimmy Brown of Hartford, Conn., in a furious bout when he suffered a stunning smash to the stomach just before the bell ended the fourth round.

Miller's seconds were working over him when he lost consciousness and slid from his stool.

Dr. Frank H. Carr, boxing commission physician, pronounced Miller dead in the dressing room. The cause of death was not determined immediately.

Hint U.S. Interests To Control Track

MONTREAL (CP)—The Gazette, in a sports page story, says today controlling interest in Connaught Park race track in Ottawa may be sold to United States interests within the next week for an estimated $500,000.

T. P. Gorman, prominent Ottawa promoter who recently obtained a major stock interest in the track, refused to reveal details of the deal when questioned, but did say "negotiations with New York interests" are under way.

Japanese Prince Completes Canadian Tour

By W. R. WHEATLEY

MONTREAL (CP)—Crown Prince Akihito of Japan entered the United States today, his 11-day official tour of Canada from Victoria to Montreal ended.

The 19-year-old prince sails today from New York aboard the liner Queen Elizabeth for England, where he will attend the Coronation in June. He will make an official tour of the United States on his way home.

His last official function in Montreal Tuesday was a reception for 800 members of Japanese-Canadian organizations in the city.

Prior to this, Prince Akihito held a small, private reception and among the guests was Paul-Emile Cardinal Leger, archbishop of Montreal, who founded and directed a seminary in Japan for some years.

As he entered the reception for the Japanese-Canadians, Canada's national anthem was played, followed by the Japanese national anthem.

CALL FOR BANZAI

As the reception ended the speaker called on those present for the traditional "banzai."

The prince smiled and gestured to the crowd, and at one point, when the gathering was applauding him, he applauded as well.

As he left, photographers halted him for pictures. A photographer's bulb popped loudly and one of the RCMP constables standing by F-86 Sabre—at the end of he assembly lines.

Outside the plant, in cloudy, chilly weather, he watched Wing Cmdr. Hedley Everard do aerobatics in an F-86.

Then he was whisked off to the waterfront for a tour of the harbor.

The prince donned a long white coat and wore a white cap for a look at the unloading of grain from a ship and a freight car. With the grain dust still flying about, he was taken to the top of the elevator.

PRINCE AMUSED

The coat and cap appeared to amuse him. He smiled, almost self-consciously like a youngster in some fancy new attire, as he walked along the pier.

On his return to the hotel he appeared before the press and read a brief statement in Japanese. He said he was impressed by the harmonious relations between the English-and French-speaking people of Montreal and the "blending of the cultures of two great peoples." moved quickly towards the prince's party. When the constable realized what had happened he stepped back. The prince hadn't moved during the incident.

Prince Akihito smiled and gestured later as he made his way through the station concourse to his special car.

He made two brief appearances on the platform before the train left.

COVERS GROUND

In a busy 13 hours winding up his Canadian visit, Prince Akihito saw Montreal from Mount Royal. Then he walked through two huge plants of the Canadair Company and inspected machinery and two jet planes—a T-33 trainer and an

Ban On Dancing In Force Again

QUEBEC (CP)—Quebec City's ban on dancing is in force again.

City administrative committee Tuesday killed a bylaw adopted April 2 by city council which authorized dancing in night clubs and cafes provided dance floors were 25 by 15 feet.

[illegible] new dance halls during the bylaw's short, stormy [illegible] day groups swamped city hall with petitions and letters of protests. Others, including Roman Catholics, said in petitions they approved the bylaw.

Transport Arriving

SEATTLE (AP)—The transport Marine Lynx is due here Thursday from the Far East with 2,473 military passengers, including 1,023 Canadian men and 40 Canadian officers. The others are mostly United States army men.

Ask Yearly Review Of CBC Revenues

OTTAWA (CP) — Progressive Conservative and Social Credit spokesmen Tuesday night called for annual parliamentary review during the next three years of the proposed tax-based revenues for CBC radio and television operations.

J. M. Macdonnell (PC—Toronto Greenwood) termed "unsound" the plan to finance the CBC through the 15-per-cent excise tax on radio and TV sets and TV picture tubes. Income from the tax will replace the annual $2.50 radio licence fee, now abolished.

He was joined in the Commons debate by Donald Fleming (PC—Toronto Eglinton) and Rev. E. G. Hansell (SC—Macleod) in urging that the transfer of the tax revenues to the CBC be subject to annual parliamentary review rather than being made a statutory provision for the next three years.

Revenue Minister McCann, who reports to Parliament for the public - owned CBC, said the CBC must plan its work years ahead, and radio and television needed long-term planning.

PURELY ACCIDENTAL

The debate arose after Dr. McCann introduced a resolution paving the way for a bill to implement the new government policy on CBC revenues. The bill was introduced and given first reading.

Dr. McCann said the excise tax on radio and TV sales would yield an estimated $10,500,000 in 1952-53.

Mr. Macdonnell said it was accidental that CBC requirements and tax revenues happened to match closely now. In future, they could be far apart.

Mr. Hansell said Canadians who hailed the abolition of the radio licence fee should know the "government is going to get it out of them just the same." The government was merely taking the money from another pocket and "taking twice as much."

CBC television policies were also dealt with in the Commons broadcasting committee, which was told the CBC plans to extend its direct television network to Winnipeg and Halifax by 1956.

TO EXTEND TOWERS

A. D. Dunton, chairman of the CBC board of governors, said the string of micro-wave towers to link Toronto, Ottawa and Montreal this year would be extended to Windsor and Quebec City by next year and to Winnipeg and Halifax by 1956.

The CBC had set early fall as target date for completion of its TV stations in Winnipeg and Vancouver, with Halifax broadcasting early next year.

E. D. Fulton (PC — Kamloops) and Tom Goode (L—Burnaby-Richmond) raised the question of developing Canadian TV programs and talent.

Mr. Dunton said private stations would find it cheaper to import American programs rather than develop Canadian talent and programs. To achieve this latter aim, the CBC and private stations must co-operate closely.

Mr. Fulton said development of Canadian programs would not be delayed by letting private stations enter any area before the CBC.

Mr. Dunton said Private stations could not financially support Canadian programs. Once they were devoted to supporting American programs he could not see how it would be financially possible to develop Canadian shows.

Canadian Chamber Endorses Plea For Freer World Trade

OTTAWA (CP)—The Canadian council of the International Chamber of Commerce today endorsed pleas for freer world trade, elimination of exchange restrictions and abolition of unnecessary customs formalities.

Views of the council were outlined in a brief prepared for presentation to the Senate committee on Canadian trade relations. The brief was presented by a delegation, headed by D. P. Cruikshank of Ottawa.

The brief said the Canadian council accepts the principle of the international chamber's five-point program calling for:

1. More liberalized world trade, with an expanding volume of imports as well as exports;
2. Reduction of special trade restrictions and formalities to a minimum.
3. Free convertibility of currencies.
4. Creation of a favorable atmosphere to foreign investment in capital-importing countries.
5. Retention of trade in private hands.

SHOUUD FREE TRADE

Countries with convertible currencies and ample reserves should free their trade.

"There can be no hope of a restoration and maintenance of convertibility without a lowering of trade barriers resulting in an expansion of world trade," said the brief. "The creditor nations have a special responsibility in this respect."

Convertibility funds should be established, said the brief, to help countries out of temporary difficulties that might arise after all currencies have been made convertible.

Measures should be taken to relieve foreign exchange markets.

"An example of this would be the willingness of a creditor government to accept payment in the currency of the other country," said the brief.

STABILIZE SITUATION

A freer movement of capital "would not only aid the volume of trade but would also tend to stabilize the balance of payments situation, provided flight of capital was prevented."

The brief recalled that the international chamber has drafted a treaty under which governments would agree to provide fair treatment for foreign capital.

"The chamber believes that the capital-importing country should treat foreign investments on the same favorable basis as investments made by its own nationals," said the brief.

The Canadian council backed a request of the international chamber for withdrawal of governments from the field of trade.

"We strongly believe that the open market, where private traders may buy and sell in accordance with their needs, is the only satisfactory means of reflecting the actual supply and demand of commodities entering into international trade and hence of establishing realistic world prices."

Three Killed, 125 Injured In Derailment

DILLON, S. C.,—(AP)—An Atlantic Coast Line railroad streamliner, speeding northward with a load of happy vacationists, hopped the rails Monday night and piled up on a frosty field near here.

Three persons are known dead and at least 125 injured. The injured included two Canadians—Ethel Love and her sister, Mrs. E. Morrison, both of Montreal. They suffered only slight cuts on the legs and are in "good shape," doctors said.

The East Coast Champion, an all-coach train bound from Miami to New York, carried an estimated 300 persons in its 12 coaches, two lounge cars, two diners and a baggage car.

Fireman Charlie Hunt of Rocky Mount, N.C., who died in the burning diesel locomotive, is the only victim positively identified so far.

CAUSE NOT KNOWN

L. S. Jeffords, the ACL's vice-president in charge of operations, said the cause of the derailment had not been determined.

Injured men, women and children were pulled from the wreckage. Ambulances and private cars gathered from communities about the rolling countryside rushed them to hospitals in seven surrounding towns. Hospitals said many were critically hurt.

Rescue workers cut many imprisoned passengers out with acetylene torches. Doctors crawled in to administer pain-killing drugs to sufferers.

Uninjured passengers ran out into the darkness and stumbled through a collard patch and over plowed fields to reach a bonfire kindled by chilled survivors. One little girl rushed to the baggage car and got out her puppy.

RETURNING HOME

Many of those aboard were returning to northern homes from Florida vacations and were lightly clad. Word of the accident spread rapidly through this tobacco-growing community, and residents turned out to provide rides for sufferers and survivors into town.

Sections of the derailed train caught fire. The flames delayed rescuers in getting into several cars. The derailment occurred on a straightway on the northbound side of the double track at a point where a siding intersects. Two of the six cars that remained upright ran into the siding.

FBI agents, after a check of the area, ruled out sabotage as a wreck cause. Railroad spokesmen said the Champion was running about 75 to 80 miles an hour and was on schedule.

EXPECTING A VISITOR—These eager little girls, dressed in national costume and waving Union Jacks, lined the station concourse to greet Crown Prince Akihito of Japan as he arrived in Montreal. The Japanese costume captured all eyes—but the little girl, (second from left), with her strictly Canadian saddle shoes, struck a homey note.

Red Wounded Coached To Show Joy

PANMUNJOM (AP) — Chinese sick and wounded are being coached to put on a show of joy and emotion upon their return to the Communists, Lieut. James Yarbrough said today.

Yarbrough heads the five-man interpreter team handling the Chinese at the Red reception centre in this prisoner exchange zone.

"On the first day," he said, "the Chinese prisoners were gloomy and showed no signs of emotion during the entire transfer procedure.

"On the second day the prisoners shouted 'Down with American Imperialism,' 'Thank You Mao Tze-tung.' They sang and yelled as they were carried away in Red ambulances from the Communist reception point."

Yarbrough said he believed the Communists had placed "cheerleaders in each bus to lead the returned sick and wounded in singing Communist songs."

"It was obviously put on. It was not spontaneous."

Three or four Chinese dropped propaganda leaflets, obviously prepared on their ambulance ride from Munsan to Panmunjom, Yarbrough said. The leaflets were all handwritten and of different sizes.

One Communist soldier was found with stale bread and rotten potatoes in his pockets, Yarbrough added.

Alan Winnington, correspondent for the Communist London Daily Worker, asked Allied correspondents: "Is your economy so bad as to have to feed our soldiers such bad food?"

Yarbrough expressed belief that the returning Communist prisoners were afraid of the reception they would get from their own people. Most of the demonstrations, he said, perhaps were prompted by a desire to show their own people what good Communists and anti-Americans they were.

Bishop Dedicates Tablet, Curtain At St. Paul's

MARMORA— (ENS) — Extra seating had to be used at St. Paul's Anglican Church Sunday to accommodate the large congregation assembled to greet Right Rev. K. C. Evans, D. D., Lord Bishop of Ontario on his first official visit to the parish.

Canon J. M. Brownlie called upon the Bishop to dedicate a brass tablet on the north wall of the nave inscribed: "To the Glory of God and in loving memory of Mary McGlennon Crawford and her husband, Arthur Hamilton Crawford, B. A., M.D., M. R. C. S., L. R. C. P., the floor covering and carpet in this church are laid. Eastertide 1952." These memorials to Dr. and Mrs. A. H. Crawford were the gift of their daughter and son-in-law Mr. and Mrs. Wellard Bridges of Boston, Mass.

Next to be dedicated were a purple dorsal curtain, the gift of the late John Davidson and Mrs. Davidson in memory of their son, Donald, and purple book marks in memory of Miss Sarah Campbell.

Bishop Evans confirmed 13 candidates. Canon Brownlie read the preface following their presentation and the scriptural portions were read by the lay reader, W. J. Cotterell. Prior to the laying on of hands, the Bishop addressed the class upon the vows they were about to take upon themselves and the hymn "Come Holy Ghost, Our Souls Inspire" was sung kneeling. Preceding his sermon, Bishop Evans expressed his pleasure at visiting St. Paul's. He spoke on the parable of "The Pearl of Great Price."

He said that there was the tendency among people in interpreting the words of Christ to bring them down to our own level. But some of Christs words were difficult to understand because He was not only man but God also. Many of His words were beyond our reach and were of value because of that. The parable was about on ordinary business man who like all business men, was concerned about profit. He found it a good business to buy pearls and sell them again. The kingdom of heaven is profitable but is that really all that Christ teaches in the parable that honesty is the best policy becaues it pays dividends?

Some countries have considered it in recent years not good business to be connected with the Church of Christ. The interests of the man in Christ's parable led him to travel in search of pearls. His love of pearls was greater than his business so when his discovered the one of great price, he sold all the others and all he had to obtain it, allowing his love of pearls to over rule him.

Jesus says through the parable "You are a business man and you have to remain in buusiness for the world needs all that." But if you discover Christ and eternal life, you will be ready to jump overboard for it."

The preacher then mentioned that the pearl is not only beautiful and perfect but also the outgrowth of substance through pain.

The death of Christ was from the heart of pain but the brilliance of the pearl seen in the reality of Easter came form pain.

Flowers on the altar were in memory of Mr. F. A. Newell and Mrs. E. Whittemore, being the gift of Mr. and Mrs. C. R. Whittemore.

At the close of the service, Bishop and Mrs. Evans were introduced to the congregation which included several former mebers as well as members of St. Mark's, Bonarlaw. They were the guests of Canon and Mrs. J. M. Brownlie at the rectory during their stay.

Congress Bills Would Delay Seaway Plan

TORONTO (CP)—St. Lawrence Seaway bills before the United States Congress would only delay the project, Transport Minister Chevrier said Tuesday night.

Recent U. S. proposals for joint U.S.-Canada construction of the seaway phase of the navigation-power development were referred to by the minister in an address prepared for the former members of Council Association, a group of former Toronto city council members.

He said a Senate bill sponsored by Senator Alexander Wiley (Rep. Wis.) was "unquestionably intended to be helpful" but "in effect only helps to delay the power application" now before the U.S. federal power commission.

IINFINITELY BETTER

"It is, however, infinitely better than the Lehman bill, which would have us begin all over again and put us back where we were in 1941," he added.

(The Wiley bill would have the U.S. build navigation facilities in the international section of the river, with Canada building works in the Canadian section downstream. The bill of Senator H. H. Lehman (Dem. N.Y.) would revive a 1941 treaty plan for a joint undertaking generally.)

Mr. Chevrier described seaway delays in Washington as "frustrating."

Zone Officers From Peterborough Visit Apsley Legion

APSLEY (ENS)—The Canadian Legion Auxiliary had as their guest Friday night Zone Representative Mrs. Arnold Parrington of Peterborough. With her was the Standard Bearer Mrs. Jack Gray who presented the flag.

Other visitors were Mesdames J. Earnshaw, Woods, C. S. Windsor and Mrs. George Stevens, president of Peterborough branch.

The new bylaw books were used for the first time.

Mrs. Parrington spoke of the zone rally to be held in Lakefield early in May and the convention to be held in Ottawa in October. The representative complimented the auxiliary on their work as they are few in number and some living distances away. She also complimented the men and ladies on their newly-erected hall with kitchen and dining hall in basement.

Goods were distributed to be made into articles for sale at the bazaar to be held during the summer.

Boxes of greeting cards were offered for sale.

A card party was planned for the near future.

At the conclusion of meeting lunch was served by members from tastily arranged tables.

Army Buildings Follow Trend Of Times

OTTAWA (CP)—The government is rolling with the psychological punch of the times in building homes and schools for families of members of the armed forces, the Commons defence committee was told Tuesday.

David Mansur, head of the Central Mortgage and Housing Corporation, testified that it mainly builds homes rather than multiple apartment dwellings as married quarters because the modern housewife doesn't like the idea of bringing up her children under apartment conditions. The average home cost $10,670, the apartment type $13,500. The latter would cost less to heat and maintain.

CMHC also was building single-storey schools, even though two-storey schools would cost 15 to 20 per cent less, because the former "are the fashion to a large degree."

FIRE HAZARD

Mr. Mansur said the objections to two-storey schools are "getting children upstairs and making them subject to fire hazard."

Mr. Mansur reported that CMHC has directed the building of 26 schools for the defence department at a cost of roughly $9,500,000 and said this accounts for about 80 per cent of the work now envisaged. Schools were being held up in Comox, B.C., Penhold, Alta., Moose Jaw and Saskatoon in an effort to get less-costly tenders.

Open Verdict

SARNIA (CP)—A coroner's jury Tuesday night delivered an open verdict at an inquest into the death of two-year-old George Henderson, who died of shock and burns after flames gutted the basement apartment of his parents. The jury found only that the child's death was attributable to "fire of undetermined origin."

Edward Johnson Given Canadian Club Award

NEW YORK (CP)—Edward Johnson, famed Canadian-born operatic tenor and former general manager of the Metropolitan Opera Company, Tuesday night received the Canadian Club of New York award.

Johnson, a member of the club for 22 years, was made the fourth recipient of the award "in recognition of his outstanding contribution to the world of music." The late W. L. Mackenzie King was a previous recipient.

In making the award, Clark H. Minor, chairman of the award committee, said that Johnson, "as a musician and leader in the world of music. . . has given unstintingly of his time and energy to the cause of better understanding and closer friendship between the people of the United States and Canada, and has devoted himself to making music a more vital element in the life of both countries."

In accepting the award, Johnson said that no honor he had previously received "moved me more deeply than this. . . which you so graciously have bestowed on me tonight."

ENJOYS APPLAUSE

Thanking his audience for the warmth of their reception, he said the "fringe of the operatic stage still clings to me sufficiently that the sound of applause is music to my ears. Old tenors, you know, like General MacArthur's old soldiers, never die, they just lose their voices."

President William J. Donald, in his introductory address, called the Guelph-born singer "one of Canada's most distinguished citizens, and a figure of world renown in his chosen field.

"As a musician, his talents speak a universal language that transcends the barriers of race, creed and speech, as well as national and even inter-continental boundaries."

Donald recalled how Johnson had made his opera debut in Italy in 1912, spent five seasons with La Scala in Milan, later returning to ted general manager of the Metropolitan Opera Association—"probably the most exacting administrative job in the entire musical world."

AIDS EDUCATION

Since his retirement as general manager in 1950, he has devoted full time and energy to the cause of musical education.

Johnson now is chairman of the board of directors of the Royal Conservatory of Music, Toronto, chancellor of the Chicago Musical New York in 1922 where he joined the Met.

In 1935, after achieving success as an opera star, he was appoin- College, member of the board of directors of the Metropolitan Opera Association, the Juilliard School of Music, and the Bagby Music Foundation of New York City.

Much of Johnson's effort has been directed toward establishing a higher standard of university training for those who are going to be teachers of music in Canadian public and high schools.

Move Motion Of Censure Over Emergency Powers

OTTAWA (CP)—The Progressive Conservative party has moved a motion of censure against the government, charging misuse of emergency powers.

The official Opposition was joined Tuesday in the Commons by the CCF and Social Credit parties in condemning the government for using emergency power—while Parliament is sitting—to order a ban on Canadian merchant ships going to North Korea and the Red China coast. A vote on the non-confidence motion probably will come Thursday.

The vote was delayed Tuesday night on a series of technicalities.

While all opposition groups concurred in the principle of the ban aimed against the running of war contraband, they united behind the motion labelling order-in-council action as a "violation of the rights of Parliament."

Trade Minister Howe described as "nonsensical" and "picayune" the opposition parties' challenge to the way the order was made. He said the United States and the United Kingdom acted the same way to halt shipping to Red ports in the Far East.

CENTRE OF CONTROVERSY

Centre of the controversy was an order-in-council passed by the government Saturday and tabled in the House Monday, prohibiting Canadian ships going to the Red areas except under licence. The order was passed under the Emergency Powers Act that Parliament recently extended for a year to March 31, 1954.

The action was taken in conjunction with other Western countries. a government spokesman said Tuesday that for Canada it was largely an insurance measure, as no Canadian ships have travelled to the banned area since the outbreak of the Korean war.

That point evidently stimulated opposition criticism of the use of emergency powers. Members of the Progressive Conservative, CCF and Social Credit parties said the ban should have gone through the regular procedure of Parliament.

Howard Green (PC—Vancouver-Quadra), who moved the motion, called the order-in-council a "defiance of Parliament." He said that only recently Prime Minister St. Laurent, seeking extension of the life of the emergency powers, said they would be used only while Parliament was not sitting.

"POWER MAD"

He called the government "power-mad" and said it has "deliberately passed up Parliament."

It could have obtained a ban through an amendment to the Canada Ships Act, Mr. Green said, but instead it had chosen to "just walk in, throw an order on the table and expect Parliament to swallow it."

Mr. Green's charge that the rights of Parliament had been abrogated was supported by M. J. Coldwell, CCF leader, and Solon Low, social Credit leader, who said their parties will back up the Progressive Conservatives on the non-confidence vote.

Mr. Howe—senior minister in the House when the storm blew up late in the night session—said other NATO countries have acted, or are about to act, in the same way as the Canadian government.

NEED ACTION

"Could anything be more nonsensical," he asked, "than his picayune idea that if we want to stop contraband, we cannot do it by executive action?"

The government, he said, already has power to send troops, warships and aircraft to Korea, yet "we are told that the endorsement given by the House for that purpose is not broad enough to stop contraband being carried into Korea by Canadian ships."

"It is customary," the minister added, "that when something has to be done in a matter of this kind, to do it and not talk about it."

He suggested the Progressive Conservatives were using "the Conservative line" that "you did the right thing, but you did it in the wrong way."

DOT'S A CAMPAIGN SHIRT—In the heat of a vigorous pre-election campaign, President Elpidio Quirino wears a dot-patterned, wispish chiffon shirt, said to be the latest fashion in the Philippines. Quirino is examining a rare flower during a pause in Manila.

Hard To Train Polite Drivers

TORONTO (CP)—It may be easier to educate motorists to be careful than to be courteous, J. Alex Edmison, assistant principal of Queen's University, said Tuesday night.

"Heaven knows we will need both care and courtesy as the number of cars continue to increase," he said in an address to a conference banquet of the Industrial Accident Prevention Associations.

"Yes, we need driving instruction. We need the advice of traffic engineers. We need the best counsel of safety experts. But in this, as in so many other things in life, we need most of all a rigid devotion to the golden rule."

Mr. Edmison said that in the last 25 years 180,000 Canadians met violent deaths in highway accidents, by drowning, in fires and other accidents. Many of the traffic accidents resulting in death and injury were avoidable.

Approve Plans For Pinery

LONDON, Ont. (CP)—Plans to take over the Pinery as a conservation and recreation area for Western Ontario were unanimously endorsed Tuesday by 40 representatives of municipalities and organizations at a meeting called by London Chamber of Commerce.

Divergent opinions appeared when methods of financing purchase and development of the Pinery were brought up.

Ausable river conservation authority was asked to set up a committee to co-ordinate publicity for the project and to try to settle the different views on financing presented at the meeting.

Each municipality represented on a proposed six-man commission—London, Sarnia, Huron, Perth, Lambton and the Ausable river authority—would contribute $5,000 a year for three years. The province would be asked to contribute the remainder.

H. S. Bennett, Sarnia Chamber of Commerce, said it was doubtful if Sarnia would support the proposal, but promised full support of his organization in an educational campaign to tell the people what could be done with the Pinery.

May Annex Strip Of Land West Of City

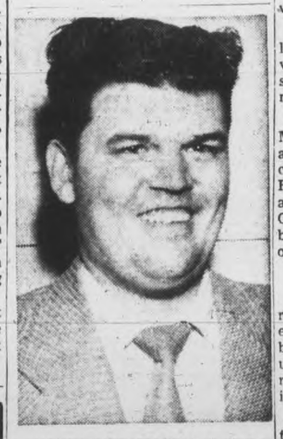
Slice Of Township From Western Ave. To Parkhill Rd.

The prospect of annexing another strip of North Monaghan probably between the Peterborough-Port Hope Highway at Western Avenue and Parkhill Road, on the north will be discussed by the city council with representatives of the township.

This was a proposal of the council in committee of the whole on Monday night as a further preliminary to any action in advancing the west boundary of the city to embrace properties for which the Westbrook Company sub-division plans and city main sewer are being considered.

City Engineer Chalmers has given the council estimates of the cost of the proposed sewer in the several sections from Clonsilla to Weller Street in the south along Western Avenue., Lansdowne Street, Erskine, Borden, Monaghan Road.

City Clerk Outram reported on Monday night purchase from the Albert Vass estate of a Sherbrooke Street frontage of 315 feet for $2,200. A motion by Aldermen Anglesey and Rehill authorized acceptance. The extra width there provides ample front for the turns into the bypass highway that is part of the broad plan of securing a strip of property along the east side of Hilltop Farm and also Civic Hospital land. It was said that more than ordinary road width was desirable.



INVOLVES ANNEXATION

The whole project involves eventual annexation, and before proceeding beyond the engineering stage of estimate and survey, it was agreed by the council's committee that they should consult North Monaghan, deferentially or otherwise, about their attitude toward any further annexation.

On both sides of the city's western border, it is generally recognized that annexation out to the Wallis Drive neighborhood is an eventual development.

Main Street Deteriorating Visitor Charges

Peterborough's main street has been allowed to deteriorate. The city may be able to claim growth and progress but a stranger would never know it.

What it needs, a noted visitor remarked, is a face-lifting and character-building program. And putting off does no good because you have to pay the same price in the end anyway.

"Because your town is satisfied with its growth and progress," commented Frank W. Lovejoy of New York, "it doesn't mean its growth and progress is something to be satisfied with."

Mr. Lovejoy, a sales executive of the Socony-Vacuum Petroleum Company, spoke to 175 surprised members and guests at the Peterborough Sales and Advertising Club's service club meeting at the Club Aragon Tuesday night.

On his topic, "Keep on Selling," he touched on international, American, Canadian, British and Peterborough affairs in relation to merchandising, "another word for common sense applied to business."

"I believe Peterborough has grown since I was here seven years ago" the speaker said. He caught his audience unawares when he continued "but you wouldn't know it."

He called the city "a charming little town snuggled away in the valleys;" but "you've let the main street deteriorate . . . what it needs is a face-lifting."

As last speaker on the program, Mr. Lovejoy had a chance to hear a representative of each service club give a few short comments. He recommended their co-ordinating body, the Service Club Council, get behind a program "to build up, bring out, Peterborough's character."

HARD TO REACH

Explaining his difficulties in reaching Peterborough, the speaker asked: "Are you unwilling to build an airport here? Are you unwilling to ask the railroads to run trains here so visitors can get in and out at decent times?"

In being residents of the city, those who live in Peterborough have inherited valuable historical and natural assets; "your responsibility is to make those assets live, real."

Such a change cannot take place overnight; "you have to change your habit pattern." Once that is accomplished, "you have the opportunity to do anything."

"It's nonsensical putting off the rebuilding of Peterborough so the visitor may be struck and impressed" Mr. Lovejoy warned. "You'll have to pay the same price in the end anyway."

Speaking on matters non-Peterboroughian, the U.S. oil executive advocated the combining of Canada and the United States in their efforts to straighten out the world situation; "it does seem to be a pity to attempt to accomplish the same ends without the benefit of each other's encouragement and help."

And to become a world power with the backing of her natural resources, "Canada will have to adopt U.S. mass production, mass consumption and sales methods."

One-Day Remand

HAMILTON (CP)—Mrs. William Nield, of Lawrence road, charged with murder in the strangulation of her six-months-old daughter, Audrey, appeared before Magistrate Beamer W. Hopking today, and was granted a one-day remand.

Missing Port Hope Airman Formerly Lived In City

Mr. and Mrs. R. B. Brooks, 24 Walton St., Port Hope, parents of Douglas Brooks who is missing with three air crew companions somewhere west of Gander, Nfld., formerly lived in Peterborough on London and Prince Sts. From his home in Port Hope today. Mr. Brooks, who was years ago on the staff of the post office here, told the Examiner: "We are still without news, but we are not without hope."

JOINS IN SEARCH

A second son of the family, Flying Officer Burritt Brooks, RCAF, MacDonald, Manitoba, has arrived in eastern Canada, joining the searching planes that are over the air paths across Quebec.

"We have had word that Burritt's family is expected to join us here sometime today while he is in the east," Mr. Brooks said. "He has a long leave to his credit and he requested that he be permitted to make use of it now."

Mrs. George Sneyd (Doris), 2 Chestnut St., Port Hope, is a sister of the missing airman and his brother of the RCAF.

Douglas Brooks, returning from Liberia, Africa, when the Ventura plane with himself and crew of three others vanished after taking off from Gander for the flight to Quebec and Montreal, was born in Peterborough. He was about ten years old when his parents moved to Port Hope 25 years ago. When the family was living in Prince St. he attended King Edward School, Mr. Brooks recalled. He mentioned Harry White, Clare Stuart, George Moore and others of the Peterborough postal staff as associates during his employment here. He was later with the government's unemployment insurance office in Port Hope.

WITH RCAF IN WAR

Douglas Brooks was educated in Peterborough and Port Hope, and was with the Royal Bank in Port Hope when he enlisted in the RCAF during the Second World War. With the return to peace he attended the University of Toronto from which he was graduated last June with the degree of Bachelor of Applied Science.

His father said today: "We had a telegram from him when he landed at Gander, early Sunday morning. He said he would be in Ottawa Sunday. Douglas was employed with Spartan Air Services, a private concern. Since leaving Canada last November he has been engaged in making an aerial map survey of Liberia, Africa, under contract let by the U.S. government."

He had worked for the same Services during his summer holidays of his years at university.

From Ottawa it has reported that Spartan Air Services had sent seven planes in search of their missing plane and crew of four. Mr. Brooks understood that the RCAF had assigned ten bombers to cover eastern air routes. Four other planes based in Newfoundland were also assisting.

LEFT IN NOVEMBER

The missing Ventura had made a two-day crossing of the North Atlantic, Thursday and Friday last week, putting in briefly at Iceland. The four men comprising the crew flew to Liberia last November under contract to a Philadelphia air service company to map 45,000 square miles of African country.

The contract was let by thhe U.S. government in its technical aid program for undeveloped countries. The Ventura was the only plane sent on the job by Spartan Air Services.

Misfortunte of the air was compounded by the crash of a Lancaster bomber of the RCAF, killing six men of its crew, in Nova Scotia, while helping in the search for the civilian plane.

Board Hears Application Of IUE To Represent GE Workers; Delay Finding

UE Submits Cards To Try To Discredit IUE's Submission of 1,484 Cards
Labor Board's Decision Could Bring Vote

By DAVE WHITE

TORONTO—The Ontario Labor Relations Board reserved judgment at noon today on the application of the International Union of Electrical Radio and Machine Workers (CIO-CCL) to be the bargaining agents for more than 3,100 production workers at the Peterborough CGE plant. David Lewis, counsel for the IUE, had already filed 1,426 application cards and today he filed 58 more—making 1,484 in all. Company figures show that there were 3,153 eligible workers in the bargaining unit on March 26, the date of the application.

This gives the IUE more than 47 percent of the bargaining unit. If the OLRB find 45 percent of the workers are bona fide IUE members they will automatically order a vote at the plant.

Most of the morning was taken up in legal argument between Mr. Lewis and Charles Dubin, counsel for the United Electrical, Radio (Indep.), who intervened at the hearing.

Mr. Dubin claimed that the IUE "obligation" in lieu of payment of a dollar by each IUE applicant was a subterfuge. And he charged them with acting in bad faith.

The hearing was complicated by the filing of two separate sets of cards and a list of names by the UE, designed to discredit the bona-fides of the IUE application.

A total of 1,617 blue UE cards purported to show that the signee had not signed an application for IUE membership between July 1, 1952, and March 27, 1953.

Another 111 names were filed by the UE purporting to show that the signees "have not and will not sign anything"—presumably rejecting both unions.

A hundred and two green cards were also filed by UE by signees who said that from July 1, 1952, to March 27, 1953, they didn't pay or authorize any initiation fee to be paid. And they didn't have a membership "obligation" administered.

On behalf of the UE, the present holders of bargaining rights at CGE, Mr. Russell also filed three written statements from workers in the plant. They were entered as exhibits, along with the other evidence from both sides.

SIGNED AS JOKE

The only one read was by a Harold Bucknell who said he signed "as a joke" when offered an application card by Joe Murphy. They were in a Peterborough beverage room at the time, he said.

Two other unidentified people gave statements to the effect that they had never at any time taken an "obligation" and had never paid any money.

Mr. Dubin and Mr. Lewis matched their legal skills, over the legality of the IUE's "obligation." This permitted a worker to become an IUE member by swearing to uphold the constitution. He did not have to pay a dollar as in the 1950 and 1951 campaigns.

It would have been an issue last year—obligations were ac-

Ottawa Should Pay For Care Of Monuments

OTTAWA (CP)—Senator W Rupert Davies (L—Ontario) suggested in the Senate Tuesday night that there are many historic monuments erected by municipalities that might be cared for at federal rather than municipal expense.

He spoke during discussion of a bill to place the 12-member historic sites and monuments board on a statutory basis. The Senate approved the bill in principle.

Senator Davies said that examples of the type of monument he had in mind are those to Joseph Brant at Brantford; to Tecumseh in Kent county; to Sir John A. Macdonald in Kingston, and one marking the site of old Fort Henry, near Kingston.

There was no suggestion that Kingston, his home does not look after its monument to Sir John A. Macdonald. However, he did not approve of the color it was painted. But some of those monuments might be more appropriately looked after by the board

Senator C. G. Hawkins (L—Nova Scotia) explained the provisions of the bill and said the board has been instrumental in the past in preserving 429 historic sites.
